CHURCHILL IN REACH OF VICTORY

Next Truce Move Is Put Up To Reds

Allies' Buffer Plan Involves Swap Of Land

Meetings Resumed By Subcommittee

MUNSAN, Korea, Friday, Oct. 26 (AP)—A concrete Allied proposal for a Korean buffer zone, involving cession of about 200 square miles of territory by each side, put the next cease-fire move squarely up to the Communists today.

The Red reaction might come at a subcommittee meeting scheduled at Panmunjom at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Thursday, EST).

The subcommittee convened right on schedule.

There was speculation that some sort of compromise would be effected after the Reds make a counterproposal. Upon this might depend the speed with which the United Nations and Communist negotiators settle this thorny question or go into a possible new deadlock.

The sudden Allied proposal was introduced at a subcommittee meeting immediately after the truce negotiations were resumed, ending a 64-day suspension.

It was on this issue that the previous talks were snarled, but the Reds themselves offered to start all over with a clean slate.

A United Nations command spokesman said the Allied suggestion entailed a line generally following the present battlefront, but with the Reds to give up about 200 square miles territory in the west and the Allies to pull out of a similar area in the east.

A buffer zone two and one-half miles wide would be carried, most of it in North Korea, but dipping into South Korea at its western end.

It would run from the mouth of the Yesong River in Western Korea to a point 11 and one-half miles southeast of Kosong on the east coast where the Allies are now 50 miles north of parallel 38.

Under this plan, the Reds would lose Kaesong, the old truce negotiation site. The Allies would give up some east coast and central positions but would retain Heartbreak and Bloody Ridges in the east and a piece of ground northwest of Yonsong, all won at the cost of many casualties.

Allied Planes Rip Red Supply System

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Oct. 26 (AP)—Allied planes smashed the Korean war's record blow at Communist rail transport Thursday. Pilots estimated they destroyed or damaged 36 locomotives and 289 rail cars in a series of bombing and strafing attacks centered in the northwest.

The old mark, set Sept. 19, was 20 locomotives and 272 rail cars destroyed or damaged.

Superforts bombed the new Communist airfields at Namsi and Saamcham in Northwest Korea Thursday night, a general headquarters communique said.

The switch to night attacks was made after day raids earlier this week drew out scores of Communist jets and provoked the biggest jet battles of the war. In a daylight strike Tuesday against the Namsi field, one-third of the attacking force of nine Superforts was shot down and the others were damaged.

For the fifth straight day, Russian-built MIGs made determined efforts to break up the Allied raids. A total of 80 enemy jets pressed three aggressive attacks against 63 or more Allied planes.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force claimed one MIG was damaged in a 10-minute clash between 31 Sabre jets and an estimated 50 MIGs.

In the ground war, U. S. Patton tanks speared to the western outskirts of Kumsong and shot up the former Red supply base, setting new fires.

Attlee Reelected; Churchill's Son Loses To Laborite

LONDON, Oct. 26 (Friday) (INS)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee was reelected, as expected, to a seat in the House of Commons early today from the Walthamstow West District at a time when the outcome of the British general election was still in doubt.

He won his seat with a majority of 11,574 votes, compared to his majority of 12,107 in 1950.

LONDON, Oct. 26 (Friday) INS)—Conservative Randolph Churchill, son of Winston Churchill, was defeated by left-wing Laborite M. M. Foot, a Bevanite, today in the Plymouth-Devonport contest for a Commons seat.

Foot's majority was 2,390, compared with his majority of 3,483 in 1950.

Truman Praises "Ike," Endorsed For Presidency

Expected Greater Clark Hullabaloo

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — President Truman said today the New York Herald-Tribune had certainly picked a fine man in endorsing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

The newspaper, in a front page editorial today, said Eisenhower's qualifications for the presidency are unique.

Mr. Truman made his comment in response to a news conference question. Remarking that the newspaper had a right to endorse anyone, he added that it had certainly picked a fine man for its candidate. He did not elaborate.

Prefers GOP Pick Taft

He previously had said he would prefer that the Republicans nominate Sen. Taft of Ohio. Some Democrats contend Taft would be the easiest to beat. Taft so far is the only avowed candidate in either party for next year's top party nomination.

The President also told his questioners that:

1—The hullabaloo created by his nomination of Gen. Mark W. Clark to bet his country's first ambassador to the Vatican is not as great as he had expected. He said the appointment is not in conflict with this nation's historic conception of separation of church and state, and he made it because he believed that peace would be served by having an ambassador there.

No Party Chairman Decision

2—There has been no decision on a new chairman for the Democratic National Committee to succeed the resigned William M. Boyle, Jr. He said Frank McKinney, Indiana banker, is one of about 30 persons mentioned for the post. He added Mrs. India Edwards, committee vice chairman, and John L.. Sullivan, former secretary of the Navy, told him they did not want it.

3—He believes in the two party system and for that reason it would be a mistake for Democrats to go into the April 1 Wisconsin Republican primary in an effort to defeat Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) for renomination. Wisconsin has an open primary which would permit Democrats to join Republicans in such an effort if they so desired.

4—He is hopeful that the British-Iranian oil dispute still can be settled. He said some progress is being made in talks here with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

Pope Leads Observance

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 25 (AP) — Pope Pius XII today led a worldwide Catholic observance of the 15th centenary of the Council of Chalcedon, which defined the nature of Christ as being both human and divine.

The Pope, in a radio broadcast, called on all Catholics to join in thanksgiving for "the truth which insures victory to the church and welfare for its sons."

Princess To Dazzle Capital With Diamonds And Pearls

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Princess Elizabeth apparently shares the belief of many young women that diamonds are a girl's best friend.

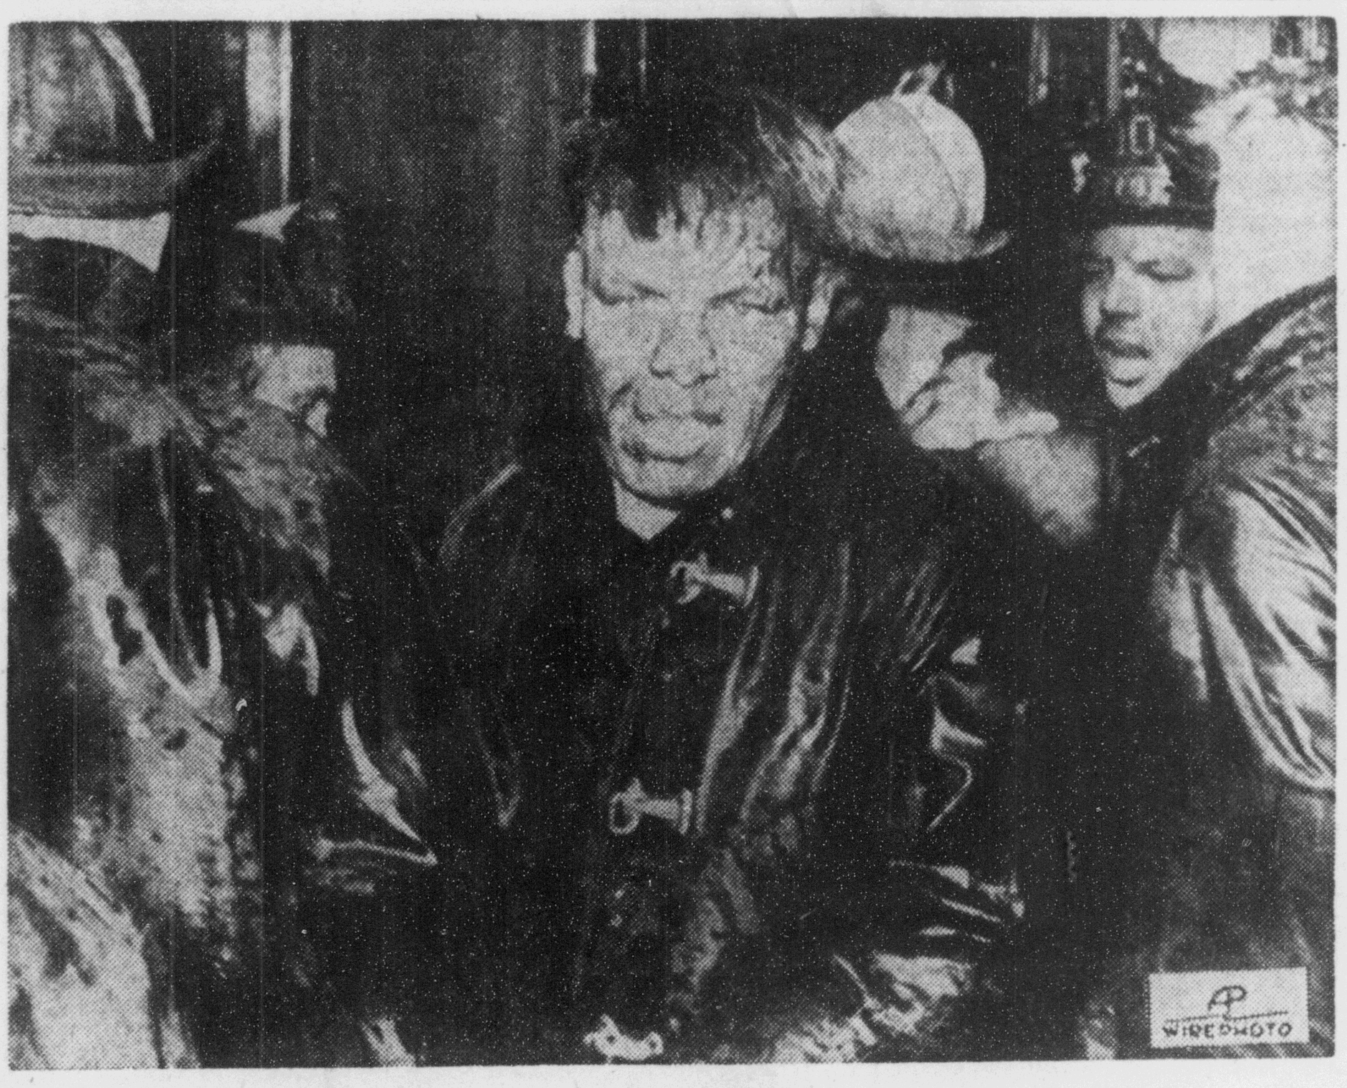
She's bringing a whole treasure chest of diamonds and other precious stones to wear on her visit to the nation's capital starting next Wednesday.

Two magnificent diamond tiaras are the highlights of the princess' traveling jewel collection.

But she'll also dazzle the natives with necklaces—pearl by day, diamond by night—and a wealth of other glistening trinkets. Earrings, bracelets, clips, brooches, insignia presented during her current Canadian tour.

Finally, there's the diamond star of the Order of the Garter—worth a king's ransom all by itself.

Less favored girls can salve their envy with this reflection, however: Some of the royal gems are hand-me-downs from the princess' mother, Queen Elizabeth, and her grandmother, Queen Mary.



Firemen Bring Out Their Injured

Firemen, victims of a blast yesterday in a smoke-filled basement at Chicago, bring out their injured. Seventeen were hurt in the explosion. The helmetless fireman in the center expresses terror of blast as another (rear, right) shouts clearance for unconscious firemen being carried out.

Marcelle Is Accused Of Tax Discrepancy

Admits He Earned $170,000 On Side

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap testified today that former Tax Collector Joseph P. Marcelle understated his own income by $11,419 and claimed unsubstantiated tax deductions of $23,097 while in charge of the revenue office at Brooklyn.

"In the view of the department, any such income tax discrepancy on the part of any of our employes would be considered very serious," Dunlap told a House Ways and Means subcommittee. The group is delving into charges of widespread corruption in the Internal Revenue Service.

Earned $170,000 On Side

Marcelle, who resigned by request last Tuesday, informed the investigators that he earned more than $170,000 in sideline activities while collecting taxes for the First District of New York.

He also conceded that his income tax returns never were audited during his term of office, which began in 1944.

Marcelle said he had his returns made out by Herman J. Schmidt, chief of the income tax division in his office, and signed them without reading them.

"I took it for granted they were okay," he said.

According to Adrian Dewind, committee counsel, Marcelle's largest return, covering $135,766 gross income in 1948, was located in files supposed to contain only individual returns on incomes under $8,000. Customarily tax returns on incomes this small are not audited by special agents in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Became "Indignant"

Marcelle said he became "very indignant" when he found that out, "because it surely threw a strong suspicion on myself."

The dapper witness testified he made a profit of about $60,000 between 1945 and 1948 from the Eastern Electric Vending Machine Co., an enterprise he said he organized to sell canned goods and other products from coin machines. Then, he said, he sold his stock in the firm for another $60,000.

At night and on his days off, Marcelle continued, he operated from his home "a neighborhood and more or less charitable law practice." He testified this netted him $51,580 from 1944 through 1949.

Jobless Elevator Operator Annoys Elizabeth Taylor

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—A 29-year-old jobless elevator operator was charged today with annoying Film Star Elizabeth Taylor with telephone calls to her hotel.

The man, John Marsh, posed as an FBI agent and told Miss Taylor her life was in danger, said Assistant U. S. Attorney Martin Klein.

Klein said seven years ago Marsh was sent to a mental hospital for three months because he annoyed another actress, Kathryn Grayson.

Marsh was held in $5,000 bail on a charge of impersonating an FBI agent and committed to Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric observation.

Railway Express Wins Rate Boost

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today granted a new general 11 per cent increase in railway express rates.

The authority was issued to the Railway Express Agency, which was permitted to apply the increases on 15 days' notice to the public.

The increases will apply to all types of shipments except daily newspapers, milk, cream, and corpses.

The commission estimated the changes, less than half of what the agency sought, will increase express charges by about $29,560,524 a year.

Commission officials said the company has had a $21,000,000 increase in wage costs during the past year, plus a $1,500,000 jump in materials costs, and that the authorized increases "will not take the express operation out of the red."

Voting Machine Bonds

SALISBURY, Md., Oct. 25 (AP) — The Mercantile Trust Company of Baltimore was high bidder and has been awarded a $55,000 bond issue to finance the purchase of voting machines for Wicomico County.

The Baltimore bank bid $100,182 for the $100 par bonds bearing an interest rate of 1¾ per cent.

17 Chicago Firemen Injured In Blaze

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—At least 17 firemen were injured today in a fire and explosion in the basement of a North Side office and store building.

The two-story structure, the Mills building, is at the southwest corner of Clark St., and Diversey Pkwy. Several firemen were trapped in the path of the explosion as they crowded down a stairway to extinguish the last of the flames.

Windows of a drugstore in the building were blown out. Others in stores and offices about the burning building also were broken.

British Election Sidelights

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP) — British voters got some odd and bumpy rides to the polls today.

A candidate who provides transportation has to charge the cost against campaign expenses that must not be more than £100 ($280).

Motor travel is expensive so—

Conservatives used a donkey cart at Knutsford, a hansom cab at Kibworth and a camel at Dudley to get out the vote.

The camel was borrowed from a Dudley zoo.

"If this doesn't give the socialists a hump, nothing will," said George Howard, the local tory chief.

The London Stock Exchange was open, but did little business. Most issues were firm. The declaration of a five per cent dividend by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, which has lost its main plant in Abadan to the Iranians, helped oil shares to maintain their position.

Valerie White of Burnham-on-Sea, Somerset, got an official poll card showing she was listed as an eligible voter.

She went along to the voting place, but couldn't read the candidate's names and didn't know where to put her x. She didn't vote. Election officials said they were puzzled over how Valerie's name got on the roll. She is two years old.

New York Milk Strike Settled

Mayor Announces Agreement Reached

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—New York's milk strike was settled today only a little more than 24 hours after it began.

Mayor Vincent Impellitteri made the announcement that an agreement had been reached in the dispute which affected supplies for some 12,000,000 residents of the metropolitan area.

The men will resume work "at once," he said. An industry spokesman said deliveries would be "practically normal" tomorrow morning.

The strike involved 15,000 AFL teamsters in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. It forced housewives in the area to queue up to get a limit of two to four quarts of milk from dealers who had the product.

Scores of tank trucks were idle in upstate New York. A quarter of a billion pounds of fluid milk began backing up in the sprawling five-state milk shed that feeds New York City. Dairy farmers faced an estimated loss of $140,000 a day.

The peace terms were expected to be linked to a federally-approved price increase for milk, to be shared in by dealers and drivers.

A price boost—if granted by the Office of Price Stabilization — would probably raise the retail price of milk by one and a half to two cents a quart. In New York, it now sells for 24 cents a quart delivered and 21½ cents at the store.

With 4,000,000 quarts sold every day in New York City, the price hike would add $23,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year to the cost of living.

U. S. Flier's Speed Record Recognized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Air Force Col. Fred J. Ascani was recognized today as the new holder of the world airplane speed record for 100 kilometers — 621.686 miles per hour.

Ascani set the record during the Thompson trophy speed event at the 1951 National Air Races, held at Detroit in August. He flew an F-86E Sabre jet.

The National Aeronautic Association announced today the formal approval of the new record by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

U. S. Mediators Toss In Towel In Dock Strike

Bound To Spread, Workers Declare

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Federal mediators gave up trying to end New York's 11-day-old waterfront strike tonight and rebel dock workers said it was bound to spread to Philadelphia and Baltimore.

"We're giving up," said Clyde M. Mills, the nation's top labor trouble shooter for the U. S. Mediation Service.

He quit with one final plea for the men to go back to work and end the crippling tieup which has clamped an economic vise on New York, the greatest port in the world.

The mediators withdrew after non-strikers led by President Joseph P. Ryan of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, bolted peace talks.

"We're not getting anywhere," Ryan said. "We're leaving."

As peace talks collapsed, Strike Leader John (Gene) Campson told newsmen:

"That means Philly and Baltimore will be tied up too."

Want Another Contract

He said dock workers in those two big ports are meeting now to decide whether to quit their piers.

The rebel wildcat strikers in New York have insisted that a new work contract be junked and another one with larger pay scales be negotiated.

Ryan has refused to honor this demand. He said to do so would be to renege on a signed and sealed agreement with shipping firms.

The shippers themselves flatly refused to reopen wage talks with the wildcat stevedores.

Said Mills:

"This is a dispute which must be resolved within the union. This situation is intolerable and must be ended immediately.

"We recommend that the work stoppage be ended and all employes engaged in the work stoppage return to their respective jobs immediately.

Some Military Ships Loaded

"We told both groups we have exhausted our efforts and have no alternative but to withdraw."

The shippers wired Ryan only a few hours earlier that the strike was unauthorized and "in flagrant violation of the renewed agreement accepted by the International Longshoremen's Association x x x."

Earlier, the rebel dock hands lifted their blockade of some crucial Army piers, but balky stevedores still refused to load a majority of military ships.

Cost Of Living Hits New High

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Higher prices for clothing, particularly fall and winter apparel, helped today to push the government's cost of living index to a new record high.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, announcing its figures for September 15, said the latest survey shows living costs were 186.06 per cent of the 1935-39 level. This was a gain of .06 per cent in the August 15-September 15 period and an increase of 6.9 per cent as compared with September 1950.

Apparel costs went up 2.7 per cent in the month, to a record high of 209 per cent of the 1935-39 average. Fall and winter clothing had not been figured in the index since the end of last winter, when there were many clearance sales. Also the cost of wool has climbed during the last year.

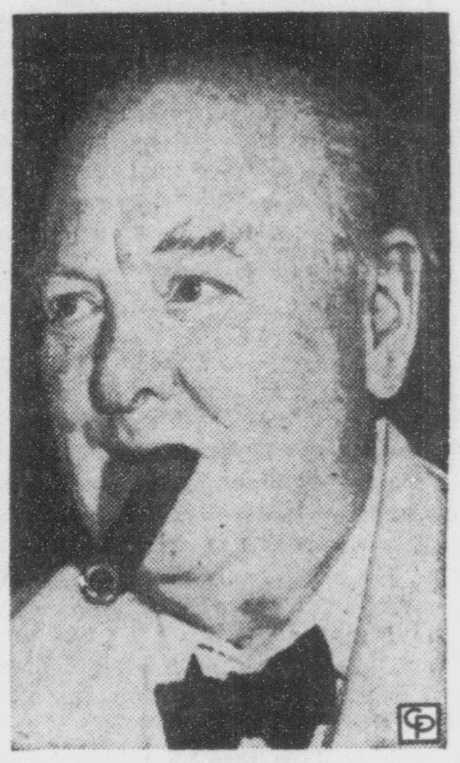
Food prices edged up during the August 15-September 15 month to 227.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average, a gain of 8.2 per cent in a year. In the 56 cities surveyed, food prices gained in 33, dropped in 21 and were unchanged in two.

The overall gain in living costs will mean a small pay boost for more than 100,000 workers whose pay rate is hitched to changes in the government index. The 100,000 include 70,000 employes of General Electric.

John Agar Released

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25 (AP)—John Agar, ex-husband of Shirley Temple, is free of a six months' drunk driving sentence—in less than two months.

Municipal Judge Vernon W. Hunt, who sentenced the actor, commuted the term to two months because Agar turned out to be a model prisoner at the county's honor farm. The two months was up today.



WINSTON CHURCHILL . . . "Last prize" he wanted is placed within his reach.

Kimball Hints Fleet Prepared To Use A-Bombs

Light Bomber Wing To Be Sent To France

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — America's part in building up European defenses brought these developments today: (1) Word that the U. S. Mediterranean Fleet probably is prepared to use atomic bombs if necessary, and (2) an announcement that a light bomber wing is being sent to France.

Secretary of the Navy Kimball was asked at a news conference: "Is the Sixth Fleet set to deliver an A-bomb if necessary?" He replied, "I would guess so."

First Such Hint

Kimball's guess was the first hint that any naval unit is now prepared to deliver an A-bomb, although it previously had been announced that aircraft carrier crews were being trained to that end.

The Air Force said the 126th Light Bomber Wing, made up of about 1,600 officers and men and 48 conventionally powered B-26 bombers, will be stationed at Bordeaux. It was drawn from Illinois and Missouri National Guard squadrons.

This will be the first wing sent to France since World War II, but Air Force plans call for sending another wing—this one probably composed of jet fighters—to Western Europe by the end of this year. Other units are to follow before next June.

Mediterranean Fleet Doubled

Secretary Kimball, reporting on his recent talks with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe, said he thought the U. S. never would have a large percentage of the forces combined under Eisenhower—"at no time over 15 or 20 per cent."

Kimball said the U. S. Fleet in the Mediterranean has been built up to 60 or 70 warships, twice the size it was a year ago. These ships carry about 20,000 men.

With the arrival of the new bomber wing in France, the Air Force will have in all of Europe about 43,200 officers and men. The total is about evenly divided between the United Kingdom and the continent.

Finder Sure GOP Will Nominate "Ike"

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25 (AP) — A man who was active in the short-lived Eisenhower boom of 1948 said tonight he is convinced the general will receive the Republican nomination for president.

Leonard V. Finder, in an interview with the Globe-Democrat, said the continuing popular demand for Gen. Eisenhower "and the readiness of other Republicans whom he respects to subordinate their own ambitions in favor of him" constitute the element of a draft.

Conservatives Oust Laborites From 11 Seats

Liberals' Strength Is Swung To Tories

LONDON, Friday, Oct. 26 (AP) — The Conservatives dealt socialism a smashing blow in the national elections, and today were within reach of a victory sending Winston Churchill back to the prime ministry at the age of 76 after six bleak years on the sidelines.

Results in nearly half the 625 parliamentary districts pointed to a political and personal triumph for the old warrior who led Britain to victory in World War II only to be brushed aside when the war-weary people adopted the Socialist (Labor) Party's promises of a better life.

The Conservatives wrested 11 House of Commons seats from Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee's Laborites. The Liberal Party ousted a Laborite in still another district. That made a net loss of 12 seats for the Laborites, who had an overall majority of only six in the last parliament.

Tory Strength Yet To Appear

The Laborites, at the halfway point in tabulation, had failed to take a single seat from Churchill's men — and by all normal standards the full Conservative strength was yet to appear.

Churchill and his supporters campaigned on the theme that Attlee's party lacked the skill and power to restore Britain to strength and to save her from becoming the battleground of a third world war. Churchill, 77 next Nov. 30, spoke of it as the "last prize" he wanted — the chance to get into the fight for peace at the helm of the government.

Final returns from yesterday's elections are not due until tonight, but Labor Party leaders privately conceded the early trend meant the end of Britain's era of socialism. One predicted Churchill might have a majority of 35 seats or so in the House of Commons. For the last few months, the Laborites have struggled along with a majority of only a half dozen seats.

A swing of Liberal Party strength to Churchill's Tories was a decisive factor.

In the last election the Liberals entered 475 candidates. This time they put up only 108. The "orphan" vote went Conservative in districts where it hurt Labor most.

Tabulation Suspended

The polls closed last night at 9. Early today the counting reached the 323-seat mark, and the tabulation was suspended until about 11 a. m. (6 a. m., EST). The remaining 302 seats will be accounted for in the later tabulations.

By 2 a. m. Conservative Party headquarters had an air of "we're in". Shortly after 3 a. m. Gerald O'Brien, Conservative press spokesman, said Churchill's followers should have a working majority of 30 to 35 in the new House of Commons.

Returns from 323 districts gave Labor 175 seats, the Conservatives and allied parties 145, the Liberals two and the Irish Labor Party 1.

The first 275 districts reporting gave the Conservatives 47.9 per cent of the total popular vote, as compared with 43.5 in those districts in 1950's election. The comparison for Labor was 50.5 per cent of the total this year, against 48.2 last year. The Liberals had 1.7 per cent of the total in these districts, against 8.3 per cent in 1951.

The party winning the most seats in Commons chooses the prime minister and runs the government. Each of the districts voted only for its own man, nothing else.

Ad Gets Results

ANDERSON, Ind., Oct. 25 (AP) — An Anderson house seeker who said routine advertising produced no results said today she got several offers with this classified ad:

"Three drunken adults, three vicious children need rental. Rent no object. We never pay our bills."

AMA Reports Highly-Touted Drug Doesn't Check Cancer

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP) — The American Medical Association said today a study failed to show that Krebiozen has "beneficial effects" on cancer patients. But the Krebiozeen Research Foundation said it had found some evidence of benefits in many patients treated with the drug.

The AMA report was based on the case histories of 100 cancer patients who had been treated with Krebiozen. It said 98 of the patients did not show "objective evidence of improvement," and 44 of them had died.

The foundation said its records of more than 300 patients showed 75 per cent had obtained partial or complete relief from pain. It added that "some objective evidence of temporary improvement was observed in 50 per cent" of the cases.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, president of the foundation, asserted he had not changed his opinion that Krebiozen has "promise for the management of cancer patient."

The foundation was set up as a non-profit organization in April to do research and distribute Krebiozen to physicians for further tests.

She's bringing a whole treasure chest of diamonds and other precious stones to wear on her visit to the nation's capital starting next Wednesday.

Two magnificent diamond tiaras are the highlights of the princess' traveling jewel collection.

But she'll also dazzle the natives with necklaces—pearl by day, diamond by night—and a wealth of other glistening trinkets. Earrings, bracelets, clips, brooches, insignia presented during her current Canadian tour.

Finally, there's the diamond star of the Order of the Garter—worth a king's ransom all by itself.

Less favored girls can salve their envy with this reflection, however: Some of the royal gems are hand-me-downs from the princess' mother, Queen Elizabeth, and her grandmother, Queen Mary.

Admits He Earned $170,000 On Side

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap testified today that former Tax Collector Joseph P. Marcelle understated his own income by $11,419 and claimed unsubstantiated tax deductions of $23,097 while in charge of the revenue office at Brooklyn.

"In the view of the department, any such income tax discrepancy on the part of any of our employes would be considered very serious," Dunlap told a House Ways and Means subcommittee. The group is delving into charges of widespread corruption in the Internal Revenue Service.

Earned $170,000 On Side

Marcelle, who resigned by request last Tuesday, informed the investigators that he earned more than $170,000 in sideline activities while collecting taxes for the First District of New York.

He also conceded that his income tax returns never were audited during his term of office, which began in 1944.

Marcelle said he had his returns made out by Herman J. Schmidt, chief of the income tax division in his office, and signed them without reading them.

"I took it for granted they were okay," he said.

According to Adrian Dewind, committee counsel, Marcelle's largest return, covering $135,766 gross income in 1948, was located in files supposed to contain only individual returns on incomes under $8,000. Customarily tax returns on incomes this small are not audited by special agents in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Became "Indignant"

Marcelle said he became "very indignant" when he found that out, "because it surely threw a strong suspicion on myself."

The dapper witness testified he made a profit of about $60,000 between 1945 and 1948 from the Eastern Electric Vending Machine Co., an enterprise he said he organized to sell canned goods and other products from coin machines. Then, he said, he sold his stock in the firm for another $60,000.

At night and on his days off, Marcelle continued, he operated from his home "a neighborhood and more or less charitable law practice." He testified this netted him $51,580 from 1944 through 1949.

Jobless Elevator Operator Annoys Elizabeth Taylor

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—A 29-year-old jobless elevator operator was charged today with annoying Film Star Elizabeth Taylor with telephone calls to her hotel.

The man, John Marsh, posed as an FBI agent and told Miss Taylor her life was in danger, said Assistant U. S. Attorney Martin Klein.

Klein said seven years ago Marsh was sent to a mental hospital for three months because he annoyed another actress, Kathryn Grayson.

Marsh was held in $5,000 bail on a charge of impersonating an FBI agent and committed to Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric observation.

Railway Express Wins Rate Boost

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today granted a new general 11 per cent increase in railway express rates.

The authority was issued to the Railway Express Agency, which was permitted to apply the increases on 15 days' notice to the public.

The increases will apply to all types of shipments except daily newspapers, milk, cream, and corpses.

The commission estimated the changes, less than half of what the agency sought, will increase express charges by about $29,560,524 a year.

Commission officials said the company has had a $21,000,000 increase in wage costs during the past year, plus a $1,500,000 jump in materials costs, and that the authorized increases "will not take the express operation out of the red."

Voting Machine Bonds

SALISBURY, Md., Oct. 25 (AP) — The Mercantile Trust Company of Baltimore was high bidder and has been awarded a $55,000 bond issue to finance the purchase of voting machines for Wicomico County.

The Baltimore bank bid $100,182 for the $100 par bonds bearing an interest rate of 1¾ per cent.

17 Chicago Firemen Injured In Blaze

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—At least 17 firemen were injured today in a fire and explosion in the basement of a North Side office and store building.

The two-story structure, the Mills building, is at the southwest corner of Clark St., and Diversey Pkwy. Several firemen were trapped in the path of the explosion as they crowded down a stairway to extinguish the last of the flames.

Windows of a drugstore in the building were blown out. Others in stores and offices about the burning building also were broken.

New York Milk Strike Settled

Mayor Announces Agreement Reached

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—New York's milk strike was settled today only a little more than 24 hours after it began.

Mayor Vincent Impellitteri made the announcement that an agreement had been reached in the dispute which affected supplies for some 12,000,000 residents of the metropolitan area.

The men will resume work "at once," he said. An industry spokesman said deliveries would be "practically normal" tomorrow morning.

The strike involved 15,000 AFL teamsters in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. It forced housewives in the area to queue up to get a limit of two to four quarts of milk from dealers who had the product.

Scores of tank trucks were idle in upstate New York. A quarter of a billion pounds of fluid milk began backing up in the sprawling five-state milk shed that feeds New York City. Dairy farmers faced an estimated loss of $140,000 a day.

The peace terms were expected to be linked to a federally-approved price increase for milk, to be shared in by dealers and drivers.

A price boost—if granted by the Office of Price Stabilization — would probably raise the retail price of milk by one and a half to two cents a quart. In New York, it now sells for 24 cents a quart delivered and 21½ cents at the store.

With 4,000,000 quarts sold every day in New York City, the price hike would add $23,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year to the cost of living.

U. S. Flier's Speed Record Recognized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Air Force Col. Fred J. Ascani was recognized today as the new holder of the world airplane speed record for 100 kilometers — 621.686 miles per hour.

Ascani set the record during the Thompson trophy speed event at the 1951 National Air Races, held at Detroit in August. He flew an F-86E Sabre jet.

The National Aeronautic Association announced today the formal approval of the new record by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

British Election Sidelights

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP) — British voters got some odd and bumpy rides to the polls today.

A candidate who provides transportation has to charge the cost against campaign expenses that must not be more than £100 ($280).

Motor travel is expensive so—Conservatives used a donkey cart at Knutsford, a hansom cab at Kibworth and a camel at Dudley to get out the vote.

The camel was borrowed from a Dudley zoo.

"If this doesn't give the socialists a hump, nothing will," said George Howard, the local tory chief.

The London Stock Exchange was open, but did little business. Most issues were firm. The declaration of a five per cent dividend by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, which has lost its main plant in Abadan to the Iranians, helped oil shares to maintain their position.

Valerie White of Burnham-on-Sea, Somerset, got an official poll card showing she was listed as an eligible voter.

She went along to the voting place, but couldn't read the candidate's names and didn't know where to put her x. She didn't vote. Election officials said they were puzzled over how Valerie's name got on the roll. She is two years old.

U. S. Mediators Toss In Towel In Dock Strike

Bound To Spread, Workers Declare

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Federal mediators gave up trying to end New York's 11-day-old waterfront strike tonight and rebel dock workers said it was bound to spread to Philadelphia and Baltimore.

"We're giving up," said Clyde M. Mills, the nation's top labor trouble shooter for the U. S. Mediation Service.

He quit with one final plea for the men to go back to work and end the crippling tieup which has clamped an economic vise on New York, the greatest port in the world.

The mediators withdrew after non-strikers led by President Joseph P. Ryan of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, bolted peace talks.

"We're not getting anywhere," Ryan said. "We're leaving."

As peace talks collapsed, Strike Leader John (Gene) Campson told newsmen:

"That means Philly and Baltimore will be tied up too."

Want Another Contract

He said dock workers in those two big ports are meeting now to decide whether to quit their piers.

The rebel wildcat strikers in New York have insisted that a new work contract be junked and another one with larger pay scales be negotiated.

Ryan has refused to honor this demand. He said to do so would be to renege on a signed and sealed agreement with shipping firms.

The shippers themselves flatly refused to reopen wage talks with the wildcat stevedores.

Said Mills:

"This is a dispute which must be resolved within the union. This situation is intolerable and must be ended immediately.

"We recommend that the work stoppage be ended and all employes engaged in the work stoppage return to their respective jobs immediately.

Some Military Ships Loaded

"We told both groups we have exhausted our efforts and have no alternative but to withdraw."

The shippers wired Ryan only a few hours earlier that the strike was unauthorized and "in flagrant violation of the renewed agreement accepted by the International Longshoremen's Association x x x."

Earlier, the rebel dock hands lifted their blockade of some crucial Army piers, but balky stevedores still refused to load a majority of military ships.

Cost Of Living Hits New High

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Higher prices for clothing, particularly fall and winter apparel, helped today to push the government's cost of living index to a new record high.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, announcing its figures for September 15, said the latest survey shows living costs were 186.06 per cent of the 1935-39 level. This was a gain of .06 per cent in the August 15-September 15 period and an increase of 6.9 per cent as compared with September 1950.

Apparel costs went up 2.7 per cent in the month, to a record high of 209 per cent of the 1935-39 average. Fall and winter clothing had not been figured in the index since the end of last winter, when there were many clearance sales. Also the cost of wool has climbed during the last year.

Food prices edged up during the August 15-September 15 month to 227.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average, a gain of 8.2 per cent in a year. In the 56 cities surveyed, food prices gained in 33, dropped in 21 and were unchanged in two.

The overall gain in living costs will mean a small pay boost for more than 100,000 workers whose pay rate is hitched to changes in the government index. The 100,000 include 70,000 employes of General Electric.

John Agar Released

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25 (AP)—John Agar, ex-husband of Shirley Temple, is free of a six months' drunk driving sentence—in less than two months.

Municipal Judge Vernon W. Hunt, who sentenced the actor, commuted the term to two months because Agar turned out to be a model prisoner at the county's honor farm. The two months was up today.

Kimball Hints Fleet Prepared To Use A-Bombs

Light Bomber Wing To Be Sent To France

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — America's part in building up European defenses brought these developments today: (1) Word that the U. S. Mediterranean Fleet probably is prepared to use atomic bombs if necessary, and (2) an announcement that a light bomber wing is being sent to France.

Secretary of the Navy Kimball was asked at a news conference: "Is the Sixth Fleet set to deliver an A-bomb if necessary?" He replied, "I would guess so."

First Such Hint

Kimball's guess was the first hint that any naval unit is now prepared to deliver an A-bomb, although it previously had been announced that aircraft carrier crews were being trained to that end.

The Air Force said the 126th Light Bomber Wing, made up of about 1,600 officers and men and 48 conventionally powered B-26 bombers, will be stationed at Bordeaux. It was drawn from Illinois and Missouri National Guard squadrons.

This will be the first wing sent to France since World War II, but Air Force plans call for sending another wing—this one probably composed of jet fighters—to Western Europe by the end of this year. Other units are to follow before next June.

Mediterranean Fleet Doubled

Secretary Kimball, reporting on his recent talks with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe, said he thought the U. S. never would have a large percentage of the forces combined under Eisenhower—"at no time over 15 or 20 per cent."

Kimball said the U. S. Fleet in the Mediterranean has been built up to 60 or 70 warships, twice the size it was a year ago. These ships carry about 20,000 men.

With the arrival of the new bomber wing in France, the Air Force will have in all of Europe about 43,200 officers and men. The total is about evenly divided between the United Kingdom and the continent.

Finder Sure GOP Will Nominate "Ike"

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25 (AP) — A man who was active in the short-lived Eisenhower boom of 1948 said tonight he is convinced the general will receive the Republican nomination for president.

Leonard V. Finder, in an interview with the Globe-Democrat, said the continuing popular demand for Gen. Eisenhower "and the readiness of other Republicans whom he respects to subordinate their own ambitions in favor of him" constitute the element of a draft.

Conservatives Oust Laborites From 11 Seats

Liberals' Strength Is Swung To Tories

LONDON, Friday, Oct. 26 (AP) — The Conservatives dealt socialism a smashing blow in the national elections, and today were within reach of a victory sending Winston Churchill back to the prime ministry at the age of 76 after six bleak years on the sidelines.

Results in nearly half the 625 parliamentary districts pointed to a political and personal triumph for the old warrior who led Britain to victory in World War II only to be brushed aside when the war-weary people adopted the Socialist (Labor) Party's promises of a better life.

The Conservatives wrested 11 House of Commons seats from Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee's Laborites. The Liberal Party ousted a Laborite in still another district. That made a net loss of 12 seats for the Laborites, who had an overall majority of only six in the last parliament.

Tory Strength Yet To Appear

The Laborites, at the halfway point in tabulation, had failed to take a single seat from Churchill's men — and by all normal standards the full Conservative strength was yet to appear.

Churchill and his supporters campaigned on the theme that Attlee's party lacked the skill and power to restore Britain to strength and to save her from becoming the battleground of a third world war. Churchill, 77 next Nov. 30, spoke of it as the "last prize" he wanted — the chance to get into the fight for peace at the helm of the government.

Final returns from yesterday's elections are not due until tonight, but Labor Party leaders privately conceded the early trend meant the end of Britain's era of socialism. One predicted Churchill might have a majority of 35 seats or so in the House of Commons. For the last few months, the Laborites have struggled along with a majority of only a half dozen seats.

A swing of Liberal Party strength to Churchill's Tories was a decisive factor.

In the last election the Liberals entered 475 candidates. This time they put up only 108. The "orphan" vote went Conservative in districts where it hurt Labor most.

Tabulation Suspended

The polls closed last night at 9. Early today the counting reached the 323-seat mark, and the tabulation was suspended until about 11 a. m. (6 a. m., EST). The remaining 302 seats will be accounted for in the later tabulations.

By 2 a. m. Conservative Party headquarters had an air of "we're in". Shortly after 3 a. m. Gerald O'Brien, Conservative press spokesman, said Churchill's followers should have a working majority of 30 to 35 in the new House of Commons.

Returns from 323 districts gave Labor 175 seats, the Conservatives and allied parties 145, the Liberals two and the Irish Labor Party 1.

The first 275 districts reporting gave the Conservatives 47.9 per cent of the total popular vote, as compared with 43.5 in those districts in 1950's election. The comparison for Labor was 50.5 per cent of the total this year, against 48.2 last year. The Liberals had 1.7 per cent of the total in these districts, against 8.3 per cent in 1951.

The party winning the most seats in Commons chooses the prime minister and runs the government. Each of the districts voted only for its own man, nothing else.

AMA Reports Highly-Touted Drug Doesn't Check Cancer

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP) — The American Medical Association said today a study failed to show that Krebiozen has "beneficial effects" on cancer patients. But the Krebiozeen Research Foundation said it had found some evidence of benefits in many patients treated with the drug.

The AMA report was based on the case histories of 100 cancer patients who had been treated with Krebiozen. It said 98 of the patients did not show "objective evidence of improvement," and 44 of them had died.

The foundation said its records of more than 300 patients showed 75 per cent had obtained partial or complete relief from pain. It added that "some objective evidence of temporary improvement was observed in 50 per cent" of the cases.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, president of the foundation, asserted he had not changed his opinion that Krebiozen has "promise for the management of cancer patient."

The foundation was set up as a non-profit organization in April to do research and distribute Krebiozen to physicians for further tests.

Presbyterian Decries Rome Church Authority

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25 (AP) — Dr. Eugene C. Blake, the new stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., has stated he is "as loath to accept the authority of Rome as that of Moscow."

Dr. Blake and Dr. Glenn W. Moore, who was elected secretary of the general council, were formally installed in their new posts Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian Church.

"We live in a moment of history when the pressure of political and social problems are so critical that unless we really believe in representative democracy and make it work, our world will become once more totalitarian, and I, for one, am as loath to accept the authority of Rome as that of Moscow," Dr. Blake declared. He added:

"The hope of a free western world to bind men into a new unity of culture and faith depends more than I like to think of the kind of faith in God, and upon the kind of organization of government which we have inherited in our particular tradition. For the only freedom that can last is freedom under God."

Presbyterian leaders from throughout the country attended the service.

Dr. Blake, of Pasadena, Calif., was elected stated clerk by the 163rd General Assembly in Cincinnati last May 29. He succeeds the late Dr. William B. Pugh of Wallingford, Pa., who was stated clerk from 1938 to the time of his death in 1950.

The stated clerk of the General Assembly is the highest executive official in the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., which has 2,500,000 members.

Protector France Sitting Firmly On African Independence 'Trouble'

By CARTER DAVIDSON

RABAT, French Morocco — (AP) — North African Arabs, emboldened by apparent success of nationalist movements in Iran and Egypt, are threatening new trouble for their French protectorate rulers all the way from Tunis to Dakar.

In Morocco, four nationalist parties are united for the first time in a "Moroccan national front," hoping to get a hearing of its case before the United Nations in Paris. Through a vast desert and mountain empire the rumblings for independence are gaining strength.

The French, eyeing developments in the Arab world to the east, are ready for trouble, but confident that it won't come and sure they can handle it if it does.

So far there have been no upheavals here such as the ousting of the British from Iran and the Egyptian move to abrogate her British treaty. But then nationalist movements in Tunisia and Morocco are both voluble and well-heeled.

Although confident they can avoid the lambasting Britain has been taking from nationalism further east, the French are well aware of the dangers of it. General Augustin Guillaume, who took over as resident general of Morocco only a few weeks ago, warned Moroccans to stay away from all forms of extremism. He repeated this warning to Moroccan Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef and later to Moroccan groups he met on his first tour of the country.

A few days ago he told this reporter in an interview that "these fanatics—don't call them nationalists—will try to use terror and lies. They are preparing the ground of Morocco for communism and my job is to fight them and defeat them."

Jacques De Blessona, French diplomate and Guillaume's second in command, said in another interview that "Moroccan nationalism, even that kind of national pride which is healthy for a country, is a comparatively small element in this country. If there is a threat of any nationalist uprising, we have it in hand."

For the moment, at least, there is no evidence that the French do not have it in hand. Top nationalist leaders spend most of their time in Cairo, enlisting the support of nationalist sister movements.

Nationalist leaders claim they have membership in all ranks of Moroccan society from the Berber hill tribes to the Arab businessmen in cities like Rabat and Casablanca. The French minimize such claims. There have been no traces so far that the nationalist movements here have arms although General Guillaume says Moroccan nationalists "have money which they get from fanatics in other countries."

The chances of a nationalist uprising in Morocco or Tunisia meeting any success seem slim. The French are ready to put down any such manifestation with a ruthless hand.

1949 "Trucker Of Year" Fined For Drunk Driving

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 25 (AP) — The national "truck driver-of-the-year" in 1949 has been convicted of drunken driving.

He is Lloyd Reisner. He was picked for the national title by the American Trucking Association in a contest based on driving skill and safety.

Reisner was charged with drunken driving by officers who said he drove his automobile through a traffic signal on Oct. 9.

Municipal Judge Alex M. Clark fined him $10.25 and suspended his driver's license for 90 days.

Theft Suspects Freed On Bond

Two Cumberland residents have been released on $200 bond each pending a hearing November 17 in connection with the alleged theft of a tire and wheel from a wrecked pickup truck on Old Furnace Road.

Taken into custody Wednesday afternoon by City Detective Thomas J. See were Paul W. Davidson, Willowbrook Road, and Gladys M. Brant, 225 Harrison Street. They are being held for West Virginia authorities.

Protector France Sitting Firmly On African Independence 'Trouble'

By CARTER DAVIDSON

RABAT, French Morocco — (AP) — North African Arabs, emboldened by apparent success of nationalist movements in Iran and Egypt, are threatening new trouble for their French protectorate rulers all the way from Tunis to Dakar.

In Morocco, four nationalist parties are united for the first time in a "Moroccan national front," hoping to get a hearing of its case before the United Nations in Paris. Through a vast desert and mountain empire the rumblings for independence are gaining strength.

The French, eyeing developments in the Arab world to the east, are ready for trouble, but confident that it won't come and sure they can handle it if it does.

So far there have been no upheavals here such as the ousting of the British from Iran and the Egyptian move to abrogate her British treaty. But then nationalist movements in Tunisia and Morocco are both voluble and well-heeled.

Although confident they can avoid the lambasting Britain has been taking from nationalism further east, the French are well aware of the dangers of it. General Augustin Guillaume, who took over as resident general of Morocco only a few weeks ago, warned Moroccans to stay away from all forms of extremism. He repeated this warning to Moroccan Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef and later to Moroccan groups he met on his first tour of the country.

A few days ago he told this reporter in an interview that "these fanatics—don't call them nationalists—will try to use terror and lies. They are preparing the ground of Morocco for communism and my job is to fight them and defeat them."

Jacques De Blessona, French diplomate and Guillaume's second in command, said in another interview that "Moroccan nationalism, even that kind of national pride which is healthy for a country, is a comparatively small element in this country. If there is a threat of any nationalist uprising, we have it in hand."

For the moment, at least, there is no evidence that the French do not have it in hand. Top nationalist leaders spend most of their time in Cairo, enlisting the support of nationalist sister movements.

Nationalist leaders claim they have membership in all ranks of Moroccan society from the Berber hill tribes to the Arab businessmen in cities like Rabat and Casablanca. The French minimize such claims. There have been no traces so far that the nationalist movements here have arms although General Guillaume says Moroccan nationalists "have money which they get from fanatics in other countries."

The chances of a nationalist uprising in Morocco or Tunisia meeting any success seem slim. The French are ready to put down any such manifestation with a ruthless hand.

1949 "Trucker Of Year" Fined For Drunk Driving

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 25 (AP) — The national "truck driver-of-the-year" in 1949 has been convicted of drunken driving.

He is Lloyd Reisner. He was picked for the national title by the American Trucking Association in a contest based on driving skill and safety.

Reisner was charged with drunken driving by officers who said he drove his automobile through a traffic signal on Oct. 9.

Municipal Judge Alex M. Clark fined him $10.25 and suspended his driver's license for 90 days.

Halloween Carnival Set At Westernport

Mere Scraps Of Paper

International relations would be in less of a mess today if treaties had the binding force they once had—or were supposed to have. At this particular moment we have Egypt denouncing unilaterally its 1936 treaty with Britain and Iran making hash of a written agreement with the British on its oil. And the Soviet government maintained from its beginnings, "Governments that spring from a revolution are not bound to respect the obligations of fallen governments."

Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky has complained because "President Truman told the whole world that an agreement with the Soviet Union is not worth a scrap of paper." Well, our State Department insists that the Russians have violated their 1921 treaty with Iran (as reaffirmed in 1928 and again in 1942), their treaty of August, 1945, with Chiang Kai-shek's China, the peace treaties with the former Nazi satellite states, to say nothing of the Yalta agreements of February, 1945, the Potsdam declaration of July, 1945, Allied armistice agreements, and decisions of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

The Russians on their side insist that the peace treaty with Japan recently signed at San Francisco was a violation of treaty commitments. Moscow complains also that the Allies have no legal right to try, as they are now trying, to revise the Italian peace treaty with or without the consent of the Soviet Union, a treaty signatory.

After Germany opened World War I by violating the treaty on Belgian neutrality to which Germany had been a party, Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg told the Reichstag: "Necessity knows no law . . . The wrong we have done, we will try to make good as soon as our military objectives have been reached." When Great Britain cited the violation of Belgian neutrality as grounds for declaring war, Germany accused the British of going to war over a "scrap of paper."

Yet after the war the British and French allowed Hitler to make scraps of paper of clauses of the Versailles peace treaty, beginning in 1936 with the clause forbidding rearmament of the Rhineland. Hitler's excuse was that the treaty had been "dictated." But his actions were violations also of the Locarno treaties, which Germany had signed voluntarily.

Meantime Japan by its military invasion of Manchuria had violated the League of Nations Covenant, the Kellogg-Briand treaty, and the Washington Nine-Power Treaty. And in 1936 Italy's undeclared war in Ethiopia violated Article 12 of the League of Nations Covenant, according to the League Council itself. The covenant was in the form of an international treaty.

Nazi Germany concluded a treaty of alliance with Communist Russia in August, 1939, but the treaty did not prevent the Nazis from invading Russia less than two years later. The Soviet Union in turn denounced unilaterally the Soviet-Finnish non-aggression treaty of 1932. And it was agreed at the Yalta conference that the Soviet Union would enter the war against Japan, despite the Soviet-Japanese five-year non-aggression and neutrality treaty of April, 1941.

International law on treaties is an accretion of generally understood principles. Treaties generally provide for their own termination. But it has been held, according to Bouvier's legal dictionary, that "when a treaty becomes dangerous to the life of a state or incompatible with the independence of a state or a permanent obstacle to the development of its constitution or the rights of its people, it can be abrogated."

A treaty may properly be broken, too, "when the condition of affairs which formed the basis of the treaty has become so modified by time that its execution has become contrary to the nature of things and the original intent of the parties." The United States holds that a treaty with another power is automatically abrogated when that power is conquered by or incorporated into another state. Great Britain has traditionally taken the opposite position.

Finnegan's Day

The picture of the life of a collector of internal revenue, as drawn by James P. Finnegan in his testimony before a House Ways and Means subcommittee is entrancing. Finnegan, a large and genial backslapper, who held this post for seven years in St. Louis, has had some trouble remembering dates, amounts of money and the like. But his account of how he ran his office during those seven enchanted years holds, nevertheless, a certain charm.

Finnegan was no tax expert, he told the committee, and never pretended to be one. He took the collector's job only on condition that he be allowed to continue his private law practice, which brought him in an average of $33,000 a year from 1947 to 1949. He spent as many as two, three and sometimes four hours a day in his office as collector. But he found the job to be taking too much of his time.

So, Finnegan says, he tried three times to resign but President Truman kept asking him to stay on. He was even so relaxed that he forgot to collect $2,444 of his own income tax due the government.

Well, it's nice work if you can get it, and there are people who might be able to bear up under the strain of working two or three hours a day for $10,000 a year even if the husky Finnegan cannot. But they aren't often offered that kind of job while the Finnegans seem to have trouble resigning them.

Japan Makes An Offer

Having learned that a straight swap of manufactured goods for raw materials does not appeal to the Asiatic nations, Japan has made a new offer. Tokyo now proposes to exchange capital goods—probably machinery—and technical skill for rubber and tin, among other items.

If a deal of this sort can be arranged on mutually satisfactory terms, it might work out reasonably satisfactorily. Countries on the Asian mainland are extremely backward in manufacture. Japan, of course, has both the experience and ability to make goods cheaply and profitably. That's why her competition is feared by her neighbors.

If, therefore, Japan is willing to furnish both machines and know-how, the Asiatic nations should not summarily reject the offer which has been made. They would gain, as well as Japan, by that kind of bargain.

Sowing The Wheat

Fifteen million acres of Kansas soil are going into wheat for next year's harvest. Kansas is the nation's premier wheat state, and produces approximately 20 per cent of the national crop.

The seeding, now more than half completed, is going forward under favorable conditions, with sufficient moisture to insure early germination and early growth against the hazards of winter. This was not the case last year, and the results were apparent in the recent harvest.

This will not be Kansas' largest planting of wheat, the peak year having been 1938, when 17,000,000 acres of Kansas soil were devoted to the crop.

How To Keep Well

The Complaints Of The Hysterical

A group of 50 women with hysteria was studied recently and was found to have a total of 1,153 medical complaints. These varied from headache and nausea to numbness and fits. A similar survey of 50 healthy women unearthed only 177 symptoms.

Hysteria has been recognized since antiquity. As demonstrated in this investigation, the majority of victims are plagued by innumerable types of discomfort. These are not imaginary but of emotional origin and the physician is unable to detect any physical abnormality to account for them. The suffers look healthy and even cheerful, yet they talk as though they were "not long for this world." This manner and attitude distinguish the hysterical subject from individuals with the usual illnesses.

In the study mentioned, each patient totaled from 11 to 35 symptoms. More than 94 per cent of the series were bothered with headache and more than 70 per cent spoke of a lump in the throat, nausea, loss of appetite, abdominal pain, inability to eat certain foods, shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, anxiety attacks or dizzy spells. Disturbances of the menstrual, sexual, and reproductive functions also were common; 98 per cent presented sexual symptoms of some type, the most common of which was indifference. Aches and pains in the back, joints, and extremities were mentioned. Fainting spells, fits, trances, nervousness, depression, blurred vision, and transient blindness also were high on the list. One woman reported: "I'm sore all over. Can't explain it. I've been sick all my life. It has taken $10,000 to keep me alive. This is my 76th hospitalization."

The hysteria patient also is talkative and loves to relate dramatic incidents associated with previous illnesses, hospitalization, and happenings in her personal life. The patients are friendly, especially to the medical profession, which is strange considering how little they receive in return. These patients often admit they have not been helped by any previous treatment.

There also were more admissions to the hospitals and a larger number of operations in this group than the ordinary individual encountered. The women averaged 6.4 hospitalizations, as compared with 3.2 per woman with a chronic medical illness and 1.2 for healthy control subjects. Hospital beds were occupied twice as often as by the woman with assorted medical conditions such as cancer or ulcer, and five times as often as the healthy woman. These 50 patients had undergone a total of 190 major operations in their lifetimes, which again is far in excess of the figure in a control series. In 72 per cent, the appendix had been removed and 46 per cent had had a pelvic operation of one type or another.

Many readers will conclude from this survey that the person with hysteria is being exploited by the medical profession. This is not true, as anyone who has cared for a number of such sufferers will testify. They complain so bitterly and are so determined that "something be done" that physicians may be forced to do an exploratory operation, for example, to make absolutely certain that organic disease is not present. Hysteria in men is not common and is observed most frequently in military hospitals.

CESSPOOL AND HEALTH

Mrs. M. S. writes: There is an open cesspool near where we sleep. Is this dangerous to health in that it could cause heart trouble, asthma, or arthritis?

REPLY

The health may be affected if there is any possibility of contamination of the drinking water. Conditions such as these are more likely to result in typhoid fever or amebic dysentery rather than the disorders you mention.

INFLAMED MUSCLES

L. W. writes: How is myositis contracted?

REPLY

Myositis (inflammation of a muscle) often stems from a focus of infection in the teeth, tonsils, prostate, or other organs. It also occurs as a result of injury or exposure to a cold draft. Occasionally the cause cannot be detected.

MUSCLEBOUND

N. T. writes: What causes a person to become musclebound?

REPLY

Overexercise. The muscles bulge to such an extent that the extremities become unwieldy; they cannot be held close to the body with ease.

SEVERING THE VAGUS

J. E. writes: Is cutting the vagus nerve still done for peptic ulcer?

REPLY

Yes, but many surgeons prefer to combine the procedure with the older types of stomach surgery when diet and medication do not work.

CRAMPING THIGH

Mrs. W. writes: What causes cramping of the thigh? My 70-year-old grandmother has this trouble after rising from a chair and pain lasts 5 to 10 minutes.

REPLY

"Muscular rheumatism" is the most common cause.

Truman's Move At Vatican Appointment May Hurt Democrats; GOP Fears Probe Of Ohio Election; Anti-Catholic Letter Circulated In Taft's Behalf

WASHINGTON—Republican pundits have now had time to take careful soundings on the President's appointment of Gen. Mark Clark to the Vatican and have concluded that politically it will do the Democrats more harm than good.

At first they feared the surprise move would win the big-city Catholic vote back to the Democratic party—a vote which, because of McCarthy's semisuccessful cry of State Department communism, was definitely slipping over to the Republican side. However, they now figure that they can easily label the Truman gesture as politics, for two reasons:

1. Although the President had talked to General Clark a couple of weeks earlier and got his consent to serve as Vatican ambassador, he did not send the appointment to the Senate until late on the last day Congress was in session. Thus, GOP leaders intend to point out, Mr. Truman could not have been too serious about getting the new ambassador confirmed.

2. The further fact that General Clark, a military man, must get a special act of Congress to permit him to serve, gives him a double hurdle to overcome and further postpones the date when he can take office.

Thus GOP leaders figure the President has made the mistake of alienating large segments of Protestant voters, while gaining no new friends among Catholics. And they certainly intend to brand the Vatican appointment—when the campaign gets hot—as pure politics.

Hot Potato In Ohio

Buried in the files of the Senate Elections Committee, however, is some anti-Catholic campaign literature which has Republican strategists much more worried. This is the reason why the Elections Committee has been teetering back and forth trying to make up its mind about a real probe of the Ohio election.

Senator Taft made what is now considered a serious error by demanding that the Ohio campaign be investigated. What he had in mind was the large amounts of money spent by labor against him. But what preliminary investigation turned up was:

1. Around $2,000,000 poured in by all sorts of people to support him.

2. An anti-Catholic campaign against his Democratic opponent, Jumping Joe Ferguson, a Catholic.

Highlight of this campaign was a letter, dated Oct. 3, 1950, signed by Rev. F. R. Stoneburner of Dayton, a Lutheran, and widely circulated throughout Ohio. It read:

"Dear Brethren: Please accept this letter merely as a matter of information. It should be known that Mr. Joseph Ferguson, who is running against Senator Robert A. Taft, is Roman Catholic.

"Knowing the efforts of the Roman church to get an official representative to the Vatican and ints efforts to get public aid for parochial schools, I thought it equitable to pass this information on to you for what it is worth.

"Of course you know that our congressman, Edward Breen, is Roman Catholic and that he favors public aid for parochial schools.

"It is a mistaken public idea that Governor Frank Lausche is Roman Catholic. He was raised in an orthodox church. His family goes to a Methodist church. He has never been a Roman Catholic. These are the facts as I have been able to ascertain them.

"For the authenticity of this letter, contact the Lutheran pastor in your community or Rev. F. R. Stoneburner, 201 Commercial St., Dayton, O.

"If you wish the members of your congregation to receive copies of this letter, please send such list to Post Office Box No. 224, Greenville, O."

Gillette Worries

When Taft first demanded a probe of his campaign, the Senate Elections subcommittee voted 4 to 1 for it, including the two Republican members, Mrs. Smith of Maine and Hendrickson of New Jersey. The only man who voted against it was timid Senator Gillette of Iowa, Democrat.

However, when the Elections Committee picked Robert Murphy, an experienced investigator and a Catholic, as its counsel, Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, a Taft leader, blocked the appointment. He would not let a special bill okaying Murphy get through the House.

For weeks now the Ohio probe has hung fire. Committee investigators in Ohio have reported that Taft forces officially chalked up $2,066,592.14 as their total expenditure, but a sampling has revealed additional amounts spent by county and city groups. One Taft organization, "Labor's League for Taft," was organized not by labor but by J. Eugene Carr, ex-president of the Canton Chamber of Commerce and a radio executive.

With a full year passed since Taft's election, harassed and harried Chairman Gillette finally set November 19 as the date for a hearing. How far it will go remains to be seen.

Washington Pipeline

GOVERNMENT EXPENSES: A mere clerk at the Army hospital in Tokyo rides back and forth to work every day in a Navy limousine. She is Mollie Joy, daughter of Adm. Turner Joy, chief UN truce negotiator. . . . Senator Benton of Connecticut is one man who never listens to the radio. As an advertising executive, he invented some of radio's first techniques—applause by a live audience, drinking coffee in a commercial, putting Fred Allen in front of a live background. Now he says he wants to forget radio. . . . The House of Representatives postmaster must have been thinking of the famous letter Gen. Douglas MacArthur wrote to House GOP Leader Joe Martin when he received a letter addressed "Repr. MacArthur, Washington, D. C." Anyway, the postmaster sent it to Joe Martin's office. It turned out to be for Democratic Congressman Eugene McCarthy (not Joe) of Minnesota, and Martin passed it on. . . . Bill Boyle, retiring chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is sicker than realized and may require an operation. . . . The Air Force is begging for skilled manpower. Labor, however, is reluctant to sign up for what might be temporary jobs, unless all-out war explodes. The Air Force counters that it wrote $15,000,000,000 worth of contracts during 1944, the peak year of World War II. In fiscal 1952, it will write $16,500,000,000, while we're at peace—allegedly. . . . Jack Small of the Munitions Board has worked out a deal whereby rockets will be made of plastics and fibreglass instead of aluminum, thus saving the nation 36,000,000 pounds of aluminum per year. . . . The British have actually started to buy oil from the Russians in Eastern Austria to make up for the oil lost in Iran. Significantly, the Russians sought out the British and offered to sell the oil even though they are desperately short themselves. Reason: They needed hard currency.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Everybody is off the hook now — politically speaking — on the matter of sending an ambassador to the Vatican.

By deciding not to make a recess appointment of Gen. Mark Clark, Mr. Truman has saved the day — for everybody in politics. There probably will not be any U. S. ambassador sent to the Vatican in the foreseeable future — largely because of the way a vote on the issue itself will be sidetracked.

Members of Congress in both houses will be asked to vote next January on whether the law should be amended to permit military officers to accept diplomatic posts. If the resolution isn't adopted, there would be no point in bringing up the nomination of General Clark for confirmation in the Senate. The special legislation affecting General Clark may never come out of committee in the House — at least not until after the 1952 campaign—and, if it does, the proposal may be rejected on the ground that selection for diplomatic posts and other civilian posts should be made from the retired list rather than from officers on active duty. There are dozens of political excuses that can be made on the roll calls in Congress and issues raised to prevent the proposal from coming to a vote or from getting a clear expression on the issue of a Vatican ambassador itself.

Truman Will Get Credit

Mr. Truman, for his part, will get whatever political credit he had in mind among supporters of the idea of sending an ambassador to the Vatican, even though it is never accomplished.

Some of the persons who are in a position to know the views of important members of the Catholic hierarchy in this country say, however, it was a mistake on the part of the President to raise the issue in the way he did, because it stimulates friction on religious questions.

Curiously enough, President Truman and the State Department did not follow customary diplomatic practice in handling the nomination of General Clark. The rule is to ask the country to which the ambassador or minister is to be sent whether the particular individual is acceptable. This procedure is sometimes frustrated by the necessity for prompt action. Thus, in the case of former Mayor O'Dwyer of New York City, the Mexican government learned of the appointment only a few hours before it was made, so that there was no opportunity to express any considered opinion.

In the case of General Clark, the Vatican learned about the appointment for the first time through the newspapers. This, it is said, did not please Vatican circles. United Press dispatches from Rome say that "Vatican sources expressed disappointment over the manner in which the nomination of General Clark is being handled."

Other Problems

There are also complications that could arise in connection with the foreign registration law. It requires that all persons who are in any way representatives of foreign governments shall register and be subject to periodic inspections as to their activities. One of the Evangelical church groups has announced its belief that, if the Vatican is a foreign government, all representatives of the church in the United States, including priests, would be technically subject to the registration requirement.

There is, of course, in Washington an Apostolic delegate who lives in a legation building and carries on what has hitherto been unofficial correspondence with the Vatican. If the United States were to send an ambassador to the Vatican, the Apostolic delegate in Washington would become a papal nuncio and a full-fledged member of the diplomatic corps here and would be entitled to all the privileges and immunities which are normally granted to the diplomatic members of foreign governments by the American government. Informal relations between the Apostolic legation here and the State Department, without formal recognition, it is being suggested, could bring to Washington all the valuable information gathered by the Vatican from iron curtain countries.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Organizing For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON

Sen. Robert A. Taft's wonderfully unsurprising announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination has had at least one good effect that Sen. Taft did not look for. It has spurred the Republican supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to tackle the all-important problem of organizing their forces.

Hitherto, the real inner weakness of the Eisenhower movement in the Republican party has not been the uncertainty as to Gen. Eisenhower's future intentions. The real weakness has been the character of the movement itself—a loose coalition of local political potentates, each with his own claims and touchinesses, each eyeing all the others with visible suspicion.

Now, however, the main groupings in the movement have come together at a series of meetings held here in Washington by Sens. James Duff of Pennsylvania, Irving Ives of New York, Frank Carlson of Kansas and Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. These senators, acting either as plenipotentiaries or as principals, have reached agreement on certain major points.

First, the headquarters of the Eisenhower movement will be in the General's home state, at Topeka, Kan. The headquarters are expected to be opened there rather shortly under the joint auspices of Sen. Carlson and his partner, Kansas National Committeemen Harry Darby, and they will most probably be placed under Darby's direction.

Will Open Office

Second, what may be called an organizing office will also be opened almost immediately in Washington. This office will be a cooperative venture, where the interested Senators can keep tabs on progress throughout the country.

Third, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has been fully informed of these prospective steps. An understanding has been reached that the New York governor will let his allies publicly lead the Eisenhower parade, confining his own overt effort to New York and the Eastern states, but quietly lending a hand elsewhere when this will be useful. The purpose is to lull the suspicion that the Eisenhower movement may be a concealed Dewey movement, which is already entertained by some people who underrate both Dewey's political hardheadedness, and the fervent sincerity he brings to this fight.

If this pattern of organization can be made to work, it should be highly effective. It represents a logical division of responsibility. It knits together all the various main groups of Eisenhower backers in a coherent manner. It assures the maximum of coalition effort. Indeed, it has every virtue except the virtue that cannot be achieved until Gen. Eisenhower himself is prepared to say to his supporters, "Here is the man I want to head things up."

With a serious organization in the field against them, Sen. Taft and his backers will do well not to be deceived by their own propaganda, aimed of course at doubting delegates, that the Eisenhower movement is a mirage, and that the Taft bandwagon is a sort of political juggernaut. There is no argument about Gen. Eisenhower's superior popularity. And with such men as Gov. Dewey and Sens. Carlson, Duff and Lodge actively organizing for Eisenhower, and firmly declaring their own certainty that Eisenhower will be available, the effect on doubting delegates should be immediate and important.

Question Remains

The great question will still remain, of course, as to whether these leaders read Gen. Eisenhower's intention correctly, and as to when the General may be able to declare his candidacy. But even on this head, there is cold comfort for Sen. Taft in certain facts which can now be stated on the highest authority.

In brief, several of the Eisenhower leaders were in intimate touch with the General prior to his appointment as NATO commander, when he was actually just about to take the major step of enrolling himself as a Republican. Since the General's departure for Europe, these same men have maintained a quiet but to them entirely satisfactory and encouraging liaison with him. And it is because of these unseen contacts, that the pro-Eisenhower chieftains declare with such certainty that they have no fear their candidate will not be available at the last moment.

In addition, there is the further fact that can now be revealed, that certain of these Eisenhower leaders have also had representatives working out in the states for a good many months, with most hopeful responses. In short, there may still be a lot of "ifs" in the Eisenhower movement, but it is infinitely less iffy than the Taft propagandists so hopefully suggest.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Ivory Tower

The Council on Foreign Relations is one of those elite organizations which is supposed to be above the maddening crowd, devoted to scholarship and to an impartial presentation of the facts. One does not join it but is invited to membership.

The chairman of its board of directors is R. C. Leffingwell of J. P. Morgan & Company; the president, Allen W. Dulles, brother of the famous John Foster Dulles and both of the distinguished law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell; the acting president, Henry M. Wriston, president of Brown University, is also chairman of the Committee on studies.

This body publishes the magazine "Foreign Affairs" and annually a book, entitled "The United States in World Affairs." This is supposed to be pure, undiluted scholarship, prepared in an ivory tower, unaffected by the angers, excitements and day-by-day travail of just plain people like us. It is prepared by Richard P. Stebbins and the research staff.

Chapter two of the 1950 edition recently issued contains such a sentence as this:

> "While the American government was laboring year in and year out to re-establish the free world on secure foundations, at home these voices of dissent had swelled to a loud and angry chorus. By 1950 they had reached a crescendo which literally threatened to drown out the words of the President and the Secretary of State . . ."

Now, that is just too bad, isn't it? We Americans are to be silent no matter how many of our sons are killed and what burdens of taxes we bear so that the voices of the President and his Secretary of State may be heard. And that in spite of the obvious fact that a very large part of the American people, if not a majority, would prefer the Secretary of State to resign—as the American Legion convention in Miami resolved.

Then on page 58, I ran into this startling paragraph:

"There is no way to determine how far the more uncritical supporters of this campaign were actuated by individual credulity, by party zeal, or by less reputable influences such as the mysterious 'China lobby,' which was said to shrink from no means of punishing those who had opposed all-out aid to Chiang Kai-shek. It is equally futile to speculate about how far the Kremlin, plotting its own course in the Far East, was encouraged by this exhibition of disunity at the heart of the free world . . ."

For many months now some of us have been demanding an investigation of all alien lobbies, including all kinds of China lobbies, by a congressional committee. Nothing has come of it for two reasons:

1. The so-called "China Lobby," which is supposed to be headed by Alfred Kohlberg, does not exist and any investigation would prove that. In fact, such an investigation has taken place, ordered by President Truman, all departments of government being instructed to get in on the hunt. Nothing came of it because there was nothing to find.

2. Should congress investigate the "China lobby," all other foreign lobbies will have to be investigated and that might prove very embarrassing to Washington lawyers and some notable so-called scholars who have British, French, South American and Soviet connections, particularly with some of the satellite countries. Those in power do not want that. They do not mind pillorying Joe McCarthy but they do not want to pillory themselves or their friends.

And here is the pay-off:

". . . By creating fresh obstacles to the diplomatic recognition of Communist China, it helped set the stage for the grave crisis in Chinese-American relations that was to occur later in the year. In the meantime it aggravated public confusion at home, undermined the reputation of honest and able officials, aggravated the sense of personal insecurity that prevaded the government service, and contributed to a wave of anti-Communist hysteria which already threatened to engulf the country. By its methods it offered confirmatory evidence to those abroad who professed to see in the United States a land of thinly veiled reaction . . ."

President Truman and Dean Acheson and the whole State Department have been denying precisely that. They have been insisting that they never wanted to recognize Communist China and the President practically called General MacArthur a liar for saying the contrary. But here is a book that is issued under such high auspices which makes it clear that but for such creatures as Joe McCarthy and Alfred Kohlberg, Communist China would have been recognized.

These scholars and experts of State Department affiliations ought to get together sometimes and decide on what they actually do believe.

Mere Scraps Of Paper

International relations would be in less of a mess today if treaties had the binding force they once had—or were supposed to have. At this particular moment we have Egypt denouncing unilaterally its 1936 treaty with Britain and Iran making hash of a written agreement with the British on its oil. And the Soviet government maintained from its beginnings, "Governments that spring from a revolution are not bound to respect the obligations of fallen governments."

Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky has complained because "President Truman told the whole world that an agreement with the Soviet Union is not worth a scrap of paper." Well, our State Department insists that the Russians have violated their 1921 treaty with Iran (as reaffirmed in 1928 and again in 1942), their treaty of August, 1945, with Chiang Kai-shek's China, the peace treaties with the former Nazi satellite states, to say nothing of the Yalta agreements of February, 1945, the Potsdam declaration of July, 1945, Allied armistice agreements, and decisions of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

The Russians on their side insist that the peace treaty with Japan recently signed at San Francisco was a violation of treaty commitments. Moscow complains also that the Allies have no legal right to try, as they are now trying, to revise the Italian peace treaty with or without the consent of the Soviet Union, a treaty signatory.

After Germany opened World War I by violating the treaty on Belgian neutrality to which Germany had been a party, Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg told the Reichstag: "Necessity knows no law . . . The wrong we have done, we will try to make good as soon as our military objectives have been reached." When Great Britain cited the violation of Belgian neutrality as grounds for declaring war, Germany accused the British of going to war over a "scrap of paper."

Yet after the war the British and French allowed Hitler to make scraps of paper of clauses of the Versailles peace treaty, beginning in 1936 with the clause forbidding rearmament of the Rhineland. Hitler's excuse was that the treaty had been "dictated." But his actions were violations also of the Locarno treaties, which Germany had signed voluntarily.

Meantime Japan by its military invasion of Manchuria had violated the League of Nations Covenant, the Kellogg-Briand treaty, and the Washington Nine-Power Treaty. And in 1936 Italy's undeclared war in Ethiopia violated Article 12 of the League of Nations Covenant, according to the League Council itself. The covenant was in the form of an international treaty.

Nazi Germany concluded a treaty of alliance with Communist Russia in August, 1939, but the treaty did not prevent the Nazis from invading Russia less than two years later. The Soviet Union in turn denounced unilaterally the Soviet-Finnish non-aggression treaty of 1932. And it was agreed at the Yalta conference that the Soviet Union would enter the war against Japan, despite the Soviet-Japanese five-year non-aggression and neutrality treaty of April, 1941.

International law on treaties is an accretion of generally understood principles. Treaties generally provide for their own termination. But it has been held, according to Bouvier's legal dictionary, that "when a treaty becomes dangerous to the life of a state or incompatible with the independence of a state or a permanent obstacle to the development of its constitution or the rights of its people, it can be abrogated."

A treaty may properly be broken, too, "when the condition of affairs which formed the basis of the treaty has become so modified by time that its execution has become contrary to the nature of things and the original intent of the parties." The United States holds that a treaty with another power is automatically abrogated when that power is conquered by or incorporated into another state. Great Britain has traditionally taken the opposite position.

Finnegan's Day

The picture of the life of a collector of internal revenue, as drawn by James P. Finnegan in his testimony before a House Ways and Means subcommittee is entrancing. Finnegan, a large and genial back-slapper, who held this post for seven years in St. Louis, has had some trouble remembering dates, amounts of money and the like. But his account of how he ran his office during those seven enchanted years holds, nevertheless, a certain charm.

Finnegan was no tax expert, he told the committee, and never pretended to be one. He took the collector's job only on condition that he be allowed to continue his private law practice, which brought him in an average of $33,000 a year from 1947 to 1949. He spent as many as two, three and sometimes four hours a day in his office as collector. But he found the job to be taking too much of his time.

So, Finnegan says, he tried three times to resign but President Truman kept asking him to stay on. He was even so relaxed that he forgot to collect $2,444 of his own income tax due the government.

Well, it's nice work if you can get it, and there are people who might be able to bear up under the strain of working two or three hours a day for $10,000 a year even if the husky Finnegan cannot. But they aren't often offered that kind of job while the Finnegans seem to have trouble resigning them.

Japan Makes An Offer

Having learned that a straight swap of manufactured goods for raw materials does not appeal to the Asiatic nations, Japan has made a new offer. Tokyo now proposes to exchange capital goods—probably machinery—and technical skill for rubber and tin, among other items.

If a deal of this sort can be arranged on mutually satisfactory terms, it might work out reasonably satisfactorily. Countries on the Asian mainland are extremely backward in manufacture. Japan, of course, has both the experience and ability to make goods cheaply and profitably. That's why her competition is feared by her neighbors.

If, therefore, Japan is willing to furnish both machines and know-how, the Asiatic nations should not summarily reject the offer which has been made. They would gain, as well as Japan, by that kind of bargain.

Sowing The Wheat

Fifteen million acres of Kansas soil are going into wheat for next year's harvest. Kansas is the nation's premier wheat state, and produces approximately 20 per cent of the national crop.

The seeding, now more than half completed, is going forward under favorable conditions, with sufficient moisture to insure early germination and early growth against the hazards of winter. This was not the case last year, and the results were apparent in the recent harvest.

This will not be Kansas' largest planting of wheat, the peak year having been 1938, when 17,000,000 acres of Kansas soil were devoted to the crop.

How To Keep Well

The Complaints Of The Hysterical

A group of 50 women with hysteria was studied recently and was found to have a total of 1,153 medical complaints. These varied from headache and nausea to numbness and fits. A similar survey of 50 healthy women unearthed only 177 symptoms.

Hysteria has been recognized since antiquity. As demonstrated in this investigation, the majority of victims are plagued by innumerable types of discomfort. These are not imaginary but of emotional origin and the physician is unable to detect any physical abnormality to account for them. The suffers look healthy and even cheerful, yet they talk as though they were "not long for this world." This manner and attitude distinguish the hysterical subject from individuals with the usual illnesses.

In the study mentioned, each patient totaled from 11 to 35 symptoms. More than 94 per cent of the series were bothered with headache and more than 70 per cent spoke of a lump in the throat, nausea, loss of appetite, abdominal pain, inability to eat certain foods, shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, anxiety attacks or dizzy spells. Disturbances of the menstrual, sexual, and reproductive functions also were common; 98 per cent presented sexual symptoms of some type, the most common of which was indifference. Aches and pains in the back, joints, and extremities were mentioned. Fainting spells, fits, trances, nervousness, depression, blurred vision, and transient blindness also were high on the list. One woman reported: "I'm sore all over. Can't explain it. I've been sick all my life. It has taken $10,000 to keep me alive. This is my 76th hospitalization."

The hysteria patient also is talkative and loves to relate dramatic incidents associated with previous illnesses, hospitalization, and happenings in her personal life. The patients are friendly, especially to the medical profession, which is strange considering how little they receive in return. These patients often admit they have not been helped by any previous treatment.

There also were more admissions to the hospitals and a larger number of operations in this group than the ordinary individual encountered. The women averaged 6.4 hospitalizations, as compared with 3.2 per woman with a chronic medical illness and 1.2 for healthy control subjects. Hospital beds were occupied twice as often as by the woman with assorted medical conditions such as cancer or ulcer, and five times as often as the healthy woman. These 50 patients had undergone a total of 190 major operations in their lifetimes, which again is far in excess of the figure in a control series. In 72 per cent, the appendix had been removed and 46 per cent had had a pelvic operation of one type or another.

Many readers will conclude from this survey that the person with hysteria is being exploited by the medical profession. This is not true, as anyone who has cared for a number of such sufferers will testify. They complain so bitterly and are so determined that "something be done" that physicians may be forced to do an exploratory operation, for example, to make absolutely certain that organic disease is not present. Hysteria in men is not common and is observed most frequently in military hospitals.

REPLY

"Muscular rheumatism" is the most common cause.

Truman's Move At Vatican Appointment May Hurt Democrats; GOP Fears Probe Of Ohio Election; Anti-Catholic Letter Circulated In Taft's Behalf

WASHINGTON—Republican pundits have now had time to take careful soundings on the President's appointment of Gen. Mark Clark to the Vatican and have concluded that politically it will do the Democrats more harm than good.

At first they feared the surprise move would win the big-city Catholic vote back to the Democratic party—a vote which, because of McCarthy's semisuccessful cry of State Department communism, was definitely slipping over to the Republican side. However, they now figure that they can easily label the Truman gesture as politics, for two reasons:

1. Although the President had talked to General Clark a couple of weeks earlier and got his consent to serve as Vatican ambassador, he did not send the appointment to the Senate until late on the last day Congress was in session. Thus, GOP leaders intend to point out, Mr. Truman could not have been too serious about getting the new ambassador confirmed.

2. The further fact that General Clark, a military man, must get a special act of Congress to permit him to serve, gives him a double hurdle to overcome and further postpones the date when he can take office.

Thus GOP leaders figure the President has made the mistake of alienating large segments of Protestant voters, while gaining no new friends among Catholics. And they certainly intend to brand the Vatican appointment—when the campaign gets hot—as pure politics.

Hot Potato In Ohio

Buried in the files of the Senate Elections Committee, however, is some anti-Catholic campaign literature which has Republican strategists much more worried. This is the reason why the Elections Committee has been teetering back and forth trying to make up its mind about a real probe of the Ohio election.

Senator Taft made what is now considered a serious error by demanding that the Ohio campaign be investigated. What he had in mind was the large amounts of money spent by labor against him. But what preliminary investigation turned up was:

1. Around $2,000,000 poured in by all sorts of people to support him.

2. An anti-Catholic campaign against his Democratic opponent, Jumping Joe Ferguson, a Catholic.

Highlight of this campaign was a letter, dated Oct. 3, 1950, signed by Rev. F. R. Stoneburner of Dayton, a Lutheran, and widely circulated throughout Ohio. It read:

"Dear Brethren: Please accept this letter merely as a matter of information. It should be known that Mr. Joseph Ferguson, who is running against Senator Robert A. Taft, is Roman Catholic.

"Knowing the efforts of the Roman church to get an official representative to the Vatican and ints efforts to get public aid for parochial schools, I thought it equitable to pass this information on to you for what it is worth.

"Of course you know that our congressman, Edward Breen, is Roman Catholic and that he favors public aid for parochial schools.

"It is a mistaken public idea that Governor Frank Lausche is Roman Catholic. He was raised in an orthodox church. His family goes to a Methodist church. He has never been a Roman Catholic. These are the facts as I have been able to ascertain them.

"For the authenticity of this letter, contact the Lutheran pastor in your community or Rev. F. R. Stoneburner, 201 Commercial St., Dayton, O.

"If you wish the members of your congregation to receive copies of this letter, please send such list to Post Office Box No. 224, Greenville, O."

Gillette Worries

When Taft first demanded a probe of his campaign, the Senate Elections subcommittee voted 4 to 1 for it, including the two Republican members, Mrs. Smith of Maine and Hendrickson of New Jersey. The only man who voted against it was timid Senator Gillette of Iowa, Democrat.

However, when the Elections Committee picked Robert Murphy, an experienced investigator and a Catholic, as its counsel, Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, a Taft leader, blocked the appointment. He would not let a special bill okaying Murphy get through the House.

For weeks now the Ohio probe has hung fire. Committee investigators in Ohio have reported that Taft forces officially chalked up $2,066,592.14 as their total expenditure, but a sampling has revealed additional amounts spent by county and city groups. One Taft organization, "Labor's League for Taft," was organized not by labor but by J. Eugene Carr, ex-president of the Canton Chamber of Commerce and a radio executive.

With a full year passed since Taft's election, harassed and harried Chairman Gillette finally set November 19 as the date for a hearing. How far it will go remains to be seen.

Washington Pipeline

GOVERNMENT EXPENSES: A mere clerk at the Army hospital in Tokyo rides back and forth to work every day in a Navy limousine. She is Mollie Joy, daughter of Adm. Turner Joy, chief UN truce negotiator. . . . Senator Benton of Connecticut is one man who never listens to the radio. As an advertising executive, he invented some of radio's first techniques—applause by a live audience, drinking coffee in a commercial, putting Fred Allen in front of a live background. Now he says he wants to forget radio. . . . The House of Representatives postmaster must have been thinking of the famous letter Gen. Douglas MacArthur wrote to House GOP Leader Joe Martin when he received a letter addressed "Repr. MacArthur, Washington, D. C." Anyway, the postmaster sent it to Joe Martin's office. It turned out to be for Democratic Congressman Eugene McCarthy (not Joe) of Minnesota, and Martin passed it on. . . . Bill Boyle, retiring chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is sicker than realized and may require an operation. . . . The Air Force is begging for skilled manpower. Labor, however, is reluctant to sign up for what might be temporary jobs, unless all-out war explodes. The Air Force counters that it wrote $15,000,000,000 worth of contracts during 1944, the peak year of World War II. In fiscal 1952, it will write $16,500,000,000, while we're at peace—allegedly. . . . Jack Small of the Munitions Board has worked out a deal whereby rockets will be made of plastics and fibreglass instead of aluminum, thus saving the nation 36,000,000 pounds of aluminum per year. . . . The British have actually started to buy oil from the Russians in Eastern Austria to make up for the oil lost in Iran. Significantly, the Russians sought out the British and offered to sell the oil even though they are desperately short themselves. Reason: They needed hard currency.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Everybody is off the hook now — politically speaking — on the matter of sending an ambassador to the Vatican.

By deciding not to make a recess appointment of Gen. Mark Clark, Mr. Truman has saved the day — for everybody in politics. There probably will not be any U. S. ambassador sent to the Vatican in the foreseeable future — largely because of the way a vote on the issue itself will be sidetracked.

Members of Congress in both houses will be asked to vote next January on whether the law should be amended to permit military officers to accept diplomatic posts. If the resolution isn't adopted, there would be no point in bringing up the nomination of General Clark for confirmation in the Senate. The special legislation affecting General Clark may never come out of committee in the House — at least not until after the 1952 campaign—and, if it does, the proposal may be rejected on the ground that selection for diplomatic posts and other civilian posts should be made from the retired list rather than from officers on active duty. There are dozens of political excuses that can be made on the roll calls in Congress and issues raised to prevent the proposal from coming to a vote or from getting a clear expression on the issue of a Vatican ambassador itself.

Truman Will Get Credit

Mr. Truman, for his part, will get whatever political credit he had in mind among supporters of the idea of sending an ambassador to the Vatican, even though it is never accomplished.

Some of the persons who are in a position to know the views of important members of the Catholic hierarchy in this country say, however, it was a mistake on the part of the President to raise the issue in the way he did, because it stimulates friction on religious questions.

Curiously enough, President Truman and the State Department did not follow customary diplomatic practice in handling the nomination of General Clark. The rule is to ask the country to which the ambassador or minister is to be sent whether the particular individual is acceptable. This procedure is sometimes frustrated by the necessity for prompt action. Thus, in the case of former Mayor O'Dwyer of New York City, the Mexican government learned of the appointment only a few hours before it was made, so that there was no opportunity to express any considered opinion.

In the case of General Clark, the Vatican learned about the appointment for the first time through the newspapers. This, it is said, did not please Vatican circles. United Press dispatches from Rome say that "Vatican sources expressed disappointment over the manner in which the nomination of General Clark is being handled."

Other Problems

There are also complications that could arise in connection with the foreign registration law. It requires that all persons who are in any way representatives of foreign governments shall register and be subject to periodic inspections as to their activities. One of the Evangelical church groups has announced its belief that, if the Vatican is a foreign government, all representatives of the church in the United States, including priests, would be technically subject to the registration requirement.

There is, of course, in Washington an Apostolic delegate who lives in a legation building and carries on what has hitherto been unofficial correspondence with the Vatican. If the United States were to send an ambassador to the Vatican, the Apostolic delegate in Washington would become a papal nuncio and a full-fledged member of the diplomatic corps here and would be entitled to all the privileges and immunities which are normally granted to the diplomatic members of foreign governments by the American government. Informal relations between the Apostolic legation here and the State Department, without formal recognition, it is being suggested, could bring to Washington all the valuable information gathered by the Vatican from iron curtain countries.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Organizing For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON

Sen. Robert A. Taft's wonderfully unsurprising announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination has had at least one good effect that Sen. Taft did not look for. It has spurred the Republican supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to tackle the all-important problem of organizing their forces.

Hitherto, the real inner weakness of the Eisenhower movement in the Republican party has not been the uncertainty as to Gen. Eisenhower's future intentions. The real weakness has been the character of the movement itself—a loose coalition of local political potentates, each with his own claims and touchinesses, each eyeing all the others with visible suspicion.

Now, however, the main groupings in the movement have come together at a series of meetings held here in Washington by Sens. James Duff of Pennsylvania, Irving Ives of New York, Frank Carlson of Kansas and Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. These senators, acting either as plenipotentiaries or as principals, have reached agreement on certain major points.

First, the headquarters of the Eisenhower movement will be in the General's home state, at Topeka, Kan. The headquarters are expected to be opened there rather shortly under the joint auspices of Sen. Carlson and his partner, Kansas National Committeemen Harry Darby, and they will most probably be placed under Darby's direction.

Will Open Office

Second, what may be called an organizing office will also be opened almost immediately in Washington. This office will be a cooperative venture, where the interested Senators can keep tabs on progress throughout the country.

Third, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has been fully informed of these prospective steps. An understanding has been reached that the New York governor will let his allies publicly lead the Eisenhower parade, confining his own overt effort to New York and the Eastern states, but quietly lending a hand elsewhere when this will be useful. The purpose is to lull the suspicion that the Eisenhower movement may be a concealed Dewey movement, which is already entertained by some people who underrate both Dewey's political hard-headedness, and the fervent sincerity he brings to this fight.

If this pattern of organization can be made to work, it should be highly effective. It represents a logical division of responsibility. It knits together all the various main groups of Eisenhower backers in a coherent manner. It assures the maximum of coalition effort. Indeed, it has every virtue except the virtue that cannot be achieved until Gen. Eisenhower himself is prepared to say to his supporters, "Here is the man I want to head things up."

With a serious organization in the field against them, Sen. Taft and his backers will do well not to be deceived by their own propaganda, aimed of course at doubting delegates, that the Eisenhower movement is a mirage, and that the Taft bandwagon is a sort of political juggernaut. There is no argument about Gen. Eisenhower's superior popularity. And with such men as Gov. Dewey and Sens. Carlson, Duff and Lodge actively organizing for Eisenhower, and firmly declaring their own certainty that Eisenhower will be available, the effect on doubting delegates should be immediate and important.

Question Remains

The great question will still remain, of course, as to whether these leaders read Gen. Eisenhower's intention correctly, and as to when the General may be able to declare his candidacy. But even on this head, there is cold comfort for Sen. Taft in certain facts which can now be stated on the highest authority.

In brief, several of the Eisenhower leaders were in intimate touch with the General prior to his appointment as NATO commander, when he was actually just about to take the major step of enrolling himself as a Republican. Since the General's departure for Europe, these same men have maintained a quiet but to them entirely satisfactory and encouraging liaison with him. And it is because of these unseen contacts, that the pro-Eisenhower chieftains declare with such certainty that they have no fear their candidate will not be available at the last moment.

In addition, there is the further fact that can now be revealed, that certain of these Eisenhower leaders have also had representatives working out in the states for a good many months, with most hopeful responses. In short, there may still be a lot of "ifs" in the Eisenhower movement, but it is infinitely less iffy than the Taft propagandists so hopefully suggest.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Ivory Tower

The Council on Foreign Relations is one of those elite organizations which is supposed to be above the maddening crowd, devoted to scholarship and to an impartial presentation of the facts. One does not join it but is invited to membership.

The chairman of its board of directors is R. C. Leffingwell of J. P. Morgan & Company; the president, Allen W. Dulles, brother of the famous John Foster Dulles and both of the distinguished law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell; the acting president, Henry M. Wriston, president of Brown University, is also chairman of the Committee on studies.

This body publishes the magazine "Foreign Affairs" and annually a book, entitled "The United States in World Affairs." This is supposed to be pure, undiluted scholarship, prepared in an ivory tower, unaffected by the angers, excitements and day-by-day travail of just plain people like us. It is prepared by Richard P. Stebbins and the research staff.

Chapter two of the 1950 edition recently issued contains such a sentence as this:

> "While the American government was laboring year in and year out to re-establish the free world on secure foundations, at home these voices of dissent had swelled to a loud and angry chorus. By 1950 they had reached a crescendo which literally threatened to drown out the words of the President and the Secretary of State . . ."

Now, that is just too bad, isn't it? We Americans are to be silent no matter how many of our sons are killed and what burdens of taxes we bear so that the voices of the President and his Secretary of State may be heard. And that in spite of the obvious fact that a very large part of the American people, if not a majority, would prefer the Secretary of State to resign—as the American Legion convention in Miami resolved.

Then on page 58, I ran into this startling paragraph:

"There is no way to determine how far the more uncritical supporters of this campaign were actuated by individual credulity, by party zeal, or by less reputable influences such as the mysterious 'China lobby,' which was said to shrink from no means of punishing those who had opposed all-out aid to Chiang Kai-shek. It is equally futile to speculate about how far the Kremlin, plotting its own course in the Far East, was encouraged by this exhibition of disunity at the heart of the free world . . ."

For many months now some of us have been demanding an investigation of all alien lobbies, including all kinds of China lobbies, by a congressional committee. Nothing has come of it for two reasons:

> 1. The so-called "China Lobby," which is supposed to be headed by Alfred Kohlberg, does not exist and any investigation would prove that. In fact, such an investigation has taken place, ordered by President Truman, all departments of government being instructed to get in on the hunt. Nothing came of it because there was nothing to find.

2. Should congress investigate the "China lobby," all other foreign lobbies will have to be investigated and that might prove very embarrassing to Washington lawyers and some notable so-called scholars who have British, French, South American and Soviet connections, particularly with some of the satellite countries. Those in power do not want that. They do not mind pillorying Joe McCarthy but they do not want to pillory themselves or their friends.

And here is the pay-off:

". . . By creating fresh obstacles to the diplomatic recognition of Communist China, it helped set the stage for the grave crisis in Chinese-American relations that was to occur later in the year. In the meantime it aggravated public confusion at home, undermined the reputation of honest and able officials, aggravated the sense of personal insecurity that prevaded the government service, and contributed to a wave of anti-Communist hysteria which already threatened to engulf the country. By its methods it offered confirmatory evidence to those abroad who professed to see in the United States a land of thinly veiled reaction . . ."

> President Truman and Dean Acheson and the whole State Department have been denying precisely that. They have been insisting that they never wanted to recognize Communist China and the President practically called General MacArthur a liar for saying the contrary. But here is a book that is issued under such high auspices which makes it clear that but for such creatures as Joe McCarthy and Alfred Kohlberg, Communist China would have been recognized.

These scholars and experts of State Department affiliations ought to get together sometimes and decide on what they actually do believe.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—On that awesome day when the earth stands still (movie plug), whatever chrome-plated, five-eyed visitors arrive from Venus or Mars to muscle in on life on this planet will be astonished by many aspects about life in New York. They will wonder why we erected out buildings like so many reeds in a lily bowl, they will chuckle at our antiquated traffic system and they will be dumbfounded if they come across any of the suede shoes, pegtop trousers or jazzbow neckties we wear.

Unfortunately, since doubtless we all will be struck to dust by their Flash Gordon deathrays, they will be unable to watch New York's most enigmatic, confusing and senseless activity—the business of going out for a smoke during the intermission at a play.

I don't know where I come off to make fun. I've been doing it for years. But irregardless, as we say, the other night as I was engaging in this whimsical form of musical chairs after the first act of "Saint Joan" (maybe my disappointment at the production and in Uta Hagen started all this), I suddenly looked about me as clear-eyed as if I had had a quart of vintage champagne —and realized that the whole thing had overtones of the Marx brothers to it.

This is the setting: New York's playhouses, most of them built at least 30 years ago when people obviously were six inches shorter and had no knees to speak of, thus enabling customers to sit in reasonable comfort, accommodate from seven to 1,700 patrons at a clip.

Getting these patrons into their seats before curtain time is a chore but there is no crowding because they struggle in, with at least 40 lost and drunken souls stepping over laps and feet after the curtain has risen.

• — • — •

Like steers heading for the dead-end canyon when the villain stampedes them with a few shots, they pour out of their seats the instant the curtain is down. Up the aisles they go, almost as if in panic; you look around to see if the Piper of Hamelin is about his business.

The first handfuls make it to the safety of the lobby. Then the log jam sets in. Somewhow you get out into the aisle—and then for six minutes or so, you mush along, trying to reach "Ultima Thule."

Finally, the shine gone from your shoes and the crease from your trousers, you make the lobby. You spend the next two minutes elbowing you way around, hunting for a stray corner and then you get one. If you are with a woman, you peer triumphantly at her through the smoky haze and you offer her a crumpled cigaret. Gratefully she grabs for it. You get out the old lighter and by wheedling at it you get it working and you light first her cigaret, then yours. There—that's more like it

The lovely old sinful smoke fills your lungs and you let it luxuriously out through your nose, wondering all the while how you ever managed to last 40 minutes without the cigaret. You eye the weed fondly, lift it to your lips for the second puff, and then—ting a ling a ling a ling . . .

That would be the warning signal, the moose call to return to your seats, like the buzzer clearing the prize ring of handlers before the bell. You try to get in that second puff, but somebody near by solves the whole problem by jostling your elbow and knocking the gasper to the lobby floor. Ruefully you step on it, grimly you take your woman by the arm and determinedly you head back into the log jam.

The most unbelievable thing about it all is that, if this is a three-act play, you do the same thing when the second-act curtain falls. As if mumbling an old, old ritual, you turn to your companion and say "How about going out for a smoke?" Memory is short. You have forgotten the Calgary stampede of a half-hour earlier. You fold back your chair, letting your program slip to the floor again, pardon yourself to your seat neighbor—and are off again to the races.

There may come more wonderful day when the New York theatergoer, like his London counterpart, will be looked on as an adult and will be permitted to sit snugly in his seat during intermission and not only smoke a cigaret, but also eat a cookie and sip some coffee. On the other hand this may lead to the habit of popcorn, you should pardon the expression, being consumed in the orchestra seats. When that day comes, my New York theatergoing ends.

Meanwhile: Yes, I thought that first act rather amusing. The juvenile was awfully good, wasn't he? Well . . . join me for a smoke?

Do women make good bosses? Contrary to popular opinion, women who work for other women like it!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Do women like to work for other women? That is the question which a recent investigation set out to settle. The poll was conducted among girls in various types of work, each of whom had a woman as her immediate superior.

Contrary to the rumor that "most girls would rather starve than work for a woman," every woman interviewed liked having a woman executive!

Model Bosses

One trainee of a big department store stated, "My boss is a favorite character with me! She acts like a dream and she looks like one. Just by watching her tactics, I've acquired the knack of accessorizing basic clothes so they really take on an individual look. Everything she does has an original touch, and I can certainly see why she has gotten ahead in business. I adore the gal, and believe me, I try to emulate her in every way that I can."

Said a file clerk in a large office, "Our exec is interested in us personally. She knows all about our work, homelife, defeats and victories. She laughs and cries with us and for us. Is it any wonder that, as my navy friend would say, 'ours is a happy ship'?"

A Challenging Defense

In defense of her chief, one private secretary even sounded belligerent: "You ask me why I like to work for Mrs. B. Well, I'll tell you. Does she ever lose touch with me when she's out of the office? Does she ever fail to tell me who and what to expect in the way of callers and calls? Does she keep me in the dark about new business or policies? She's just plain out of this world when it comes to the things that make a job interesting and make it possible to do your best work. She never fails to make me feel that I'm a big help and important to the work. And furthermore she takes the trouble to help me prepare myself for bigger and better things. How many men do that for their secretaries?"

Who said that women would rather work for men than for women? Must have been a man who started that rumor!

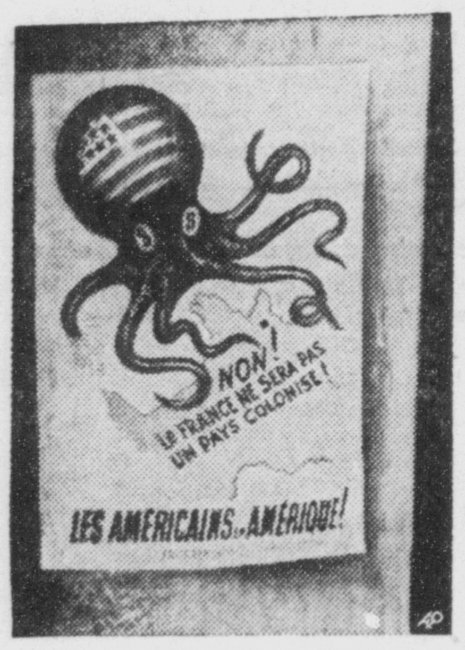
Red Posters And Leaflets Attack Americans In Paris

By CARTER DAVIDSON
AP Newsfeatures



NON! LA FRANCE NE SERA PAS UN PAYS COLONISE!
LES AMERICAINS...AMERIQUE!
AP

ANTI-AMERICAN Red posters now seen in Paris.

PARIS—Communists have renewed their efforts to chase American soldiers out of France with leaflets and posters.

The "Go Back to America" theme is being ground out of the Red propaganda mills in at least half a dozen French cities where American soldiers live and work.

A prime target is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE), where several hundred GI's are assigned, mostly as drivers, guards and communications system technicians.

Similar propaganda tirades are being launched with new vigor at United States supply lines centers at Bordeaux, La Rochelle, Orleans and Metz.

The actual number of American soldiers now in France is a secret of the military, but officers make it no secret that the Communists are wasting their time and their party's money in trying to scare U.S. troops with the old refrain of propoganda.

"Most of the kids just laugh at it," said one officer. "Others think it would be fun to try to catch a Communist sign painter at work and give him his answer on the spot."

Officers seem to be exempted from the current campaign, which apparently is designed to make American soldiers so ashamed of being "cannon-fodder for the Wall Street bankers" that they will pack up and leave.

Gen. Eisenhower, however, still gets frequent mention in the Communist press as "the MacArthur of Europe," and has been referred to once as "The Cannibal."

Scrawly signs appear on the pavements and walls near soldiers' barracks saying "Americans Go Home." The roads leading from Eisenhower's headquarters just west of Paris to nearby St. Germain are the most recent to be so inscribed.

Nearly 200 soldiers who work at SHAPE are living at St. Germain and make the five-mile trip by bus twice a day.

Leaflets recently appeared in Saint Germain during the night addressed to "American soldiers in Saint Germain:"

"Do you know why you have been sent to France?" the leaflets asked. "You don't? Well, this is why."

The poorly printed yellow leaflet then quoted a purported magazine article containing the sentence: "Money spent on armaments and on help to foreign countries backs up business (in the United States)."

"That is why you are occupying Saint Germain," said the leaflet. "That is why the population turns its back on you. You have been told you were defending civilization but you are backing up steel merchants, you are the instruments of their wealth."

The leaflets recalled that American liberation troops were welcomed in France, but said "Now you are the Army of Occupation."

Leaflets with identical texts have been found at Orleans and elsewhere, officers report.

Disabled Vets Need Jobs

The Veterans Administration is trying to find training opportunities for disabled veterans, H. H. Streimer, chief of the training facilities section of the Vocational Rehabilitation and Education Division, said yesterday.

Employers in the Cumberland area are urged to get in touch with the VA office here in the Post Office Building if they can train a veteran in one of ten listed occupations.

The jobs are: Stock record clerk; building maintenance man, electrical appliance repairman, instrument repairman, bench assembler, meat cutter, sheet metal worker, upholsterer, furniture finisher and automobile painter.

Veterans are available here for these positions and VA officials explained the 10 job categories were determined by means of tests designed to find the occupation for which the disabled men are best suited.

Fort Hill Girl Gets State Post

Miss Shirlee Twigg, a Fort Hill High School junior, was elected secretary of the Maryland Association of Student Councils at the annual convention of the group October 18 and 19 at Catonsville High School.

Others from Fort Hill attending the third annual convention which stressed the theme, youth leadership training through the student council, were Vernon Smith, Joan Schaidt, and James Reynolds. Miss Regina McCulley of the faculty, accompanied the group.

A student of Frederick High School was elected president of the state association.

On arrival at Catonsville High each member of the association was given a delegate's badge and programs of the session. Following registration, a business meeting was held in the auditorium.

Miss Twigg is secretary of the Fort Hill council. She is a member of the Beta-Tri-Hi-Y and is student manager of the girls basketball team.

Light Knocked Down On Baltimore Street

The traffic light at the corner of Baltimore and North Mechanic Streets was knocked from its base yesterday morning by a tractor-trailer truck. This is the second time in several months the light has been struck.

The light can be repaired, according to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn, and will be back in operation the next two days.

Lt. Raymond R. Johnston reported a truck knocked the device to the pavement about noon when the vehicle made a turn too sharply.

Offhand, police were unable to say how many times lights have been knocked down at the corner. Several weeks ago a new light arrived and was put into place at Market Street, and the signaling device there was transferred to the Main Stem intersection.

No charges were filed against the driver after he agreed to pay for damages.

Air Raid Alert Held In Area

Outpost 24-B, at Frostburg, the only ground aircraft observation post in Allegany County, participated in the surprise air raid alert staged Wednesday by the Air Force in a 19-state area.

The message of the alert was received by Mrs. William E. Toms, wife of the outpost supervisor at their Frostburg home Wednesday.

Adam Kalbaugh, chief observer at the outpost, had a group of men ready for duty at the outpost on short notice.

The object of the three-hour alert was to determine how rapidly some 6,000 ground observer posts in the northeastern area of the country could answer a call to action.

No planes were sent up, and key air raid warning centers were not involved in the exercise—and the public generally was not aware of the mythical approach of enemy aircraft.

Air Force officials explained that the surprise alert was intended only to test communications facilities.

Night Operations Planned To Find Black Snow Cause

Night observations are being taken by the Smoke Abatement Office to learn the source of the mysterious "black snow" which has been falling on South Cumberland for some time.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, said the office is determined to learn the source of the substance and that the checks will be made at night in an attempt to eliminate the nuisance.

The Smoke Abatement Office began its work on the problem early this week after a number of complaints were made.

None of the "black snow" was found yesterday morning, Hitchcock said.

Hitchcock said it will take about two days to complete analyzation of the "snow." He added that he gathered several good samples of it for analysis.

A considerable number of tests must be given the tissue-like substance, which had its heaviest concentration in the section between First and Fifth streets.

The substance has been falling in South End for over a two or three-month period, the smoke engineer reported, with much of it being deposited during the night.

As a result, Hitchcock added, the smoke abatement department will begin observations during the night on an irregular schedule.

Hitchcock believes that this system will eventually result in the department discovering the source of the flaky carbon-like substance.

Red Posters And Leaflets Attack Americans In Paris

By CARTER DAVIDSON
AP Newsfeatures

PARIS—Communists have renewed their efforts to chase American soldiers out of France with leaflets and posters.

The "Go Back to America" theme is being ground out of the Red propaganda mills in at least half a dozen French cities where American soldiers live and work.

A prime target is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE), where several hundred GI's are assigned, mostly as drivers, guards and communications system technicians.

Similar propaganda tirades are being launched with new vigor at United States supply lines centers at Bordeaux, La Rochelle, Orleans and Metz.

The actual number of American soldiers now in France is a secret of the military, but officers make it no secret that the Communists are wasting their time and their party's money in trying to scare U.S. troops with the old refrain of propoganda.

"Most of the kids just laugh at it," said one officer. "Others think it would be fun to try to catch a Communist sign painter at work and give him his answer on the spot."

Officers seem to be exempted from the current campaign, which apparently is designed to make American soldiers so ashamed of being "cannon-fodder for the Wall Street bankers" that they will pack up and leave.

Gen. Eisenhower, however, still gets frequent mention in the Communist press as "the MacArthur of Europe," and has been referred to once as "The Cannibal."

Scrawly signs appear on the pavements and walls near soldiers' barracks saying "Americans Go Home." The roads leading from Eisenhower's headquarters just west of Paris to nearby St. Germain are the most recent to be so inscribed.

Nearly 200 soldiers who work at SHAPE are living at St. Germain and make the five-mile trip by bus twice a day.

Leaflets recently appeared in Saint Germain during the night addressed to "American soldiers in Saint Germain:"

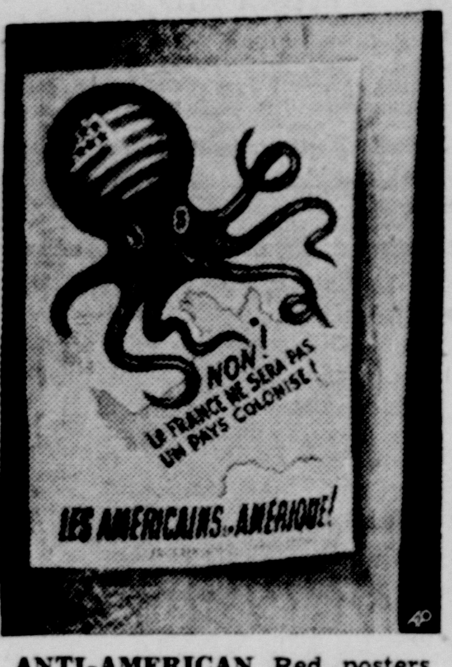
"Do you know why you have been sent to France?" the leaflets asked. "You don't? Well, this is why."

The poorly printed yellow leaflet then quoted a purported magazine article containing the sentence: "Money spent on armaments and on help to foreign countries backs up business (in the United States)."

"That is why you are occupying Saint Germain," said the leaflet. "That is why the population turns its back on you. You have been told you were defending civilization but you are backing up steel merchants, you are the instruments of their wealth."

The leaflets recalled that American liberation troops were welcomed in France, but said "Now you are the Army of Occupation."

Leaflets with identical texts have been found at Orleans and elsewhere, officers report.



NON! LA FRANCE NE SERA PAS UN PAYS COLONISÉ!
LES AMERICAINS...AMERIQUE!

ANTI-AMERICAN Red posters now seen in Paris.

Disabled Vets Need Jobs

The Veterans Administration is trying to find training opportunities for disabled veterans, H. H. Streimer, chief of the training facilities section of the Vocational Rehabilitation and Education Division, said yesterday.

Employers in the Cumberland area are urged to get in touch with the VA office here in the Post Office Building if they can train a veteran in one of ten listed occupations.

The jobs are: Stock record clerk; building maintenance man, electrical appliance repairman, instrument repairman, bench assembler, meat cutter, sheet metal worker, upholsterer, furniture finisher and automobile painter.

Veterans are available here for these positions and VA officials explained the 10 job categories were determined by means of tests designed to find the occupation for which the disabled men are best suited.

Fort Hill Girl Gets State Post

Miss Shirlee Twigg, a Fort Hill High School junior, was elected secretary of the Maryland Association of Student Councils at the annual convention of the group October 18 and 19 at Catonsville High School.

Others from Fort Hill attending the third annual convention which stressed the theme, youth leadership training through the student council, were Vernon Smith, Joan Schaidt, and James Reynolds. Miss Regina McCulley of the faculty, accompanied the group.

A student of Frederick High School was elected president of the state association.

On arrival at Catonsville High each member of the association was given a delegate's badge and programs of the session. Following registration, a business meeting was held in the auditorium.

Miss Twigg is secretary of the Fort Hill council. She is a member of the Beta-Tri-Hi-Y and is student manager of the girls basketball team.

Light Knocked Down On Baltimore Street

The traffic light at the corner of Baltimore and North Mechanic Streets was knocked from its base yesterday morning by a tractor-trailer truck. This is the second time in several months the light has been struck.

The light can be repaired, according to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn, and will be back in operation the next two days.

Lt. Raymond R. Johnston reported a truck knocked the device to the pavement about noon when the vehicle made a turn too sharply.

Offhand, police were unable to say how many times lights have been knocked down at the corner. Several weeks ago a new light arrived and was put into place at Market Street, and the signaling device there was transferred to the Main Stem intersection.

No charges were filed against the driver after he agreed to pay for damages.

Air Raid Alert Held In Area

Outpost 24-B, at Frostburg, the only ground aircraft observation post in Allegany County, participated in the surprise air raid alert staged Wednesday by the Air Force in a 19-state area.

The message of the alert was received by Mrs. William E. Toms, wife of the outpost supervisor at their Frostburg home Wednesday.

Adam Kalbaugh, chief observer at the outpost, had a group of men ready for duty at the outpost on short notice.

The object of the three-hour alert was to determine how rapidly some 6,000 ground observer posts in the northeastern area of the country could answer a call to action.

No planes were sent up, and key air raid warning centers were not involved in the exercise—and the public generally was not aware of the mythical approach of enemy aircraft.

Air Force officials explained that the surprise alert was intended only to test communications facilities.

Night Operations Planned To Find Black Snow Cause

Night observations are being taken by the Smoke Abatement Office to learn the source of the mysterious "black snow" which has been falling on South Cumberland for some time.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, said the office is determined to learn the source of the substance and that the checks will be made at night in an attempt to eliminate the nuisance.

The Smoke Abatement Office began its work on the problem early this week after a number of complaints were made.

None of the "black snow" was found yesterday morning, Hitchcock said.

Hitchcock said it will take about two days to complete analyzation of the "snow." He added that he gathered several good samples of it for analysis.

A considerable number of tests must be given the tissue-like substance, which had its heaviest concentration in the section between First and Fifth streets.

The substance has been falling in South End for over a two or three-month period, the smoke engineer reported, with much of it being deposited during the night.

As a result, Hitchcock added, the smoke abatement department will begin observations during the night on an irregular schedule.

Hitchcock believes that this system will eventually result in the department discovering the source of the flaky carbon-like substance.

Ticket-Taking Teacher Upheld On Pay Demand

MEDIA, Pa.—(AP)—A high school algebra teacher's demand that he be paid extra for taking tickets at a school football game has been upheld by the Delaware County Court.

The decision, handed down by President Judge Harold A. Ervin, was on a widely-publicized appeal by A. Todd Coronway, a teacher at Lansdowne, Pa., High School.

Judge Ervin ruled that the assignment of Coronway to take tickets at a game last October 28 "was a demotion of the said Coronway in type of position."

"The question involved extends far beyond the narrow confines of this particular teacher," Judge Ervin ruled. "It will affect the duties and compensation of all teachers in the state, because they all hold similar contracts.

"The duties of a teacher are professional and cannot be measured with a time clock."

Coronway, a social studies and algebra instructor, demanded that he be paid $2.50 an hour for the ticket-collecting assignment. He contended that teachers should received compensation for extra-curricular activities to which school authorities assign them.

Dr. E. Carlton Abbott, school superintendent, turned down Coronway's request. Coronway appealed to Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, who last June dismissed Coronway's appeal.

Dr. Haas said that Coronway's ticket-taking duties did not demote him in either type of position or salary.

Fire Ruins Medical Clinic In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP)—A six-alarm fire ruined a medical clinic near downtown Baltimore yesterday and damage was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Five firemen were overcome by smoke and another suffered a back injury when he fell through a skylight.

Some $165,000 worth of radium stored in a special vault behind the building was not harmed, one of the doctors at the clinic said.

The blaze started between 6 and 7 p. m. in the old brick building housing the Kelly Clinic in the 1400 Block Eutaw Place.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—Attention atheists! How do you explain away the atom? It's a pretty complicated gadget, this atom. Especially when liberties are taken with it, as is the case at the Nevada test site.

Take a spec of coal so small that it not only cannot be seen by the sharpest eye in the world but cannot be detected except by the finest optical microscope. Well, that spec contains 1,000,000,000 atoms. And each one of these atoms has a nucleus, or core, ten-thousand times smaller than the whole atom.

It is the cracking of that nucleus that causes radiation which could result in anything from the loss of hair and teeth to cancer and death. It is the chain reaction of trillions of splitting uranium or plutonium atoms which makes possible the A-bomb.

But it takes more than a nutcracker to puncture the rind of an atom and slice that sub-sub-sub-sub microscopic seed that is the nucleus. The nucleus of uranium or plutonium is put together so securely that if a chain could be made of them and each link secured as tightly as the composite parts of the nucleus is secured the chain (though invisible to the eye) could lift every ship in the U. S. Navy right out of the ocean like a mess of minnows.

If all the atoms in a kilogram of uranium or plutonium (2.2 pounds) could be made to split, not at once but under rigid control, they would produce as much electrical energy as every power plant in every U. S. city and all the great hydro-electric projects such as Niagara Falls, T.V.A., and Hoover Dam—combined—could produce for 30 days.

The nutcracker of the nucleus is a particle known as a neutron. Neutrons abound around us, flying through the air at speeds not far below the 186,000 miles per second speed of light. They are the missiles which break the heart of the nucleus of such "unstable" atoms as those of uranium and plutonium. The broken nucleus emits other neutrons which scattered through the assembled mass of fissionable material, breaking other nuclei which in turn give off more neutrons which break more nuclei which give off more neutrons, and sometimes wipe out places like Hiroshima.

As long as man has worked with radioactive material he has taken pains to protect himself from its rays. The safety record of A-bomb builders is remarkable. Though tens of thousands of workers have dabbled in the hot atom since 1943 only two have died of radiation. Both scientists in question were experimenting with masses of material not dangerous if kept inseparate little mounds, but highly dangerous if the mounds were brought together.

The latter emergency arose in each case, and each scientist instinctly reached into the pattern of the material and scattered the pieces. In the latter of the two tragedies eight other scientists standing in the same lab were hospitalized. One was gravely ill for a long period—Dr. Alvin Graves, now test director of the current atomic war games. The doctor's semi-bald head is about the only souvenir of his brush with death.

As a result of these deaths and injuries such laboratory experiments are now conducted with a fifth of a mile of shielding and air between the actual material and the man who is dallying with it.

This is done by means of incredible mechanical hands manipulated by remote control. A television camera is the extended eye of the remote scientist. A T-V screen in front of him tells him what his "hands" are doing, perhaps in some other building on the atomic reservation. This process is expected also to eliminate what for a time threatened to become an occupational disease of such works: cataracts of the eye.

Radiation cannot be seen or felt, yet it is such an important factor of all atomic work that protection against it represents, in some cases, 90 per cent of the cost of atomic installations. At New York's Brookhaven National Laboratory 16 futuristic sentinel stations scattered around the 6,750 acre layout are ready night and day to shut off the reactors if adverse weather conditions threaten to force radioactive particles over the neighboring countryside.

The plutonium plant at Hanford, Wash., has costly ventilating systems that reduce the poisonous plutonium gas which escapes from the plant's chimneys to one-million-billionth of a part.

And all this multi-multi-billion dollar program, which embraces everything from radioactive iodine for recalcitrant thyroid glands to A-bombs whose explosions not even Shakespeare could have described, comes from breaking the heart of a nucleus that no man has ever seen or ever will.

Irked Principal Sets Off School Fireworks In L. A.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Hell hath no fury like a scorned school principal—especially a woman.

Today the seven-member board entrusted with the education of 350,000 children and the spending of $110,000,000 a year has four of its members named in grand jury actions and a fifth resigned after being accused as a devotee of what medical experts branded as voodoo.

All because Mrs. Ione Swan, an elementary school principal, went to war against the board earlier this year.

Mrs. Swan, a principal for more than 25 years, went over the board's heads to the county grand jury. She called the administration of Los Angeles schools a "little Kremlin" and listed charges of insurance graft, unsafe playgrounds, bad food in cafeterias and unqualified teachers.

The board promptly fired her from her $7,125 a year job for professional misconduct. It said Mrs. Swan was disgruntled because she didnt' get a better job she was seeking.

Mrs. Swan retorted that the board's action "throws the real issue into sharp focus."

On May 1, the grand jury opened an investigation of the city schools.

On May 3, an insurance broker testified he arranged to apportion school bus liability insurance commissions with the then-president of the board, Roy J. Becker and L. S. Rounsavelle, husband of a school board member. The broker was Robert Landier, whose brother heads a transportation firm which operates most of the city school bus fleet. It took the grand just a week to vote accusations against Becker and Mrs. Gertrude Rounsavelle.

(The seldom-used accusation is a complaint against a public official which seeks his removal from office on grounds he failed in his public responsibility. Unlike an indictment, it is not a criminal charge).

Becker was ousted from office after a court hearing and Mrs. Rounsavelle was defeated for reelection. The accusation against her was then dropped.

On Aug. 30, the grand jury voted an accusation against J. Paul Elliott alleging he accepted legal fees from the Landier interests while voting on several million dollars worth of bus contracts with the firm. He is up for a jury trial Dec. 3.

On Oct. 11, Olin E. Darby, fourth board member under fire, was indicted on three counts charging violation of the state code which bars elected officials from having an interest in contracts on which they vote. He is alleged to have voted on a school contract for the purchase of ice cream from a firm to which he had rented business property, and on two contracts for printing from other tenants.

If convicted, Darby faces a maximum penalty of imprisonment for one to five years and a fine of $1,000.

Meanwhile, the district attorney's office is continuing its inquiry into the school setup and is reported to have seized registration cards, cancelled checks and receipted bills covering resort visits by school administration figures.

Superintendent of Schools Alexander J. Stoddard answered published reports that he was entertained by Felicien Landier, owner of the bus firm, at Yosemite.

"I have eaten or spent an evening with Mr. Landier perhaps a dozen times," Stoddard told a reported. "I think we are about square for picking up the check for each other. If they are going to start dragging the private social life of Mrs. Stoddard and myself into things like this, they can have my job any time they want it."

Bruce Findlay, associate superintendent for schools, said he and his wife stopped at Yosemite National Park with the Stoddards enroute home from an educators' conference. Findlay said Landier was stopping at the hotel and paid his bill but Findlay said he objected and reimbursed Landier.

"I have that check now, endorsed by Mr. Landier. As of this moment that $52.66 cancelled check is the most precious thing in my possession today."

Mrs. Eleanor Allen, the board president after Becker's ouster, resigned from the board Oct. 15 to "restore public confidence." She had not figured in any grand jury action but her resignation followed public disclosure of the most bizarre aspect of the case.

By her own testimony in federal court, she believes that a little black box with dials, tuned in on a drop of her blood in Hollywood can save her from an attack of pneumonia ever though she might be in Snow Shoe, Pa., or Singapore at the time.

She testified Sept. 19 in federal court in support of Dr. Ruth B. Drown, inventor of the black box. Mrs. Allen said she was convinced the box could cure anything from colds to cancer even though the patient was thousands of miles away.

Government prosecutors and medical experts branded the box as on a "par with the voodoo works of tribal medicine men and witch doctors." Electronics experts testified the box is nothing more than an inefficient battery tester. It looks like a 1925 radio with a headset.

Mrs. Allen testified the box cured her son's hands of skin eruptions in 1933. She said she felt a cold coming on in Atlantic City once and wired Dr. Drown and her husband, Dr. Walter W. Allen, a doctor of radio therapy. The doctors, she said, put a sample of her blood in the device which then diagnosed the ailment and treated her across country.

The federal jury, nevertheless, convicted Dr. Drown for criminal violation of the Food and Drug Act.

The Old Second Guesser

By JOHN N. WHEELER

If I Were President

The Dutch Treat Club opened its season about a week ago, and among the members present was Herbert Hoover, the only living ex-president of the United States. The old gentleman looked to be in good health, and he has mellowed through the years and developed a warmth he didn't have when his address was the White House. He has discarded the high choker collars for low ones attached to his shirt, he gives a warm handshake, and looks you in the eye with a twinkle in his, although he is not optimistic about the prospects for the U.S.A. and the world in general.

John Wheeler

It must have been 10 years ago, Deac Aylesworth called me one day and invited me to have lunch with the distinguished statesman. I didn't stop to inquire where he got the authority, but accepted before he changed his mind. Grant Rice, Mr. A and I met in the Waldorf bar and decided to patronize the place before going up to our host's apartment. Larry Richey, his former secretary, was the only other guest, and, before we sat down, he asked,

"Would you fellows like a drink?"

Grant started to clear his throat, when Mr. Hoover spoke up.

"It looks like an occasion," he said, which was flattering. "Let's have one."

The ayes won it. He took a single shot, and so did we. He told some wonderful stories of his experiences which cannot be reported here as it was a social gathering, and then he reminisced about sports with Rice. It was a warm and easy affair, and soon he was addressing me by my first name, and I was calling him "Chief." When we left, I felt I had made a real friend.

Then there was the time Bruce Barton, Grantland Rice, Frank Crowninshield and I had been playing golf and on the way home, as is often the case, it semed to be a good idea to nominate Mr. B. as the Republican candiadte for President. He is a big, good-looking guy, and had been a member of Congress. We stopped at the Rice apartment to continue the caucus, and a couple of old-fashioneds fanned our enthusiasm to the point where Grant promised him the Tennessee delegation, and we decided to put out an interview. I called the man in charge of the office at night, thinking he would realize we were kidding. We announced the Barton hat was in the ring, and he concluded by saying,

"Anybody can beat Hoover."

Much to our surprise the story appeared in a couple of papers, and someone must have told Mr. Hoover about it, because he mentioned it to our candidate, and, being the politician he is, as well as an advertising tycoon, he denied it. However, it gave him an idea, and he wrote an article for the Cosmopolitan magazine with some such title as "What I Would Do If President." It was reported he got $1,500 for this masterpiece, and Mr. Rice and I are still trying to collect our share, claiming we originated the idea.

If I were President now, I would be for the United States of America first. We have had too many tenants of the White House lately who look toward distant horizons. I recently heard a distinguished military man, who had devoted his life to the service, say we are wasting our resources overseas and the most important one of all—manpower. He added he would send no more American soldiers to Europe than we have there now.

We should never have gone into Korea with ground troops I believe. My friend says we should now turn the job over to the Asiatics who want freedom after training and equipping their armies. We would go back to the fundamentals which made this country great—integrity, thrift, and enterprise. I would try to clean out the crooks who have oozed into the government, and then fumigate the place. I would cut down on the number of federal employes. When I read of Heartbreak Ridge, I choke up. The general remarked this affair made little difference in the whole campaign. In wars, we lose the best of the breed—the slovens stay home and survive.

But I have not seen my name mentioned with those of Senator Taft, General Eisenhower, and Harry Truman, so I guess I may as well close up the typewriter.

John Alden sang the praises of Miles Standish to Priscilla Mullins—and then spoke for himself.

There is romance, adventure and victory in a battle for freedom, in our beautifully illustrated story about one of the great traditional American holidays. Be sure to read every installment of

By JOHN N. WHEELER

If I Were President

The Dutch Treat Club opened its season about a week ago, and among the members present was Herbert Hoover, the only living ex-president of the United States. The old gentleman looked to be in good health, and he has mellowed through the years and developed a warmth he didn't have when his address was the White House. He has discarded the high choker collars for low ones attached to his shirt, he gives a warm handshake, and looks you in the eye with a twinkle in his, although he is not optimistic about the prospects for the U.S.A. and the world in general.

John Wheeler

It must have been 10 years ago, Deac Aylesworth called me one day and invited me to have lunch with the distinguished statesman. I didn't stop to inquire where he got the authority, but accepted before he changed his mind. Grant Rice, Mr. A and I met in the Waldorf bar and decided to patronize the place before going up to our host's apartment. Larry Richey, his former secretary, was the only other guest, and, before we sat down, he asked,

"Would you fellows like a drink?"

Grant started to clear his throat, when Mr. Hoover spoke up.

"It looks like an occasion," he said, which was flattering. "Let's have one."

The ayes won it. He took a single shot, and so did we. He told some wonderful stories of his experiences which cannot be reported here as it was a social gathering, and then he reminisced about sports with Rice. It was a warm and easy affair, and soon he was addressing me by my first name, and I was calling him "Chief." When we left, I felt I had made a real friend.

Then there was the time Bruce Barton, Grantland Rice, Frank Crowninshield and I had been playing golf and on the way home, as is often the case, it semed to be a good idea to nominate Mr. B. as the Republican candiadte for President. He is a big, good-looking guy, and had been a member of Congress. We stopped at the Rice apartment to continue the caucus, and a couple of old-fashioneds fanned our enthusiasm to the point where Grant promised him the Tennessee delegation, and we decided to put out an interview. I called the man in charge of the office at night, thinking he would realize we were kidding. We announced the Barton hat was in the ring, and he concluded by saying,

Much to our surprise the story appeared in a couple of papers, and someone must have told Mr. Hoover about it, because he mentioned it to our candidate, and, being the politician he is, as well as an advertising tycoon, he denied it. However, it gave him an idea, and he wrote an article for the Cosmopolitan magazine with some such title as "What I Would Do If President." It was reported he got $1,500 for this masterpiece, and Mr. Rice and I are still trying to collect our share, claiming we originated the idea.

If I were President now, I would be for the United States of America first. We have had too many tenants of the White House lately who look toward distant horizons. I recently heard a distinguished military man, who had devoted his life to the service, say we are wasting our resources overseas and the most important one of all—manpower. He added he would send no more American soldiers to Europe than we have there now.

We should never have gone into Korea with ground troops I believe. My friend says we should now turn the job over to the Asiatics who want freedom after training and equipping their armies. We would go back to the fundamentals which made this country great—integrity, thrift, and enterprise. I would try to clean out the crooks who have oozed into the government, and then fumigate the place. I would cut down on the number of federal employes. When I read of Heartbreak Ridge, I choke up. The general remarked this affair made little difference in the whole campaign. In wars, we lose the best of the breed—the slovens stay home and survive.

But I have not seen my name mentioned with those of Senator Taft, General Eisenhower, and Harry Truman, so I guess I may as well close up the typewriter.

ASK ABOUT WARDS MONTHLY PAYMENT PLAN

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

(By Representative J. Glenn Beall, Sixth Maryland District)

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS . . . A 5½ billion dollar tax bill was finally passed with slight changes after being rejected by the House last week.

A compromise bill appropriating $597 million for flood control and rivers and harbors projects, handled by the Corps of Engineers, was passed. The bill calls for about $83 million more than the House originally ordered and about $41 million less than the amount called for in the original Senate bill.

The House completed action to extend veterans preference provisions to veterans of the Korean War, making them eligible for the same GI benefits in veterans' housing as World War II veterans.

The House also passed the Railroad Retirement bill increasing benefits by 15 per cent; survivors' annuities by 33⅓ per cent; lump-sum benefits by 25 per cent; $40 maximum spouse's annuity; credit for service after 65; increased survivor annuities where spouse has died; and increasing time limit for filing applications for annuities from 60 days to 6 months.

VETERANS . . . Helpless veterans who may be entitled to the increased pension rate of $120 a month when they need attendant services will have to apply to Veterans Administration by letter to receive it. There is no automatic review of cases to determine if veterans qualify.

•—•—•

RESERVISTS . . . The new Reservists plan divides reserves into Ready, Standby and Retired classifications. Ready reserves can be called to active duty for 24 months without their consent. These include National Guard and organized units as well as draftees who have served two years. Standby and Retired groups would be subject to call only in time of all-out war or when specifically ordered by Congress.

•—•—•

TAXES . . . In 1929 the annual tax for each adult in the U. S. was $151. In 1940 it was $184. At present, in 1951, it will amount to $860. In the last 11 years, the federal tax has grown from $6.7 billion to about $65 billion dollars.

•—•—•

SPENDING . . . In the first 101 days of the fiscal year which began July 1, the federal government spent money at the rate of $1,914 per second. Of this amount, $382.41 was borrowed. The total deficit for 101 days was more than $3⅓ billion dollars and going higher each day.

•—•—•

COMMUNIST MILLIONS . . . Disbursement of a million dollars to subversive and Communist organizations was revealed to Congress in a report by Rep. Velde (R) of Illinois, a member of the Un-American Activities Committee of the House, from tax-free trust funds supposedly for educational purposes. Cited was a $20,000 legal fee for defense of William Remington, charged and convicted of lying about being a Communist, paid for by the Robert Marshall Civil Liberties trust. Other trusts giving aid to leftist causes are the Carnegie group, Alger Hiss' former employer, and some Rockefeller trust funds.

•—•—•

UNDER THE DOME . . . The House passed my bill providing for the transfer of government owned land not in use to the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Inasmuch as the legislation has passed the Senate it has now gone to the President for signing.

The Post Office Department advised me that an extension of rural service has been approved which will take care of the residents of Jefferson Heights, Hagerstown.

Numerous requests have come to me for help in securing military units for coming Armistice Day parades in the District. I have requested such participation and am hopeful that each request will be approved.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice Kam, 56, arrested with her son, Herbert, 33, in a dope raid was quoted by police today as telling them:

"Herbert is a good boy, a good son. He never brought me anything but the very purest stuff (dope)."

From World War II to 1951 the U. S. had developed 53 different types of jet planes.

Shipyard Worker Sentenced To Hang

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP)—Sylvester [illegible] Madison, 28-year-old shipyard worker, has been sentenced to hang for the murder of a grocer during a holdup last April.

Sentence was imposed by Judges S. Ralph Warnken, Herman M. Moser and Joseph R. Byrnes, who presided as the Criminal Court jury trial several months ago.

The grocer, 50-year-old Zelig Gerstein, was shot to death by an armed bandit who tried to hold him up.

Taft Asks Arms Program Check

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25 (AP) — Calling for a recheck of military expenditures, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today "we've just about reached the limit on taxes."

"We have to be as selective with our military projects as anything else," Taft declared. "We can't run the entire world. There's an economic limitation on the United States."

Taft called for establishment of a joint civilian-military commission to reappraise military expenditures. This commission, he suggested, would:

"Determine exactly how large an expenditure is necessary to assure the peace and security of the United States and, at least eliminate the waste and extravagance which is likely to permeate a military establishment."

Taft spoke at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon. Earlier at a news conference he urged that we press for completion of the Korean cease fire negotiation, declaring:

"A stalemated peace is better than a stalemated war."

Remington Faces Perjury Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — The federal government placed a new perjury charge against Economist William Remington today, after flubbing a previous attempt to jail him.

Remington's lawyer at once raised a cry of "double jeopardy"—the forbidden practice of trying a man more than once for the same crime.

Said Attorney Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., in Washington:

"We cannot believe that this vicious device to avoid the time-honored rule against double jeopardy will be sanctioned by the American people or the American courts."

In the new indictment, a federal grand jury accused Remington of lying five times from the witness stand while being convicted of perjury. He upset the conviction on an appeal.

While perjury is the charge against the former $10,000 a year Commerce Department economist, the heart of the case all along has been the allegation that he was a Communist who stole government secrets for a Soviet spy ring.

Ex-Convict Charged With Liquor Deaths

ATLANTA, Oct. 25 (AP) — A 360-pound ex-convict was charged with murder today in the deaths of 31 Atlantans from a deadly batch of moonshine.

Solicitor General Paul Webb said the huge Atlanta man, John R. (Fat) Hardy, 44, had a criminal record three pages long.

The lethal liquor — a mixture of wood alcohol and water — began taking its toll late Sunday night.

Since then 29 negroes and two white persons have died. In addition, the city hospital has been swamped with 301 other victims whose symptoms ranged from nausea to blindness.

In nearby Winder, Ga., two white men died of methyl alcohol poisoning last night and a third was in critical condition, bringing the total fatalities in the Atlanta area to 33.

Calvert County Keeps Eye On Nelson Case

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 25 (AP)—State's Attorney Arthur W. Dowell of Calvert County said today he is watching closely the development of gambling and conspiracy charges against Charles E. Nelson in Washington and Prince Georges County.

Nelson, his wife and eight others were indicted in Prince Georges County yesterday in gambling charges.

Earlier this week the Nelsons and 14 others were indicted in Washington.

The Washington indictments charged that the Nelson syndicate used a house at North Beach, Calvert County, for some of the book-work and money counting in its numbers operation.

King's Wife Files Annulment Petition

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 25 (AP)—The first step was taken today to pave the way for Sheppard (Abdullah) King III to marry a royal Egyptian dancer.

Mrs. Sheppard King filed a petition for annulment of her second marriage to the wealthy red-headed Texan, claiming "fancy drinks" deprived her of her reason and will power when she remarried June 2, 1951. She said she didn't remember the marriage.

The petition was filed in district court. Action on it may come Monday.

King, a Moslem now with the name Abdullah, met, wooed and won the hand of Dancer Samia Gamel in just three hours time. He was on a European holiday. His wife and sister were in Paris, too.

Soviet, Egyptian Officials Confer

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 25 (AP)—A Soviet-Egyptian meeting in the midst of the British-Egyptian crisis over the Suez and the Sudan won the headlines in Cairo newspapers today.

A meeting between King Farouk and U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery was reported at the same time in the official gazette.

The newspapers splashed front pages with pictures and stories of the 90-minute talk yesterday at the foreign office between Russian Minister Semen Pavlovitch Kozyrev and Egypt's foreign minister, Mohamed Salah El Din.

A British military spokesman, meanwhile, said an Egyptian labor boycott, obstruction and starvation tactics in the canal zone are creating a critical situation for the British.

But British forces holding the Suez went on "iron rations" like a wartime field army and kept British ships moving through the canal. They turned to canned foods in place of fresh foodstuffs that are no longer flowing into the zone from Egyptian sources.

Stripper's Request Granted By Judge

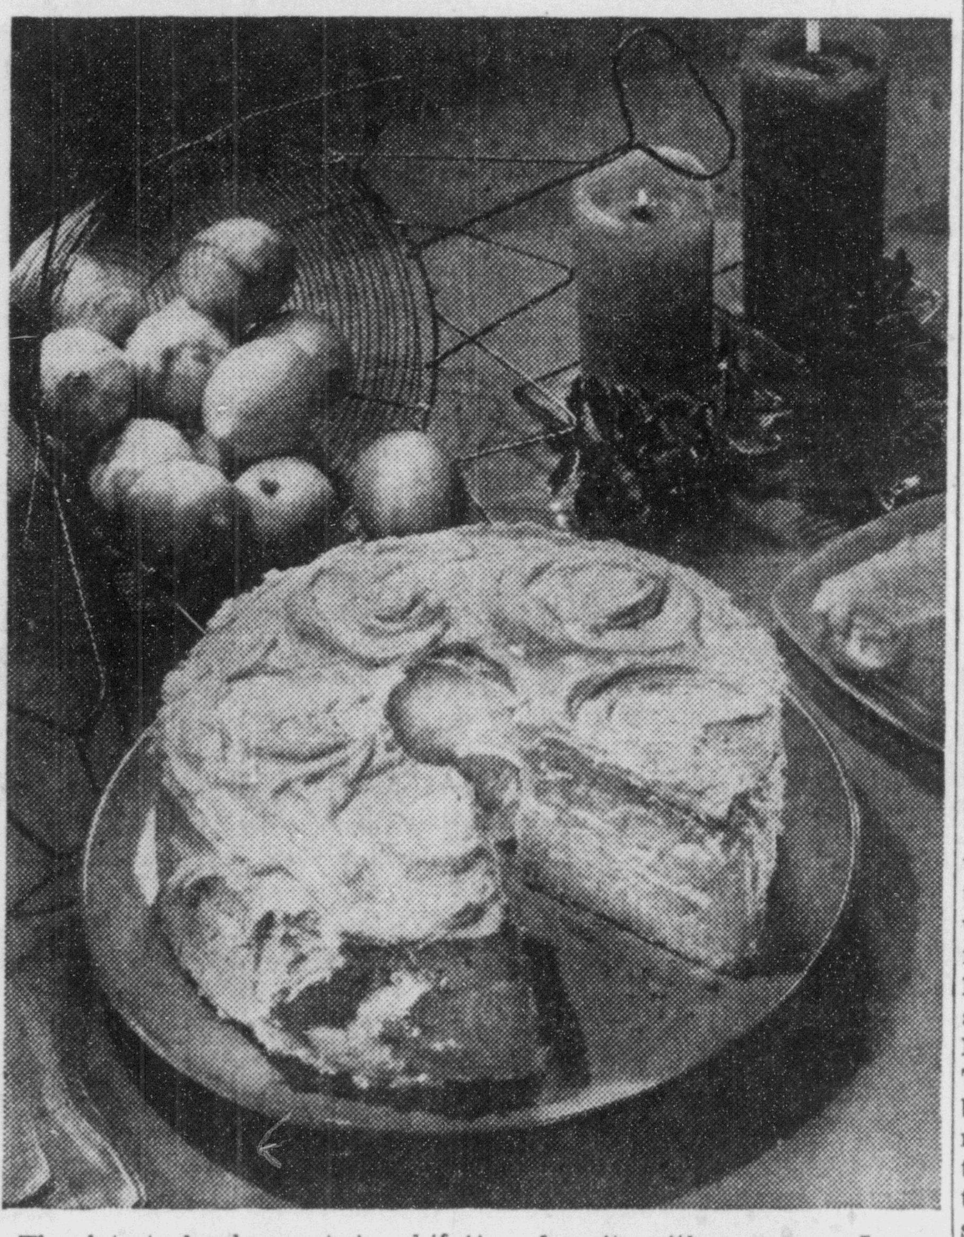
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 25 (AP)—Strip Teaser Lili St. Cyr, fully clothed in $30,000 worth of mink, today asked for a blue-ribbon jury to hear charges that she put on an indecent show for a movieland crowd at Ciro's nightclub.

The tall, leggy Lili appeared in Justice Court with Lawyer Jerry Giesler. She pleaded innocent in the brief arraignment. Giesler asked a panel of experts in the fields of art, movies and television be picked to judge the case.

Justice Henry H. Draeger pondered the request a moment, set Dec. 4 for the trial and added the "panel will be representative."

Giesler told reporters he planned to present Lili in her famed bubble bath routine at the trial.

Lucious Lemon Gold Cake



The latest development in chiffon cakes is this luscious Lemon Gold beauty with a delightful fresh lemon flavor. It's a really new and different cake, using a newly introduced salad oil. Thanks to the juice and grated peel of tangy fresh lemons, the delicate flavor of this cake is a favorite with everyone. Lemon Gold Cake owes its light tender texture to the salad oil. You'll find that it is quick and easy to blend . . .one of the simplest cakes to make.

If you're counting your household pennies, you'll be happy to note that this recipe makes a large 10-inch cake with only six eggs. You'll marvel at the large volume, light texture of a chiffon cake with this number of eggs.

Crowned with Lemon Fluff Frosting, this newly developed cake is one you'll probably serve on special occasions as well as for family dinners. The fresh lemon juice and peel combine with other ingredients in the frosting to give a wonderful flavor that complements the Lemon Gold Cake. Best of all, the frosting requires no cooking or lengthy mixing process — whip it up in a jiffy, spread on cake and you'll have a much sought-after dessert.

LEMON GOLD CAKE

2¼ cups sifted cake flour
1½ cups sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup salad oil
6 eggs, separated
¾ cup cold water
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ teaspoon cream of tartar

Sift the flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together in a bowl. Make a well and add in order, the oil, egg yolks, water, lemon juice and peel. Beat with a spoon until smooth. Add the cream of tartar to the egg whites and beat until very, very stiff. Pour the egg yolk mixture gradually over the whipped egg whites, carefully folding with a rubber scraper just until blended. Do not stir. Pour immediately into an ungreased 10x4 inch tube pan. Bake in a moderate oven, 325°F. for 70 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched. After removing the cake from the oven, turn the pan upside down, placing the tube part over the neck of a small funnel. When cold, loosen the sides with a spatula, remove the cake and frost.

LEMON FLUFF FROSTING

½ cup margarine
dash salt
4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel

Cream the margarine; add salt and part of sugar. Cream well and add remaining sugar alternately with lemon juice, creaming until light and fluffy. Add lemon peel and mix thoroughly.

Gasoline Price War Reaches Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 25 (AP)—A gasoline price war spread from Chambersburg, Pa., to Hagerstown today with some operators selling straight gas at 24.4 cents a gallon.

The 3.1 cent drop was noted within hours after the first Hagerstown station operator joined the fight. Three others began matching price cuts.

Wilson, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Wilkins, Greensburg, Pa.,; and Mrs. Mary Moser, Point Marion, Pa., and four grandchildren.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Can you learn to "close your ears"?

Answer: Not entirely, of course, but your mental attitude has more to do than you may think with the extent to which sounds and noises disturb you—actual deafness may be caused by an unconscious refusal to hear. The extent to which you are aware of sounds depends largely on the "meaning" they have for you—above all on how far you interpret them as threats. The more you feel that the milkman or the garbage truck is deliberately trying to keep you awake, the more effectually they will do so, and conversely, the more clearly you can realize that a noise has nothing to do with you, the easier it will be to disregard it.

May mother-in-law be a scapegoat?

Answer: Yes, says Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 174: "How To Be a Good Mother-in-Law and Grandmother." Mothers-in-law xxx have had such a "bad press" for so long that you are likely to start with the odds against you. For one thing, your child's mate may prefer to blame you for his or her shortcomings rather than find fault directly with the loved one. Or again, "Perhaps your son-in-law or daughter-in-law has been angry at his or her own mother but has felt guilty about that anger" and unconsciously transferred it to you. For "annoyance at a mother-in-law stamps no one as a heartless, ungrateful creature."

CRIME WAVE
UNCHE

Do we need a "return to reason"?

Answer: Yes. writes Otto Friedrich Bollnow in the German magazine, Sammlung. Admitting that "emotional behavior" does much to enrich life, he maintains that order and democracy can be achieved only by training our selves and our children to "live reasonably." While modern psychology has shown that reason cannot have the central place in life that once was assigned to it, emotion without reason can lead only to disaster. The function of psychoanalysis, for instance, is not to make you ignore what your reason tells you but to help you rid yourself of the emotional disturbances that keep you from following reason's dictates.

Governor Not Justified In Remitting Fine

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP) — A magistrate who accepts a bad check in payment of a fine can't expect the governor to bail him out.

The governor has the power to do so, says an opinion by Attorney General Hall Hammond, but wouldn't be justified in remitting the fine under the circumstances.

The opinion was in a letter to Handy B. Truitt, trial magistrate who had accepted a check in payment of a fine of $200.75 for a motor vehicle law violation. The writer of the check subsequently stopped payment on it.

The magistrate asked the governor to remit the fine, thus allowing the magistrate to make up the loss.

Probers Find Low Morale At Three U. S. Marine Posts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — A Senate investigating committee today criticized home-front training conditions at some U. S. Marine bases as contributing to low morale among the leathernecks and wasting the taxpayers' money.

Citing widespread complaints, the committee's report singled out a variety of cases ranging from poor food and flimsily protected open-air showers to overstaffing in "chair corps" positions.

The report recommended that women replace some of the able-bodied desk men.

At the Pentagon, a Marine spokesman told reporters:

"The Marine Corps is studying the report with a view of taking corrective action where indicated."

Several camp commandants criticized in the report promised similar "corrective" steps.

The report was issued by Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) as chairman of a preparedness subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee. It was the 31st report of the subcommittee since it was set up as a "watchdog" over the nation's mobilization program.

The group said it found dissatisfaction and low morale — particularly among reservists recently called to duty — at three Marine bases: El Toro and Camp Pendleton in California and Camp LeJeune in North Carolina.

Taft Asks Arms Program Check

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25 (AP) — Calling for a recheck of military expenditures, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today "we've just about reached the limit on taxes."

"We have to be as selective with our military projects as anything else," Taft declared. "We can't run the entire world. There's an economic limitation on the United States."

Taft called for establishment of a joint civilian-military commission to reappraise military expenditures. This commission, he suggested, would:

"Determine exactly how large an expenditure is necessary to assure the peace and security of the United States and, at least eliminate the waste and extravagance which is likely to permeate a military establishment."

Taft spoke at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon. Earlier at a news conference he urged that we press for completion of the Korean cease fire negotiation, declaring:

"A stalemated peace is better than a stalemated war."

Remington Faces Perjury Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — The federal government placed a new perjury charge against Economist William Remington today, after flubbing a previous attempt to jail him.

Remington's lawyer at once raised a cry of "double jeopardy"—the forbidden practice of trying a man more than once for the same crime.

Said Attorney Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., in Washington:

"We cannot believe that this vicious device to avoid the time-honored rule against double jeopardy will be sanctioned by the American people or the American courts."

In the new indictment, a federal grand jury accused Remington of lying five times from the witness stand while being convicted of perjury. He upset the conviction on an appeal.

While perjury is the charge against the former $10,000 a year Commerce Department economist, the heart of the case all along has been the allegation that he was a Communist who stole government secrets for a Soviet spy ring.

Ex-Convict Charged With Liquor Deaths

ATLANTA, Oct. 25 (AP) — A 360-pound ex-convict was charged with murder today in the deaths of 31 Atlantans from a deadly batch of moonshine.

Solicitor General Paul Webb said the huge Atlanta man, John R. (Fat) Hardy, 44, had a criminal record three pages long.

The lethal liquor — a mixture of wood alcohol and water — began taking its toll late Sunday night.

Since then 29 negroes and two white persons have died. In addition, the city hospital has been swamped with 301 other victims whose symptoms ranged from nausea to blindness.

In nearby Winder, Ga., two white men died of methyl alcohol poisoning last night and a third was in critical condition, bringing the total fatalities in the Atlanta area to 33.

Meals Of French Creation Give Much Needed Pickup

It is said that to stay young we must not be averse to changing personal habits now and then; which is probably true. There is nothing like a new approach to things to give everyday living a much-needed pickup. For example, how long has it been since you have tried out a new recipe on the family? In case you're in the mood for something different, you can't go wrong if you decide on a recipe or two from one of the European countries, France for instance. French cooking is famous the world over, and justly so. It need not be difficult either, as you can see from the accompanying recipes. They will add excitement to any meal and are sure to make you want to go to see for your self the many interesting things to be found in France.

France, country of a thousand facets...no wonder, as the saying goes, "Every American longs to go there before he or she dies." There is Paris, the heart of France, with its historical treasures...the Eiffel tower, the Louvre, Notre-Dame, the Opera, not to mention the most famous streets in the world, the Rue de la paix, and the Champs-Elysees. Here are quantities of beautiful shops and interesting places to eat. Places, incidentally, where they serve the very foods we feature in the column today.

The creative and frugal French use imagination freely. When they have little meat (and who has a lot these days?) they make the most of it. You will too if you serve those delicious stuffed cucumbers or meat pancakes. (Recipe below). Another tempting dish of theirs well worth trying is onion pie. Now that onions are so plentiful, why not serve them in this unusual way? Any of these good dishes will make a meal to remember.

Combres Farcis

Stuffed cucumbers, French style 3 cucumbers; 1 cup cooked, chopped meat; ½ cup cooked rice; 1½ cups sauce; salt, pepper; grated nutmeg; chopped parsley and chives.

Cut three medium-sized cucumbers lengthwise, remove seeds and peel very thin, leaving a little of the skin. Place the halved cucumbers in a greased baking dish and fill with chopped, cooked meat and rice, mixed and seasoned. Cover with thick bechamel (cream) sauce, sprinkle with salt, pepper and grated nutmeg, chopped parsley and chives and bake in medium oven 1 hour.

Crepes De Bouuf

1 small onion, minced; 2 tablsp. fat; 1 cup finely chopped cooked beef. ½ tsp. salt; dash of pepper; 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour; 1 tsp. baking powder; 1 egg, beaten; 1½ cups milk; butter; chopped parsley.

Saute onion in 1 tablespoon fat until browned; add meat, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper, and cook 1 minute. Prepare griddle cake batter, using flour, baking powder, remaining ¼ teaspoon salt, egg and milk; beat in meat mixture. Cook as for large pancakes on greased hot griddle; spread with butter, sprinkle with parsley and roll tightly; serve piping hot. Yield: 10 crepes.

Tarte A L'oignon

Onion Pie

¼cup butter; 2 cups sliced onions; 2 tblsp. flour; 1 tsp. salt; ⅛ tsp. pepper; 1 cup top milk; 3 eggs, well beaten; pastry; parsley.

Melt butter, add onions and stir over medium heat until lightly browned. Sprinkle with flour and seasonings, and blend. Add milk gradually while stirring over low heat. Stir mixture gradually into beaten egg. Line 8-inch pie pan with pastry and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for three minutes. Remove from oven. Fill with onion mixture and bake about 20 minutes until set. Serve hot garnished with ring of parsley. 6 servings.

Bisque of Shrimp Bretonne

2 lbs. raw shrimp; 1 cup chopped mushrooms; 2 tblsp. chopped onion; 2 tblsp. chopped celery; 1 tblsp. chopped carrot; 2 tblsp. butter; salt and cayenne; 2 cups chicken or veal stock; 1 cup white wine(Rhine or Sauternes); 1 cup light cream.

Remove shells and veins of shrimp and chop fine; cook with vegetables in butter over low heat 2 minutes; add seasonings and stock and simmer about 10 minutes, or until tender and soft; force through sieve. Add wine and cream to puree and heat almost to boiling point; serve immediately. 8 servings.

French Brioche

¼cup scalded milk; 1 cup melted butter; ½ cup sugar; ½ tsp. salt; 1½ tsp. grated lemon rind; 2 cakes compressed yeast; ¼ cup lukewarm water; 6 beaten eggs; 4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Combine milk, butter, sugar, salt and lemon rind; cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water; stir and combine with cooled milk mixture. Add eggs. Add 3 cups of flour; beat 10 minutes by hand of four minutes using the electric mixer set for medium speed. Then add the remaining flour and beat until mixture is smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place (800 to 850°F.) about 1 hour, or until doubled in bulk. Stir down, cover tightly and chill overnight in refrigerator.

Take from refrigerator, form quickly into an equal number of large and small balls. make the large balls 1-3 to ½ the size of muffin pans, and the small balls about ½ this size. Place large balls in greased muffin pans; flatten down. Top each one with a small ball. Brush with diluted slightly beaten egg white. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 2½ dozen brioches.

French Soup Is Dramatic

Occasionally it's fun to create a bit of culinary excitement on your day's menu with an exotic dish to dramatize even the simplest meal. This cream soup with the French name, Creme Senegalaise, is unusual enough for special party occasions and so delicious the family will want it often. The distinctive flavor of curry is a reminder of its Moorish origin in Senegal, a colony on the coast of French West Africa bordered by the Senegal River.

One of the specialties of Chicago's famous Imperial House, Creme Senegalaise shares honors on their menu with such "potages" as Green Turtle, Russian Borscht, Vichyssoise, Petite Marmite and other foreign soups.

Made with a basic cream sauce, this soup is simple to prepare. Soups made with milk are an easy way to make sure your family gets plenty of milk's vital nutrients each day.

With steaming bowls of Senegalaise serve caraway or plain rye "chips." To make these, cut a long loaf of refrigerator rye bread in very thin slices. Brush each slice with melted butter and toast in a slow oven, 300° F., until lightly browned. Pass a basket of these hot, curled rye slices with the soup.

CREME SENEGALAISE

4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup minced onion
½ cup finely diced celery
5 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon curry
4½ cups milk
2 chicken bouillon cubes
Small red apple

Melt butter; add onion and celery and cook over low heat about 5 minutes. Blend in flour, salt, pepper, and curry. Gradually stir in 4 cups milk, and cook until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Dissolve bouillon cubes in ½ cup hot milk and stir into soup. Heat thoroughly and serve in hot bowls. Slice apple very thin and float wedges on top in cartwheel design. Minced parsley or chives may be used for garnish in place of apple slices.

A Salad Tip For Family Or Company

Jellied black cherries with almonds has long been a favorite salad to serve for meals as well as for afternoon club meetings. Follow the directions on the envelope of unflavored gelatin. Use the syrup drained from a can of pitted black cherries for part of the liquid in making the gelatin. Cool the mixture until it thickens and is about to set. Then add the drained pitted black cherries and about a half cup of blanched almonds cut in strips. Pour into a mold and chill until firm. Serve with mayonnaise.

Kitchen duty on the Thanksgiving Day holiday can be reduced to a minimum with a stop at your baker's. He can supply you with a lucious cinnamon-spiced coffee cake to serve for breakfast with fruit juice and cereal. He'll have day-old bread for stuffing your Thanksgiving chicken or turkey, an assortment of crisp hard rolls for your bread basket, and plump pumpkin or mincemeat pies for the dessert course. You'll also want to pick up a loaf of fresh enriched white or wheat bread to make sandwiches for supper, and perhaps a few cookies for dessert.

Canned Spaghetti Sauce Has Many Uses

Canned spaghetti meat sauce need not always be served over spaghetti. The spicy sauce is good served over canned kidney beans, making a good stick-to-the-ribs meal.

Tomato Sauce Sparks The Flavor

For a quick and extra good meal, make salmon or tuna cakes by adding soft bread crumbs, egg and seasonings to the fish. Form into cakes and brown. Pour over them a can of condensed tomato soup, cover and simmer gently about 10 minutes. The tomato sparks the fish flavor of the cakes.

Meals Of French Creation Give Much Needed Pickup

It is said that to stay young we must not be averse to changing personal habits now and then; which is probably true. There is nothing like a new approach to things to give everyday living a much-needed pickup. For example, how long has it been since you have tried out a new recipe on the family? In case you're in the mood for something different, you can't go wrong if you decide on a recipe or two from one of the European countries, France for instance. French cooking is famous the world over, and justly so. It need not be difficult either, as you can see from the accompanying recipes. They will add excitement to any meal and are sure to make you want to go to see for your self the many interesting things to be found in France.

France, country of a thousand facets...no wonder, as the saying goes, "Every American longs to go there before he or she dies." There is Paris, the heart of France, with its historical treasures...the Eiffel tower, the Louvre, Notre-Dame, the Opera, not to mention the most famous streets in the world, the Rue de la paix, and the Champs-Elysees. Here are quantities of beautiful shops and interesting places to eat. Places, incidentally, where they serve the very foods we feature in the column today.

The creative and frugal French use imagination freely. When they have little meat (and who has a lot these days?) they make the most of it. You will too if you serve those delicious stuffed cucumbers or meat pancakes. (Recipe below). Another tempting dish of theirs well worth trying is onion pie. Now that onions are so plentiful, why not serve them in this unusual way? Any of these good dishes will make a meal to remember.

Combres Farcis

Stuffed cucumbers, French style 3 cucumbers; 1 cup cooked, chopped meat; ½ cup cooked rice; 1½ cups sauce; salt, pepper; grated nutmeg; chopped parsley and chives.

Cut three medium-sized cucumbers lengthwise, remove seeds and peel very thin, leaving a little of the skin. Place the halved cucumbers in a greased baking dish and fill with chopped, cooked meat and rice, mixed and seasoned. Cover with thick bechamel (cream) sauce, sprinkle with salt, pepper and grated nutmeg, chopped parsley and chives and bake in medium oven 1 hour.

Crepes De Bouuf

1 small onion, minced; 2 tablsp. fat; 1 cup finely chopped cooked beef. ½ tsp. salt; dash of pepper; 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour; 1 tsp. baking powder; 1 egg, beaten; 1½ cups milk; butter; chopped parsley.

Saute onion in 1 tablespoon fat until browned; add meat, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper, and cook 1 minute. Prepare griddle cake batter, using flour, baking powder, remaining ¼ teaspoon salt, egg and milk; beat in meat mixture. Cook as for large pancakes on greased hot griddle; spread with butter, sprinkle with parsley and roll tightly; serve piping hot. Yield: 10 crepes.

Tarte A L'oignon

Onion Pie

¼cup butter; 2 cups sliced onions; 2 tblsp. flour; 1 tsp. salt; ⅛ tsp. pepper; 1 cup top milk; 3 eggs, well beaten; pastry; parsley.

Melt butter, add onions and stir over medium heat until lightly browned. Sprinkle with flour and seasonings, and blend. Add milk gradually while stirring over low heat. Stir mixture gradually into beaten egg. Line 8-inch pie pan with pastry and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for three minutes. Remove from oven. Fill with onion mixture and bake about 20 minutes until set. Serve hot garnished with ring of parsley. 6 servings.

Bisque of Shrimp Bretonne

2 lbs. raw shrimp; 1 cup chopped mushrooms; 2 tblsp. chopped onion; 2 tblsp. chopped celery; 1 tblsp. chopped carrot; 2 tblsp. butter; salt and cayenne; 2 cups chicken or veal stock; 1 cup white wine(Rhine or Sauternes); 1 cup light cream.

Remove shells and veins of shrimp and chop fine; cook with vegetables in butter over low heat 2 minutes; add seasonings and stock and simmer about 10 minutes, or until tender and soft; force through sieve. Add wine and cream to puree and heat almost to boiling point; serve immediately. 8 servings.

French Brioche

¼cup scalded milk; 1 cup melted butter; ½ cup sugar; ½ tsp. salt; 1½ tsp. grated lemon rind; 2 cakes compressed yeast; ¼ cup lukewarm water; 6 beaten eggs; 4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Combine milk, butter, sugar, salt and lemon rind; cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water; stir and combine with cooled milk mixture. Add eggs. Add 3 cups of flour; beat 10 minutes by hand of four minutes using the electric mixer set for medium speed. Then add the remaining flour and beat until mixture is smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place (800 to 850°F.) about 1 hour, or until doubled in bulk. Stir down, cover tightly and chill overnight in refrigerator.

Take from refrigerator, form quickly into an equal number of large and small balls. make the large balls 1-3 to ½ the size of muffin pans, and the small balls about ½ this size. Place large balls in greased muffin pans; flatten down. Top each one with a small ball. Brush with diluted slightly beaten egg white. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 2½ dozen brioches.

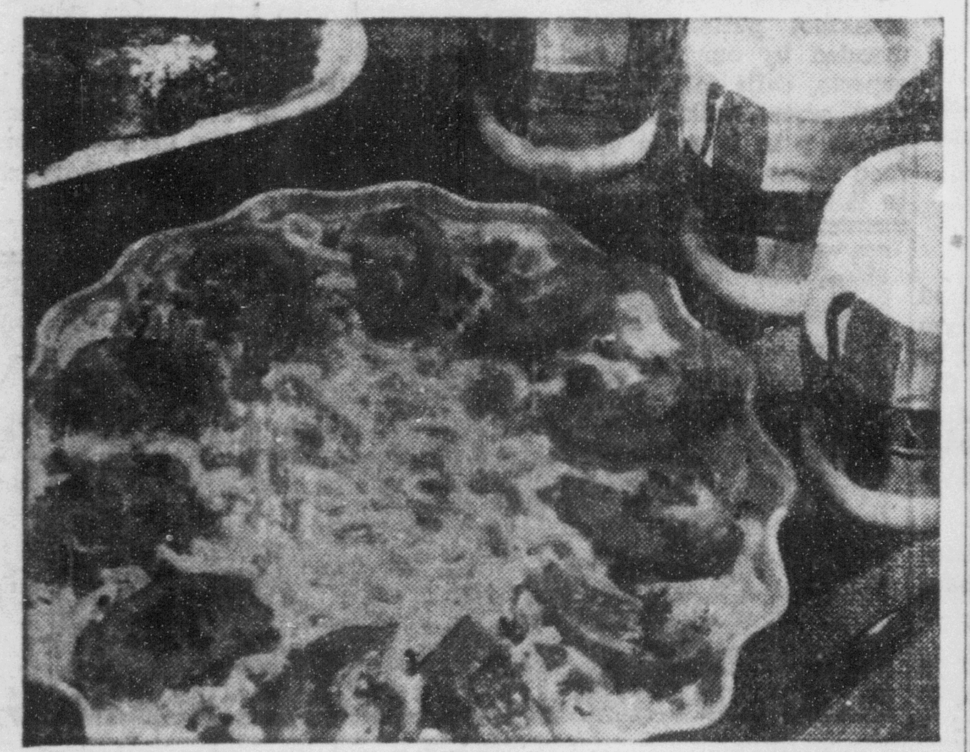
Macaroni Products Form Basis Of Economical Meals



There's nothing better than the wonderful old-fashioned goodness of creamy macaroni and cheese and there's no better time to try it than during National Macaroni Week, October 18-27. Just watch your family come running when the appetizing aroma of melted cheese wafts through the house as this pie comes from the oven. For contrast in flavor, top with bright tomato wedges and a sprinkling of chopped parsley. It's nutritious, yet an economical way to satisfy those hearty appetites sharpened by being out in the crisp fall air.

Macaroni And Cheese Pie

(Makes 4-6 servings)

1 tablespoon salt; 3 quarts boiling water; 8 ounces elbow macaroni; ½ pound American cheese, grated 1 14½-ounce can evaporated milk; 2 tablespoons chopped pimientos; 1½ teaspoons salt; freshly ground pepper; 2 tomatoes, cut in wedges; 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

In a large bowl, combine cooked macaroni with remaining ingredients; mix lightly, but thoroughly. Pour macaroni and cheese mixture into greased deep pie plate, 9 inches in diameter. Place tomato wedges in a ring, pressing partially into macaroni mixture. Bake in slow oven (325°) 25-30 minutes. Before serving, sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Formosa, now the headquarters of the Chinese Nationalists, was ceded to the Japanese in 1895 and not regained by the Chinese until the end of World War II.

Cranberries A Contrast To Use With Other Fruits

Cranberries, the scarlet pride of the marshes! With their tart, bright flavor and warm, bright color, there is much to celebrate about cranberries. Cooks of other times knew the cranberry almost entirely as a fruit to make jelly or sauce. But we moderns have perfected quite a variety of delicious cranberry dishes, as anyone knows who reads the uses today's cookbooks.

The novelty of topping a tropical fruit, the banana, with northern-grown cranberries makes this recipe for Baked Bananas with Cranberries an appealing addition to many meals. Cranberries combine delightfully well with other fruits, particularly with bananas. The delicious tartness of juicy cranberries adds pleasing contrast to the firm but tender texture of cooked bananas. Serve this treat hot as a vegetable or as a relish with ham, chicken or turkey. You will enjoy its different flavor.

When cooking bananas, select fruit that have all-yellow peel or slightly green-tipped peel. Because these bananas are partially ripe, they're just ready for baking, broiling or frying . . . and they stay firm during cooking.

Baked Bananas With Cranberries

4 firm bananas*
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
Salt
¾ cup whole cranberry sauce

*Use all-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas.

Peel bananas. Place into a well-greased baking dish. Brush well with butter or margarine and sprinkle lightly with salt. Spread cranberry sauce over bananas. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 18 minutes, or until bananas are tender . . . easily pierced with a fork. Serve hot with ham, chicken or turkey. Four servings.

IMPORTANT: In place of whole cranberry sauce, ¾ cup canned jellied cranberry sauce, mashed and beaten into spreading consistency with ¼ cup cold water, may be used.

Macaroni Products Form Basis Of Economical Meals

There's nothing better than the wonderful old-fashioned goodness of creamy macaroni and cheese and there's no better time to try it than during National Macaroni Week, October 18-27. Just watch your family come running when the appetizing aroma of melted cheese wafts through the house as this pie comes from the oven. For contrast in flavor, top with bright tomato wedges and a sprinkling of chopped parsley. It's nutritious, yet an economical way to satisfy those hearty appetites sharpened by being out in the crisp fall air.

Macaroni And Cheese Pie

(Makes 4-6 servings)

1 tablespoon salt; 3 quarts boiling water; 8 ounces elbow macaroni; ½ pound American cheese, grated 1 14½-ounce can evaporated milk; 2 tablespoons chopped pimientos; 1½ teaspoons salt; freshly ground pepper; 2 tomatoes, cut in wedges; 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

In a large bowl, combine cooked macaroni with remaining ingredients; mix lightly, but thoroughly. Pour macaroni and cheese mixture into greased deep pie plate, 9 inches in diameter. Place tomato wedges in a ring, pressing partially into macaroni mixture. Bake in slow oven (325°) 25-30 minutes. Before serving, sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Formosa, now the headquarters of the Chinese Nationalists, was ceded to the Japanese in 1895 and not regained by the Chinese until the end of World War II.

Cranberries A Contrast To Use With Other Fruits

Cranberries, the scarlet pride of the marshes! With their tart, bright flavor and warm, bright color, there is much to celebrate about cranberries. Cooks of other times knew the cranberry almost entirely as a fruit to make jelly or sauce. But we moderns have perfected quite a variety of delicious cranberry dishes, as anyone knows who reads the uses today's cookbooks.

The novelty of topping a tropical fruit, the banana, with northern-grown cranberries makes this recipe for Baked Bananas with Cranberries an appealing addition to many meals. Cranberries combine delightfully well with other fruits, particularly with bananas. The delicious tartness of juicy cranberries adds pleasing contrast to the firm but tender texture of cooked bananas. Serve this treat hot as a vegetable or as a relish with ham, chicken or turkey. You will enjoy its different flavor.

When cooking bananas, select fruit that have all-yellow peel or slightly green-tipped peel. Because these bananas are partially ripe, they're just ready for baking, broiling or frying . . . and they stay firm during cooking.

Baked Bananas With Cranberries

4 firm bananas*
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
Salt
¾ cup whole cranberry sauce

*Use all-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas.

Peel bananas. Place into a well-greased baking dish. Brush well with butter or margarine and sprinkle lightly with salt. Spread cranberry sauce over bananas. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 18 minutes, or until bananas are tender . . . easily pierced with a fork. Serve hot with ham, chicken or turkey. Four servings.

IMPORTANT: In place of whole cranberry sauce, ¾ cup canned jellied cranberry sauce, mashed and beaten into spreading consistency with ¼ cup cold water, may be used.

Tasty Cheese Chases Mealtime Monotony

Are your meals in the doldrums because of the higher cost of living? Then let cheese chase mealtime monotony. It is the backlog of good meals and the best food buy of the month.

You'll find plenty of cheese and a wide assortment at moderate prices in food stores during October, the Cheese Festival Month.

Cheese has a food value out of proportion to its moderate price. When you eat an ounce (a 1-inch cube) of American Cheddar cheese, you get nearly the same food value as in a glass of milk. A two-ounce average serving of American Cheddar cheese supplies two-fifths of the calcium, one-fifth of the protein, one-sixth of the vitamin A, and one-eighth of the riboflavin needed daily by a physically active man.

Cheese tastes good, and there is a cheese for every taste. The flavors range from the mild, milk-like ones of cream and cottage cheese, favorites with the young fry, to the nippy, robust ones of Roquefort, Blue, and Camembert, the choice of gourmets. You'll find about forty different flavors in most food stores today. So learn to know the different cheeses and then serve often the kinds your family will enjoy.

Mince Meat Pineapple Dish With Gruyere Pastry

(Makes a 10" x 6" x 2" pie.)
1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
2 1-oz. wedges Gruyere Cheese, shredded
4 tablespoons water
1 9-oz. package Mince Meat
1½ cups canned pineapple juice
1½ cups canned crushed pineapple

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in shortening and grated cheese with two knives or a pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add water and mix lightly. Shape into a ball; wrap in waxed paper and chill about ½ hour. Roll out pastry on lightly floured board into a rectangle about 12" x 8" and ⅛-inch thick. With a fork prick a design in center of pastry. Meanwhile break mince meat into small pieces in saucepan; add pineapple juice. Place over low heat and stir until lumps are broken. Increase heat and boil briskly for 1 minute. Remove from heat and mix in crushed pineapple. Pour into a 10" x 6" x 2" baking dish. Place pastry over filling, fluting over edge of dish to seal. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) until crust is golden brown, about 30 minutes. Serve warm.

Cranberry Glazed Sour Cream Cheese Cake

(Makes one 8-inch cake.)
6 3-oz. packages Cream Cheese
1 cup finely crushed graham cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons butter, melted
½ cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup Light Sour Cream
1 cup canned, whole cranberry sauce

Allow cream cheese to soften at room temperature. Combine crumbs and the 3 tablespoons sugar; stir in melted butter. Line bottom and sides of a buttered 8-inch spring form pan with crumb mixture. Beat cream cheese until fluffy. Add ½ cup sugar, eggs and vanilla, beating well after each addition. Gently stir in sour cream. Pour mixture into crumb-lined pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until cake pulls away from sides of pan (center will be slightly soft), about 45 minutes. Remove from oven and cool on a rack away from drafts. Heat cranberry sauce to boiling point, stirring constantly. Cool slightly; spread on top of cooled cheese cake. Chill in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours. Remove side of pan and serve.

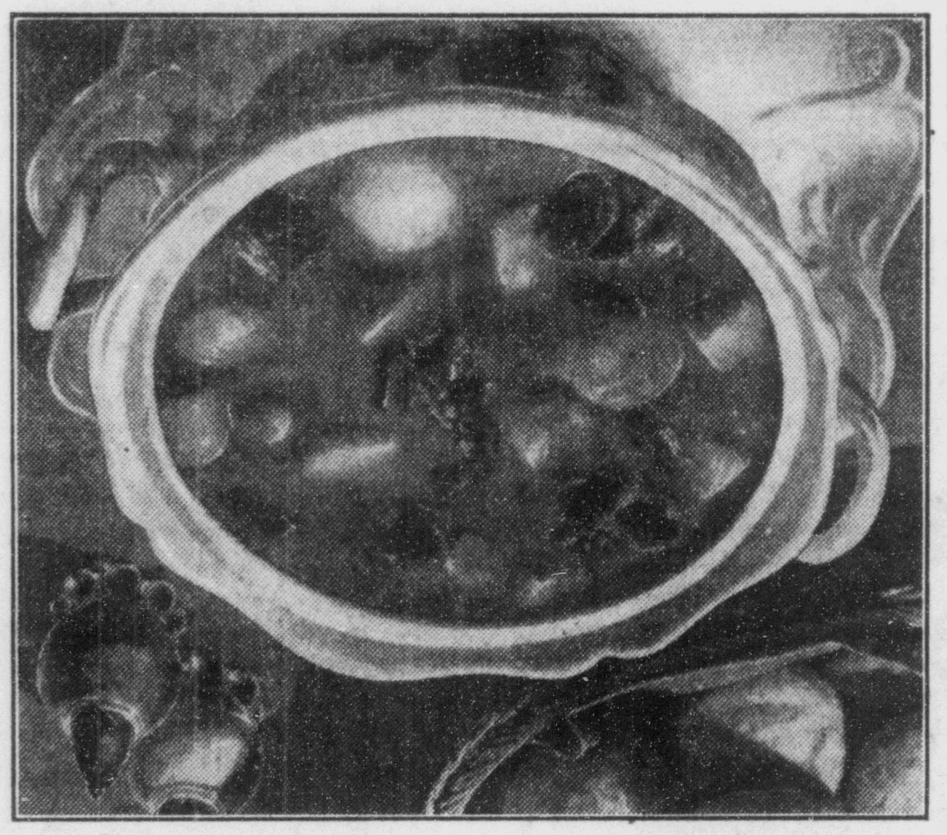
Lamb Stew Waldorf-Astoria



HANDSOME to look at, marvelous to eat is Lamb Stew. Meat, vegetables and condensed tomato soup (as the cooking sauce) blend into this warm savory dish. The stew is similar to that served at the famous Waldorf-Astoria.

Tantalizing aroma and savory goodness make lamb stew a best-loved dish. This version glows with rich flavor drawn from the tomato soup sauce, the meat and herbs.

For stews and many other main dishes, you'll do well to select condensed tomato soup as a cooking ingredient. It contributes the flavor of finest red-ripe tomatoes blended with table butter. And it has a creamy consistency, ideal for a cooking sauce. That's why homemakers call it the "handiest thing on the kitchen shelf."

This Lamb Stew is adapted from that served at the world-famous Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. Feature it at your table when you want a dish that suggests dining in the "grand manner."

Lamb Stew Waldorf-Astoria

1½ pounds lean lamb (breast, neck, or shoulder) cut into 1-inch cubes
½ cup flour, seasoned
¼ cup shortening
1 medium-size onions, chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
2½ cups water
2 sprigs of parsley
1 stalk celery, cut into 2-inch pieces
2 bay leaves
¼ teaspoon thyme
3 carrots, cut into 1-inch pieces
3 medium-size potatoes, cut into 2-inch pieces
1 cup green beans, cut into 2-inch pieces
8 small onions, cut in half

Roll lamb cubes in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Melt shortening in heavy kettle or saucepan; brown meat, onion, and garlic in it. Stir in soup and water. Tie parsley, celery, bay leaves and thyme into a small cloth bag; add to the soup-meat mixture. Cover; cook slowly for 1 hour. Then add the vegetables and continue cooking, covered, for 45 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Makes 8 servings.

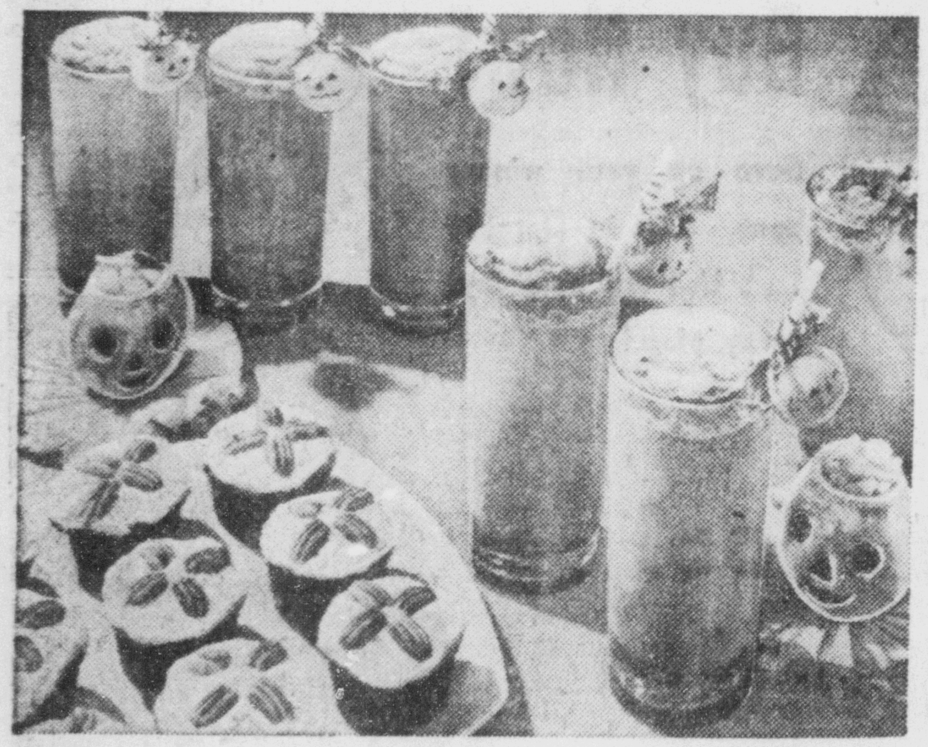
Hallowe'en Refreshment



Hallowe'en is a night for fun making, dear to every child and to the young in heart of all ages. Traditional games and tricks for Hallowe'en are as old as the night itself. Bright autumn shades of orange, green and yellow used in decorations make Hallowe'en parties especially attractive ones. A cute idea is to make tiny pumpkins of orange crepe paper stretched over cotton balls, with features painted or pasted on them. Hang them on straws served with drinks for cunning favors.

And those drinks must be cooling, refreshing and of good flavor, to serve after hard games. A favorite thrist-quencher is ginger ale. And here is a drink, sure to please the younger set, and sufficient to serve accompanied by gingerbread cup cakes.

GINGER DREAM

¼ lb. packaged marshmallows
¼ cup milk
1½ cups chocolate syrup
ginger ale

Combine marshmallows and milk in top of double boiler. Heat without stirring, until marshmallows are melted. Chill. Divide among 6 tall glasses. Add ¼ cup chocolate syrup to each glass. Fill glasses with chilled ginger ale. Do not stir, to keep marbelized effect.

GINGERBREAD CUP CAKES

¼ cup shortening
1 egg
½ cup dark molasses
½ cup boiling water
1¼ cups sifted flour
½ cup nonfat dry milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup chopped nutmeats

Cream shortening, beat in egg, molasses and boiling water. Sift together flour, nonfat dry milk, sugar, soda, salt, ginger and nutmeg. Stir into molasses mixture, stirring until smooth. Mix in nutmeats. Pour into greased cup cake pans. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) until center springs back when touched lightly with finger, about 10 to 15 minutes.

PUMPKIN ICING

3½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
½ cup nonfat dry milk
6 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
3 tablespoon orange juice

Sift together confectioners' sugar and nonfat dry milk. Cream butter until fluffy. Gradually blend in half the sugar mixture. Stir in vanilla, orange rind and a little of the orange juice. Beat in remaining sugar, alternating with orange juice. Beat to a good spreading consistency.

"The man cannot have a pure mind who refuses apple dumplings," said one of the acquaintances of author Charles Lamb. Fresh apples are coming into the markets now, so there's no time like the present to serve apple dumplings. Make them with pastry or biscuit base, serve them lusciously warm with cream, and you've a fall dessert that scores with Father for its goodness, economy, nutrition.

Special Times-News Cooking School Recipes

Prune-Apricot Upside Down Cake

¼ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon lemon rind
10 cooked apricot halves
10 cooked prune halves
⅓ cup lard
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
2 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Grease an 8-inch square cake pan. Blend butter and brown sugar. Add lemon rind. Spread in bottom of cake pan. Arrange apricot and prune halves to form a design on top of sugar mixture. Cream lard, add sugar gradually and continue to cream until thoroughly blended. Add egg. Beat well. Add milk alternately with flour, baking powder and salt sifted together. Mix thoroughly. Pour batter carefully over fruit in pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 minutes. Turn onto serving platter. 12 to 14 servings.

Veal Rolls

2 pounds veal steak or cutlets cut ½ inch thick
2½ cups bread cubes
¼ cup melted lard or drippings
⅛ teaspoon sage
½ teaspoon nutmeg
Salt
Pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
½ cup water

Remove bone from veal steaks. Cut in pieces 5 inches long and 3 inches wide. Combine bread cubes, onion, sage, nutmeg, melted lard or drippings. To make rolls, spread mixture thinly on center of each piece of veal. Roll individually and fasten with toothpicks. Season. Dredge with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Add water. Cover tightly. Cook on low heat for 45 minutes or until tender. 6 to 8 servings.

Heart Italienne

2 pounds beef or veal heart
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
½ cup onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped
1 small can tomato paste
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
1 8-ounce package spaghetti, cooked
½ cup grated cheddar cheese

Wash hearts thoroughly, remove veins and hard parts and cut meat in 1-inch cubes. Brown meat, onion and garlic in lard or drippings. Add salt, pepper, pimiento, tomatoes, tomato paste and simmer two hours, or until meat is tender and mixture thickened. Serve over spaghetti and top with grated cheese. 6 to 8 servings.

The lake trout is the largest member of the trout family.

Hearty Sandwich

Vienna sausage is a handy pantry shelf food. For a good hearty sandwich, put Vienna sausages on a slice of bread; cover with a slice of cheese and some pickle relish. Top with another slice of bread. Toast and serve hot.

Girl, 14, Mother Help Rob Bank

GREEN BAY, Wis.—(INS)—Fourteen-year-old Patsy Whiting, who could not go to school last Friday because she had to help her mother and brother rob a Wisconsin bank, has been bound over to federal court on an armed robbery charge.

Patsy appeared at the Green Bay, Wis., Junior High School Monday with a neatly written excuse from her mother, Mrs. Esther Amelia Whiting, 41, which read:

"Please excuse Patsy for being absent from school. She had a cold."

Mrs. Whiting, Patsy, Mrs. Whiting's son by a previous marriage, Charles French, Jr., 24, and two other men were arrested for the $11,534 holdup of the Laona, Wis., bank.

Patsy appeared before a U. S. commissioner on the armed robbery complaint. FBI agents said Patsy wore a mask, carried a pistol and was dressed in boy's clothing when she entered the bank.

Of the pistol she carried, Patsy told newsmen:

"The gun was passed to me after we entered the car."

Her mother said:

"Patsy didn't know anything about this (the holdup plans) until I got into the car and we got started."

Mrs. Whiting continued:

"I was worried about my son. He seemed to think he needed help in whatever he was going to do. I felt it was my duty as a mother to go along."

Three easy steps in choosing a finer-tasting whiskey:

1. Have ¼ oz. of Calvert put in one glass and the same amount of any other whiskey in another—without knowing which is which.

2. Sniff one brand for aroma. Taste it critically for smoothness. Swallow carefully to judge its freedom from bite, burn or sting.

3. Taste the other whiskey in the same analytical way—then pick the one that really tastes better to you.

It's smart to switch to Calvert

YOU CAN'T MISS THE DIFFERENCE IN TASTE, SO . . .

Be your own whiskey expert! Make your own taste test today—and discover the difference between whiskies in smoothness, mellowness and freedom from harshness.

We believe that, after careful comparison, you'll switch to smoother, mellower Calvert—because it is blended to a taste determined by a "Consumer Jury" of thousands of folks like you.

However, if you still prefer another brand, then stick with it. Fair enough?

Celanese Promotes Two Former Cumberlanders

Two former local Celanese plant workers have been promoted at the Narrows, Va., plant of the corporation.

R. Finley Thompson has been named assistant to the plant manager and Donald W. Chappell has been appointed superintendent of the Cellulose Acetate Department, it was made known by S. A. Mansfield, manager of the Narrows plant.

Thompson joined Celanese in 1927 at the Cumberland plant. He was transferred to the Celco plant at Narrows in 1942 as superintendent of the Cellulose Acetate Department.

Chappell started with the company at Cumberland in 1935. He was transferred to Celco in 1942 as a section superintendent in the Cellulose Acetate Department and was promoted to assistant superintendent of that department in 1948.

35-Day Supply Of Water Is On Hand At Luke Paper Mill

Despite reports that a shutdown because of lack of water was facing the Luke Plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, officials said yesterday enough water is available for 35 full running days.

The supply for the paper mill is received from an impounding dam in Stony River in Grant County, W. Va., above Maysville.

Officials said enough water is backed up in Stony River for another month's operation in the event there is no rainfall in that time.

While possible, they said a drought extending that long is improbable and therefore forestalled any reports of a shutdown.

The company's dam has come to the rescue of several communities and industries along the North Branch of the Potomac River during dry spells in the past.

The dam is used to keep a steady flow in the Potomac as is the Savage River Dam. Plant spokesmen said from 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 gallons of water is being released daily from the Savage River Dam.

This, he said, is slightly more than is emptying into the dam. However, he added, the water is at the 60-foot mark in the new dam.

Draft Boards Get Call For 49 Men

Cumberland's three draft boards received orders yesterday for 49 registrants to report November 5 in Martinsburg, W. Va., for pre-induction physical examinations.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk co-ordinator, said the contingent, including a number of married men, will leave Queen City Station at 6:10 a.m. and return home the same day.

Board No. 27 will send 11 men with 17 going from Board No. 28 and 21 from Board No. 21.

Tuesday, induction calls for 30 selectees were received here. The draftees will report November 19 in Martinsburg.

Little Muscular Dystrophy Victim Writes To United Nations For Aid

NEW YORK — (INS) — "Dear United Nations:

"Did you ever hear of muscular dystrophy?"

Thus opens a little boy's story of heartache, his wistful plea to invoke the magical powers of the world of adults in a polite little letter to the global organization.

"I am nine years old," wrote Richard Weinberger of Brooklyn.

"I can't walk or play or run with my collie dog, Mr. Chips.

"I read in the papers that your doctors from all over the world help children get well and strong.

"Can you ask them to help me get out of my wheel chair?

"I am tired of sitting.

"Thank you very much."

A copy of the letter was directed to the attention of U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross who was deeply moved by the child's appeal for aid against the disease from which thousands suffer and die.

The ambassador wrote Richard inviting him and his parents to meet with him at his office to tell the family of the work being done by the world health organization to find a cure for muscular dystrophy and other diseases.

Present also at the meeting in the ambassador's New York office was William Mazur, director of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

Richard replied that he was very happy to "receive your letter and hear that you have sent my note to the world health organization." He added:

"Maybe soon I will be able to run and play with my dog, Mr. Chips.

"I would be glad to visit you Ambassador Gross.

Thank you very much."

It was signed:

"Your pal, Richard."

Phone Company May Reduce Rate Request

State Long Distance Calls May Benefit

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. may reduce the amount of the rate increase it is asking—at least for long distance telephone calls between points within Maryland.

Counsel for the company told the Maryland Public Service Commission Wednesday that a new procedure in apportioning inter-state and intra-state costs has been approved and recommended to all state commissions by the National Association of Railroad Utilities Commissioners.

Reallocation Likely

Attorney William Gassaway said the new procedure would result in the reallocation of certain expenses from intra- to inter-state operations.

He said the reallocation will raise the rate of return now being earned by the company on its Maryland operations.

Gassaway said the company will submit revised figures in line with the new procedure.

$5,500,000 Sought

Early in September the company appeared before the Commission to ask for increases that would bring in an additional $5,500,000 in revenue.

The phone company indicated at the time that part of this money might come through boosting the pay phone rate for local calls from 5 cents to 10 cents.

W. Griffin Morrel, vice president and general manager, was among those testifying Wednesday. He said that despite the company's best efforts to catch up with increasing demands for service, there are still 15,000 orders for phones to be filled and 35,000 unfilled requests for better service.

People's Counsel Joseph Allen, in cross-examining Morrel, sought to show that increased business has meant greatly increased revenue to the company. Morrel contended higher operating costs and bigger payrolls have wiped out that advantage.

Two More Jury Trials Scheduled For Today

Two more jury trials are scheduled today as Allegany County Circuit Court continues to hear criminal charges.

Norman D. Beglin, proprietor of the Cumberland Dental Laboratory, 144 North Mechanic Street, will be tried on a charge of violating state dental laws, by practicing dentistry without a license.

Also scheduled for trial are Nachoma Bullett and Vernon Bullett, who face three charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods. They are accused of stealing a total of 1,300 pounds of copper wire from the Consolidated Fuel Company in three different thefts.

gerous crossing remains unchanged."

The situation has become more acute recently, he pointed out, with the merger of the borough and township school system. In addition to the busloads of school children who cross the main line of the railroad twice a day, all pupils attending the Hyndman School are transported to and from the township school to use its cafeteria during the noon hour.

Is Busy Crossing

Cook, who formerly worked on the railroad, said he estimated that between 50 and 60 trains pass through the town daily, with up to 100 at some times of the year. He pointed out that adults, familiar with the crossing, have been killed at the intersection and that children cannot be expected to avoid the danger.

May stated that not long ago an ambulance was unable to answer a call because of a train blocking the main road. The same situation would exist in the case of fire, he said.

The representatives reminded state officials that because of the angle of the approach and the buildings obstructing the view of a driver, it is necessary to draw out onto the track to get a clear view of oncoming trains, many of which exceed the speed limit in ascending and descending the hill beyond the crossing.

One spokesman for the group told officials of the danger of fire from the "20 to 25" gasoline trucks which cross the tracks each day. "If a train ever hits one of them—and it may, any time—we will have a worse fire than we had in 1950," May said.

Discuss Survey

"I have an oral agreement with the railroad," Leap said, "by which they will go along with us on any action we take to improve the condition. We will forward a copy of our complaint to the B and O when it is presented in Harrisburg."

The gigantic Columbus Memorial Lighthouse being built in the Dominican republic will have the shape of a huge cross.

Civil Air Patrol To Parade Here

Cadets of Fort Cumberland Flight of the Civil Air Patrol will march in the Halloween parade next Wednesday night as well as in the Armistice Day parade Monday, November 12.

Lt. Warren Mullenax, commander of the local flight, said last night a ruling has come through from Civil Air Patrol headquarters, announcing the adoption of Air Force blue uniforms. Senior members of Fort Cumberland Flight will make the change-over. No ruling has been received as yet regarding cadets regulation uniforms, Mullenax added.

Members of the senior group have been invited to attend meetings of the Maryland National Guard here. CAP members will attend a session of the guard in a body in the near future.

Deeds In Property Sales Filed

Oscar J. Swartley and Mary Ruth Swartley sold one parcel on Grand Avenue and purchased a second, according to deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

The Swartleys sold one tract to James M. Nicholson and Florence L. Nicholson for about $7,500. Elizabeth Hauger Wilson and Alvin H. Wilson in turn sold property to the Swartleys for about $6,500. Both parcels are situated on the east side of Grand Avenue.

Another recorded deed lists the sale by Frederick L. Hurt and Mamie A. Hurt to James H. Griffin and Eleanor C. Griffin on the northwest side of Lincoln Street for about $8,000.

Ridgeley PTA Names Home Room Mothers

Ridgeley High School PTA named home room mothers at a meeting last night at the school. Mrs. Samuel Margherta presided.

The PTA decided to hold its next meeting jointly with the Elementary PTA during American Education Week November 15 at 8 p. m. An open house will be held at 7 o'clock.

Vernon Griffin, program chairman, opened the meeting with a poem, "The Last Five Words." A moving picture, "Crossing the 38th Parallel," was shown and Carole Dersin, a senior, offered the closing prayer.

John Hunter, 749 Maryland Avenue, and Elton Spiker, 312 Jefferson Street.

Workers Receive Celanese Awards

Mrs. Margaret Bradley Grove, 442 Pennsylvania Avenue, and Bennie Gerson, 39 Maple Street, Frostburg, were awarded gold wrist watches yesterday by L. L. Helmer, assistant plant manager, upon completion of 25 years of Celanese employment.

Mrs. Grove started to work in the Textile Department October 25, 1926, but transferred to the Jet Cleaning and Assembly Section October 14, 1935, where she now works as a jet assembler.

John Bestwick, superintendent of Spinning and Auxiliaries, awarded her a 25-year certificate of service and a 5-star "CELANESE" emblem, which denotes a quarter century of loyal service.

Gerson was originally employed in the Weaving Department, October 25, 1926, but transferred to the Stores Department on March 1, 1928, where he was soon made a clerk in Mechanical Stores, a position which he still holds.

Arthur F. Happe, plant accountant and office manager, presented Gerson a 25-year certificate and a 5-star lapel emblem.

Gerson is a graduate of Beall High School, Frostburg, and a member of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, Lodge 470, Frostburg.

Three Area Men Enlist In Navy

Three area men were sworn into the U. S. Navy this week at Baltimore, Chief Petty Officer E. R. Morgan, Local Recruiter, announces.

They are Victor Allen Alt, 21, Pursittville, W. Va.; Charles William Hawse, 17, 209 Potomac Street; and Bernard T. Iser, 20, Rawlings. All were sent to Bainbridge Naval Training Center for boot training.

Beall To Address Miners

J. Glenn Beall will be guest speaker at a banquet tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at Kitzmiller High School honoring the National Mine Rescue Team of that community.

Other speakers at the dinner, being given by the Lions Club, include John T. Jones, president of District 16, United Mine Workers, and George B. McLelan, general manager of Weirton Coal Company, Brownsville, Pa.

Phone Company May Reduce Rate Request

State Long Distance Calls May Benefit

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. may reduce the amount of the rate increase it is asking—at least for long distance telephone calls between points within Maryland.

Counsel for the company told the Maryland Public Service Commission Wednesday that a new procedure in apportioning inter-state and intra-state costs has been approved and recommended to all state commissions by the National Association of Railroad Utilities Commissioners.

Reallocation Likely

Attorney William Gassaway said the new procedure would result in the reallocation of certain expenses from intra- to inter-state operations.

He said the reallocation will raise the rate of return now being earned by the company on its Maryland operations.

Gassaway said the company will submit revised figures in line with the new procedure.

$5,500,000 Sought

Early in September the company appeared before the Commission to ask for increases that would bring in an additional $5,500,000 in revenue.

The phone company indicated at the time that part of this money might come through boosting the pay phone rate for local calls from 5 cents to 10 cents.

W. Griffin Morrel, vice president and general manager, was among those testifying Wednesday. He said that despite the company's best efforts to catch up with increasing demands for service, there are still 15,000 orders for phones to be filled and 35,000 unfilled requests for better service.

People's Counsel Joseph Allen, in cross-examining Morrel, sought to show that increased business has meant greatly increased revenue to the company. Morrel contended higher operating costs and bigger payrolls have wiped out that advantage.

Guerrillas In Red China Are Menace To Communists

HONG KONG, Oct. 25 (AP)—How many anti-Communist guerrillas are there in Red China?

Chiang Kai-Shek in Formosa claims something like 2,000,000 of them constitute a major menace to the Peiping government.

Hong Kong reports indicate troublesome guerrilla activity in Manchuria and in South China.

But Yeh Chien-Ying, head of the Communist South-Central military and administrative district places the number of guerrillas in the big South China province of Kwangtung at a mere 809.

Yeh said in a report that from Oct. 10, 1950 to Aug. 10, 1951, 52,620 guerrillas were "inactivated." The Red Army, he said, seized 452 artillery pieces, 1,171 light and heavy machineguns, 127,324 rifles and short arms and large quantities of ammunition.

Yeh differentiated between guerrillas and "counter-revolutionists." The latter are political enemies usually civilians who are not armed.

Yeh said 89,701 counter-revolutionaries were arrested and claimed the seizure of 83 artillery and field pieces, 1,097 light and heavy machineguns, and 36,303 rifles and short arms.

Yeh also said that during the ten months, 28,332 were executed. This is viewed here as a suspiciously small figure since the purge in Kwangtung was severe throughout the period. Reports of as many as 300 being executed at one time were not uncommon.

A little later in the report, Yeh, in discussing agrarian reform during the ten months, said "23,317 local despots were dealt with. We also wiped out a large number of remnant bandits, special agents and underground enemy forces."

A day-by-day study of purge activities in Kwangtung province indicates that the number who fell before purge guns during the period was closer to 100,000 than to 28,332. There were times when purging appeared to get out of control and was handled entirely by regional and county commissars who may or may not have reported fully to Canton, provincial capital.

Guerrillas In Red China Are Menace To Communists

HONG KONG, Oct. 25 (AP)—How many anti-Communist guerrillas are there in Red China?

Chiang Kai-Shek in Formosa claims something like 2,000,000 of them constitute a major menace to the Peiping government.

Hong Kong reports indicate troublesome guerrilla activity in Manchuria and in South China.

But Yeh Chien-Ying, head of the Communist South-Central military and administrative district places the number of guerrillas in the big South China province of Kwangtung at a mere 809.

Yeh said in a report that from Oct. 10, 1950 to Aug. 10, 1951, 52,620 guerrillas were "inactivated." The Red Army, he said, seized 452 artillery pieces, 1,171 light and heavy machineguns, 127,324 rifles and short arms and large quantities of ammunition.

Yeh differentiated between guerrillas and "counter-revolutionists." The latter are political enemies usually civilians who are not armed.

Yeh said 89,701 counter-revolutionaries were arrested and claimed the seizure of 83 artillery and field pieces, 1,097 light and heavy machineguns, and 36,303 rifles and short arms.

Yeh also said that during the ten months, 28,332 were executed. This is viewed here as a suspiciously small figure since the purge in Kwangtung was severe throughout the period. Reports of as many as 300 being executed at one time were not uncommon.

A little later in the report, Yeh, in discussing agrarian reform during the ten months, said "23,317 local despots were dealt with. We also wiped out a large number of remnant bandits, special agents and underground enemy forces."

A day-by-day study of purge activities in Kwangtung province indicates that the number who fell before purge guns during the period was closer to 100,000 than to 28,332. There were times when purging appeared to get out of control and was handled entirely by regional and county commissars who may or may not have reported fully to Canton, provincial capital.

Early Baby Doctors Had Good Ideas, Erred In Weaning Infants On Beer

TORONTO, Ont.—(AP)—Some baby doctors of earlier centuries were ages ahead of the moderns in treating certain ailments but erred in sanctioning such practices as weaning infants on bread, sugar and beer.

So said Dr. T. G. H. Drake of Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children at a session of the 20th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

He staged an exhibit of surgical instruments and other equipment used in the delivery, care and feeding of infants from the time of the ancient Greeks and Romans up to 1840 A. D. His daughter, Nina Johnston, assisted him.

He and Dr. Alan Brown, physician in chief of the same hospital, told a reporter that even as recently as the early 1900's death rates among infants were "enormously" high, due to such things as faulty understanding of nutrition.

Nutritional defects, they said, often made children easier prey to many of the bacterial infections which are now largely controlled by modern drugs and vaccines.

Dr. Drake said that in the seventeenth, eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries—before the days of milk pasteurization—doctors frequently would condone copious mixtures of bread, sugar and beer or water as supposed nutrients for infants.

"The babies would appear to be fat and healthy," he said, "but actually, they would just be 'blown up babies' with sugar and liquid loosely held in their tissues, leaving them vulnerable to all sorts of infections."

"But," he added, "let's not think these earlier century doctors didn't know anything."

He and Dr. Brown said rare medical records show that as early as 1650, a French doctor recognized the symptoms of rickets and recommended "piteously stripping such children and placing them out in the sun."

Dr. Drake commented:

"It wasn't until the 1900's that modern medicine 'rediscovered' the value of vitamin D—a component of sunlight—in the prevention of rickets."

He also said that another European physician, in the 1680's, described the use of calcium as a treatment for convulsions—"and it wasn't until the early 1900's that modern medicine 'rediscovered' the value of calcium in that respect."

Dr. Drake also described a kind of "curb service" for nursing children in the 1750's in Europe—employing goats.

He said that at one foundlings' home in Paris, goats were trained to pull back the covers of the infant's crib at periodic intervals, "straddle" the crib and give out with free lunch.

Early Baby Doctors Had Good Ideas, Erred In Weaning Infants On Beer

TORONTO, Ont.—(AP)—Some baby doctors of earlier centuries were ages ahead of the moderns in treating certain ailments but erred in sanctioning such practices as weaning infants on bread, sugar and beer.

So said Dr. T. G. H. Drake of Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children at a session of the 20th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

He staged an exhibit of surgical instruments and other equipment used in the delivery, care and feeding of infants from the time of the ancient Greeks and Romans up to 1840 A. D. His daughter, Nina Johnston, assisted him.

He and Dr. Alan Brown, physician in chief of the same hospital, told a reporter that even as recently as the early 1900's death rates among infants were "enormously" high, due to such things as faulty understanding of nutrition.

Nutritional defects, they said, often made children easier prey to many of the bacterial infections which are now largely controlled by modern drugs and vaccines.

Reeves Given Sentence On Perjury Count

Harry V. Reeves, 31, of Westernport, was sentenced in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge George Henderson to serve one year in the Maryland House of correction on his conviction of perjury.

After sentence was imposed, Edward J. Ryan, defense attorney, took an appeal and Judge George Henderson set bond at $5,000 pending a disposition of the hearing before the Court of Appeals.

When Reeves was brought into court yesterday Ryan told the court he realized the seriousness of the charge, but said Reeves had an excellent family background and two years service in the Army with nine months overseas during World War II.

Ryan then presented to the Court a petition signed by each of the 12 jurors who found Reeves guilty Wednesday afternoon. The petition recommended "clemency." Judge Henderson commented that the jurors "did not volunteer the recommendation and the word parole was stricken out and clemency written in."

Ryan admitted that he had obtained the petition.

Judge Henderson commented that the court takes into consideration an adequate punishment for offenders, and also the sentence to be imposed as a deterrent to others.

"It is high time that it be realized that if perjury is committed the offender will be punished," the court stated.

Judge Henderson told how he presided in the cases against a Westernport man and three youths last month on charges of arson, train wrecking and other depredations in the Westernport area. It was during the trial of the quartet that Reeves allegedly committed perjury. It related to a truck which was used by Leon Kerling, one of the defendants, in driving to the Harris Powder Company magazine which was set on fire December 27. Reeves testified the truck had been repossessed the day prior to the incident and had been held until the following February.

The court stated the testimony of Reeves, if it had been believed by the jury in the arson cases, could have broken down the whole case. Judge Henderson said the youths had repudiated confessions they made and that a "framed defense" was put forth in their behalf during the trial.

"I might state now, so the public might know, that the next case of perjury will result in a stiff prison sentence. In this I am joined by Judge (Morgan C.) Harris," it was stated by Judge Henderson.

After the sentence was announced the wife and two children of Reeves, who were seated in the court room, began to cry and the mother assisted one of the children from the court room.

Less Vulgarity Asked In Halloween Parade

A number of requests asking that vulgar and obscene costumes be eliminated from the Halloween mummers parade, were received this week by Thomas F. Conlon, in charge of the parade.

Conlon said yesterday a request is made to all individuals entering the parade sponsored by Cumberland Voiture 164, Forty and Eight, that costumes and floats be kept clean and on a high plane in order that the parade may be enjoyed by young and old.

In the past, Conlon said, a few individuals have enter the line of march dressed in immodest and vulgar costumes. In making the request, Conlon said participants in the parade should keep in mind that children and women will be watching the celebration.

Three Divorces Granted By Court

Three more divorces have been granted this week in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Laura V. Niland was granted a decree from William E. Niland and was given the right to resume her maiden name of Laura Virginia Hager.

Elizabeth Dentinger was divorced from Patrick Dentinger and was granted custody of a minor child. Martha S. Shinholt was given a decree from Hunter Jacob Shinholt and custody of an infant child.

Marine Company To Be Activated Here Monday

Captain Patsy Algieri, 602 Maryland Avenue has been named commanding officer of the new type special infantry company of the Marine Corps Reserve which will be activated Monday night at the local Navy and Marine Corps Training Center.

Captain Algieri recently returned from service in Korea. He was a member of Company D, Fifth Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve, which left here in July of 1950. Prior to his service with the Marine Corps, he served with Merrill's Marauders in the China-Burma-India theater during World War II.

Lieut. John E. Rich, also a veteran of the Korean war, is the inspector-instructor of the new unit. He said Col. J. S. Oldfield, director of the Fifth Marine Reserve District with headquarters at Arlington, Va., will be here Monday at 7:30 p. m. to preside at formal ceremonies activating the Cumberland unit.

A formal recruiting drive will open November 12 to enroll men in the outfit. Drill nights will be on Mondays and men interested in joining the new outfit may telephone Lieut. Rich at 2680.

The Marine officer explained the infantry company will be comprised of 156 men. In the contingent will also be four Navy Medical Corps men and one Navy doctor.

Men between the ages of 17 and 32 will be eligible, and previous servicemen over 32 years of age will be accepted if their service years subtracted from their ages comes to 32 or below.

Lieut. Rich said the new company will be a security type outfit, that a number are being formed throughout the nation to be used in case all regular Marines are needed elsewhere.

Rent Director Clarifies Eviction Rulings

Thomas E. Barrett, Jr., rent director-attorney, said today landlords should contact the office in the Post Office building, if contemplating evicting a tenant if they have any doubt as to the law.

Under the new rent law, the section on evictions is much stronger and provides for monetary damages in case of illegal eviction, he pointed out.

"Landlords," he said, "cannot evict a tenant for just any reason. Tenants cannot be evicted for failure or refusal to pay overceiling rent, or because a lease has expired, or to permit offering the property for sale, or to permit the landlord's friends to rent the dwelling."

Korea Vets Arrive

Two Allegany County servicemen are among 25 Marylanders arriving yesterday in San Francisco from Korea.

Port officials listed the veterans as Pfc. Claude H. DuVall, Route 2, Cumberland, and Pfc. Robert E. Lee, Detmold, Lonaconing.

Evicted Ducks Get New Home

Constitution Park acquired two ducks yesterday.

The mallards were turned over to Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke following a Police Court trial involving a West Side woman accused of maintaining a public nuisance.

Court action was taken after neighbors complained about the ducks, raised as pets by the defendant.

Magistrate William J. Gunter dismissed charges on condition she turn them over to Minke for use in the park.

Blaze Extinguished

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company extinguished a fire in a coupe parked at the home of Robert Herrell, Vocke Road, at 2:30 a. m. yesterday.

Nine firemen answered the call and confined the blaze to the upholstery of the car. Members of the family said the machine had been driven home at 12:30 a. m yesterday and parked.

The family reported the fire when the reflection of the flames were seen on the windows of the home.

The Spanish Main was originally applied to Spanish colonies on the northeast coast of South America.

Search Continues For Missing Woman

Authorities in three states continued last night to search for Mrs. Carrie Bell Kuykendall Dixon, 33-year-old Short Gap, W. Va. mother of seven children who disappeared from her home September 14.

Wednesday her 14-year-old son, Allan Raymond Dixon, hitchhiked to Cumberland to enlist newspaper aid in publicizing the children's anxiety to have their mother back.

Her husband, William Lee Dixon, a B&O trackmen, said Mrs. Dixon and an 18-year-old neighbor, Miss Nellie Barnes, were last seen getting into a car headed toward Romney, W. Va., on Route 28.

State Police at Romney said they have received several reports as to Mrs. Dixon's whereabouts, but have been unable to locate her.

Student Nurses Visit Local Water Plant

Student nurses from Allegany Hospital were shown through the plant of the Evitts Creek Water Company at Lake Gordon yesterday by George M. Hitchcock, superintendent.

Hitchcock took the group through the filtration plant of the city water works and showed them the various processes used here in purifying water.

McAvoy Pleads Guilty To Theft Of B & O Wire

15 Months Jail Sentence Imposed

KEYSER, W. Va.—Willam Carl McAvoy entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny before Judge Ernest A. See in Mineral County Court yesterday, when he was called before the court for a change of plea in the case in which he and Roy Franklin Baker were indicted for theft of a quantity of wire from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company several months ago.

Another case against McAvoy, on which he was convicted of theft of wool from Ike Whipp, was also hanging over the defendant, with sentence deferred until termination of the tire theft.

When the plea was entered yesterday, Judge See sentenced him to nine months in the Mineral County jail on the wool conviction and six months on the wire theft plea, giving him 15 months to serve in the jail.

Deferment of the sentence was made to November 10, when he will begin serving his sentences.

Charles Junior Spencer and Helen Marie Ferrebee, charged with the theft of chickens from a farm in the Horseshoe section of Frankfort District several months ago will appear at the January term of court for sentencing.

Charles Chester Cavanaugh, who was a party in the chicken case, was sent to the penitentiary for violation of a parole granted on a previous conviction. He was returned to the Mineral County Court to testify in the Spencer-Farrebee case.

Two cases are on the docket for Friday morning, one, the State vs Austin Judy, indicted for having punch boards in his place of business near Wiley Ford, and the other, State vs. Thomas E. Dorsey.

Barton Plans School Bazaar

BARTON — The Student Council is sponsoring a Halloween Bazaar at the Barton School next Wednesday evening.

Diversions of the evening will include many forms of Halloween fun, refreshments, and dancing.

A musical program will be presented on the stage as follows: Accordion Duet, Marvin Broadwater and Elaine Myers; vocal trio, William Hyde, William Frankenberry, and William Harvey; a black face number, Juanita Deniker and Aurora Jane Mowbray; and accordion solo, Thomas Clark.

Anyone in costume will be admitted free. Prizes will be awarded for the ugliest, best dressed, funniest, and most original costumed persons.

Frostburg Lions Club Observes Anniversary

FROSTBURG — The Lions Club observed its seventh anniversary Wednesday evening at Anton's Big Savage Inn. The principal speaker was District Governor William Heagy, Westminster.

Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Betty Ann Hanna, accompanied by Hugh Watson. Dinner music was furnished by the Rhymnaires. Besides members of the club, the affair was attended by Dr. Harry Teter, president of the Frostburg Rotary Club, and Mrs. Teter, Mrs. William Heagy, Westminster; International Counselor and Mrs. Alvin Yaste of Cumberland, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hyde, of New Windsor, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Fritz, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wine, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koontz, all of Westminster, and Miss Kathleen McGraw and Mrs. Lois Jackson, Frostburg. Mr. George Klinkhammer, president of the club, was master of ceremonies.

Appeal Is Filed In Soliciting Case

KEYSER, W. Va.—Francis Hamilton, Cumberland, who was convicted in Mineral County Court Wednesday on a charge of soliciting legal business, filed an appeal yesterday.

Arguments on the appeal will be heard November 15.

Parsons Soldier To Be Reburied

PARSONS, W. Va.—The body of Cpl. Leonard Dale Nestor, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Nestor of here, who was killed in action in Korea July 12 is being returned here for reburial.

Pfc. Melvin Nestor, a brother, has been wounded for the fourth time in Korea according to a message received by his parents. He is now in a hospital in Japan. Both brothers were serving in the same company in Korea.

Cpl. Nestor was born in Hambleton on July 1, 1930, a son of Dewey and Sallie Morlan Nestor. He attended Tucker County schools and was graduated from Parsons High School before enlisting in the service November 12, 1947. He trained at Fort Ord, Calif., and was sent to Japan in April 1950 and promoted to the rank of corporal in January 1950. He was named as the Soldier of the Month of the 21st Infantry Regiment for April 1949 and was graduated from the Signal Corps 16mm Projectionist School in February of 1949. He also completed a class of military leadership in the 24th Infantry division in October 1949. Nestor would have completed his enlistment in Sept. 1950.

He is survived by his parents who now live in Parsons, two brothers, Pfc. Melvin in Korea with the First Cavalry division, Allen R. Nestor of Pittsburgh, Pa., and one half brother, Clem Moyer of Hagerstown, Md., and one sister, Mrs. Velma Hedrick of Baltimore, Md.

Farming For Better Living Contest Winners Are Named

PARSONS, W. Va.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Canfield, Kerens, were the Tucker County winners of the 12th annual Farming for Better Living program in this county. They were awarded $25. Second prize of $10 was won by Mr. and Mrs. Bascom B. Parsons, Parsons.

Awards were made at the annual dinner held Monday at Camp Kidd with Robert Minear in charge.

Following the dinner served by the Holly Meadows Farm Woman's Club, Dr. F. J. Holter, West Virginia University, Morgantown made the main address of the evening.

Minear presented the awards which also included $2 awards given to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ball, Mr. and Mrs. J Harold Felton, Parsons; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kelly, Leadmine; Mr. and Mrs. Stark Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer White, Hendricks; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wilt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cline and Mr. and Mrs. George Spessert, St. George; Mr. and Mrs. Brown More and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Phillips, Montrose; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Veckers and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wingfield, Kerens; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harr, Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Ashby, St. George.

Special recognition was given to Mr. and Mrs. George Kisner; Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Thompson; Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Teter; Mr. and Mrs. Okey Stiles; Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Long; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. Selby Adams; Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Auvil, past county winners.

Frostburg Couple's Marriage Announced

FROSTBURG—The marriage of Miss Margaretta L. Davis, daughter of Mrs. Nida M. Porter, 21 Broadway, to Water E. Capel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Capel, 248 Centre Street, took place September 27, at the First Congregational Church, Bowery Street, with Rev. J. F. Zimmerman performing the single ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial selections were played by Mrs. Guy Mallow, who also accompanied Mrs. Cleo Henry, vocalist. Mrs. Cleo Henry was candle lighter.

Mrs. Edna LaRue, Midland, aunt of the bride, was her only attendant. Stanley LaRue of Midland, uncle of the bride, was best man.

Tri-Towns Parade For Halloween Set For Oct. 31

Parade To Begin At 7 O'Clock

WESTERNPORT — The annual Tri-Towns Halloween parade will be held next Wednesday.

It is being sponsored by the Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Black Hawk Tribe No. 131, Improved Order of Red Men, of Westernport; the Knights of Columbus, Fraternal Order of Eagles No. 707 and Kelly-Mansfield Post, American Legion, of Piedmont.

The parade will form in front of the American Legion and will march at 7 p. m. It will be led by the Junior band and will march to Jake's place and back to the judges' stand. In case of rain the affair will be held on Thursday, November 1.

Prizes amounting to $100 will be awarded.

Included are best dressed adult couple, second best dressed adult couple, best dressed woman, second best dressed woman, best dressed man, second best dressed man, best dressed children's couple, second best dressed children's couple, best dressed girl, second best dressed girl, best dressed boy, second best dressed boy, and 45 other prizes.

Party Scheduled

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Piedmont Lodge No. 1120, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold a party on Saturday afternoon from October 2 until 4. The event will mark Youth Honor Day. Children from ages 3 to 12 may attend. A movie will be shown and a treat given.

West Virginia Queen Will Help Plug U. S. Apple Week

Miss Maxine Twigg of Romney, W. Va. has been named West Virginia's Apple Queen and will help in the current observance of National Apple Week by visiting Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The Appalachian Apple Service, a grower-sponsored promotional agency for apples produced in the Virginias, Pennsylvania and Maryland, will send Miss Twigg and queens from the other three states to the eastern cities.

Will Interview

In each city, Miss Twigg and the other girls will interview television, radio and newspaper personalities.

Besides the four queens there also will be a Miss Apple Pan Dowdy in the delegation. Her name will be announced following a state-wide contest in Pennsylvania by the Horticultural Society in conjunction with the Future Homemakers of America to determine the Pennsylvania girl who best prepares the traditional Dutch dish.

Good Story

The young ladies will be able to tell a good story about the current crop in this four-state apple region. The growers expect to harvest some 24-million bushels this season, representing one-fifth of the nation's apple crop. Present shipping prices indicate that apples will be one of the cheapest fruits displayed on the produce counters of the nation and will be a boon to the hard-pressed food bill of the public.

The Appalachian area has the unusual distinction of producing mountain-grown fruit, the soil, climate and naturalness of growth imparting a flavor unsurpassed in other apple growing areas.

Washington will hear the apple story on October 31. It will be heard in Baltimore on November 1 and in Philadelphia on November 2.

Miss Twigg was elected West Virginia Apple Queen over 15 other contestants. She is 21, a blue-eyed brunette with a winsome smile and loads of personality. A graduate of Romney High School, she has a genuine fondness for apples and is well known for her preparation of apple pie.

Although she spends summer vacations employed at Atlantic seaboard resorts, she is currently working as a secretary with the Cumberland Motor Express here.

Miss Twigg recently returned from a visit to Charleston, W. Va., where she was interviewed by various radio and newspaper personalities in addition to presenting various state officials with apples, including Governor Okey L. Patteson.

USO Goal Reached

MT. SAVAGE — The United Defense (USO) Drive went over the top here, James E. Crump, chairman, announces. The goal of $300 was reached with an additional sum of $62 realized. Chairman Crump thanks all of the residents for their contributions.

Bond Interest To Be Declared

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Governor Patteson has announced that interest rates on the state's $75,000,000 veterans bonus bond issue would be announced one week before they go on sale December 1.

At that time, the Governor said, the rates will be included in the advertisement of sale dates for the bonds.

"Conditions can fluctuate," the Governor explained, "to affect the rate we want to advertise."

Sale of $37,500,000 of the bonds was approved Monday by the Governor and his 11-member Advisory Committee of State Bankers. That first half will be sold December 1 to 15 and the remainder will be offered later, probably after the first of the year.

The delay is aimed at saving interest on the second instalment, estimated to be enough to pay for processing applications for the bonus.

Under the plan of sale, all 181 banks in the state will be asked to act as agents, selling the bonds without commission.

Monday's decision to proceed with that plan ended a stalemate since last May when the issue was termed inflationary by Federal officials.

Central High Dance Scheduled Tonight

LONACONING — A Halloween dance will be held on Friday from 8 until 11 p. m. in the Central High school gymnaisum, sponsored by the Art Club.

A jitterbug contest will feature the dancing program and there will be a crowning of the King and Queen of the dance.

"Musical Kings" will provide music for dancing. Sport clothes will be worn. Refreshments will be served.

Chekiang is the smallest province of China with an area of 40,169 square miles.

Hyndman Center Plans Amateur Programs

HYNDMAN, Pa. — N. B. Poorbaugh, chairman of the activities committee of the community center here, has announced that the center is planning to sponsor a weekly amateur program, beginning Wednesday, November 7.

On this opening night the amateurs will be accompanied by the Silver String Boys. A $10 first prize will be awarded to the winner of the weekly program. Winners also will be given an opportunity to appear on a radio program with the Rhythm Riders over an Altoona, Pa., station.

All interested in competing should contact Poorbaugh.

Sale of $37,500,000 of the bonds was approved Monday by the Governor and his 11-member Advisory Committee of State Bankers. That first half will be sold December 1 to 15 and the remainder will be offered later, probably after the first of the year.

The delay is aimed at saving interest on the second instalment, estimated to be enough to pay for processing applications for the bonus.

Under the plan of sale, all 181 banks in the state will be asked to act as agents, selling the bonds without commission.

Monday's decision to proceed with that plan ended a stalemate since last May when the issue was termed inflationary by Federal officials.

Central High Dance Scheduled Tonight

LONACONING — A Halloween dance will be held on Friday from 8 until 11 p. m. in the Central High school gymnaisum, sponsored by the Art Club.

A jitterbug contest will feature the dancing program and there will be a crowning of the King and Queen of the dance.

"Musical Kings" will provide music for dancing. Sport clothes will be worn. Refreshments will be served.

Chekiang is the smallest province of China with an area of 40,169 square miles.

Hyndman Center Plans Amateur Programs

HYNDMAN, Pa. — N. B. Poorbaugh, chairman of the activities committee of the community center here, has announced that the center is planning to sponsor a weekly amateur program, beginning Wednesday, November 7.

On this opening night the amateurs will be accompanied by the Silver String Boys. A $10 first prize will be awarded to the winner of the weekly program. Winners also will be given an opportunity to appear on a radio program with the Rhythm Riders over an Altoona, Pa., station.

All interested in competing should contact Poorbaugh.

Smallest Wooden Leg Gives Joe A Big Thrill

AP Newsfeatures

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va.—Joe Cornell has what may be the smallest arftcial leg in the world.

Joe, who is only two years old, is all smiles these days because he can play with the other kids. Last May his right leg was amputated three inches below the knee to get rid of a malignant tumor which had started on his ankle last November.

While Joe slowly recovered, his mother, Mrs. Joseph Cornell, wife of an Army private first class, fretted because her son would not have a normal childhood. She took her problem to Arlie Taylor, himself an amputee, who operates an artificial limp shop in nearby Wheeling. Taylor had never made an artificial leg for so little an amputee but he was willing to try.

In four days he carved out of a chunk of willow what he believes to be the smallest artificial leg in the world. Joe's mother brought the boy to Taylor for a fitting. The first thing Joe said when the leg was strapped on was:

"That's mine."

A grin slowly widened across the boy's face. He reached for Taylor's hand and bravely stepped out—walking again.

TRYING a leg for size.

JOE walks away happy.

Blood Transfusions Under Pressure May Save Lives

MINNEAPOLIS—(INS)—A military surgeon this week described the dramatic successes of blood transfusions into an artery in cases where the usual method—into a vein—would have been too little and too late.

In the standard transfusion technique, blood drains slowly—usually by gravity—from a bottle into a vein. Since blood flows relatively slowly through the veins, long and precious minutes often elapse before it reaches the heart and then the arteries.

But a man suffering sudden, massive loss of blood—the kind of injury often suffered on a battlefield—or a man near death may be saved if blood is literally pumped into an artery under pressure.

Col. Douglas B. Kendrick of the U. S. Army Medical Corps told the American Association of Blood Banks in Minneapolis that the arterial transfusion technique, despite its dangers, is the best new method of combatting shock.

In one case, he said, a soldier lay near death on the operating table at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. His blood pressure was near zero and his pulse too feeble to be felt. A surgeon inserted a needle into an artery, turned on a specially designed hand pump, and started blood moving into the man's right leg.

In 90 seconds the soldier's blood pressure—as measured by the cuff on his left arm—was normal.

Col. Kendrick said the arterial technique has an important additional advantage over venous transfusions. In the latter, there is no way of determining how much blood is needed. Sometimes too much is transfused and the patient's heart is overloaded.

But in the arterial technique, a pump and pressure gauge unit can be arranged so that blood is pumped into the body at a fixed pressure equal to the normal arterial pressure.

As soon as the patient's arterial blood pressure climbs back from shock to a normal level it will balance the transfusion pressure and the inflow of blood will stop.

In emergencies, a surgeon can make his own fixed-pressure pump by pouring the transfusion blood into a plastic bag, sealing it, tying an ordinary blood pressure cuff around the bag and pumping to a proper pressure reading on the cuff gauge.

Russian Iron Curtain Gray On Other Side

By PHILIP G. REED

BERLIN — (INS) — The color of the other side of the iron curtain is gray.

The dreary drabness in the Soviet sector of Berlin is plain to feel as well as see. Its people, its buildings, even the streets at dusk have none of the bright, neon glitter of the shops just a block away.

It's easy to see through the iron curtain cutting Berlin and even easier to get behind it. There is nothing more to mark the line than a road sign saying "You are leaving the American sector." There is nothing more to stop you and thousands mill each way every day.

Private automobiles are checked just inside each sector for smuggled goods. Pedestrians roam at will. By an actual count on a warm Sunday afternoon there were more American and British uniforms rubbernecking at the big Soviet war memorial at Treptow than there were Russian.

With a German guide who lost an arm at St. Lo as a Werhmacht corporal, this correspondent took a visiting fireman's tour through the once mighty capital that today still has 3,300,000 inhabitants, about a million under its pre-war peak.

In the American sector just beyond the imposing buildings of the Tempelhof airdrome lies a park, one end of which is now a thirty-foot plateau covering many acres and built of rubble from destroyed buildings, on which scores of kids floated bat-shaped kites.

Over it is being strewn topsoil and a new park will be grown. There was, however, no waste of good bricks. During the airlift the unemployed were put to chipping and cleaning those salvageable and long walls of them line the sidewalk in every block.

Once beyond the road sign a visitor's first intimation of having passed into the Soviet orbit is a fence poster caricaturing Uncle Sam who is pictured showering gold from a watering can on Germany's industrial Ruhr district.

There seems to be no great difference in the people at first. At the huge park enclosing the Soviet war memorial, girls and their boy friends hugged and kissed on the benches, youngsters romped in the grass and old folks strolled along the cement walks just as in parks all over the world.

A small knot of Soviet GIs in their loose, bulky khaki uniforms jabbered among themselves and then stood warily, curiously watchful of a few visiting American officers.

The Red soldiers are husky, with closely cropped hair. They look neat, but their uniforms are ill-fitting compared to those of a U. S. soldier and show need of cleaning even from a 10-foot inspection.

Farther along, two Russian lieutenants in long gray overcoats with a bosomy, good-looking girl were better off. Cheerily they threw a casual salute to the American officers and grinned. The salute was returned.

Outside this showplace built by German labor, much of it with material from the dismantled reichschancellory of Adolf Hitler, there is less for the Soviets to be proud of.

For miles one of the main prewar shopping streets is dead. Even Stalin Strasse, down which 1,500,000 youth marched in the Soviet youth rally last summer, is something to make one shudder. The festival hangovers, such as now weather-dimmed signs, including American flags on the walls, the mid-street statues of pretty girls and handsome boys with heads upflung into the bright future of the Soviet world, cannot distract from the terrible surroundings.

Bombed-out, shot-out streets and sideways seems to stretch endlessly with only an occasional car and a few pedestrians to break the awful monotony of desolation.

Hogan Says Kentucky Trio Received $1,500 For Rigging Another Contest

Kept Score Down In Tennessee Tilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Three former basketball players of the University of Kentucky, under arrest for conspiracy and bribery in shaving points of the final score of one collegiate game, today admitted receiving $500 for keeping down the score of another game, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan reported.

The three players, Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable, now out on $1,000 bail each, testified freely for several hours before the New York County Grand Jury today, Hogan said.

The athletes are charged specifically with conspiring to "shave points" in the National Invitation Tournament game between Kentucky and Loyola of Chicago in Madison Square Garden March 14, 1949.

Today, Hogan said, Groza admitted receiving not $500 for that "fix" but $1,000 for himself and $500 for the other two players for the Loyola game.

The men also admitted receiving $500 each for winning the Kentucky-Tennessee game on February 8, 1949, in the alumni gymnasium at Lexington, Ky., by less than 18 points, the margin by which Kentucky was favored, Hogan said. Kentucky won the game, 71 to 56.

The district attorney quoted the three men as saying the "deal" was arranged by Nick and Tony Englisis, and Saul Feinberg, three men held here under indictment as fixers, and also by Nat (Lovey) Brown, currently held as a material witness in the basketball investigation.

All this information, Hogan said, will be presented to the grand jury, which will decide if any more indictments are to be handed down in the basketball scandal.

Cumberland KCs Tie Frostburg

Cumberland Knights of Columbus moved into a first place tie with the Frostburg K. of C. in the Men's County Shuffleboard League by sweeping three games from the Military Order of Purple Heart last night.

The deadlocked leaders now have 7-2 records.

Fisher and Robinette made the other clean sweep, defeating the Alhambra Club.

Winners via the 2 to 1 route were Cumberland V.F.W. over Viaduct Inn, Frostburg Legion over Cumberland Amvets, Stadium Inn, Frostburg, over Frostburg Century Club and Goodfellowship Club over Mt. Savage VFW.

High scorers were: Frame, Cumberland K. of C 23, Burkey, Purple Heart 21; Stewart, Frostburg Legion 24; Palmer, Amvets 18; Powers, Stadium Inn 22; H. Robeson, Century 15; Bujac, Cumberland VFW 36; Strosnider, Viaduct Inn 30; Ryan, Goodfellowship Club 19; Goldsworthy, Mt. Savage VFW 17.

South Carolina Provides Upset, Spills Clemson

Gamecocks Cop 49th Annual Game, 20-0

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—South Carolina, doped to lose by one to two touchdowns, stunned Clemson today with a decisive 20-0 victory in their 49th annual State Fair football game.

Stout and alert defensive play, aided by numerous Clemson fumbles, was the victory key in the Southern Conference game.

The hard, fast-charging South Carolina forwards had the jump on Clemson from the start. Time and again they smothered Billy Hair, Clemson triple threat star, on his runs and many pass attempts. An alert secondary took the sting out of Clemson's passing attack.

It was the first time Clemson had been held scoreless since it lost to North Carolina State, 18-0, in 1947.

The flying feet of Billy Stephens, defensive halfback from Atlanta, gave South Carolina its first touchdown late in the fumble-filled opening period. Hair punted from Clemson's 29. Stephens caught the ball on his 27, got two fine blocks, and burst through a swarm of Clemson players at top speed. He dashed straight down the sidelines for a 73-yard touchdown run. Fullback Chuck Prezioso converted and South Carolina was the master of the situation from there on.

South Carolina racked up its second touchdown after two and one half minutes of play in the second quarter. Leon Cunningham, a freshman line backer from Atlanta, tackled halfback Frank Kennedy on the Clemson 26 and then recovered Kennedy's fumble.

Led by Steve Wadiak, the South Carolina backs drilled the Clemson line. Quarterback Dick Balka plunged the last two yards over right guard. Prezioso again converted.

The final Gamecock score, in the fourth period, was anti-climactic. With the ball on his 12, Hair threw a pass from about the goal line. South Carolina Center Harry Jabbusch, whose defensive play stood out, reached high and grabbed the ball inside the 15 yard line. He had a clear field to the goal. Prezioso's conversion attempt was wide.

South Carolina	7	7	0	6—20

South Carolina scoring: Touchdowns—Stephens, Balaka, Jabbusch. Conversions—Prezioso 2.

Dave Ritter and Bill Lee will co-captain Fort Hill's Sentinels tonight as they play host to Coach Mel Henry's Hagerstown Hubs in one of the top games of the season at Fort Hill stadium. Game time will be 8 p. m.

Both teams will be sporting four-game winning streaks and the Hub City eleven will be seeking revenge for last season's 20-7 defeat at the hands of the Sentinels.

Teams Evenly Matched

Fort Hill has rolled by West Fairmont, LaSalle, Martinsburg and Ridgeley since losing its only contest to Linsly Institute of Wheeling, W. Va. Coach Bill Hahn's Red Raiders have won five while losing one.

Henry's Washington Countians have pushed aside Westminster, Allegany, Frederick and Martinsburg after losing to Gettysburg in their opener and playing a 6-6 stalemate with the Chambersburg Trojans.

Comparative scores indicate the evenly-matched strength of the two clubs. Fort Hill downed Martinsburg 28-7 while Hagerstown whipped the Bulldogs 26-6.

Sentinels Hold Edge

Although weakened by the loss of Halfbacks Dick Beard and Harold Hull and Tackle Dick Hughes through injuries the Sentinels will be at full strength otherwise.

Fort Hill holds a 12-2 edge in the series between the two rivals with one game ending in a tie. The Hahnmen have captured the last four tilts from the Hub City crew. Probable starting lineups for tonight's tilt:

Sports Notes

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Rick Schramm told us the other day while spotting for Allegany that his failure to take care of a back injury forced him to quit football for the season . . . Rick injured the ligaments in his back, then repeatedly aggravated the hurt during the summer playing baseball and swimming until his doctor told him no football or else . . . Incidentally, Rick did a fine job spotting the Allegany-Montgomery Blair game for us . . . One of the best we've worked with . . . Rick is only a junior at Allegany and he hopes his back will get well enough to permit him to put a grid uniform on again next season.

Coach Bill Bowers has indicated he will call first basketball practice at Allegany November 1 . . . The dean of local cage mentors will have four regulars back from last season's squad, namely Dick Widdows, Ronnie Sisk, Ronnie Lease and Junior Eversole . . . The Campers' first opponent probably will be Somerset sometime in December . . . Although the Pennsylvania school no longer plays Allegany on the gridiron the two schools still meet on the basketball floor . . . Somerset last year swept the home-and-home series.

Our congratulations to Norman Geatz, Jr., on his appointment as head coach of LaSalle's football team . . . Norm, one of the area's better baseball pitchers, has his work cut out for him with a team that has lost four in a row . . . His first task will be an effort to lead the Irish to their first victory over Allegany since 1943 on Nov. 2.

Cage preparations at Fort Hill won't get underway until the middle of November, Coach Bobby Cavanaugh said this week, in an effort to keep from conflicting with the football squad . . . Opening game for the Sentinels slated in December against Hagerstown.

That must have been a terrific blow to Ralph Poling, Ridgeley High football coach, whose team has been having a dismal year, to learn five of his regulars could play no longer due to injuries and scholastic troubles.

Maxim, Charles Sign For Bout

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Promoter Jimmy Murray today announced the signing of light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim and former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles for a 12-round non-title bout in the San Francisco Cow Palace, Dec. 12.

The San Francisco promoter said he expected the fifth meeting of the two should attract some 16,000 fans and a gross gate of $150,000.

"We'll sell out or come close to it," said Murray after concluding arrangements with Jack Kearns, manager of Maxim, and Tom Tannas and Jake Mintz, co-managers of Charles.

Murray wouldn't disclose the terms but it was believed that each fighter would get 30 per cent.

Top WMI Teams Tangle Today

Beall At Flintstone, Central Tests Barton

The four top teams in the W.M.I. Soccer League are slated to swing into action today in contests at Fintstone and Barton.

Barton's Braves, leading the race by a narrow margin, test Central High School of Lonaconing in Barton.

Beall will tackle Flintstone, the surprise package of the league, on the latter's pitch.

There's the possibility of a triple tie today. This could happen if Central whips Barton and either Flintstone or Beall wins the other tilt.

Barton's record to date is 3-1-0. Central, Flintstone and Beall are tied for the runner-up position with 2-2-0 marks. Bruce High is idle today.

Barton holds a 2-1 decision over Central while Beall captured the opening game of the series from Flintstone, 2-0.

"Scotty" Orr will referee the game at Barton and Ed Thompson wil officiate at Flintstone.

The scoring race is tightening up with three players pushing "Sonny" Kyle of Barton for the leadership. Kyle has four points but right on his heels are Jim Wilkinson, Bruce; Tommy Miltenberger, Flintstone, and "Buck" Duncan of Beall with three goals each.

K. Of C. League Booster Game Set Saturday

Four teams will participate in the Knights of Columbus Youth Football League "Booster Game" Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Fort Hill stadium.

SS. Peter and Paul, St. Patrick's, St. Mary's and Allegany will play in the contest.

Officials will be John Blough, Gerard Feeney and Jim Gaffney.

Officials Named For Beall Clash With Chas. Town

Bobby Cavanaugh, Ed Milbrada and Bill Spangler have been named to officiate the Beall and Charles Town gridiron clash tomorrow at Frostburg, Coach Joe Hoopengardner of the Mountaineers announced last night. Game time will be 2 p.m.

It will be the fifth clash between the two schools with Beall still looking for its first win over the Panthers. Each school will be striving for its third win this season.

Charles Town holds a 26-6 decision over Keyser High which Beall defeated 37-14. The Panthers also tied Romney's Pioneers 12-12. Beall dropped a 14-13 verdict to Romney last week.

Coach Hoopengardner said Jimmy Stevens, regular halfback, will return to the lineup after missing several games through injuries. Beall's lineup will include Hawkins and Thompson at ends, Robeson and Lennox at tackles, Elliott and McAttee at guards, Buskirk at center, Davis at quarter, Stevens or Bender at lefthalf, Miller at right half and Beach at fullback.

Allegany's Campers have been working hard this week on a new offensive combination in an attempt to get some scoring power in the lineup for their tilt tonight at Martinsburg, W. Va. with Coach John Cobourne's Bulldogs.

Bob Hook, defensive halfback, is the only player who will not see action against Martinsburg, Coach Bob Pence indicated. Hook is suffering with a bruised shoulder. Ronnie Sisk also has a bruised shoulder but is expected to start. John Snyder, center, is also nursing hurts but will probably play, Pence stated.

AHS To Start New Lineup

The Campers' new lineup will find Joe Hager and Junior Eversole at ends, Dick Widdows and Bill Robeson at tackles, Bruce Price and Lance Statler at guards, George Long at center, Ronnie Sisk at quarter, Chuck Eirich at left half, Gene Horton at right half and Eddie Baldwin or Dave Walton at fullback. Robeson and Widdows will captain the visitors.

Dick Rank, junior varsity star, also has been seeing plenty of action this week with the varsity and probably will spell Sisk on defense to rest the injured quarterback's shoulder.

Both Martinsburg and Allegany sport 3-3 records and each will be striving to get back on the winning track after losing last weekend.

Martinsburg probably will start Hawkins and Everhart at ends, Thompson and Spickler at tackles, Power and Baker at guards, Ambrose at center, Hamilton at quarter, Netoskie and Payne at half and Butts at fullback.

Leave At 2:30 P. M.

The Campers will leave the school at 2:30 p. m. by bus today to journey to the West Virginia town, accompanied by the band and a large group of students. The team will stop off at Berkeley Springs to eat before the game, Pence indicated.

Cumberland's third high school eleven, LaSalle's Explorers, will be idle this weekend. The Irish will meet Allegany in their next test Nov. 2.

Bright To Respect Mother's Wishes

DES MOINES, Oct. 25 (AP) — Drake's Johnny Bright says he will respect the wishes of his mother and not play in Saturday's homecoming football game against Iowa State here.

Bright's mother, who lives in Fort Wayne, Ind., expressed her wishes in a telephone conversation with Coach Warren Gaer today.

She said that although doctors had said it would be all right for him to play, she desired that he not play this weekend. She said that she would let doctors decide about future weekends but that she specifically didn't want him to play so soon after the injury.

Johnny Brzuzy, the fellow who threw 40 passes and completed 14 of them as West Fairmont lost to Fort Hill, 26-14, connected 19 times in 39 tries for 280 yards last week as the Polar Bears lost to Stonewall Jackson, of Charleston, 19-14. SJ is ranked 5th in West Virginia.

The game was so rough that four players—two on each side—were ejected. Penalties imposed were 130 yards on SJ and 90 yards on "Biz" Dawson's team.

Dave Ritter and Bill Lee will co-captain Fort Hill's Sentinels tonight as they play host to Coach Mel Henry's Hagerstown Hubs in one of the top games of the season at Fort Hill stadium. Game time will be 8 p. m.

Both teams will be sporting four-game winning streaks and the Hub City eleven will be seeking revenge for last season's 20-7 defeat at the hands of the Sentinels.

Teams Evenly Matched

Fort Hill has rolled by West Fairmont, LaSalle, Martinsburg and Ridgeley since losing its only contest to Linsly Institute of Wheeling, W. Va. Coach Bill Hahn's Red Raiders have won five while losing one.

Henry's Washington Countians have pushed aside Westminster, Allegany, Frederick and Martinsburg after losing to Gettysburg in their opener and playing a 6-6 stalemate with the Chambersburg Trojans.

Comparative scores indicate the evenly-matched strength of the two clubs. Fort Hill downed Martinsburg 28-7 while Hagerstown whipped the Bulldogs 26-6.

Sentinels Hold Edge

Although weakened by the loss of Halfbacks Dick Beard and Harold Hull and Tackle Dick Hughes through injuries the Sentinels will be at full strength otherwise.

Fort Hill holds a 12-2 edge in the series between the two rivals with one game ending in a tie. The Hahnmen have captured the last four tilts from the Hub City crew. Probable starting lineups for tonight's tilt:

Sports Notes

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Rick Schramm told us the other day while spotting for Allegany that his failure to take care of a back injury forced him to quit football for the season . . . Rick injured the ligaments in his back, then repeatedly aggravated the hurt during the summer playing baseball and swimming until his doctor told him no football or else . . . Incidentally, Rick did a fine job spotting the Allegany-Montgomery Blair game for us . . . One of the best we've worked with . . . Rick is only a junior at Allegany and he hopes his back will get well enough to permit him to put a grid uniform on again next season.

Coach Bill Bowers has indicated he will call first basketball practice at Allegany November 1 . . . The dean of local cage mentors will have four regulars back from last season's squad, namely Dick Widdows, Ronnie Sisk, Ronnie Lease and Junior Eversole . . . The Campers' first opponent probably will be Somerset sometime in December . . . Although the Pennsylvania school no longer plays Allegany on the gridiron the two schools still meet on the basketball floor . . . Somerset last year swept the home-and-home series.

Our congratulations to Norman Geatz, Jr., on his appointment as head coach of LaSalle's football team . . . Norm, one of the area's better baseball pitchers, has his work cut out for him with a team that has lost four in a row . . . His first task will be an effort to lead the Irish to their first victory over Allegany since 1943 on Nov. 2.

Cage preparations at Fort Hill won't get underway until the middle of November, Coach Bobby Cavanaugh said this week, in an effort to keep from conflicting with the football squad . . . Opening game for the Sentinels slated in December against Hagerstown.

That must have been a terrific blow to Ralph Poling, Ridgeley High football coach, whose team has been having a dismal year, to learn five of his regulars could play no longer due to injuries and scholastic troubles.

City Rec Department To Sponsor All Sports Banquet November 14

The first annual all sports banquet of the City Recreation Department will be held at the Loyal Order of Moose Home on Wednesday, November 14 at 6:30 p. m.

Team members of the High School Recreation Basketball League, the National and American Divisions of the City Rec Basketball League, the Industrial Softball League, the City Recreation Softball Leagut and the High School Recreation Softball League will make up the gathering.

All teams that were not represented at the banquet meeting may pick up tickets at the City Recreation Department office in City Hall. All Reservations must be made before November 7.

Fried chicken will be served.

Maxim, Charles Sign For Bout

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Promoter Jimmy Murray today announced the signing of light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim and former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles for a 12-round non-title bout in the San Francisco Cow Palace, Dec. 12.

The San Francisco promoter said he expected the fifth meeting of the two should attract some 16,000 fans and a gross gate of $150,000.

"We'll sell out or come close to it," said Murray after concluding arrangements with Jack Kearns, manager of Maxim, and Tom Tannas and Jake Mintz, co-managers of Charles.

Murray wouldn't disclose the terms but it was believed that each fighter would get 30 per cent.

Top WMI Teams Tangle Today

Beall At Flintstone, Central Tests Barton

The four top teams in the W.M.I. Soccer League are slated to swing into action today in contests at Fintstone and Barton.

Barton's Braves, leading the race by a narrow margin, test Central High School of Lonaconing in Barton.

Beall will tackle Flintstone, the surprise package of the league, on the latter's pitch.

There's the possibility of a triple tie today. This could happen if Central whips Barton and either Flintstone or Beall wins the other tilt.

Barton's record to date is 3-1-0. Central, Flintstone and Beall are tied for the runner-up position with 2-2-0 marks. Bruce High is idle today.

Barton holds a 2-1 decision over Central while Beall captured the opening game of the series from Flintstone, 2-0.

"Scotty" Orr will referee the game at Barton and Ed Thompson wil officiate at Flintstone.

The scoring race is tightening up with three players pushing "Sonny" Kyle of Barton for the leadership. Kyle has four points but right on his heels are Jim Wilkinson, Bruce; Tommy Miltenberger, Flintstone, and "Buck" Duncan of Beall with three goals each.

K. Of C. League Booster Game Set Saturday

Four teams will participate in the Knights of Columbus Youth Football League "Booster Game" Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Fort Hill stadium.

SS. Peter and Paul, St. Patrick's, St. Mary's and Allegany will play in the contest.

Officials will be John Blough, Gerard Feeney and Jim Gaffney.

Officials Named For Beall Clash With Chas. Town

Bobby Cavanaugh, Ed Milbrada and Bill Spangler have been named to officiate the Beall and Charles Town gridiron clash tomorrow at Frostburg, Coach Joe Hoopengardner of the Mountaineers announced last night. Game time will be 2 p.m.

It will be the fifth clash between the two schools with Beall still looking for its first win over the Panthers. Each school will be striving for its third win this season.

Charles Town holds a 26-6 decision over Keyser High which Beall defeated 37-14. The Panthers also tied Romney's Pioneers 12-12. Beall dropped a 14-13 verdict to Romney last week.

Coach Hoopengardner said Jimmy Stevens, regular halfback, will return to the lineup after missing several games through injuries. Beall's lineup will include Hawkins and Thompson at ends, Robeson and Lennox at tackles, Elliott and McAttee at guards, Buskirk at center, Davis at quarter, Stevens or Bender at lefthalf, Miller at right half and Beach at fullback.

Bulldogs To Host Revamped Allegany High Team Tonight

Locals Leave At 2:30, Pence Changes Lineup

RECORDS OF TEAMS

Allegany		Martinsburg

Won 3, Lost 3		Won 3, Lost 3

Allegany's Campers have been working hard this week on a new offensive combination in an attempt to get some scoring power in the lineup for their tilt tonight at Martinsburg, W. Va. with Coach John Cobourne's Bulldogs.

Bob Hook, defensive halfback, is the only player who will not see action against Martinsburg, Coach Bob Pence indicated. Hook is suffering with a bruised shoulder. Ronnie Sisk also has a bruised shoulder but is expected to start. John Snyder, center, is also nursing hurts but will probably play, Pence stated.

AHS To Start New Lineup

The Campers' new lineup will find Joe Hager and Junior Eversole at ends, Dick Widdows and Bill Robeson at tackles, Bruce Price and Lance Statler at guards, George Long at center, Ronnie Sisk at quarter, Chuck Eirich at left half, Gene Horton at right half and Eddie Baldwin or Dave Walton at fullback. Robeson and Widdows will captain the visitors.

Dick Rank, junior varsity star, also has been seeing plenty of action this week with the varsity and probably will spell Sisk on defense to rest the injured quarterback's shoulder.

Both Martinsburg and Allegany sport 3-3 records and each will be striving to get back on the winning track after losing last weekend.

Martinsburg probably will start Hawkins and Everhart at ends, Thompson and Spickler at tackles, Power and Baker at guards, Ambrose at center, Hamilton at quarter, Netoskie and Payne at half and Butts at fullback.

Leave At 2:30 P. M.

The Campers will leave the school at 2:30 p. m. by bus today to journey to the West Virginia town, accompanied by the band and a large group of students. The team will stop off at Berkeley Springs to eat before the game, Pence indicated.

Cumberland's third high school eleven, LaSalle's Explorers, will be idle this weekend. The Irish will meet Allegany in their next test Nov. 2.

Bright To Respect Mother's Wishes

DES MOINES, Oct. 25 (AP) — Drake's Johnny Bright says he will respect the wishes of his mother and not play in Saturday's homecoming football game against Iowa State here.

Bright's mother, who lives in Fort Wayne, Ind., expressed her wishes in a telephone conversation with Coach Warren Gaer today.

She said that although doctors had said it would be all right for him to play, she desired that he not play this weekend. She said that she would let doctors decide about future weekends but that she specifically didn't want him to play so soon after the injury.

Jackets Seek 5th PVC Win

Play At Keyser High, Ridgeley At Romney

Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets can sew up the Potomac Valley Conference championship with a perfect record today— if they defeat Keyser High School at Keyser.

Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven has won four games in the P.V.C. at the expense of Petersburg, Romney, Ridgeley and Franklin and has amassed 84 points while yielding six.

Last year Moorefield beat KHS, 47-0.

Romney High's Pioneers are hosts to Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks in the other P.V.C. game on tap for today.

Moorefield, Keyser and Ridgeley will be concluding their PVC schedules today.

Romney and Moorefield shared the title last year.

In another game set for nearby West Virginia today, Parsons High's Panthers will play hosts to the West Virginia Industrial School at Pruntytown.

Princeton And Cornell Tied In Trophy Race

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Princeton and Cornell, undefeated and untied pace-setters of the Ivy League, were rated the week's co-leaders in eastern football by the Lambert trophy committee today.

The weekly rating had Cornell and Princeton tied with 990 points each. Villanova was third with 988, followed by Holy Cross, 987; Pennsylvania and Penn State, 985 each; Bucknell 982; Temple 981, Fordham 980 and Columbia 979.

The Lambert trophy annually goes to the mythical eastern champion.

Parilli Has Cold

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 25 (AP) — Kentucky may be without the services of Babe Parilli when its football squad meets Florida at Gainesville Saturday.

The ace Kentucky passer is in the university infirmary with a bad cold and fever.

Carver Opens Season Today

Meets Martinsburg At Penn Field At 2

Carver High School's six-man football team will open its season today, meeting Ramer Memorial High School of Martinsburg, W. Va., at 2 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field.

The local gridders, coached by Walter Crawford and Earl Redmon, will play without the services of Charles Denmark, quarterback, who suffered a fractured ankle in practice.

Maurice Darr will start at quarter and will captain the team in the lid-lifter. Earl Green and James Taylor will be the ends, Philip or Ray Taylor and Ronald Keys are the halfbacks and James Cole of Spurgeon Washington will get the call at center.

Martinsburg has won two games and lost one.

Carver defeated the West Virginia team last season.

Terps Drill Under Lights

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 25 (AP)—Maryland's unbeaten and untied football squad worked out late under the lights tonight in preparation for its game Saturday night against Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

The Terrapins leave by chartered plane tomorrow at 1 a. m. from the Washington National Airport. Coach Jim Tatum said the squad would limber up tomorrow afternoon and Saturday morning.

Maryland has played once under the lights this year, when it defeated Georgia, 43-7.

Largest nugget of gold on record was the 2,250-troy ounce Welcome Stranger, found Feb. 5, 1869, in a rut in Australia.

The Man who Cares says:
CARSTAIRS
A famous Name since 1788
CARSTAIRS White Seal
BLENDED WHISKEY
Bob Clark is a Man who Cares...
It's clear that Bob is a man who cares—for the very best:
His topcoat is a smart, swagger raglan of rugged nubby tweed, tailored by Stein-Bloch.
His hat by Dobbs is the Gamebird, a dashing new style, in glove suede finish.
His whiskey is Carstairs, whose distinguished flavor is the choice of Men who Care for the best. He finds Carstairs is extra-smooth and extra-mellow, and that it costs less than other fine whiskies.
His suggestion to you is to try Carstairs. You'll find it a better drink at a better price—so ask for it at bars and package stores now!
Bob Clark is not the name of an actual person, but is rather a type—the Man who Cares.

Brooklyn Seeks Ewell Blackwell

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — A major player trade is brewing between Brooklyn and the Cincinnati Reds whereby Ewell (The Whip) Blackwell may go to the Dodgers in exchange for one of their top-flight outfielders.

Brooklyn Vice-President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi today admitted he had discussed possible trades with Gabe Paul, new general manager of the Reds.

Bavasi added that another get-together had been scheduled between the two officials during the draft meeting in Cincinnati, Nov. 20.

The Reds reportedly asked for either Duke Snider, Carl Furillo or Andy Pafko—in that order—in return for The Whip. They reputedly were agreeable to a man-for-man swap in the case of Snider or Furillo, but demanded a pitcher to go along with Pafko.

Scherer To Start

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Herb Scherer, six-foot-nine giant from Long Island University, apparently has clinched a job with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association.

Coach Joe Lapchick, plans to start the towering West Orange, N. J. youngster in Saturday night's exhibition with the Philadelphia Warriors in Madison Square Garden.

Jackets Seek 5th PVC Win

Play At Keyser High, Ridgeley At Romney

Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets can sew up the Potomac Valley Conference championship with a perfect record today— if they defeat Keyser High School at Keyser.

Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven has won four games in the P.V.C. at the expense of Petersburg, Romney, Ridgeley and Franklin and has amassed 84 points while yielding six.

Last year Moorefield beat KHS, 47-0.

Romney High's Pioneers are hosts to Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks in the other P.V.C. game on tap for today.

Moorefield, Keyser and Ridgeley will be concluding their PVC schedules today.

Romney and Moorefield shared the title last year.

In another game set for nearby West Virginia today, Parsons High's Panthers will play hosts to the West Virginia Industrial School at Pruntytown.

Princeton And Cornell Tied In Trophy Race

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Princeton and Cornell, undefeated and untied pace-setters of the Ivy League, were rated the week's co-leaders in eastern football by the Lambert trophy committee today.

The weekly rating had Cornell and Princeton tied with 990 points each. Villanova was third with 988, followed by Holy Cross, 987; Pennsylvania and Penn State, 985 each; Bucknell 982; Temple 981, Fordham 980 and Columbia 979.

The Lambert trophy annually goes to the mythical eastern champion.

Parilli Has Cold

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 25 (AP) — Kentucky may be without the services of Babe Parilli when its football squad meets Florida at Gainesville Saturday.

The ace Kentucky passer is in the university infirmary with a bad cold and fever.

Carver Opens Season Today

Meets Martinsburg At Penn Field At 2

Carver High School's six-man football team will open its season today, meeting Ramer Memorial High School of Martinsburg, W. Va., at 2 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field.

The local gridders, coached by Walter Crawford and Earl Redmon, will play without the services of Charles Denmark, quarterback, who suffered a fractured ankle in practice.

Maurice Darr will start at quarter and will captain the team in the lid-lifter. Earl Green and James Taylor will be the ends, Philip or Ray Taylor and Ronald Keys are the halfbacks and James Cole of Spurgeon Washington will get the call at center.

Martinsburg has won two games and lost one.

Carver defeated the West Virginia team last season.

Terps Drill Under Lights

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 25 (AP) —Maryland's unbeaten and untied football squad worked out late under the lights tonight in preparation for its game Saturday night against Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

The Terrapins leave by chartered plane tomorrow at 1 a. m. from the Washington National Airport. Coach Jim Tatum said the squad would limber up tomorrow afternoon and Saturday morning.

Maryland has played once under the lights this year, when it defeated Georgia, 43-7.

Largest nugget of gold on record was the 2,250-troy ounce Welcome Stranger, found Feb. 5, 1869, in a rut in Australia.

BLENDED WHISKEY

Bob Clark is a Man who Cares...

It's clear that Bob is a man who cares—for the very best:

His topcoat is a smart, swagger raglan of rugged nubby tweed, tailored by Stein-Bloch.

His hat by Dobbs is the Gamebird, a dashing new style, in glove suede finish.

His whiskey is Carstairs, whose distinguished flavor is the choice of Men who Care for the best. He finds Carstairs is extra-smooth and extra-mellow, and that it costs less than other fine whiskies.

His suggestion to you is to try Carstairs. You'll find it a better drink at a better price – so ask for it at bars and package stores now!

Bob Clark is not the name of an actual person, but is rather a type—the Man who Cares.

Brooklyn Seeks Ewell Blackwell

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — A major player trade is brewing between Brooklyn and the Cincinnati Reds whereby Ewell (The Whip) Blackwell may go to the Dodgers in exchange for one of their top-flight outfielders.

Brooklyn Vice-President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi today admitted he had discussed possible trades with Gabe Paul, new general manager of the Reds.

Bavasi added that another get-together had been scheduled between the two officials during the draft meeting in Cincinnati, Nov. 20.

The Reds reportedly asked for either Duke Snider, Carl Furillo or Andy Pafko—in that order—in return for The Whip. They reputedly were agreeable to a man-for-man swap in the case of Snider of Furillo, but demanded a pitcher to go along with Pafko.

Scherer To Start

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Herb Scherer, six-foot-nine giant from Long Island University, apparently has clinched a job with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association.

Coach Joe Lapchick, plans to start the towering West Orange, N. J. youngster in Saturday night's exhibition with the Philadelphia Warriors in Madison Square Garden.

Louis Down To Even Money For Fight With Marciano

Heavies Meet Tonight In 10 Round Contest

BY CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (INS) — Eager backers of undefeated Rocky Marciano bet Joe Louis down to the shortest odds of his lifetime tonight on the eve of what may be the old Brown Bomber's last fight.

Still hoping for one more crack at the heavyweight title he relinquished and hasn't been able to win back, the 37-year-old Louis was down to even money for his scheduled ten-rounder against the brash, cocky Marciano at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Joe Dimly Regarded

Never before—not against Schmeling after the German defeated him nor last year against Ezzard Charles, who briskly handed him the second defeat of his 18-year career that spans nearly 200 bouts—has Louis been so dimly regarded before a fight.

The reason for this, oddly, is not Louis, for old Joe, in excellent health and trimmed to a sharp 211 pounds, impressed everyone with his work in training.

The reason is Marciano, who, many observers feel, is the first postwar fighter who can hit as hard as Louis. That is plenty hard.

Marciano, son of a Brockton, Mass., shoemaker, has ripped unbeaten through 37 straight opponents. Of the 37, he has kayoed 32. Still fresh in New Yorkers' memories is his tremendous knockout of Rex Layne earlier this year. Layne is one of only two "name" opponents to have faced Marciano so far. The other was Roland La Starza, whom Marciano decisioned.

So it evolves that if Marciano wins decisively over Louis tomorrow night, the latter plans to call it quits, finally and for good and all. He said something the other day about "sticking around as long as Walcott" does, but this was in reference more to the unhappy heavyweight situation than it was to any special prowess on the part of Jersey Joe Walcott, the present champ.

Winner May Face Champ

It's possible, indeed, that the winner of tomorrow night's fight will go right against Walcott for the title. This would involve sidetracking Charles, who lost the crown to Jersey Joe last July and theoretically should get the first return whack, but stranger things have happened.

The International Boxing Club expects a crowd of 15,000—near-capacity for the Garden—despite the telecast of the bout which goes on at 10 p. m. EST.

DiMaggio Hasn't Changed His Mind About Quitting

TOKYO, Oct. 25 (AP)—"I haven't changed my mind about quitting."

With those words, Joe DiMaggio tonight reiterated his decision to end his career as a baseball player.

The famed Yankee Clipper made his statement in an interview over the armed forces radio network. Di Maggio is touring Japan with an all-star baseball team.

DiMaggio said:

"I feel the same way about that as I did when I talked to Dan Topping in New York right after the world series. I haven't changed my mind about quitting."

They're telling a good one about Charles "Rip" Engle, the Salisbury (Pa.) native, who is now head football coach at Penn State College.

After the recent Villanova game which Penn State lost 20-14 a critic accosted "Rip" and said:

"Coach, we simply gotta find somebody who can pass that ball back to our kicker."

"The way Villanova was hitting our center, we were lucky they didn't pass him back to the kicker," Engle replied.

Bob Keller, Moorefield American Legion slugger, became a repeater when he won the Interstate Baseball League's batting championship this year with an average of .415.

In 1950 he topped the loop with a mark of .398.

Moorefield players have copped batting honors three years in a row. George Hott bagged it with a .475 in 1949.

Harold "Zip" Lorenz, whose Charles Town High School eleven plays Beall at Frostburg tomorrow, has been coaching at the Jefferson county school for 11 years.

George Ayersman had an undefeated and untied grid team at Rowlesburg High School this year. The Rivers Lions won seven games, taking Masontown into camp in the final, 13-0.

Paul Gallen has a copy of a Fort Wayne newspaper which contains a story about Paul Birch, who will coach the Zollner Pistons in the National Basketball Association this year.

Here's the paragraph that slays:

"Birch, introducing a new system isn't sure his players have adapted themselves to an almost complete changeover in basketball tactics."

Those who have seen Birch in action in All-American League games here presume the "new system" Paul is introducing at Fort Wayne consists of referee baiting, name-calling from the bench and making life miserable for all concerned.

If Birch uses the same kind of "tactics" that he was noted for in the A-A we don't think he'll stay long in the NBA.

Regardless of whether Notre Dame wins or loses on the gridiron there is more interest in the outcome of games played by the Irish than any other team in the nation.

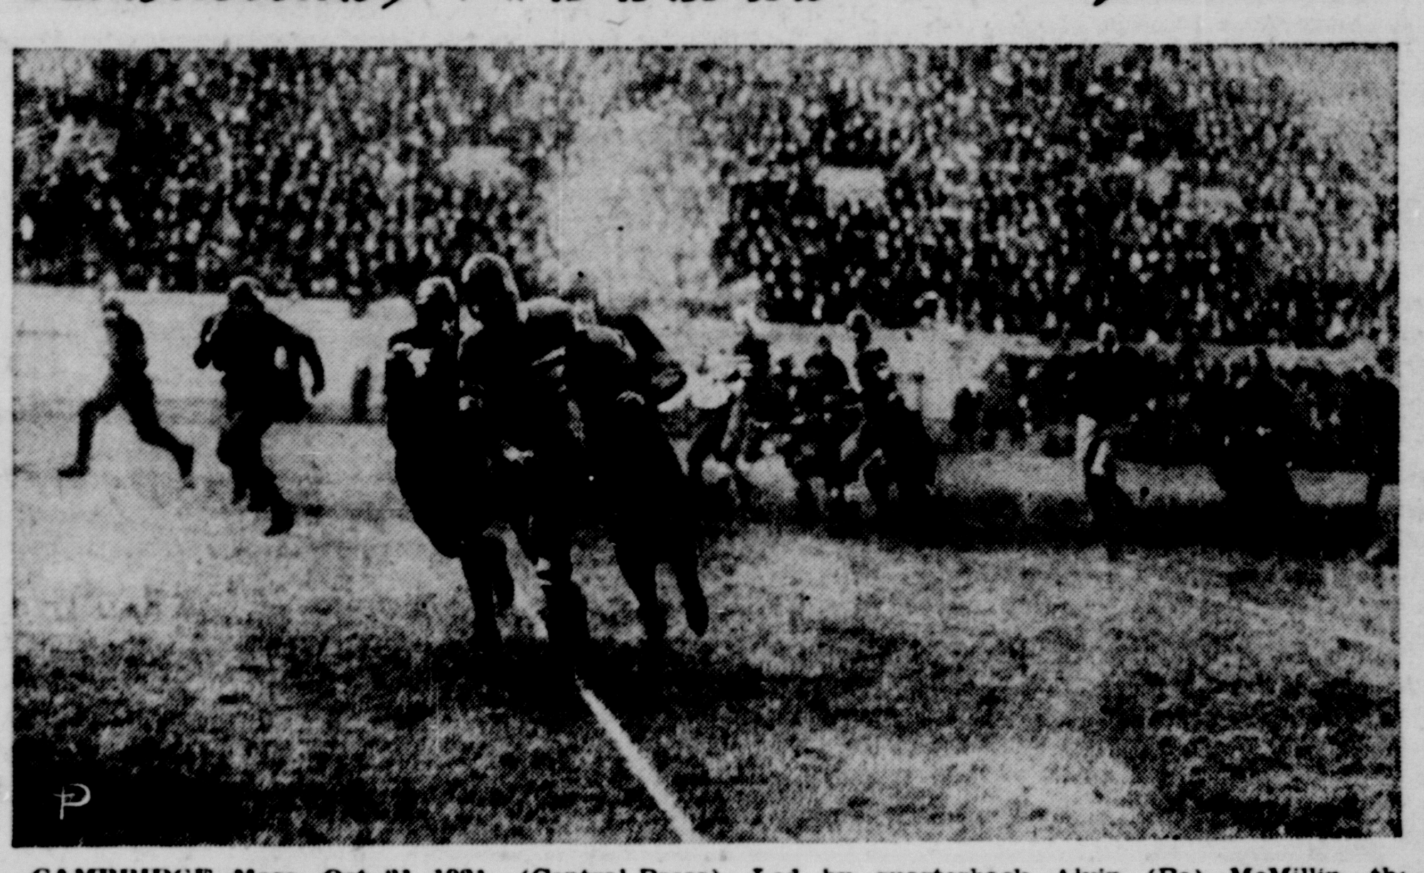
Here's the main reason.

The South Benders have captured seven national titles, have been undefeated 17 seasons and undefeated and untied 10 seasons.

Charley Strauss feels that his Accident High School soccer team, Garrett county champions for the fourth straight season, could hold its own with any team in Allegany county.

Strauss would like to line up a game or two with Allegany county teams before the season draws to a close.

FOOTBALL FLASHBACKS THAT was a game!



CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21, 1921—(Central Press)—Led by quarterback Alvin (Bo) McMillin, the Praying Colonels of little Centre college of Danville, Ky., edged mighty Harvard, 6 to 0, here today in one of the most astounding upsets in football history.

It was Harvard's first football defeat since 1916.

A crowd of 45,000 watched as Bo uncorked a 31-yard touchdown run on the fourth play of the third quarter (pictured) and then sat back stunned as the Colonels put up a tremendous defense that stopped the Crimson colder than a Back Bay dowager's snub.

Louis Down To Even Money For Fight With Marciano

Heavies Meet Tonight In 10 Round Contest

BY CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (INS) — Eager backers of undefeated Rocky Marciano bet Joe Louis down to the shortest odds of his lifetime tonight on the eve of what may be the old Brown Bomber's last fight.

Still hoping for one more crack at the heavyweight title he relinquished and hasn't been able to win back, the 37-year-old Louis was down to even money for his scheduled ten-rounder against the brash, cocky Marciano at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Joe Dimly Regarded

Never before—not against Schmeling after the German defeated him nor last year against Ezzard Charles, who briskly handed him the second defeat of his 18-year career that spans nearly 200 bouts—has Louis been so dimly regarded before a fight.

The reason for this, oddly, is not Louis, for old Joe, in excellent health and trimmed to a sharp 211 pounds, impressed everyone with his work in training.

The reason is Marciano, who, many observers feel, is the first postwar fighter who can hit as hard as Louis. That is plenty hard.

Marciano, son of a Brockton, Mass., shoemaker, has ripped unbeaten through 37 straight opponents. Of the 37, he has kayoed 32. Still fresh in New Yorkers' memories is his tremendous knockout of Rex Layne earlier this year. Layne is one of only two "name" opponents to have faced Marciano so far. The other was Roland La Starza, whom Marciano decisioned.

So it evolves that if Marciano wins decisively over Louis tomorrow night, the latter plans to call it quits, finally and for good and all. He said something the other day about "sticking around as long as Walcott" does, but this was in reference more to the unhappy heavyweight situation than it was to any special prowess on the part of Jersey Joe Walcott, the present champ.

Winner May Face Champ

It's possible, indeed, that the winner of tomorrow night's fight will go right against Walcott for the title. This would involve sidetracking Charles, who lost the crown to Jersey Joe last July and theoretically should get the first return whack, but stranger things have happened.

The International Boxing Club expects a crowd of 15,000—near-capacity for the Garden—despite the telecast of the bout which goes on at 10 p. m. EST.

DiMaggio Hasn't Changed His Mind About Quitting

TOKYO, Oct. 25 (AP)—"I haven't changed my mind about quitting."

With those words, Joe DiMaggio tonight reiterated his decision to end his career as a baseball player.

The famed Yankee Clipper made his statement in an interview over the armed forces radio network. Di Maggio is touring Japan with an all-star baseball team.

DiMaggio said:

"I feel the same way about that as I did when I talked to Dan Topping in New York right after the world series. I haven't changed my mind about quitting."

They're telling a good one about Charles "Rip" Engle, the Salisbury (Pa.) native, who is now head football coach at Penn State College.

After the recent Villanova game which Penn State lost 20-14 a critic accosted "Rip" and said:

"Coach, we simply gotta find somebody who can pass that ball back to our kicker."

"The way Villanova was hitting our center, we were lucky they didn't pass him back to the kicker," Engle replied.

Paul Gallen has a copy of a Fort Wayne newspaper which contains a story about Paul Birch, who will coach the Zollner Pistons in the National Basketball Association this year.

Here's the paragraph that slays:

"Birch, introducing a new system isn't sure his players have adapted themselves to an almost complete changeover in basketball tactics."

Those who have seen Birch in action in All-American League games here presume the "new system" Paul is introducing at Fort Wayne consists of referee baiting, name-calling from the bench and making life miserable for all concerned.

If Birch uses the same kind of "tactics" that he was noted for in the A-A we don't think he'll stay long in the NBA.

Regardless of whether Notre Dame wins or loses on the gridiron there is more interest in the outcome of games played by the Irish than any other team in the nation.

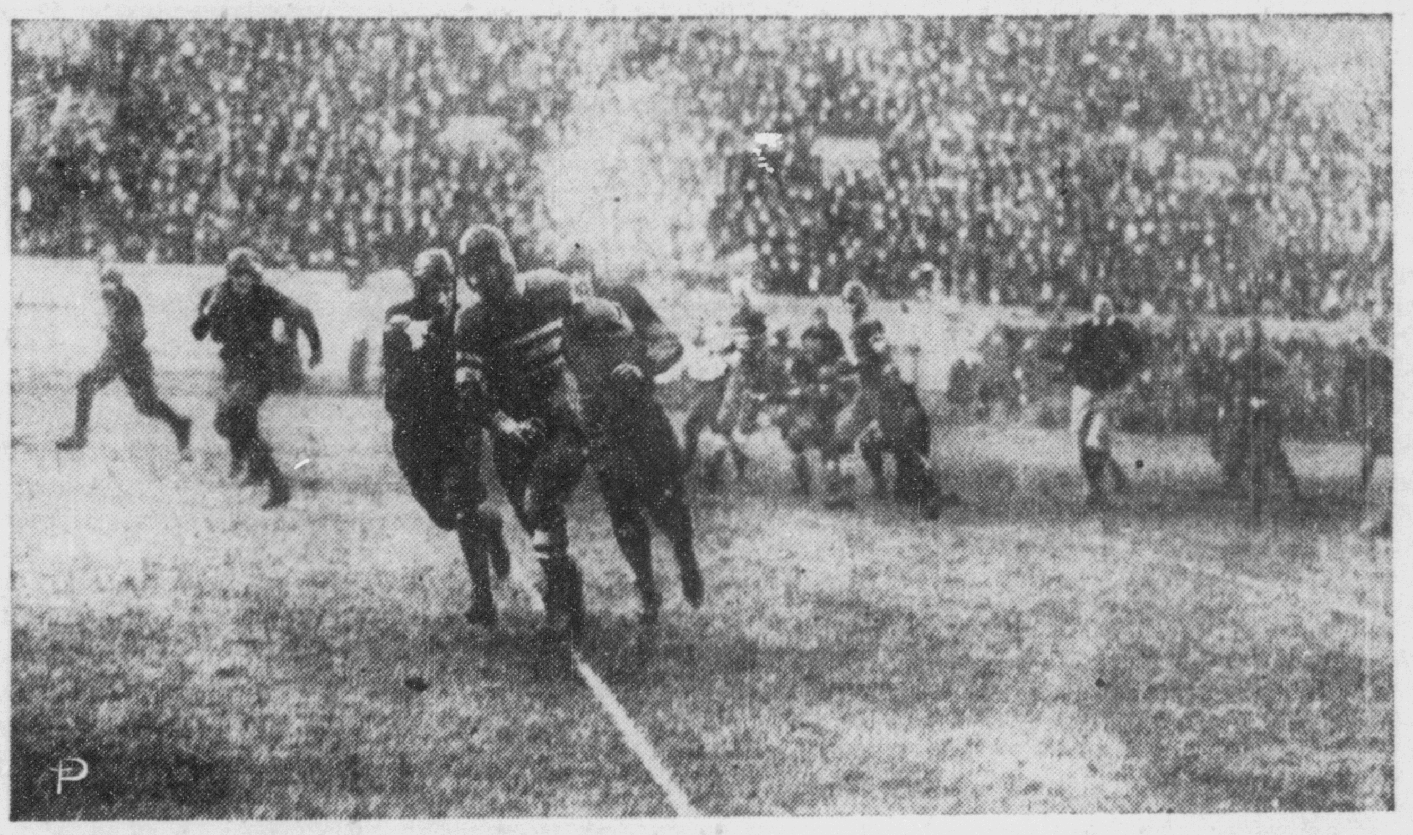
Here's the main reason.

The South Benders have captured seven national titles, have been undefeated 17 seasons and undefeated and untied 10 seasons.

Charley Strauss feels that his Accident High School soccer team, Garrett county champions for the fourth straight season, could hold its own with any team in Allegany county.

Strauss would like to line up a game or two with Allegany county teams before the season draws to a close.

FOOTBALL FLASHBACKS — THAT was a game!



CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21, 1921—(Central Press)—Led by quarterback Alvin (Bo) McMillin, the Praying Colonels of little Centre college of Danville, Ky., edged mighty Harvard, 6 to 0, here today in one of the most astounding upsets in football history.

It was Harvard's first football defeat since 1916.

A crowd of 45,000 watched as Bo uncorked a 31-yard touchdown run on the fourth play of the third quarter (pictured) and then sat back stunned as the Colonels put up a tremendous defense that stopped the Crimson colder than a Back Bay dowager's snub.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25 (INS)—While Irving Berlin has been here sunning himself at Joseph Schenck's pool, he hasn't been exactly idle. He's been talking with Arthur Freed about "Miss Liberty," and I can tell you it's as good as settled for MGM to buy Berlin's musical.

Irving Berlin

The girl Arthur wants for the role is Leslie Caron, the French actress whose first picture, "An American In Paris," is one of the best musicals ever made at MGM. It's MGM's intent to build Leslie, who just married George Hormel, III, heir to the meat fortune, to stardom.

• — • — •

Joan Leslie, who is as pretty as she was when she was at Warners, is starting a comeback. She's happily married to an up and coming doctor, and the mother of twins.

Now Joan has just made a pilot film of "The Girl From Maiden Lane," in insurance story which is intended as a series of video. She has also just finished an independent picture.

Joan feels she was badly advised on the Warner Brothers trouble she had a few years ago, and I feel, and I am sure Jack Warner who is a very kind person, agrees it shouldn't be held against her. After all, Joan was very young, and now she's a married woman, and moreover, she has ability as an actress.

Ther's a dueling scene in "Scaramouche" between Mel Ferrer and Stewart Granger which calls for a whole backdrop to fall on them. George Sidney wanted to use doubles, but the brave boys said no, they'd do it themselves.

Just in case there was an accident, a stretcher was in readiness and a doctor on the set. Before they went into the scene, Mel shook hands with Stewart and said, "Be sure and let Louella have the news first."

The scene was taken without trouble, and then George Sidney was put on the stretcher and carted off!

This I call keeping up to the minute. Dick Powell has bought the rights to "Madam President," an original story by Esther Jayne Osser, and with presidential year coming up Dick plans to have it out during the heat of the political arguments.

The story, of course, has nothing to do with Truman, Eisenhower, Taft, or other prospective candidates. It concerns a woman who becomes president through a fluke and falls in love with a newspaperman, but like all newspaper men, (and women, too) he's stubborn and he won't marry her unless she steps out of office.

Dick wants Rosalind Russell for the president, and she's the girl who can do it.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Debbie Reynolds and Carleton Carpanter, two of the most attractive youngsters in our town, holding hands at the Tallyho. Debbie worked her head off all week for the Army Auxiliary Corps, selling tickets, and, believe me, everytime I saw her she was getting results.

Billy Rose is headed for Hollywood. Why, I don't know. No, he isn't running away from his divorce suit, but maybe he should.

Gary has flown the "coop" again. This time for Boise, Idaho, on a ten-day duck hunting trip. What's more, he's promised me a wild honker if he bags one.

Tay Garnett, who is directing "The Korean Story," has ben very sick with virus flu, the same type that got Claudette Colbert, its femme star, down, and made it necessary for her to leave the picture.

Now it's Irene Wrightsman that Freddie De Cordova is beauing about. Freddie certainly plays the field.

Joan Crawford has canceled her New York vacation in favor of Hollywood. Yes, she'll do her Christmas shopping here. Did I say Christmas? Certainly. It will be here in ten weeks.

Carol Lee Ladd, Alan and Sue's pretty teen-ager, earned $10 as an usherette at a preview in Westwood—she and several other students from UCLA. Said Sue, "And she'll spend it all at the beauty parlor." Well, why not?

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Moorefield Personals

Mrs. H. G. Muntzing entertained informally Tuesday evening honoring her house guest, Mrs. C. E. Miller, of Missoula, Mont. Mrs. Muntzing was assisted by Mrs. R. S. Kuykendall, Mrs. M. A. Bean, Mrs. R. E. Fisher, Mrs. C. R. Powers and Miss Helen Leatherman. On Thursday, Mrs. Muntzing, state president of the West Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Miller state president of the Montana federation of Women's Clubs, went to Washington to attend the G. F. W. C. Board meeting and on to New York to attend the Herald Tribune Forum.

Mrs. A. C. McNeill and John McNeill, Moorefield; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lawrence, Frostburg, Md.; and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kelly, Philadelphia, spent the weekend at Lost River State Park.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

Irving Berlin

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25 (INS)—While Irving Berlin has been here sunning himself at Joseph Schenck's pool, he hasn't been exactly idle. He's been talking with Arthur Freed about "Miss Liberty," and I can tell you it's as good as settled for MGM to buy Berlin's musical.

The girl Arthur wants for the role is Leslie Caron, the French actress whose first picture, "An American In Paris," is one of the best musicals ever made at MGM. It's MGM's intent to build Leslie, who just married George Hormel, III, heir to the meat fortune, to stardom.

Joan Leslie, who is as pretty as she was when she was at Warners, is starting a comeback. She's happily married to an up and coming doctor, and the mother of twins.

Now Joan has just made a pilot film of "The Girl From Maiden Lane," in insurance story which is intended as a series of video. She has also just finished an independent picture.

Joan feels she was badly advised on the Warner Brothers trouble she had a few years ago, and I feel, and I am sure Jack Warner who is a very kind person, agrees it shouldn't be held against her. After all, Joan was very young, and now she's a married woman, and moreover, she has ability as an actress.

Ther's a dueling scene in "Scaramouche" between Mel Ferrer and Stewart Granger which calls for a whole backdrop to fall on them. George Sidney wanted to use doubles, but the brave boys said no, they'd do it themselves.

Just in case there was an accident, a stretcher was in readiness and a doctor on the set. Before they went into the scene, Mel shook hands with Stewart and said, "Be sure and let Louella have the news first."

The scene was taken without trouble, and then George Sidney was put on the stretcher and carted off!

This I call keeping up to the minute. Dick Powell has bought the rights to "Madam President," an original story by Esther Jayne Osser, and with presidential year coming up Dick plans to have it out during the heat of the political arguments.

By JOHN CROSBY

Mr. Murray Salutes The Esquire Girls

John Crosby

Ken Murray is a square-faced, large-mouthed, crew-cutted, square-rigged comedian who flourishes an enormous cigar and frequently wears a smile that stretches clear across a 14-inch screen. Everything about this refugee from California is generously proportioned and, consequently, it comes only as a mild surprise to hear he is to be extended to two and a half hours. This makes him the most extensive entertainer anywhere on evening television, over-reaching even Arthur Godfrey by a full hour.

There seems to be no question that he has the stamina to spread himself over this time allotment, having presided over a sort of continuous vaudeville show on the West Coast known as "Blackouts" for seven long years without visible wear and tear on his health. The whole thing then boils down to whether the rest of us have the stamina to endure Ken Murray for two and a half hours every week.

• — • — •

Well, he's an engaging low-pressure fellow who wears well. When he first started on CBS-TV, he was all over the place—trading badinage with other comedians, working strenuously in all the sketches and even drinking Budweiser with great zest during the commercial. Over the years he has become less obtrusive. That's the new or anti-Milton Berle trend. Stay out of the animal acts. You'll live longer.

The contemporary Ken Murray trades a few jokes, generally of a rather special wolfish nature, with his guests and leers at the pretty girls. There is quite a lot of leering going on in television, but Murray, with his vast countenance, has a leer that outreaches anyone else's and could in a pinch throw a shudder into a girl in the second balcony.

On last Saturday's effort, there were more girls to leer at than Mr. Murray has ever had around before. Virtually the whole show was given over to sounding the klaxon for "Esquire" magazine, especially "Esquire's calendar girls." I expect everyone now knows what the "Esquire" calendar is and that each month is adorned by a long-legged lass in various attitudes of abandon. Well, they had all 12 of them there—some of them the originals, others reproductions of the originals—and each one simpered her way through a little poesy to the effect that she adored men, especially men who bought her diamonds.

"This," said a young lady who happened to be watching the same exhibit at the time, "is going to set women back 400 years."

It sounded like one of the most elaborate magazine tie-ins of all time. The magazine-television tie-in: you give a comedian a full page spread in color; he responds with wild praise over the air for your magazine. But it wasn't. At least, "Esquire" claims that Mr. Murray's enthusiasm for the magazine, especially its calendar girls, was entirely spontaneous and that the magazine's retort to this hour-long tribute would be only a small plug for Mr. Murray on the editorial page: "Nobody reads the editorial page," said the managing editor of that magazine glumly, "except my mother."

Apart from all the pulchritude—and, believe me, unrelieved pulchritude can get awfully monotonous—the Murray show was and usually is a relaxed and expert operation which never pounds at your ears as do so many of the others. One unique feature is a weekly serious dramatic sketch plopped right in the middle of the buffoonery, an idea that has stood up well. In last week's, a young lady running away from life and men, takes refuge with Josephine Hull, who had locked the door against such intrusions 19 years earlier. After a session together full of psychiatric allusions to their childhoods, the two girls decided they were being silly and returned to the bearpit to face Life and Men. Well, there have been more sensible ones and starting next week the sketches will be written by three of radio's top writers—Arch Oboler, Norman Corwin and Jean Holloway.

• — • — •

While the "Esquire" salute was not a tie-in, Mr. Murray is not above tie-ins here and there. BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

GOOD IDEA OVERDONE

EVEN the best idea becomes bad if you overdo it. That is the case with the practice of many fine players, who like to respond with a new suit, despite a safe fit with the first one, when they have an amount of total assets which aggregates "to much for a single raise and not quite enough for a double raise that would compel an eventual game contract." But by overdoing this, they sometimes give to the defenders information which results in the defeat of a contract that would be made if the opposition had been kept in the dark through mere bidding of the one suit.

West said after this deal that he would have led a diamond if North had bid 3-Hearts as his first response and then South 4-Hearts. But, after the 2-Clubs caused South to show his diamonds, West chose the unbid suit, the spade A and thereby beat the contract. East gave him the encouraging 8, and a lead to the J was followed by the K to fell the Q. Good defense on the next play proved decisive. East led the thirteenth spade, which assured the defense a trump trick. South discarded his low diamond and West put in his 9—a play called "the uppercut"—forcing the 10 from dummy. That made it impossible to shut East out of a trump trick, no matter what South did, and that trick beat the game.

West told South then that the diamond lead he would have made against straight heart bidding would have enabled South to discard two spades on that suit and then, by finessing clubs and ruffing one, set up two club winners so that nothing would have been lost except one trick in spades. In other words, North's response of 2-Clubs, instead of either an underbid 2-Hearts or a slightly overbid 3-Hearts, cost his side three tricks.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Mr. Murray Salutes The Esquire Girls

Ken Murray is a square-faced, large-mouthed, crew-cutted, square-rigged comedian who flourishes an enormous cigar and frequently wears a smile that stretches clear across a 14-inch screen. Everything about this refugee from California is generously proportioned and, consequently, it comes only as a mild surprise to hear he is to be extended to two and a half hours. This makes him the most extensive entertainer anywhere on evening television, over-reaching even Arthur Godfrey by a full hour.

John Crosby

There seems to be no question that he has the stamina to spread himself over this time allotment, having presided over a sort of continuous vaudeville show on the West Coast known as "Blackouts" for seven long years without visible wear and tear on his health. The whole thing then boils down to whether the rest of us have the stamina to endure Ken Murray for two and a half hours every week.

•—•—•

Well, he's an engaging low-pressure fellow who wears well. When he first started on CBS-TV, he was all over the place—trading badinage with other comedians, working strenuously in all the sketches and even drinking Budweiser with great zest during the commercial. Over the years he has become less obtrusive. That's the new or anti-Milton Berle trend. Stay out of the animal acts. You'll live longer.

The contemporary Ken Murray trades a few jokes, generally of a rather special wolfish nature, with his guests and leers at the pretty girls. There is quite a lot of leering going on in television, but Murray, with his vast countenance, has a leer that outreaches anyone else's and could in a pinch throw a shudder into a girl in the second balcony.

On last Saturday's effort, there were more girls to leer at than Mr. Murray has ever had around before. Virtually the whole show was given over to sounding the klaxon for "Esquire" magazine, especially "Esquire's calendar girls." I expect everyone now knows what the "Esquire" calendar is and that each month is adorned by a long-legged lass in various attitudes of abandon. Well, they had all 12 of them there—some of them the originals, others reproductions of the originals—and each one simpered her way through a little poesy to the effect that she adored men, especially men who bought her diamonds.

"This," said a young lady who happened to be watching the same exhibit at the time, "is going to set women back 400 years."

It sounded like one of the most elaborate magazine tie-ins of all time. The magazine-television tie-in: you give a comedian a full page spread in color; he responds with wild praise over the air for your magazine. But it wasn't. At least, "Esquire" claims that Mr. Murray's enthusiasm for the magazine, especially its calendar girls, was entirely spontaneous and that the magazine's retort to this hour-long tribute would be only a small plug for Mr. Murray on the editorial page: "Nobody reads the editorial page," said the managing editor of that magazine glumly, "except my mother."

Apart from all the pulchritude—and, believe me, unrelieved pulchritude can get awfully monotonous—the Murray show was and usually is a relaxed and expert operation which never pounds at your ears as do so many of the others. One unique feature is a weekly serious dramatic sketch plopped right in the middle of the buffoonery, an idea that has stood up well. In last week's, a young lady running away from life and men, takes refuge with Josephine Hull, who had locked the door against such intrusions 19 years earlier. After a session together full of psychiatric allusions to their childhoods, the two girls decided they were being silly and returned to the bearpit to face Life and Men. Well, there have been more sensible ones and starting next week the sketches will be written by three of radio's top writers—Arch Oboler, Norman Corwin and Jean Holloway.

While the "Esquire" salute was not a tie-in, Mr. Murray is not above tie-ins here and there. During the commercial, Sherman Billingsley dropped by to scratch the back of Mr. Murray's sponsor, Budweiser, while Mr. Murray scratched the back of Mr. Billingsley's sponsor, Fatima—both of them puffing, sipping and scratching as if they had three arms. As commercials go, it wasn't bad, but I still prefer the Budweiser horses — massive, august animals who are easily the most dignified and impressive things ever to appear on my television set.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

GOOD IDEA OVERDONE

EVEN the best idea becomes bad if you overdo it. That is the case with the practice of many fine players, who like to respond with a new suit, despite a safe fit with the first one, when they have an amount of total assets which aggregates "to much for a single raise and not quite enough for a double raise that would compel an eventual game contract." But by overdoing this, they sometimes give to the defenders information which results in the defeat of a contract that would be made if the opposition had been kept in the dark through mere bidding of the one suit.

North: ♠ Q 9 5 ♥ J 10 7 2 ♦ 4 ♣ A Q 8 5 4
West: ♠ A 7 3 ♥ 9 3 ♦ J 9 7 5 3 ♣ K 10 2
East: ♠ K J 8 4 ♥ Q 8 6 ♦ 10 8 2 ♣ 9 7 3
South: ♠ 10 6 2 ♥ A K 5 4 ♦ A K Q 6 ♣ J 6

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	2 ♦	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	4 ♥

West said after this deal that he would have led a diamond if North had bid 3-Hearts as his first response and then South 4-Hearts. But, after the 2-Clubs caused South to show his diamonds, West chose the unbid suit, the spade A and thereby beat the contract. East gave him the encouraging 8, and a lead to the J was followed by the K to fell the Q. Good defense on the next play proved decisive. East led the thirteenth spade, which assured the defense a trump trick. South discarded his low diamond and West put in his 9—a play called "the uppercut"—forcing the 10 from dummy. That made it impossible to shut East out of a trump trick, no matter what South did, and that trick beat the game.

West told South then that the diamond lead he would have made against straight heart bidding would have enabled South to discard two spades on that suit and then, by finessing clubs and ruffing one, set up two club winners so that nothing would have been lost except one trick in spades. In other words, North's response of 2-Clubs, instead of either an underbid 2-Hearts or a slightly overbid 3-Hearts, cost his side three tricks.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ A 3 ♥ A 7 4 ♦ Q J 10 7 5 ♣ K 10 6
West: ♠ 7 ♥ Q 10 5 ♦ A 9 4 3 ♣ J 8 7 4 2
East: ♠ 10 6 4 ♥ K 8 2 ♦ 8 6 2 ♣ A Q 9 3
South: ♠ K Q J 9 8 5 2 ♥ J 9 6 3 ♦ K ♣ 5

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If South bids 3-Spades, North 3-No Trumps and South 4-Spades, how can the defense figure out its best plan of campaign?

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of my Mother, Mrs. Ida B. Robinette, who passed away four years ago today, October 26, 1947.

What is home without a mother?
Of one so dearly loved by all,
But when we lost you, dearest mother,
We lost our truest friend.
We saw you fading like a flower,
But could not make you stay,
For us she always did her best,
Now, dear Lord, grant her Eternal Rest.

Sadly missed by her daughter,
MARIAN EVANS

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of my Mother, Mrs. Ida B. Robinette, who passed away four years ago today, October 26, 1947.

What is home without a mother?
Of one so dearly loved by all,
But when we lost you, dearest mother,
We lost our truest friend.
We saw you fading like a flower,
But could not make you stay,
For us she always did her best,
Now, dear Lord, grant her Eternal Rest.

Sadly missed by her daughter,
MARIAN EVANS

Stock Prices Slip Lower In Slow Market Session

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) —Prices slipped lower today in the stock market in the slowest session in two weeks.

After the market closed, Bethlehem Steel declared a $1 dividend bringing 1951 payments to $4 as against $4.10 a year ago.

Earnings in the third quarter came to $1.76 a share as against $3.33 a year ago, and nine months profits for $6.50 a share as compared with $8.96 last year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 50 cents at $97.00 with industrials off 50 cents, railroads 70 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

Volume at 1,360,000 shares was the lowest since Oct. 10. Yesterday's total was 1,670,000 shares. There were 1,116 individual issues traded of which 270 advanced and 602 declined with nine new highs and 25 new lows reached during the day.

Robert Gair was the day's most active issue up ⅛ at 19⅛, one of three stocks advancing among the 15 most active. It was followed by American Airlines unchanged at 15⅛, Spiegel Inc. off 1⅜ at 10⅜, Radio Corp. off ⅛ at 22⅝, and Socony-Vacuum off ½ at 34 12.

Fairbanks Morse was up 2¾ at 55¼ after directors proposed a two for one split.

Belding Heminwy lost 1⅜ at 14⅞ after a dividend of 25 cents was declared as compared with 35 cents previously paid quarterly.

Corn Products declined 1¼ at 68¼ on a lower earnings report. Baltimore & Ohio, 12th most active issue, resisted the lower trend in the rail section with a gain of ¼ at 20. Western Maryland Railway liberalized its dividend action on its seven per cent cumulative preferred which is better than 94 per cent owned by B&O.

Stock Prices Slip Lower In Slow Market Session

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) —Prices slipped lower today in the stock market in the slowest session in two weeks.

After the market closed, Bethlehem Steel declared a $1 dividend bringing 1951 payments to $4 as against $4.10 a year ago.

Earnings in the third quarter came to $1.76 a share as against $3.33 a year ago, and nine months profits for $6.50 a share as compared with $8.96 last year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 50 cents at $97.00 with industrials off 50 cents, railroads 70 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

Volume at 1,360,000 shares was the lowest since Oct. 10. Yesterday's total was 1,670,000 shares. There were 1,116 individual issues traded of which 270 advanced and 602 declined with nine new highs and 25 new lows reached during the day.

Robert Gair was the day's most active issue up ⅛ at 19⅛, one of three stocks advancing among the 15 most active. It was followed by American Airlines unchanged at 15⅛, Spiegel Inc. off 1⅜ at 10⅜, Radio Corp. off ⅛ at 22⅝, and Socony-Vacuum off ½ at 34 12.

Fairbanks Morse was up 2¾ at 55¼ after directors proposed a two for one split.

Belding Heminwy lost 1⅜ at 14⅞ after a dividend of 25 cents was declared as compared with 35 cents previously paid quarterly.

Corn Products declined 1¼ at 68¼ on a lower earnings report. Baltimore & Ohio, 12th most active issue, resisted the lower trend in the rail section with a gain of ¼ at 20. Western Maryland Railway liberalized its dividend action on its seven per cent cumulative preferred which is better than 94 per cent owned by B&O.

Lawyers Argue For New Trial For Beeman

Judge Henderson Requests Affidavits

Attorneys for Noah Earl Beeman, 24-year old Midland man who was convicted October 18 of first degree murder by a Circuit Court jury, yesterday were closeted with Associate Judge George Henderson in the latter's office for about 45 minutes arguing their motion for a new trial for the accused.

Judge Henderson said after the session that he has not yet taken any action on the motion.

Attorneys Present

Present in the judge's office with him during the argument were Beeman's attorneys, Earl E. Manges and Thomas N. Berry, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, his assistant, William H. Geppert, and Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis.

Manges and Berry were instructed to present affidavits to Judge Henderson to substantiate their argument.

It is understood that the defense attorneys, in their motion for a new trial, have taken issue with the testimony of Betty Lancaster, 18, Shaft, a niece of Mrs. Donna Airhart Beeman, the defendant's wife, whom he has been convicted of murdering August 12.

Talked At Fire Hall

The Lancaster girl had testified that she talked with Beeman outside the Barton Fire Hall about 10 p. m. August 11.

During the conversation, she said, Beeman showed her a penknife and told her he was going to use it for a "very special" purpose. She added that Beeman then placed the knife on a window sill at the Fire Hall as their conversation continued.

The state gave considerable emphasis to Miss Lancaster's testimony in an effort to show that the slaying was premeditated.

Manges and Berry contend that as late as last Sunday there was a screen over the window in question and Beeman could not possibly have placed the knife in the sill, which was blocked off by the screen.

Pa. Turnpike Extension To Open In Month

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said it is aiming at opening the remainder of its new western extension of the state's toll road before the end of November.

A spokesman said that although no opening date had been announced the Commission had hopes earlier of completing the final 57 miles to the Ohio border by November 1.

Weather conditions however, are hampering the paving job now under way, he said. A brief strike by cement workers and carpenters also held up the job a bit.

Labor troubles are handled entirely by contractors working the various stretches of the road assigned to them on bid.

The spokesman said the current rain in the western part of Pennsylvania can be expected to be followed by possible worse weather conditions at this time of the year.

The first ten miles of the western extension were opened during the summer. These stretch from Irwin, the old western terminus of the giant dual highway, to the new Pittsburgh interchange.

On completion of the remainder of the extension, traffic will be channeled into Ohio, near Petersburg, some 10 miles from Youngstown.

From the Ohio border to King of Prussia, the eastern terminus, near Philadelphia, the road will run 327 miles.

Legislation to extend the highway further to the Delaware River to join with the New Jersey Turnpike now nearing completion already has been approved and signed by Governor John S. Fine.

Optical Workers Vote For Union

Employes of the White-Haines Optical Company have voted 7 to 0 for representation by the Optical Workers Union.

The unanimous vote was cast in a National Labor Relations Board election here Tuesday.

They will be represented by Pittsburgh Local 18820 of the AFL union.

Collection Day CHUCKLES

"You're wasting time, dear. I used all the change to pay our paper boy this evening. You've put him off so many times."

City To Present Plan For Closing Rail Crossing

Alternate Proposal Presented To Council

The City of Cumberland will open discussions soon with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on a proposed plan for the closing of the Williams Street crossing.

The Mayor and Council have asked W. Earle Cobey, city attorney, to confer with C. T. Williams, division superintendent, on the plans.

Cobey will present a proposal made by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission under which the city would grant permission to close the crossing upon payment of the capitalization of the cost of maintaining the crossing. The sum would be earmarked for the city's share for future traffic improvement.

Commissioner John J. Long suggested Monday that Cobey discuss with the railroad the possibilities of using the George Street freight station for city parking facilities.

Mayor Thomas S. Post has urged that an alternate plan for closing three railroad crossings and replacing them with an overhead bridge be considered.

He was informed by City Engineer William H. Marean that no plans for that project have been submitted.

J. T. Defibaugh, who advocated the plan, yesterday supplied the mayor with a plan for the ground layout and said he will furnish proposed plans for the bridge as soon as possible.

Defibaugh's layout plans were turned over to the City Engineer for study yesterday afternoon.

Seek Damages

At Monday's Council meeting Calvin and Dorothy Mardorff informed the council they had asked George and Lynch, flood control contractors, to arrange for settlement of damages to property they own at 319-321 Beall Street. The letter was referred to the liaison engineer, John Coleman.

The council was invited to participate in the Armistice Day parade here November 12 by Thomas F. Conlon, parade marshal.

Cumberland Aerie, No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, sent 20 tickets to the council for its Damon Runyon Cancer Fund dance on October 27 and its appeal was referred to Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

The Optimist Club asked the council to contribute any old furniture the city had to its clubroom for underprivileged on the third floor of the Legion Home. The Mayor said "this is a worthwhile idea" and referred the request to Mrs. Roeder.

The Game and Inland Fish Commission in a letter thanked the council for the use of City Hall auditorium during its recent hearing here and said it was one of the best and most immaculate places in which it has met.

This drew from Mayor Post a compliment for Mrs. Roeder whose efforts have made the renovation of the auditorium and council chambers reality.

Commissioner John J. Long asked that the council proclaim the week of October 28-November 3 as "Safety Week." The council agreed.

The Seventh Day Adventist Church asked permission to play sacred music on the streets from 7 to 9 three nights a week until Christmas. The request was referred to City Attorney W. Earle Cobey.

Geoffrey O'Hara To Present Unique Program On Music

Geoffrey O'Hara, nationally-known composer of operettas and songs, will present an unique program of words and music at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday in Allegany High School auditorium in the first of four programs planned this season by the Cumberland Choral Society.

Jack Platt, director of the Choral Society, said yesterday O'Hara will be augmented by Fort Hill and Allegany High School singers who are members of the Senior High School Chorus. For the finale there will be about 200 voices.

No admission will be charged for the unusual musical program. An offering will be taken.

Born in Chatham, Ontario in 1882, O'Hara has been a naturalized citizen in the United States since 1919.

His first success as a composer came in 1913 when Caruso sang his "Your Eyes Have Told Me" and Al Jolson featured his "Tennessee."

Through the years he has composed 150 songs. He now lives in Pawling, N. Y.

Hyndman Seeks Elimination Of Rail Crossing

Joint Action Is Planned Soon

Hyndman, Pa., may register a complaint with the Public Utilities Commission in a campaign to eliminate a dangerous railroad crossing in that Bedford County community.

A delegation is slated to meet in Hyndman on the proposal within a few days.

John S. May, president of the Borough Council, said residents hope to correct the situation with the construction of an undergrade or overpass by the Pennsylvania State Highway Department.

The action will be taken in the name of the Borough Council, the Joint School District and the Bedford County Automobile Association. Besides May, the group is composed of H. M. Carpenter, principal of Londonderry School, E. J. Leap and J. M. Cook, retired B. and O. engineer.

Ask Prompt Action

Tuesday, the delegation presented a request for immediate action on the crossing to C. R. Forbes, chief engineer for the five-county area which includes Bedford county, and A. C. Snyder, assistant district engineer and N. E. Bartholomew, superintendent of Bedford county highways. Fred S. Sammel and Ross C. Brown, president and vice-president of the Automobile Association, also attended the session, supporting the Hyndman group in their request for action.

The crossing, which has been a subject of distress to residents of the area for many years, is "guarded" by an automobile blinker system which goes on as a train approaches in either direction. Formerly, a watchman directed traffic at the crossing.

Leap, spokesman for the petitioners, outlined the problem briefly.

The Weather

Yesterday was a clear, cool day with a cheerful sun. Temperatures reached the mid-60s and a fresh breeze swept the city most of the day. The Weather Bureau predicts warmer and scattered showers likely for today. The high temperature reported by the weather station at Constitution Park was 65 degrees, the low was 48, and at 8 p. m. the mercury leveled at 49 degrees. Humidity was below normal yesterday with a reading of 43 per cent.

Action Finally Results From Grand Jury Report

It may take time, but recommendations contained in grand jury reports in Allegany County sometimes are fulfilled.

Yesterday, for instance, James Gorner, a carpenter for the George Construction Company, was busy at the Court House lowering the step leading into the men's room at the end of the second floor corridor.

The grand jury report returned October 9 contained one especially pointed paragraph. It said:

"We wish to call to the attention of the county commissioners that the step in the men's room adjoining the small court room on the second floor has not been lowered in accordance with the request of the previous grand jury."

Class Rooms Being Added To State Armory

Guardsmen Provide Volunteer Work

Headquarters and "C" companies, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, are building three class rooms and other additions to the State Armory.

Officers said work is being done at a minimum cost to the taxpayers.

Lt. Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., public information officer, said all work is being done by volunteer guardsmen and officers who are constructing the project in their spare time.

Major Robert Matlick, Armory custodian, arranged the project with the Maryland Military Department by acquiring materials amounting to $400 with the understanding that work was to be done by volunteers.

Lt. Hensell Made Plans

The general design layout for the work was planned by Lt. John D. Hensell, commanding officer of Headquarters Company.

The blueprints include three class rooms, 14 by 23 feet, to be built at the rear of the basement next to the rifle range, and a projection room 23 by 30 feet in size allowing 690 square feet of space for use of the new viewgraph training aid. Locker rooms also will be built.

Lt. Hensell said the project will include an area to be used for recreation by members of the two companies.

He pointed out that the Armory was built to accommodate only one company, and that all available space will be utilized for use by both companies.

Will Save Money

Lt. Hensell estimated that the cost of approximately 500 man hours will be saved on the project. Many of the guardsmen are qualified to do most of the skilled jobs such as electrical wiring, he said.

Work on the building is scheduled for completion in late November. In celebration, the two companies are planning to hold an open house and public demonstration.

CROSS INSTALLATION COMPLETED—A 14-foot stainless steel cross has been installed atop the steeple of Centre Street Methodist Church. Of Latin design, the circle through the cross arms denotes the symbol of the Perfect Saviour, Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor, said last night. Workmen can be seen above pulling the cross toward the top of the church. The steeple is being reslated and work including other general repairs is scheduled to be completed next week. The work is being done by the Limbach Company of Pittsburgh, Pa. The tip of the cross rises about 175 feet above the ground.

Jury Acquits Dennis Koontz Of Burglary

South Cumberland Man Wins Freedom

Dennis Warnard Koontz, young South Cumberland man, was acquitted yesterday afternoon by an Allegany County Circuit Court jury on a charge of statutory burglary of Hiner's Market at 117 Virginia Avenue.

Verl Ash, mayor of Midland and foreman of the jury, announced the verdict after the jury had deliberated only about 30 minutes.

Circumstantial Evidence

The state presented a case against Koontz based largely on circumstantial evidence.

Police Officer E. P. Law testified that he saw Koontz coming out of an alley near Hiner's Market about 2 a. m. April 11, the day that the market was burglarized. Police Lt. James E. Van was called to the scene and they found that Koontz had a screwdriver and putty knife in his possession. However they did not place any charge against the man.

Window Removed

Frank J. Hiner, operator of the market, called police headquarters about 8 a. m. to report that a storage room at the rear of the store had been burglarized. A pane of glass had been removed from a rear window to enable the intruder to enter the place. The store itself was not entered and nothing was taken.

Detective Lt. Edwin R. Lilya said he questioned Koontz and took a red-handled screwdriver and putty knift from him. Lilya submitted a report at the trial which he had received from the FBI Laboratory in Washington, where he took the screwdriver, the pane of glass and the window with the pane of glass missing. This had been done on April 19.

"Several impressions in putty on the window frame, where the pane of glass was removed, were made by a screwdriver having a bit width identical with that of a red-handled screwdriver that had been taken from Koontz. It was concluded that these impressions were either made by a bit of the red-handled screwdriver or a similar tool having a bit the same size and shape and with the same amount of wear," the report read.

The only state witnesses were the three policemen and Hiner. Earl E. Manges, Koontz's attorney, called Mrs. Betty Lee, the defendant's sister; his wife and William E. Lawyer, his employer, as defense witnesses. Koontz did not take the witness stand.

A hearing on a charge of failing to comply with a Health Department order to abate a nuisance leveled against a Corriganville man Wednesday in Trial Magistrates Court was continued for one week by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Health Department officials said Homer Suder, Corriganville, was maintaining a health hazard by keeping some 180 turkeys, seven sows, 34 small pigs, two cows and 35 chickens on a 150 by 250 foot plot of ground in the rear of a Corriganville church.

Witnesses for the Health Department were J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian; Blaine Robinette, county sanitarian, Mrs. Harry Martz and Mrs. J. H. Thompson, Corriganville.

The hearing was delayed after Suder asked to be represented by counsel.

IN QUEEN'S COURT — Miss Colleen Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burke, 10 Fifth Street, has been named a member of the court of Queen Elinor, who will be crowned today at the homecoming festival of West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W. Va. Miss Burke, a former Fort Hill High School student, is a senior at the West Virginia college. Miss Elinor May Banks of Norwalk, Conn., will reign as queen for the two-day festival.

Navy Will Not Recall Reserve Korea Veterans

Men May Transfer To Active Reserve

Naval Reservists separated from continuous active duty since June 25, 1950, and who became members of the Organized Reserve will not be ordered to active duty without their consent except in time of war or national emergency, Lt. Cdr. W. E. Woodson, Jr., local inspector-instructor, said yesterday.

Commander Woodson said that this announcement establishes the policy of the Navy Department not to order involuntarily to active duty for periods over 30 days any Naval Reservist who was separated from active duty as a regular or reservist in any of the armed services since 25, 1950.

He said Naval Reserve personnel in this category may transfer to the Organized Reserve if they meet the prescribed standards.

In their interest of obtaining balanced rating and pay grade enrollment to fill allowances in the Organized Reserve program, the Fifth Naval District has established a priority system for accepting would-be members.

The priority schedule includes (1) former members of the Organized Reserve who are released from active service, (2) volunteer reserve personnel desiring transfer to organized status, (3) personnel being discharged from the regular Navy who desire to enlist in the Organized Reserve, and (4) new recruits.

Telephone Rate Increase Would Benefit AT & T

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP)—A telephone rate increase in Maryland means more money for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Public Service Commission was told today.

R. M. Fowler, auditor for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, told the PSC that A. T. & T. gets 1 per cent of the gross revenue of the C. & P. under their license contract.

Fowler was under cross-examination at a PSC hearing on a request by the C. & P. for authority to charge higher rates.

Donald Schwab, assistant city solicitor for Baltimore, asked Fowler whether, in event the C. & P. got a rate increase, its payments to A. T. & T. also would increase.

"Yes," answered Fowler, "unless the rate of payments were reduced."

"If the rate increase were refused to the C. & P. Company," Schwab continued, "there would be no variation in the type of service rendered by A. T. & T.?"

Fowler said that there would be no difference if only the Maryland company were involved. But if the same thing happened to a number of other operating companies, "altogether it would be very serious, indeed."

TWUA Seeks Contract With Cleaning Firm

Negotiations are in progress between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), and Harry Footer and Company, Playford Aldridge, union president, announced yesterday.

He said the some 40 employes of the cleaning and pressing firm will become a sub-local of Local 1874.

Members of the negotiating committee are Ruth Bowman, Dorothy Lookenott, Shirley Keyser and Dolores Ebert, for the sub-local; Aldridge, Howard Bush, vice president, and Leslie J. Clark.

S. A. Advisory Board Will Meet Today

The Salvation Army Advisory Board will meet today at 12:15 p.m. in Central YMCA to plan the Army's winter program.

Business will include announcement of Christmas committees, naming of a nominating committee and plans for fall and winter activities. Major Elmer Wall, commander, urged all members to be present at the meeting.

Rieve, Baldanzi To Attend TWUA Anniversary Here

Dinner, Dance To Mark 15th Birthday

Top officers of the Textile Workers Union of America may get a chance to present their viewpoints on intra-union policies when Celanese Local 1874, TWUA-CIO, celebrates its 15th anniversary here next month.

Both Emil Rieve, general president, and George Baldanzi, executive vice president, have accepted invitations to attend the birthday party of the largest single unit in the TWUA here.

The dinner, to be held November 28 at 6:30 p.m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, will offer each of the top TWUA leaders a chance to report to the membership of a local union their exact views on the policies which have kept them at odds since May, 1950.

Well Known Here

Both are well known to most of the 4,600 members of the Celanese union and have visited here on one or more occasions.

Baldanzi has called for "democratization of the union," claiming that Rieve tried to "purge" him at last year's convention and declared in July he will insist upon a democratization "from top to bottom" of the 400,000 member union at its convention in Cleveland next April.

Rieve has steadfastly insisted that the Textile Workers Union is democratic.

The 15th anniversary celebration will conclude with a dance Thursday, November 29 at 9 p.m. at the Clary Club.

Top Officials Invited

Playford Aldridge, president, said the local has sent invitations to 31 national TWUA officers, Executive Board members and field representatives who are former members of Local 1874.

Plans for the celebration are in charge of the special activities committee, headed by John G. Kreitzburg.

The Celanese local was formed here in December 1936, as Local 1874, Industrial Union, United Textile Workers of America (AFL) and switched to the CIO fold under the Textile Workers Organizing Committee in 1937.

It became part of the TWUA on May 8, 1939, when that CIO union was organized.

Big Delegation To Attend State PTA Convention

Annual Meeting Is Planned Nov. 1-2

A large delegation from Allegany County will attend the 36th annual convention of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers which will be held in Hagerstown November 1 and 2.

Attending will be Mrs. John Lancaster, state treasurer; Mrs. Edward Wilson, state by-laws chairman; Mrs. Stanley Buckley, character and spiritual education chairman; Miss Margaret Jones, college coordinator, and Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, county council president, who is chairman of the state election committee.

All of the above are state PTA board members as well as members of the Allegany County Council executive board.

Mrs. R. C. Lord, a member of the county council executive board and vice president of Mt. Royal PTA, will be accompanist for George Campbell, who will lead group singing at the annual conclave.

To Represent Board

Other members of the county executive board who will attend are Mrs. Lester Reed, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Walter Bell, Columbia Street; Mrs. Ralph Isiminger and Mrs. Robert Babst, West Side; Mrs. Edgar Hounshell and Mrs. Lester McGill, Cresaptown. Mrs. McGill is also vice president of the State Local Presidents' Club.

Three representatives of the Board of Education office will attend the Friday afternoon and evening session and the fellowship dinner. They are Miss Winifred Green, Miss Mildred Willison and Miss Esther Carter.

A number of Allegany County school principals will attend the fellowship dinner November 2 in order to hear Salom Rizk speak on "Our Children's Heritage, A Secure World."

Will Send Delegates

A majority of the county PTA organizations are sending delegates to all the sessions and others are sending delegates for one day.

Mrs. Lester Haugh, of Oldtown School PTA, will attend as a delegate of the County Council to represent the county schools and Mrs. Julius Johnson, of John Humbird School PTA, will be the Cumberland school delegate.

Theme of the two-day meeting in the Alexander Hotel will be "Our Citadels of Security—Home, School and Church."

Enlist In Air Force

Three area men were sent to Martinsburg, W. Va. yesterday for enlistment in the U. S. Air Force, according to M/Sgt. Clarence Biehn, local recruiter.

They include Pete G. Dendrinos, 23, 607 Bedford Street; Charles J. Schramm, 20, and Roy L. Cutter, 20, both of Frostburg. They will be sent to Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y., for basic training.

Lawyers Argue For New Trial For Beeman

Judge Henderson Requests Affidavits

Attorneys for Noah Earl Beeman, 24-year old Midland man who was convicted October 18 of first degree murder by a Circuit Court jury, yesterday were closeted with Associate Judge George Henderson in the latter's office for about 45 minutes arguing their motion for a new trial for the accused.

Judge Henderson said after the session that he has not yet taken any action on the motion.

Attorneys Present

Present in the judge's office with him during the argument were Beeman's attorneys, Earl E. Manges and Thomas N. Berry, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, his assistant, William H. Geppert, and Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis.

Manges and Berry were instructed to present affidavits to Judge Henderson to substantiate their argument.

It is understood that the defense attorneys, in their motion for a new trial, have taken issue with the testimony of Betty Lancaster, 18, Shaft, a niece of Mrs. Donna Airhart Beeman, the defendant's wife, whom he has been convicted of murdering August 12.

Talked At Fire Hall

The Lancaster girl had testified that she talked with Beeman outside the Barton Fire Hall about 10 p. m. August 11.

During the conversation, she said, Beeman showed her a penknife and told her he was going to use it for a "very special" purpose. She added that Beeman then placed the knife on a window sill at the Fire Hall as their conversation continued.

The state gave considerable emphasis to Miss Lancaster's testimony in an effort to show that the slaying was premeditated.

Manges and Berry contend that as late as last Sunday there was a screen over the window in question and Beeman could not possibly have placed the knife in the sill, which was blocked off by the screen.

Pa. Turnpike Extension To Open In Month

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said it is aiming at opening the remainder of its new western extension of the state's toll road before the end of November.

A spokesman said that although no opening date had been announced the Commission had hopes earlier of completing the final 57 miles to the Ohio border by November 1.

Weather conditions however, are hampering the paving job now under way, he said. A brief strike by cement workers and carpenters also held up the job a bit.

Labor troubles are handled entirely by contractors working the various stretches of the road assigned to them on bid.

The spokesman said the current rain in the western part of Pennsylvania can be expected to be followed by possible worse weather conditions at this time of the year.

The first ten miles of the western extension were opened during the summer. These stretch from Irwin, the old western terminus of the giant dual highway, to the new Pittsburgh interchange.

On completion of the remainder of the extension, traffic will be channeled into Ohio, near Petersburg, some 10 miles from Youngstown.

From the Ohio border to King of Prussia, the eastern terminus, near Philadelphia, the road will run 327 miles.

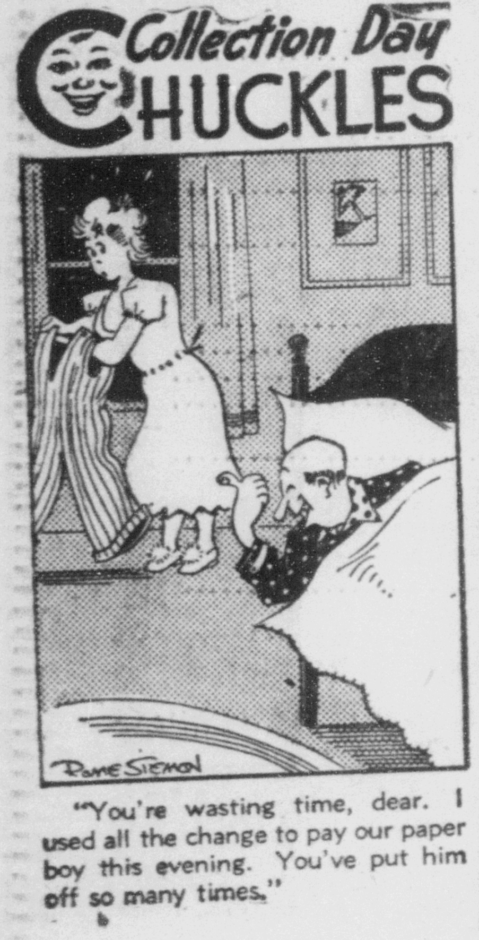
Legislation to extend the highway further to the Delaware River to join with the New Jersey Turnpike now nearing completion already has been approved and signed by Governor John S. Fine.

Optical Workers Vote For Union

Employes of the White-Haines Optical Company have voted 7 to 0 for representation by the Optical Workers Union.

The unanimous vote was cast in a National Labor Relations Board election here Tuesday.

They will be represented by Pittsburgh Local 18820 of the AFL union.



"You're wasting time, dear. I used all the change to pay our paper boy this evening. You've put him off so many times."

City To Present Plan For Closing Rail Crossing

Alternate Proposal Presented To Council

The City of Cumberland will open discussions soon with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on a proposed plan for the closing of the Williams Street crossing.

The Mayor and Council have asked W. Earle Cobey, city attorney, to confer with C. T. Williams, division superintendent, on the plans.

Cobey will present a proposal made by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission under which the city would grant permission to close the crossing upon payment of the capitalization of the cost of maintaining the crossing. The sum would be earmarked for the city's share for future traffic improvement.

Commissioner John J. Long suggested Monday that Cobey discuss with the railroad the possibilities of using the George Street freight station for city parking facilities.

Mayor Thomas S. Post has urged that an alternate plan for closing three railroad crossings and replacing them with an overhead bridge be considered.

He was informed by City Engineer William H. Marean that no plans for that project have been submitted.

J. T. Defibaugh, who advocated the plan, yesterday supplied the mayor with a plan for the ground layout and said he will furnish proposed plans for the bridge as soon as possible.

Defibaugh's layout plans were turned over to the City Engineer for study yesterday afternoon.

Seek Damages

At Monday's Council meeting Calvin and Dorothy Mardorff informed the council they had asked George and Lynch, flood control contractors, to arrange for settlement of damages to property they own at 319-321 Beall Street. The letter was referred to the liaison engineer, John Coleman.

Lilya submitted a report at the trial which he had received from the FBI Laboratory in Washington, where he took the screwdriver, the pane of glass and the window with the pane of glass missing. This had been done on April 19.

"Several impressions in putty on the window frame, where the pane of glass was removed, were made by a screwdriver having a bit width identical with that of a red-handled screwdriver that had been taken from Koontz. It was concluded that these impressions were either made by a bit of the red-handled screwdriver or a similar tool having a bit the same size and shape and with the same amount of wear," the report read.

The only state witnesses were the three policemen and Hiner. Earl E. Manges, Koontz's attorney, called Mrs. Betty Lee, the defendant's sister; his wife and William E. Lawyer, his employer, as defense witnesses. Koontz did not take the witness stand.

A hearing on a charge of failing to comply with a Health Department order to abate a nuisance leveled against a Corriganville man Wednesday in Trial Magistrates Court was continued for one week by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Health Department officials said Homer Suder, Corriganville, was maintaining a health hazard by keeping some 180 turkeys, seven sows, 34 small pigs, two cows and 35 chickens on a 150 by 250 foot plot of ground in the rear of a Corriganville church.

Witnesses for the Health Department were J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian; Blaine Robinette, county sanitarian, Mrs. Harry Martz and Mrs. J. H. Thompson, Corriganville.

The hearing was delayed after Suder asked to be represented by counsel.

CROSS INSTALLATION COMPLETED—A 14-foot stainless steel cross has been installed atop the steeple of Centre Street Methodist Church. Of Latin design, the circle through the cross arms denotes the symbol of the Perfect Saviour, Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor, said last night. Workmen can be seen above pulling the cross toward the top of the church. The steeple is being reslated and work including other general repairs is scheduled to be completed next week. The work is being done by the Limbach Company of Pittsburgh, Pa. The tip of the cross rises about 175 feet above the ground.

IN QUEEN'S COURT — Miss Colleen Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burke, 10 Fifth Street, has been named a member of the court of Queen Elinor, who will be crowned today at the homecoming festival of West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W. Va. Miss Burke, a former Fort Hill High School student, is a senior at the West Virginia college. Miss Elinor May Banks of Norwalk, Conn., will reign as queen for the two-day festival.

Navy Will Not Recall Reserve Korea Veterans

Men May Transfer To Active Reserve

Naval Reservists separated from continuous active duty since June 25, 1950, and who became members of the Organized Reserve will not be ordered to active duty without their consent except in time of war or national emergency, Lt. Cdr. W. E. Woodson, Jr., local inspector-instructor, said yesterday.

Commander Woodson said that this announcement establishes the policy of the Navy Department not to order involuntarily to active duty for periods over 30 days any Naval Reservist who was separated from active duty as a regular or reservist in any of the armed services since 25, 1950.

He said Naval Reserve personnel in this category may transfer to the Organized Reserve if they meet the prescribed standards.

In their interest of obtaining balanced rating and pay grade enrollment to fill allowances in the Organized Reserve program, the Fifth Naval District has established a priority system for accepting would-be members.

The priority schedule includes (1) former members of the Organized Reserve who are released from active service, (2) volunteer reserve personnel desiring transfer to organized status, (3) personnel being discharged from the regular Navy who desire to enlist in the Organized Reserve, and (4) new recruits.

Telephone Rate Increase Would Benefit AT & T

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP)—A telephone rate increase in Maryland means more money for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Public Service Commission was told today.

R. M. Fowler, auditor for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, told the PSC that A. T. & T. gets 1 per cent of the gross revenue of the C. & P. under their license contract.

Fowler was under cross-examination at a PSC hearing on a request by the C. & P. for authority to charge higher rates.

Donald Schwab, assistant city solicitor for Baltimore, asked Fowler whether, in event the C. & P. got a rate increase, its payments to A. T. & T. also would increase.

"Yes," answered Fowler, "unless the rate of payments were reduced."

"If the rate increase were refused to the C. & P. Company," Schwab continued, "there would be no variation in the type of service rendered by A. T. & T.?"

Fowler said that there would be no difference if only the Maryland company were involved. But if the same thing happened to a number of other operating companies, "altogether it would be very serious, indeed."

TWUA Seeks Contract With Cleaning Firm

Negotiations are in progress between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), and Harry Footer and Company, Playford Aldridge, union president, announced yesterday.

He said the some 40 employes of the cleaning and pressing firm will become a sub-local of Local 1874.

Members of the negotiating committee are Ruth Bowman, Dorothy Lookenott, Shirley Keyser and Dolores Ebert, for the sub-local; Aldridge, Howard Bush, vice president, and Leslie J. Clark.

S. A. Advisory Board Will Meet Today

The Salvation Army Advisory Board will meet today at 12:15 p.m. in Central YMCA to plan the Army's winter program.

Business will include announcement of Christmas committees, naming of a nominating committee and plans for fall and winter activities. Major Elmer Wall, commander, urged all members to be present at the meeting.

Rieve, Baldanzi To Attend TWUA Anniversary Here

Dinner, Dance To Mark 15th Birthday

Top officers of the Textile Workers Union of America may get a chance to present their viewpoints on intra-union policies when Celanese Local 1874, TWUA-CIO, celebrates its 15th anniversary here next month.

Both Emil Rieve, general president, and George Baldanzi, executive vice president, have accepted invitations to attend the birthday party of the largest single unit in the TWUA here.

The dinner, to be held November 28 at 6:30 p.m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, will offer each of the top TWUA leaders a chance to report to the membership of a local union their exact views on the policies which have kept them at odds since May, 1950.

Well Known Here

Both are well known to most of the 4,600 members of the Celanese union and have visited here on one or more occasions.

Baldanzi has called for "democratization of the union," claiming that Rieve tried to "purge" him at last year's convention and declared in July he will insist upon a democratization "from top to bottom" of the 400,000 member union at its convention in Cleveland next April.

Rieve has steadfastly insisted that the Textile Workers Union is democratic.

The 15th anniversary celebration will conclude with a dance Thursday, November 29 at 9 p.m. at the Clary Club.

Top Officials Invited

Playford Aldridge, president, said the local has sent invitations to 31 national TWUA officers, Executive Board members and field representatives who are former members of Local 1874.

Plans for the celebration are in charge of the special activities committee, headed by John G. Kreitzburg.

The Celanese local was formed here in December 1936, as Local 1874, Industrial Union, United Textile Workers of America (AFL) and switched to the CIO fold under the Textile Workers Organizing Committee in 1937.

It became part of the TWUA on May 8, 1939, when that CIO union was organized.

Big Delegation To Attend State PTA Convention

Annual Meeting Is Planned Nov. 1-2

A large delegation from Allegany County will attend the 36th annual convention of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers which will be held in Hagerstown November 1 and 2.

Attending will be Mrs. John Lancaster, state treasurer; Mrs. Edward Wilson, state by-laws chairman; Mrs. Stanley Buckley, character and spiritual education chairman; Miss Margaret Jones, college coordinator, and Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, county council president, who is chairman of the state election committee.

All of the above are state PTA board members as well as members of the Allegany County Council executive board.

Mrs. R. C. Lord, a member of the county council executive board and vice president of Mt. Royal PTA, will be accompanist for George Campbell, who will lead group singing at the annual conclave.

To Represent Board

Other members of the county executive board who will attend are Mrs. Lester Reed, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Walter Bell, Columbia Street; Mrs. Ralph Isiminger and Mrs. Robert Babst, West Side; Mrs. Edgar Hounshell and Mrs. Lester McGill, Cresaptown. Mrs. McGill is also vice president of the State Local Presidents' Club.

Three representatives of the Board of Education office will attend the Friday afternoon and evening session and the fellowship dinner. They are Miss Winifred Green, Miss Mildred Willison and Miss Esther Carter.

A number of Allegany County school principals will attend the fellowship dinner November 2 in order to hear Salom Rizk speak on "Our Children's Heritage, A Secure World."

Will Send Delegates

A majority of the county PTA organizations are sending delegates to all the sessions and others are sending delegates for one day.

Mrs. Lester Haugh, of Oldtown School PTA, will attend as a delegate of the County Council to represent the county schools and Mrs. Julius Johnson, of John Humbird School PTA, will be the Cumberland school delegate.

Theme of the two-day meeting in the Alexander Hotel will be "Our Citadels of Security—Home, School and Church."

Enlist In Air Force

Three area men were sent to Martinsburg, W. Va. yesterday for enlistment in the U. S. Air Force, according to M/Sgt. Clarence Biehn, local recruiter.

They include Pete G. Dendrinos, 23, 607 Bedford Street; Charles J. Schramm, 20, and Roy L. Cutter, 20, both of Frostburg. They will be sent to Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y., for basic training.

Weather Forecast
Mostly sunny and mild today; tomorrow increasing cloudiness and mild.

CHURCHILL IN REACH OF VICTORY

Next Truce Move Is Put Up To Reds

Allies' Buffer Plan Involves Swap Of Land

Meetings Resumed By Subcommittee

MUNSAN, Korea, Friday, Oct. 26 (AP)—A concrete Allied proposal for a Korean buffer zone, involving cession of about 200 square miles of territory by each side, put the next cease-fire move squarely up to the Communists today.

The Red reaction might come at a subcommittee meeting scheduled at Panmunjom at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Thursday, EST).

The subcommittee convened right on schedule.

There was speculation that some sort of compromise would be effected after the Reds make a counter-proposal. Upon this might depend the speed with which the United Nations and Communist negotiators settle this thorny question or go into a possible new deadlock.

The sudden Allied proposal was introduced at a subcommittee meeting immediately after the truce negotiations were resumed, ending a 64-day suspension.

It was on this issue that the previous talks were snarled, but the Reds themselves offered to start all over with a clean slate.

A United Nations command spokesman said the Allied suggestion entailed a line generally following the present battlefront, but with the Reds to give up about 200 square miles territory in the west and the Allies to pull out of a similar area in the east.

A buffer zone two and one-half miles wide would be carried, most of it in North Korea, but dipping into South Korea at its western end.

It would run from the mouth of the Yesong River in Western Korea to a point 11 and one-half miles southeast of Kosong on the east coast where the Allies are now 50 miles north of parallel 38.

Under this plan, the Reds would lose Kaesong, the old truce negotiation site. The Allies would give up some east coast and central positions but would retain Heartbreak and Bloody Ridges in the east and a piece of ground northwest of Yonsong, all won at the cost of many casualties.

Allied Planes Rip Red Supply System

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Oct. 26 (AP)—Allied planes smashed the Korean war's record blow at Communist rail transport Thursday. Pilots estimated they destroyed or damaged 36 locomotives and 289 rail cars in a series of bombing and strafing attacks centered in the northwest.

The old mark, set Sept. 19, was 20 locomotives and 272 rail cars destroyed or damaged.

Superforts bombed the new Communist airfields at Namsi and Saamcham in Northwest Korea Thursday night, a general headquarters communique said.

The switch to night attacks was made after day raids earlier this week drew out scores of Communist jets and provoked the biggest jet battles of the war. In a daylight strike Tuesday against the Namsi field, one-third of the attacking force of nine Superforts was shot down and the others were damaged.

For the fifth straight day, Russian-built MIGs made determined efforts to break up the Allied raids. A total of 80 enemy jets pressed three aggressive attacks against 63 or more Allied planes.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force claimed one MIG was damaged in a 10-minute clash between 31 Sabre jets and an estimated 50 MIGs.

In the ground war, U. S. Patton tanks speared to the western outskirts of Kumsong and shot up the former Red supply base, setting new fires.

Attlee Reelected; Churchill's Son Loses To Laborite

LONDON, Oct. 26 (Friday) (INS)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee was reelected, as expected, to a seat in the House of Commons early today from the Walthamstow West District at a time when the outcome of the British general election was still in doubt.

He won his seat with a majority of 11,574 votes, compared to his majority of 12,107 in 1950.

LONDON, Oct. 26 (Friday) INS)—Conservative Randolph Churchill, son of Winston Churchill, was defeated by left-wing Laborite M. M. Foot, a Bevanite, today in the Plymouth-Devonport contest for a Commons seat.

Foot's majority was 2,390, compared with his majority of 3,483 in 1950.

Truman Praises "Ike," Endorsed For Presidency

Expected Greater Clark Hullabaloo

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — President Truman said today the New York Herald-Tribune had certainly picked a fine man in endorsing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

The newspaper, in a front page editorial today, said Eisenhower's qualifications for the presidency are unique.

Mr. Truman made his comment in response to a news conference question. Remarking that the newspaper had a right to endorse anyone, he added that it had certainly picked a fine man for its candidate. He did not elaborate.

Prefers GOP Pick Taft

He previously had said he would prefer that the Republicans nominate Sen. Taft of Ohio. Some Democrats contend Taft would be the easiest to beat. Taft so far is the only avowed candidate in either party for next year's top party nomination.

The President also told his questioners that:

1—The hullabaloo created by his nomination of Gen. Mark W. Clark to bet his country's first ambassador to the Vatican is not as great as he had expected. He said the appointment is not in conflict with this nation's historic conception of separation of church and state, and he made it because he believed that peace would be served by having an ambassador there.

No Party Chairman Decision

2—There has been no decision on a new chairman for the Democratic National Committee to succeed the resigned William M. Boyle, Jr. He said Frank McKinney, Indiana banker, is one of about 30 persons mentioned for the post. He added Mrs. India Edwards, committee vice chairman, and John L.. Sullivan, former secretary of the Navy, told him they did not want it.

3—He believes in the two party system and for that reason it would be a mistake for Democrats to go into the April 1 Wisconsin Republican primary in an effort to defeat Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) for renomination. Wisconsin has an open primary which would permit Democrats to join Republicans in such an effort if they so desired.

4—He is hopeful that the British-Iranian oil dispute still can be settled. He said some progress is being made in talks here with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

Pope Leads Observance

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 25 (AP) — Pope Pius XII today led a worldwide Catholic observance of the 15th centenary of the Council of Chalcedon, which defined the nature of Christ as being both human and divine.

The Pope, in a radio broadcast, called on all Catholics to join in thanksgiving for "the truth which insures victory to the church and welfare for its sons."

Princess To Dazzle Capital With Diamonds And Pearls

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Princess Elizabeth apparently shares the belief of many young women that diamonds are a girl's best friend.

She's bringing a whole treasure chest of diamonds and other precious stones to wear on her visit to the nation's capital starting next Wednesday.

Two magnificent diamond tiaras are the highlights of the princess' traveling jewel collection.

But she'll also dazzle the natives with necklaces—pearl by day, diamond by night—and a wealth of other glistening trinkets. Earrings, bracelets, clips, brooches, insignia presented during her current Canadian tour.

Finally, there's the diamond star of the Order of the Garter—worth a king's ransom all by itself.

Less favored girls can salve their envy with this reflection, however: Some of the royal gems are hand-me-downs from the princess' mother, Queen Elizabeth, and her grandmother, Queen Mary.

Marcelle Is Accused Of Tax Discrepancy

Admits He Earned $170,000 On Side

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap testified today that former Tax Collector Joseph P. Marcelle understated his own income by $11,419 and claimed unsubstantiated tax deductions of $23,097 while in charge of the revenue office at Brooklyn.

"In the view of the department, any such income tax discrepancy on the part of any of our employes would be considered very serious," Dunlap told a House Ways and Means subcommittee. The group is delving into charges of widespread corruption in the Internal Revenue Service.

Earned $170,000 On Side

Marcelle, who resigned by request last Tuesday, informed the investigators that he earned more than $170,000 in sideline activities while collecting taxes for the First District of New York.

He also conceded that his income tax returns never were audited during his term of office, which began in 1944.

Marcelle said he had his returns made out by Herman J. Schmidt, chief of the income tax division in his office, and signed them without reading them.

"I took it for granted they were okay," he said.

According to Adrian Dewind, committee counsel, Marcelle's largest return, covering $135,766 gross income in 1948, was located in files supposed to contain only individual returns on incomes under $8,000. Customarily tax returns on incomes this small are not audited by special agents in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Became "Indignant"

Marcelle said he became "very indignant" when he found that out, "because it surely threw a strong suspicion on myself."

The dapper witness testified he made a profit of about $60,000 between 1945 and 1948 from the Eastern Electric Vending Machine Co., an enterprise he said he organized to sell canned goods and other products from coin machines. Then, he said, he sold his stock in the firm for another $60,000.

At night and on his days off, Marcelle continued, he operated from his home "a neighborhood and more or less charitable law practice." He testified this netted him $51,580 from 1944 through 1949.

17 Chicago Firemen Injured In Blaze

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—At least 17 firemen were injured today in a fire and explosion in the basement of a North Side office and store building.

The two-story structure, the Mills building, is at the southwest corner of Clark St., and Diversey Pkwy. Several firemen were trapped in the path of the explosion as they crowded down a stairway to extinguish the last of the flames.

Windows of a drugstore in the building were blown out. Others in stores and offices about the burning building also were broken.

Jobless Elevator Operator Annoys Elizabeth Taylor

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—A 29-year-old jobless elevator operator was charged today with annoying Film Star Elizabeth Taylor with telephone calls to her hotel.

The man, John Marsh, posed as an FBI agent and told Miss Taylor her life was in danger, said Assistant U. S. Attorney Martin Klein.

Klein said seven years ago Marsh was sent to a mental hospital for three months because he annoyed another actress, Kathryn Grayson.

Marsh was held in $5,000 bail on a charge of impersonating an FBI agent and committed to Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric observation.

Railway Express Wins Rate Boost

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today granted a new general 11 per cent increase in railway express rates.

The authority was issued to the Railway Express Agency, which was permitted to apply the increases on 15 days' notice to the public.

The increases will apply to all types of shipments except daily newspapers, milk, cream, and corpses.

The commission estimated the changes, less than half of what the agency sought, will increase express charges by about $29,560,524 a year.

Commission officials said the company has had a $21,000,000 increase in wage costs during the past year, plus a $1,500,000 jump in materials costs, and that the authorized increases "will not take the express operation out of the red."

Voting Machine Bonds

SALISBURY, Md., Oct. 25 (AP) — The Mercantile Trust Company of Baltimore was high bidder and has been awarded a $55,000 bond issue to finance the purchase of voting machines for Wicomico County.

The Baltimore bank bid $100,182 for the $100 par bonds bearing an interest rate of 1¾ per cent.

New York Milk Strike Settled

Mayor Announces Agreement Reached

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—New York's milk strike was settled today only a little more than 24 hours after it began.

Mayor Vincent Impellitteri made the announcement that an agreement had been reached in the dispute which affected supplies for some 12,000,000 residents of the metropolitan area.

The men will resume work "at once," he said. An industry spokesman said deliveries would be "practically normal" tomorrow morning.

The strike involved 15,000 AFL teamsters in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. It forced housewives in the area to queue up to get a limit of two to four quarts of milk from dealers who had the product.

Scores of tank trucks were idle in upstate New York. A quarter of a billion pounds of fluid milk began backing up in the sprawling five-state milk shed that feeds New York City. Dairy farmers faced an estimated loss of $140,000 a day.

The peace terms were expected to be linked to a federally-approved price increase for milk, to be shared in by dealers and drivers.

A price boost—if granted by the Office of Price Stabilization—would probably raise the retail price of milk by one and a half to two cents a quart. In New York, it now sells for 24 cents a quart delivered and 21½ cents at the store.

With 4,000,000 quarts sold every day in New York City, the price hike would add $23,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year to the cost of living.

U. S. Flier's Speed Record Recognized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Air Force Col. Fred J. Ascani was recognized today as the new holder of the world airplane speed record for 100 kilometers — 621.686 miles per hour.

Ascani set the record during the Thompson trophy speed event at the 1951 National Air Races, held at Detroit in August. He flew an F-86E Sabre jet.

The National Aeronautic Association announced today the formal approval of the new record by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

British Election Sidelights

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP) — British voters got some odd and bumpy rides to the polls today.

A candidate who provides transportation has to charge the cost against campaign expenses that must not be more than £100 ($280).

Motor travel is expensive so—

Conservatives used a donkey cart at Knutsford, a hansom cab at Kibworth and a camel at Dudley to get out the vote.

The camel was borrowed from a Dudley zoo.

"If this doesn't give the socialists a hump, nothing will," said George Howard, the local tory chief.

The London Stock Exchange was open, but did little business. Most issues were firm. The declaration of a five per cent dividend by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, which has lost its main plant in Abadan to the Iranians, helped oil shares to maintain their position.

Valerie White of Burnham-on-Sea, Somerset, got an official poll card showing she was listed as an eligible voter.

She went along to the voting place, but couldn't read the candidate's names and didn't know where to put her x. She didn't vote. Election officials said they were puzzled over how Valerie's name got on the roll. She is two years old.

U. S. Mediators Toss In Towel In Dock Strike

Bound To Spread, Workers Declare

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Federal mediators gave up trying to end New York's 11-day-old waterfront strike tonight and rebel dock workers said it was bound to spread to Philadelphia and Baltimore.

"We're giving up," said Clyde M. Mills, the nation's top labor trouble shooter for the U. S. Mediation Service.

He quit with one final plea for the men to go back to work and end the crippling tieup which has clamped an economic vise on New York, the greatest port in the world.

The mediators withdrew after non-strikers led by President Joseph P. Ryan of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, bolted peace talks.

"We're not getting anywhere," Ryan said. "We're leaving."

As peace talks collapsed, Strike Leader John (Gene) Campson told newsmen:

"That means Philly and Baltimore will be tied up too."

Want Another Contract

He said dock workers in those two big ports are meeting now to decide whether to quit their piers.

The rebel wildcat strikers in New York have insisted that a new work contract be junked and another one with larger pay scales be negotiated.

Ryan has refused to honor this demand. He said to do so would be to renege on a signed and sealed agreement with shipping firms.

The shippers themselves flatly refused to reopen wage talks with the wildcat stevedores.

Said Mills:

"This is a dispute which must be resolved within the union. This situation is intolerable and must be ended immediately.

"We recommend that the work stoppage be ended and all employes engaged in the work stoppage return to their respective jobs immediately.

Some Military Ships Loaded

"We told both groups we have exhausted our efforts and have no alternative but to withdraw."

The shippers wired Ryan only a few hours earlier that the strike was unauthorized and "in flagrant violation of the renewed agreement accepted by the International Longshoremen's Association x x x."

Earlier, the rebel dock hands lifted their blockade of some crucial Army piers, but balky stevedores still refused to load a majority of military ships.

Cost Of Living Hits New High

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Higher prices for clothing, particularly fall and winter apparel, helped today to push the government's cost of living index to a new record high.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, announcing its figures for September 15, said the latest survey shows living costs were 186.06 per cent of the 1935-39 level. This was a gain of .06 per cent in the August 15-September 15 period and an increase of 6.9 per cent as compared with September 1950.

Apparel costs went up 2.7 per cent in the month, to a record high of 209 per cent of the 1935-39 average. Fall and winter clothing had not been figured in the index since the end of last winter, when there were many clearance sales. Also the cost of wool has climbed during the last year.

Food prices edged up during the August 15-September 15 month to 227.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average, a gain of 8.2 per cent in a year. In the 56 cities surveyed, food prices gained in 33, dropped in 21 and were unchanged in two.

The overall gain in living costs will mean a small pay boost for more than 100,000 workers whose pay rate is hitched to changes in the government index. The 100,000 include 70,000 employes of General Electric.

John Agar Released

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25 (AP)—John Agar, ex-husband of Shirley Temple, is free of a six months' drunk driving sentence—in less than two months.

Municipal Judge Vernon W. Hunt, who sentenced the actor, commuted the term to two months because Agar turned out to be a model prisoner at the county's honor farm. The two months was up today.

Kimball Hints Fleet Prepared To Use A-Bombs

Light Bomber Wing To Be Sent To France

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — America's part in building up European defenses brought these developments today: (1) Word that the U. S. Mediterranean Fleet probably is prepared to use atomic bombs if necessary, and (2) an announcement that a light bomber wing is being sent to France.

Secretary of the Navy Kimball was asked at a news conference: "Is the Sixth Fleet set to deliver an A-bomb if necessary?" He replied, "I would guess so."

First Such Hint

Kimball's guess was the first hint that any naval unit is now prepared to deliver an A-bomb, although it previously had been announced that aircraft carrier crews were being trained to that end.

The Air Force said the 126th Light Bomber Wing, made up of about 1,600 officers and men and 48 conventionally powered B-26 bombers, will be stationed at Bordeaux. It was drawn from Illinois and Missouri National Guard squadrons.

This will be the first wing sent to France since World War II, but Air Force plans call for sending another wing—this one probably composed of jet fighters—to Western Europe by the end of this year. Other units are to follow before next June.

Mediterranean Fleet Doubled

Secretary Kimball, reporting on his recent talks with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe, said he thought the U. S. never would have a large percentage of the forces combined under Eisenhower—"at no time over 15 or 20 per cent."

Kimball said the U. S. Fleet in the Mediterranean has been built up to 60 or 70 warships, twice the size it was a year ago. These ships carry about 20,000 men.

With the arrival of the new bomber wing in France, the Air Force will have in all of Europe about 43,200 officers and men. The total is about evenly divided between the United Kingdom and the continent.

Finder Sure GOP Will Nominate "Ike"

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25 (AP) — A man who was active in the short-lived Eisenhower boom of 1948 said tonight he is convinced the general will receive the Republican nomination for president.

Leonard V. Finder, in an interview with the Globe-Democrat, said the continuing popular demand for Gen. Eisenhower "and the readiness of other Republicans whom he respects to subordinate their own ambitions in favor of him" constitute the element of a draft.

Conservatives Oust Laborites From 11 Seats

Liberals' Strength Is Swung To Tories

LONDON, Friday, Oct. 26 (AP) — The Conservatives dealt socialism a smashing blow in the national elections, and today were within reach of a victory sending Winston Churchill back to the prime ministry at the age of 76 after six bleak years on the sidelines.

Results in nearly half the 625 parliamentary districts pointed to a political and personal triumph for the old warrior who led Britain to victory in World War II only to be brushed aside when the war-weary people adopted the Socialist (Labor) Party's promises of a better life.

The Conservatives wrested 11 House of Commons seats from Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee's Laborites. The Liberal Party ousted a Laborite in still another district. That made a net loss of 12 seats for the Laborites, who had an overall majority of only six in the last parliament.

Tory Strength Yet To Appear

The Laborites, at the halfway point in tabulation, had failed to take a single seat from Churchill's men — and by all normal standards the full Conservative strength was yet to appear.

Churchill and his supporters campaigned on the theme that Attlee's party lacked the skill and power to restore Britain to strength and to save her from becoming the battleground of a third world war. Churchill, 77 next Nov. 30, spoke of it as the "last prize" he wanted — the chance to get into the fight for peace at the helm of the government.

Final returns from yesterday's elections are not due until tonight, but Labor Party leaders privately conceded the early trend meant the end of Britain's era of socialism. One predicted Churchill might have a majority of 35 seats or so in the House of Commons. For the last few months, the Laborites have struggled along with a majority of only a half dozen seats.

A swing of Liberal Party strength to Churchill's Tories was a decisive factor.

In the last election the Liberals entered 475 candidates. This time they put up only 108. The "orphan" vote went Conservative in districts where it hurt Labor most.

Tabulation Suspended

The polls closed last night at 9. Early today the counting reached the 323-seat mark, and the tabulation was suspended until about 11 a. m. (6 a. m., EST). The remaining 302 seats will be accounted for in the later tabulations.

By 2 a. m. Conservative Party headquarters had an air of "we're in". Shortly after 3 a. m. Gerald O'Brien, Conservative press spokesman, said Churchill's followers should have a working majority of 30 to 35 in the new House of Commons.

Returns from 323 districts gave Labor 175 seats, the Conservatives and allied parties 145, the Liberals two and the Irish Labor Party 1.

The first 275 districts reporting gave the Conservatives 47.9 per cent of the total popular vote, as compared with 43.5 in those districts in 1950's election. The comparison for Labor was 50.5 per cent of the total this year, against 48.2 last year. The Liberals had 1.7 per cent of the total in these districts, against 8.3 per cent in 1951.

The party winning the most seats in Commons chooses the prime minister and runs the government. Each of the districts voted only for its own man, nothing else.

Ad Gets Results

AMA Reports Highly-Touted Drug Doesn't Check Cancer

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP) — The American Medical Association said today a study failed to show that Krebiozen has "beneficial effects" on cancer patients. But the Krebiozeen Research Foundation said it had found some evidence of benefits in many patients treated with the drug.

The AMA report was based on the case histories of 100 cancer patients who had been treated with Krebiozen. It said 98 of the patients did not show "objective evidence of improvement," and 44 of them had died.

The foundation said its records of more than 300 patients showed 75 per cent had obtained partial or complete relief from pain. It added that "some objective evidence of temporary improvement was observed in 50 per cent" of the cases.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, president of the foundation, asserted he had not changed his opinion that Krebiozen has "promise for the management of cancer patient."

The foundation was set up as a non-profit organization in April to do research and distribute Krebiozen to physicians for further tests.

Presbyterian Decries Rome Church Authority

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25 (AP) — Dr. Eugene C. Blake, the new stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., has stated he is "as loath to accept the authority of Rome as that of Moscow."

Dr. Blake and Dr. Glenn W. Moore, who was elected secretary of the general council, were formally installed in their new posts Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian Church.

"We live in a moment of history when the pressure of political and social problems are so critical that unless we really believe in representative democracy and make it work, our world will become once more totalitarian, and I, for one, am as loath to accept the authority of Rome as that of Moscow," Dr. Blake declared. He added:

"The hope of a free western world to bind men into a new unity of culture and faith depends more than I like to think of the kind of faith in God, and upon the kind of organization of government which we have inherited in our particular tradition. For the only freedom that can last is freedom under God."

Presbyterian leaders from throughout the country attended the service.

Dr. Blake, of Pasadena, Calif., was elected stated clerk by the 163rd General Assembly in Cincinnati last May 29. He succeeds the late Dr. William B. Pugh of Wallingford, Pa., who was stated clerk from 1938 to the time of his death in 1950.

The stated clerk of the General Assembly is the highest executive official in the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., which has 2,500,000 members.

Theft Suspects Freed On Bond

Two Cumberland residents have been released on $200 bond each pending a hearing November 17 in connection with the alleged theft of a tire and wheel from a wrecked pickup truck on Old Furnace Road.

Taken into custody Wednesday afternoon by City Detective Thomas J. See were Paul W. Davidson, Willowbrook Road, and Gladys M. Brant, 225 Harrison Street. They are being held for West Virginia authorities.

Protector France Sitting Firmly On African Independence 'Trouble'

By CARTER DAVIDSON

RABAT, French Morocco — (AP) — North African Arabs, emboldened by apparent success of nationalist movements in Iran and Egypt, are threatening new trouble for their French protectorate rulers all the way from Tunis to Dakar.

In Morocco, four nationalist parties are united for the first time in a "Moroccan national front," hoping to get a hearing of its case before the United Nations in Paris. Through a vast desert and mountain empire the rumblings for independence are gaining strength.

The French, eyeing developments in the Arab world to the east, are ready for trouble, but confident that it won't come and sure they can handle it if it does.

So far there have been no upheavals here such as the ousting of the British from Iran and the Egyptian move to abrogate her British treaty. But then nationalist movements in Tunisia and Morocco are both voluble and well-heeled.

Although confident they can avoid the lambasting Britain has been taking from nationalism further east, the French are well aware of the dangers of it. General Augustin Guillaume, who took over as resident general of Morocco only a few weeks ago, warned Moroccans to stay away from all forms of extremism. He repeated this warning to Moroccan Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef and later to Moroccan groups he met on his first tour of the country.

A few days ago he told this reporter in an interview that "these fanatics—don't call them nationalists—will try to use terror and lies. They are preparing the ground of Morocco for communism and my job is to fight them and defeat them."

Jacques De Blessona, French diplomate and Guillaume's second in command, said in another interview that "Moroccan nationalism, even that kind of national pride which is healthy for a country, is a comparatively small element in this country. If there is a threat of any nationalist uprising, we have it in hand."

For the moment, at least, there is no evidence that the French do not have it in hand. Top nationalist leaders spend most of their time in Cairo, enlisting the support of nationalist sister movements.

Nationalist leaders claim they have membership in all ranks of Moroccan society from the Berber hill tribes to the Arab businessmen in cities like Rabat and Casablanca. The French minimize such claims. There have been no traces so far that the nationalist movements here have arms although General Guillaume says Moroccan nationalists "have money which they get from fanatics in other countries."

The chances of a nationalist uprising in Morocco or Tunisia meeting any success seem slim. The French are ready to put down any such manifestation with a ruthless hand.

1949 "Trucker Of Year" Fined For Drunk Driving

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 25 (AP) — The national "truck driver-of-the-year" in 1949 has been convicted of drunken driving.

He is Lloyd Reisner. He was picked for the national title by the American Trucking Association in a contest based on driving skill and safety.

Reisner was charged with drunken driving by officers who said he drove his automobile through a traffic signal on Oct. 9.

Municipal Judge Alex M. Clark fined him $10.25 and suspended his driver's license for 90 days.

Mere Scraps Of Paper

International relations would be in less of a mess today if treaties had the binding force they once had—or were supposed to have. At this particular moment we have Egypt denouncing unilaterally its 1936 treaty with Britain and Iran making hash of a written agreement with the British on its oil. And the Soviet government maintained from its beginnings, "Governments that spring from a revolution are not bound to respect the obligations of fallen governments."

Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky has complained because "President Truman told the whole world that an agreement with the Soviet Union is not worth a scrap of paper." Well, our State Department insists that the Russians have violated their 1921 treaty with Iran (as reaffirmed in 1928 and again in 1942), their treaty of August, 1945, with Chiang Kai-shek's China, the peace treaties with the former Nazi satellite states, to say nothing of the Yalta agreements of February, 1945, the Potsdam declaration of July, 1945, Allied armistice agreements, and decisions of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

The Russians on their side insist that the peace treaty with Japan recently signed at San Francisco was a violation of treaty commitments. Moscow complains also that the Allies have no legal right to try, as they are now trying, to revise the Italian peace treaty with or without the consent of the Soviet Union, a treaty signatory.

After Germany opened World War I by violating the treaty on Belgian neutrality to which Germany had been a party, Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg told the Reichstag: "Necessity knows no law . . . The wrong we have done, we will try to make good as soon as our military objectives have been reached." When Great Britain cited the violation of Belgian neutrality as grounds for declaring war, Germany accused the British of going to war over a "scrap of paper."

Yet after the war the British and French allowed Hitler to make scraps of paper of clauses of the Versailles peace treaty, beginning in 1936 with the clause forbidding rearmament of the Rhineland. Hitler's excuse was that the treaty had been "dictated." But his actions were violations also of the Locarno treaties, which Germany had signed voluntarily.

Meantime Japan by its military invasion of Manchuria had violated the League of Nations Covenant, the Kellogg-Briand treaty, and the Washington Nine-Power Treaty. And in 1936 Italy's undeclared war in Ethiopia violated Article 12 of the League of Nations Covenant, according to the League Council itself. The covenant was in the form of an international treaty.

Nazi Germany concluded a treaty of alliance with Communist Russia in August, 1939, but the treaty did not prevent the Nazis from invading Russia less than two years later. The Soviet Union in turn denounced unilaterally the Soviet-Finnish non-aggression treaty of 1932. And it was agreed at the Yalta conference that the Soviet Union would enter the war against Japan, despite the Soviet-Japanese five-year non-aggression and neutrality treaty of April, 1941.

International law on treaties is an accretion of generally understood principles. Treaties generally provide for their own termination. But it has been held, according to Bouvier's legal dictionary, that "when a treaty becomes dangerous to the life of a state or incompatible with the independence of a state or a permanent obstacle to the development of its constitution or the rights of its people, it can be abrogated."

A treaty may properly be broken, too, "when the condition of affairs which formed the basis of the treaty has become so modified by time that its execution has become contrary to the nature of things and the original intent of the parties." The United States holds that a treaty with another power is automatically abrogated when that power is conquered by or incorporated into another state. Great Britain has traditionally taken the opposite position.

Finnegan's Day

The picture of the life of a collector of internal revenue, as drawn by James P. Finnegan in his testimony before a House Ways and Means subcommittee is entrancing. Finnegan, a large and genial back-slapper, who held this post for seven years in St. Louis, has had some trouble remembering dates, amounts of money and the like. But his account of how he ran his office during those seven enchanted years holds, nevertheless, a certain charm.

Finnegan was no tax expert, he told the committee, and never pretended to be one. He took the collector's job only on condition that he be allowed to continue his private law practice, which brought him in an average of $33,000 a year from 1947 to 1949. He spent as many as two, three and sometimes four hours a day in his office as collector. But he found the job to be taking too much of his time.

So, Finnegan says, he tried three times to resign but President Truman kept asking him to stay on. He was even so relaxed that he forgot to collect $2,444 of his own income tax due the government.

Well, it's nice work if you can get it, and there are people who might be able to bear up under the strain of working two or three hours a day for $10,000 a year even if the husky Finnegan cannot. But they aren't often offered that kind of job while the Finnegans seem to have trouble resigning them.

Japan Makes An Offer

Having learned that a straight swap of manufactured goods for raw materials does not appeal to the Asiatic nations, Japan has made a new offer. Tokyo now proposes to exchange capital goods—probably machinery—and technical skill for rubber and tin, among other items.

If a deal of this sort can be arranged on mutually satisfactory terms, it might work out reasonably satisfactorily. Countries on the Asian mainland are extremely backward in manufacture. Japan, of course, has both the experience and ability to make goods cheaply and profitably. That's why her competition is feared by her neighbors.

If, therefore, Japan is willing to furnish both machines and know-how, the Asiatic nations should not summarily reject the offer which has been made. They would gain, as well as Japan, by that kind of bargain.

Sowing The Wheat

Fifteen million acres of Kansas soil are going into wheat for next year's harvest. Kansas is the nation's premier wheat state, and produces approximately 20 per cent of the national crop.

The seeding, now more than half completed, is going forward under favorable conditions, with sufficient moisture to insure early germination and early growth against the hazards of winter. This was not the case last year, and the results were apparent in the recent harvest.

This will not be Kansas' largest planting of wheat, the peak year having been 1938, when 17,000,000 acres of Kansas soil were devoted to the crop.

How To Keep Well

The Complaints Of The Hysterical

A group of 50 women with hysteria was studied recently and was found to have a total of 1,153 medical complaints. These varied from headache and nausea to numbness and fits. A similar survey of 50 healthy women unearthed only 177 symptoms.

Hysteria has been recognized since antiquity. As demonstrated in this investigation, the majority of victims are plagued by innumerable types of discomfort. These are not imaginary but of emotional origin and the physician is unable to detect any physical abnormality to account for them. The suffers look healthy and even cheerful, yet they talk as though they were "not long for this world." This manner and attitude distinguish the hysterical subject from individuals with the usual illnesses.

In the study mentioned, each patient totaled from 11 to 35 symptoms. More than 94 per cent of the series were bothered with headache and more than 70 per cent spoke of a lump in the throat, nausea, loss of appetite, abdominal pain, inability to eat certain foods, shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, anxiety attacks or dizzy spells. Disturbances of the menstrual, sexual, and reproductive functions also were common; 98 per cent presented sexual symptoms of some type, the most common of which was indifference. Aches and pains in the back, joints, and extremities were mentioned. Fainting spells, fits, trances, nervousness, depression, blurred vision, and transient blindness also were high on the list. One woman reported: "I'm sore all over. Can't explain it. I've been sick all my life. It has taken $10,000 to keep me alive. This is my 76th hospitalization."

The hysteria patient also is talkative and loves to relate dramatic incidents associated with previous illnesses, hospitalization, and happenings in her personal life. The patients are friendly, especially to the medical profession, which is strange considering how little they receive in return. These patients often admit they have not been helped by any previous treatment.

There also were more admissions to the hospitals and a larger number of operations in this group than the ordinary individual encountered. The women averaged 6.4 hospitalizations, as compared with 3.2 per woman with a chronic medical illness and 1.2 for healthy control subjects. Hospital beds were occupied twice as often as by the woman with assorted medical conditions such as cancer or ulcer, and five times as often as the healthy woman. These 50 patients had undergone a total of 190 major operations in their lifetimes, which again is far in excess of the figure in a control series. In 72 per cent, the appendix had been removed and 46 per cent had had a pelvic operation of one type or another.

Many readers will conclude from this survey that the person with hysteria is being exploited by the medical profession. This is not true, as anyone who has cared for a number of such sufferers will testify. They complain so bitterly and are so determined that "something be done" that physicians may be forced to do an exploratory operation, for example, to make absolutely certain that organic disease is not present. Hysteria in men is not common and is observed most frequently in military hospitals.

TOMORROW: Moderation is the keyword in gouty arthritis.

CESSPOOL AND HEALTH

Mrs. M. S. writes: There is an open cesspool near where we sleep. Is this dangerous to health in that it could cause heart trouble, asthma, or arthritis?

REPLY

The health may be affected if there is any possibility of contamination of the drinking water. Conditions such as these are more likely to result in typhoid fever or amebic dysentery rather than the disorders you mention.

L. W. writes: How is myositis contracted?

REPLY

Myositis (inflammation of a muscle) often stems from a focus of infection in the teeth, tonsils, prostate, or other organs. It also occurs as a result of injury or exposure to a cold draft. Occasionally the cause cannot be detected.

MUSCLEBOUND

N. T. writes: What causes a person to become musclebound?

REPLY

Overexercise. The muscles bulge to such an extent that the extremities become unwieldy; they cannot be held close to the body with ease.

SEVERING THE VAGUS

J. E. writes: Is cutting the vagus nerve still done for peptic ulcer?

REPLY

Yes, but many surgeons prefer to combine the procedure with the older types of stomach surgery when diet and medication do not work.

CRAMPING THIGH

Mrs. W. writes: What causes cramping of the thigh? My 70-year-old grandmother has this trouble after rising from a chair and pain lasts 5 to 10 minutes.

REPLY

"Muscular rheumatism" is the most common cause.

Truman's Move At Vatican Appointment May Hurt Democrats; GOP Fears Probe Of Ohio Election; Anti-Catholic Letter Circulated In Taft's Behalf

WASHINGTON—Republican pundits have now had time to take careful soundings on the President's appointment of Gen. Mark Clark to the Vatican and have concluded that politically it will do the Democrats more harm than good.

At first they feared the surprise move would win the big-city Catholic vote back to the Democratic party—a vote which, because of McCarthy's semisuccessful cry of State Department communism, was definitely slipping over to the Republican side. However, they now figure that they can easily label the Truman gesture as politics, for two reasons:

1. Although the President had talked to General Clark a couple of weeks earlier and got his consent to serve as Vatican ambassador, he did not send the appointment to the Senate until late on the last day Congress was in session. Thus, GOP leaders intend to point out, Mr. Truman could not have been too serious about getting the new ambassador confirmed.

2. The further fact that General Clark, a military man, must get a special act of Congress to permit him to serve, gives him a double hurdle to overcome and further postpones the date when he can take office.

Thus GOP leaders figure the President has made the mistake of alienating large segments of Protestant voters, while gaining no new friends among Catholics. And they certainly intend to brand the Vatican appointment—when the campaign gets hot—as pure politics.

Hot Potato In Ohio

Buried in the files of the Senate Elections Committee, however, is some anti-Catholic campaign literature which has Republican strategists much more worried. This is the reason why the Elections Committee has been teetering back and forth trying to make up its mind about a real probe of the Ohio election.

Senator Taft made what is now considered a serious error by demanding that the Ohio campaign be investigated. What he had in mind was the large amounts of money spent by labor against him. But what preliminary investigation turned up was:

1. Around $2,000,000 poured in by all sorts of people to support him.

2. An anti-Catholic campaign against his Democratic opponent, Jumping Joe Ferguson, a Catholic.

Highlight of this campaign was a letter, dated Oct. 3, 1950, signed by Rev. F. R. Stoneburner of Dayton, a Lutheran, and widely circulated throughout Ohio. It read:

"Dear Brethren: Please accept this letter merely as a matter of information. It should be known that Mr. Joseph Ferguson, who is running against Senator Robert A. Taft, is Roman Catholic.

"Knowing the efforts of the Roman church to get an official representative to the Vatican and ints efforts to get public aid for parochial schools, I thought it equitable to pass this information on to you for what it is worth.

"Of course you know that our congressman, Edward Breen, is Roman Catholic and that he favors public aid for parochial schools.

"It is a mistaken public idea that Governor Frank Lausche is Roman Catholic. He was raised in an orthodox church. His family goes to a Methodist church. He has never been a Roman Catholic. These are the facts as I have been able to ascertain them.

"For the authenticity of this letter, contact the Lutheran pastor in your community or Rev. F. R. Stoneburner, 201 Commercial St., Dayton, O.

"If you wish the members of your congregation to receive copies of this letter, please send such list to Post Office Box No. 224, Greenville, O."

Gillette Worries

When Taft first demanded a probe of his campaign, the Senate Elections subcommittee voted 4 to 1 for it, including the two Republican members, Mrs. Smith of Maine and Hendrickson of New Jersey. The only man who voted against it was timid Senator Gillette of Iowa, Democrat.

However, when the Elections Committee picked Robert Murphy, an experienced investigator and a Catholic, as its counsel, Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, a Taft leader, blocked the appointment. He would not let a special bill okaying Murphy get through the House.

For weeks now the Ohio probe has hung fire. Committee investigators in Ohio have reported that Taft forces officially chalked up $2,066,592.14 as their total expenditure, but a sampling has revealed additional amounts spent by county and city groups. One Taft organization, "Labor's League for Taft," was organized not by labor but by J. Eugene Carr, ex-president of the Canton Chamber of Commerce and a radio executive.

With a full year passed since Taft's election, harassed and harried Chairman Gillette finally set November 19 as the date for a hearing. How far it will go remains to be seen.

Washington Pipeline

GOVERNMENT EXPENSES: A mere clerk at the Army hospital in Tokyo rides back and forth to work every day in a Navy limousine. She is Mollie Joy, daughter of Adm. Turner Joy, chief UN truce negotiator. . . . Senator Benton of Connecticut is one man who never listens to the radio. As an advertising executive, he invented some of radio's first techniques—applause by a live audience, drinking coffee in a commercial, putting Fred Allen in front of a live background. Now he says he wants to forget radio. . . . The House of Representatives postmaster must have been thinking of the famous letter Gen. Douglas MacArthur wrote to House GOP Leader Joe Martin when he received a letter addressed "Repr. MacArthur, Washington, D. C." Anyway, the postmaster sent it to Joe Martin's office. It turned out to be for Democratic Congressman Eugene McCarthy (not Joe) of Minnesota, and Martin passed it on. . . . Bill Boyle, retiring chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is sicker than realized and may require an operation. . . . The Air Force is begging for skilled manpower. Labor, however, is reluctant to sign up for what might be temporary jobs, unless all-out war explodes. The Air Force counters that it wrote $15,000,000,000 worth of contracts during 1944, the peak year of World War II. In fiscal 1952, it will write $16,500,000,000, while we're at peace—allegedly. . . . Jack Small of the Munitions Board has worked out a deal whereby rockets will be made of plastics and fibreglass instead of aluminum, thus saving the nation 36,000,000 pounds of aluminum per year. . . . The British have actually started to buy oil from the Russians in Eastern Austria to make up for the oil lost in Iran. Significantly, the Russians sought out the British and offered to sell the oil even though they are desperately short themselves. Reason: They needed hard currency.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Everybody is off the hook now — politically speaking — on the matter of sending an ambassador to the Vatican.

By deciding not to make a recess appointment of Gen. Mark Clark, Mr. Truman has saved the day — for everybody in politics. There probably will not be any U. S. ambassador sent to the Vatican in the foreseeable future — largely because of the way a vote on the issue itself will be sidetracked.

Members of Congress in both houses will be asked to vote next January on whether the law should be amended to permit military officers to accept diplomatic posts. If the resolution isn't adopted, there would be no point in bringing up the nomination of General Clark for confirmation in the Senate. The special legislation affecting General Clark may never come out of committee in the House — at least not until after the 1952 campaign—and, if it does, the proposal may be rejected on the ground that selection for diplomatic posts and other civilian posts should be made from the retired list rather than from officers on active duty. There are dozens of political excuses that can be made on the roll calls in Congress and issues raised to prevent the proposal from coming to a vote or from getting a clear expression on the issue of a Vatican ambassador itself.

Truman Will Get Credit

Mr. Truman, for his part, will get whatever political credit he had in mind among supporters of the idea of sending an ambassador to the Vatican, even though it is never accomplished.

Some of the persons who are in a position to know the views of important members of the Catholic hierarchy in this country say, however, it was a mistake on the part of the President to raise the issue in the way he did, because it stimulates friction on religious questions.

Curiously enough, President Truman and the State Department did not follow customary diplomatic practice in handling the nomination of General Clark. The rule is to ask the country to which the ambassador or minister is to be sent whether the particular individual is acceptable. This procedure is sometimes frustrated by the necessity for prompt action. Thus, in the case of former Mayor O'Dwyer of New York City, the Mexican government learned of the appointment only a few hours before it was made, so that there was no opportunity to express any considered opinion.

In the case of General Clark, the Vatican learned about the appointment for the first time through the newspapers. This, it is said, did not please Vatican circles. United Press dispatches from Rome say that "Vatican sources expressed disappointment over the manner in which the nomination of General Clark is being handled."

Other Problems

There are also complications that could arise in connection with the foreign registration law. It requires that all persons who are in any way representatives of foreign governments shall register and be subject to periodic inspections as to their activities. One of the Evangelical church groups has announced its belief that, if the Vatican is a foreign government, all representatives of the church in the United States, including priests, would be technically subject to the registration requirement.

There is, of course, in Washington an Apostolic delegate who lives in a legation building and carries on what has hitherto been unofficial correspondence with the Vatican. If the United States were to send an ambassador to the Vatican, the Apostolic delegate in Washington would become a papal nuncio and a full-fledged member of the diplomatic corps here and would be entitled to all the privileges and immunities which are normally granted to the diplomatic members of foreign governments by the American government. Informal relations between the Apostolic legation here and the State Department, without formal recognition, it is being suggested, could bring to Washington all the valuable information gathered by the Vatican from iron curtain countries.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Organizing For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON

Sen. Robert A. Taft's wonderfully unsurprising announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination has had at least one good effect that Sen. Taft did not look for. It has spurred the Republican supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to tackle the all-important problem of organizing their forces.

Hitherto, the real inner weakness of the Eisenhower movement in the Republican party has not been the uncertainty as to Gen. Eisenhower's future intentions. The real weakness has been the character of the movement itself—a loose coalition of local political potentates, each with his own claims and touchinesses, each eyeing all the others with visible suspicion.

Now, however, the main groupings in the movement have come together at a series of meetings held here in Washington by Sens. James Duff of Pennsylvania, Irving Ives of New York, Frank Carlson of Kansas and Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. These senators, acting either as plenipotentiaries or as principals, have reached agreement on certain major points.

First, the headquarters of the Eisenhower movement will be in the General's home state, at Topeka, Kan. The headquarters are expected to be opened there rather shortly under the joint auspices of Sen. Carlson and his partner, Kansas National Committeemen Harry Darby, and they will most probably be placed under Darby's direction.

Will Open Office

Second, what may be called an organizing office will also be opened almost immediately in Washington. This office will be a cooperative venture, where the interested Senators can keep tabs on progress throughout the country.

Third, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has been fully informed of these prospective steps. An understanding has been reached that the New York governor will let his allies publicly lead the Eisenhower parade, confining his own overt effort to New York and the Eastern states, but quietly lending a hand elsewhere when this will be useful. The purpose is to lull the suspicion that the Eisenhower movement may be a concealed Dewey movement, which is already entertained by some people who underrate both Dewey's political hard-headedness, and the fervent sincerity he brings to this fight.

If this pattern of organization can be made to work, it should be highly effective. It represents a logical division of responsibility. It knits together all the various main groups of Eisenhower backers in a coherent manner. It assures the maximum of coalition effort. Indeed, it has every virtue except the virtue that cannot be achieved until Gen. Eisenhower himself is prepared to say to his supporters, "Here is the man I want to head things up."

With a serious organization in the field against them, Sen. Taft and his backers will do well not to be deceived by their own propaganda, aimed of course at doubting delegates, that the Eisenhower movement is a mirage, and that the Taft bandwagon is a sort of political juggernaut. There is no argument about Gen. Eisenhower's superior popularity. And with such men as Gov. Dewey and Sens. Carlson, Duff and Lodge actively organizing for Eisenhower, and firmly declaring their own certainty that Eisenhower will be available, the effect on doubting delegates should be immediate and important.

Question Remains

The great question will still remain, of course, as to whether these leaders read Gen. Eisenhower's intention correctly, and as to when the General may be able to declare his candidacy. But even on this head, there is cold comfort for Sen. Taft in certain facts which can now be stated on the highest authority.

In brief, several of the Eisenhower leaders were in intimate touch with the General prior to his appointment as NATO commander, when he was actually just about to take the major step of enrolling himself as a Republican. Since the General's departure for Europe, these same men have maintained a quiet but to them entirely satisfactory and encouraging liaison with him. And it is because of these unseen contacts, that the pro-Eisenhower chieftains declare with such certainty that they have no fear their candidate will not be available at the last moment.

In addition, there is the further fact that can now be revealed, that certain of these Eisenhower leaders have also had representatives working out in the states for a good many months, with most hopeful responses. In short, there may still be a lot of "ifs" in the Eisenhower movement, but it is infinitely less iffy than the Taft propagandists so hopefully suggest.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Ivory Tower

The Council on Foreign Relations is one of those elite organizations which is supposed to be above the maddening crowd, devoted to scholarship and to an impartial presentation of the facts. One does not join it but is invited to membership.

The chairman of its board of directors is R. C. Leffingwell of J. P. Morgan & Company; the president, Allen W. Dulles, brother of the famous John Foster Dulles and both of the distinguished law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell; the acting president, Henry M. Wriston, president of Brown University, is also chairman of the Committee on studies.

This body publishes the magazine "Foreign Affairs" and annually a book, entitled "The United States in World Affairs." This is supposed to be pure, undiluted scholarship, prepared in an ivory tower, unaffected by the angers, excitements and day-by-day travail of just plain people like us. It is prepared by Richard P. Stebbins and the research staff. Chapter two of the 1950 edition recently issued contains such a sentence as this:

> "While the American government was laboring year in and year out to re-establish the free world on secure foundations, at home these voices of dissent had swelled to a loud and angry chorus. By 1950 they had reached a crescendo which literally threatened to drown out the words of the President and the Secretary of State . . ."

Now, that is just too bad, isn't it? We Americans are to be silent no matter how many of our sons are killed and what burdens of taxes we bear so that the voices of the President and his Secretary of State may be heard. And that in spite of the obvious fact that a very large part of the American people, if not a majority, would prefer the Secretary of State to resign—as the American Legion convention in Miami resolved.

Then on page 58, I ran into this startling paragraph:

"There is no way to determine how far the more uncritical supporters of this campaign were actuated by individual credulity, by party zeal, or by less reputable influences such as the mysterious 'China lobby,' which was said to shrink from no means of punishing those who had opposed all-out aid to Chiang Kai-shek. It is equally futile to speculate about how far the Kremlin, plotting its own course in the Far East, was encouraged by this exhibition of disunity at the heart of the free world . . ."

For many months now some of us have been demanding an investigation of all alien lobbies, including all kinds of China lobbies, by a congressional committee. Nothing has come of it for two reasons:

> 1. The so-called "China Lobby," which is supposed to be headed by Alfred Kohlberg, does not exist and any investigation would prove that. In fact, such an investigation has taken place, ordered by President Truman, all departments of government being instructed to get in on the hunt. Nothing came of it because there was nothing to find.

2. Should congress investigate the "China lobby," all other foreign lobbies will have to be investigated and that might prove very embarrassing to Washington lawyers and some notable so-called scholars who have British, French, South American and Soviet connections, particularly with some of the satellite countries. Those in power do not want that. They do not mind pillorying Joe McCarthy but they do not want to pillory themselves or their friends.

And here is the pay-off:

". . . By creating fresh obstacles to the diplomatic recognition of Communist China, it helped set the stage for the grave crisis in Chinese-American relations that was to occur later in the year. In the meantime it aggravated public confusion at home, undermined the reputation of honest and able officials, aggravated the sense of personal insecurity that prevaded the government service, and contributed to a wave of anti-Communist hysteria which already threatened to engulf the country. By its methods it offered confirmatory evidence to those abroad who professed to see in the United States a land of thinly veiled reaction . . ."

> President Truman and Dean Acheson and the whole State Department have been denying precisely that. They have been insisting that they never wanted to recognize Communist China and the President practically called General MacArthur a liar for saying the contrary. But here is a book that is issued under such high auspices which makes it clear that but for such creatures as Joe McCarthy and Alfred Kohlberg, Communist China would have been recognized.

These scholars and experts of State Department affiliations ought to get together sometimes and decide on what they actually do believe.

Christine Heinig To Hold Legislative Work Shop

An American Association of University Women Legislative Work Shop is being held in Hagerstown tomorrow. Since the Legislative program cuts through all fields of the AAUW program all committee chairmen and all persons interested in the AAUW program are invited.

The work shop is being sponsored by the Washington County Branch of AAUW.

Miss Christine Heinig, national headquarters staff associate in childhood education, will be in charge. Miss Heinig, on a three-month leave during the summer, flew to Germany on a program arranged by the State Department under the educational exchange program. While there she conducted with the German women a work shop on kindergarten for the Berlin area, and developed educational material in this field.

Tomorrow's session is being held in the Fountaindale School, Route 11, north of Hagerstown. It will begin at 10:30 a. m., and conclude at 3:30.

Mrs. R. O. Stelzer, state Legislative chairman, will develop the Maryland state division Legislative program.

Among those attending from the Cumberland Branch of AAUW are Mrs. J. H. Kruson, Mrs. H. B. Simpson, Mrs. John G. Cook, Miss Gertrude Williams, Miss Jane Grindel and Miss Agnes Howat.

An executive board meeting of the Cumberland Branch will be held Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock at Frostburg State Teachers College.

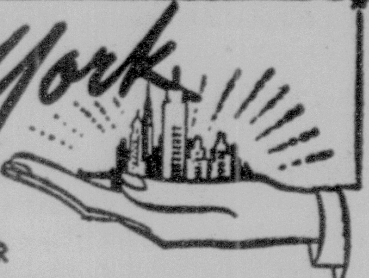
My New York



By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—On that awesome day when the earth stands still (movie plug), whatever chrome-plated, five-eyed visitors arrive from Venus or Mars to muscle in on life on this planet will be astonished by many aspects about life in New York. They will wonder why we erected out buildings like so many reeds in a lily bowl, they will chuckle at our antiquated traffic system and they will be dumbfounded if they come across any of the suede shoes, pegtop trousers or jazzbow neckties we wear.

Unfortunately, since doubtless we all will be struck to dust by their Flash Gordon deathrays, they will be unable to watch New York's most enigmatic, confusing and senseless activity—the business of going out for a smoke during the intermission at a play.

I don't know where I come off to make fun. I've been doing it for years. But irregardless, as we say, the other night as I was engaging in this whimsical form of musical chairs after the first act of "Saint Joan" (maybe my disappointment at the production and in Uta Hagen started all this), I suddenly looked about me as clear-eyed as if I had had a quart of vintage champagne—and realized that the whole thing had overtones of the Marx brothers to it.

This is the setting: New York's playhouses, most of them built at least 30 years ago when people obviously were six inches shorter and had no knees to speak of, thus enabling customers to sit in reasonable comfort, accommodate from seven to 1,700 patrons at a clip.

Getting these patrons into their seats before curtain time is a chore but there is no crowding because they struggle in, with at least 40 lost and drunken souls stepping over laps and feet after the curtain has risen.

Like steers heading for the dead-end canyon when the villain stampedes them with a few shots, they pour out of their seats the instant the curtain is down. Up the aisles they go, almost as if in panic; you look around to see if the Piper of Hamelin is about his business.

The first handfuls make it to the safety of the lobby. Then the log jam sets in. Somehow you get out into the aisle—and then for six minutes or so, you mush along, trying to reach "Ultima Thule."

Finally, the shine gone from your shoes and the crease from your trousers, you make the lobby. You spend the next two minutes elbowing you way around, hunting for a stray corner and then you get one. If you are with a woman, you peer triumphantly at her through the smoky haze and you offer her a crumpled cigaret. Gratefully she grabs for it. You get out the old lighter and by wheedling at it you get it working and you light first her cigaret, then yours. There—that's more like it

The lovely old sinful smoke fills your lungs and you let it luxuriously out through your nose, wondering all the while how you ever managed to last 40 minutes without the cigaret. You eye the weed fondly, lift it to your lips for the second puff, and then—ting a ling a ling a ling . . .

That would be the warning signal, the moose call to return to your seats, like the buzzer clearing the prize ring of handlers before the bell. You try to get in that second puff, but somebody near by solves the whole problem by jostling your elbow and knocking the gasper to the lobby floor. Ruefully you step on it, grimly you take your woman by the arm and determinedly you head back into the log jam.

The most unbelievable thing about it all is that, if this is a three-act play, you do the same thing when the second-act curtain falls. As if mumbling an old, old ritual, you turn to your companion and say "How about going out for a smoke?" Memory is short. You have forgotten the Calgary stampede of a half-hour earlier. You fold back your chair, letting your program slip to the floor again, pardon yourself to your seat neighbor—and are off again to the races.

There may come more wonderful day when the New York theatergoer, like his London counterpart, will be looked on as an adult and will be permitted to sit snugly in his seat during intermission and not only smoke a cigaret, but also eat a cookie and sip some coffee. On the other hand this may lead to the habit of popcorn, you should pardon the expression, being consumed in the orchestra seats. When that day comes, my New York theatergoing ends.

Meanwhile: Yes, I thought that first act rather amusing. The juvenile was awfully good, wasn't he? Well . . . join me for a smoke?

Do women make good bosses? Contrary to popular opinion, women who work for other women like it!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Do women like to work for other women? That is the question which a recent investigation set out to settle. The poll was conducted among girls in various types of work, each of whom had a woman as her immediate superior.

Contrary to the rumor that "most girls would rather starve than work for a woman," every woman interviewed liked having a woman executive!

Model Bosses

One trainee of a big department store stated, "My boss is a favorite character with me! She acts like a dream and she looks like one. Just by watching her tactics, I've acquired the knack of accessorizing basic clothes so they really take on an individual look. Everything she does has an original touch, and I can certainly see why she has gotten ahead in business. I adore the gal, and believe me, I try to emulate her in every way that I can."

Said a file clerk in a large office, "Our exec is interested in us personally. She knows all about our work, homelife, defeats and victories. She laughs and cries with us and for us. Is it any wonder that, as my navy friend would say, 'ours is a happy ship'?"

A Challenging Defense

In defense of her chief, one private secretary even sounded belligerent: "You ask me why I like to work for Mrs. B. Well, I'll tell you. Does she ever lose touch with me when she's out of the office? Does she ever fail to tell me who, and what to expect in the way of callers and calls? Does she keep me in the dark about new business or policies? She's just plain out of this world when it comes to the things that make a job interesting and make it possible to do your best work. She never fails to make me feel that I'm a big help and important to the work. And furthermore she takes the trouble to help me prepare myself for bigger and better things. How many men do that for their secretaries?"

Who said that women would rather work for men than for women? Must have been a man who started that rumor!

Red Posters And Leaflets Attack Americans In Paris

By CARTER DAVIDSON
AP Newsfeatures

PARIS—Communists have renewed their efforts to chase American soldiers out of France with leaflets and posters.

The "Go Back to America" theme is being ground out of the Red propaganda mills in at least half a dozen French cities where American soldiers live and work.

A prime target is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE), where several hundred GI's are assigned, mostly as drivers, guards and communications system technicians.

Similar propaganda tirades are being launched with new vigor at United States supply lines centers at Bordeaux, La Rochelle, Orleans and Metz.

The actual number of American soldiers now in France is a secret of the military, but officers make it no secret that the Communists are wasting their time and their party's money in trying to scare U.S. troops with the old refrain of propoganda.

"Most of the kids just laugh at it," said one officer. "Others think it would be fun to try to catch a Communist sign painter at work and give him his answer on the spot."

Officers seem to be exempted from the current campaign, which apparently is designed to make American soldiers so ashamed of being "cannon-fodder for the Wall Street bankers" that they will pack up and leave.

Gen. Eisenhower, however, still gets frequent mention in the Communist press as "the MacArthur of Europe," and has been referred to once as "The Cannibal."

Scrawly signs appear on the pavements and walls near soldiers' barracks saying "Americans Go Home." The roads leading from Eisenhower's headquarters just west of Paris to nearby St. Germain are the most recent to be so inscribed.

Nearly 200 soldiers who work at SHAPE are living at St. Germain and make the five-mile trip by bus twice a day.

Leaflets recently appeared in Saint Germain during the night addressed to "American soldiers in Saint Germain:"

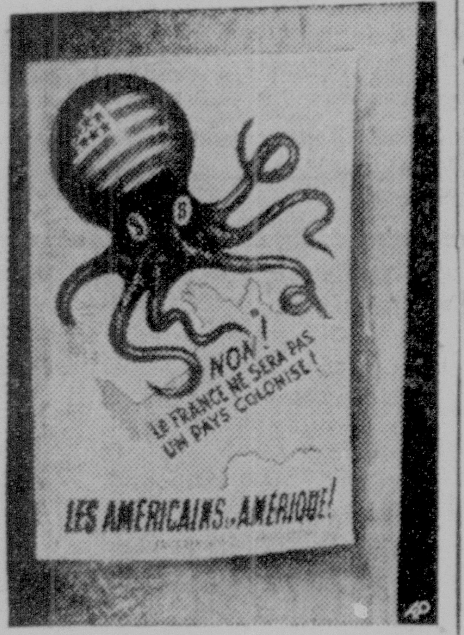
"Do you know why you have been sent to France?" the leaflets asked. "You don't? Well, this is why."

The poorly printed yellow leaflet then quoted a purported magazine article containing the sentence: "Money spent on armaments and on help to foreign countries backs up business (in the United States)."

"That is why you are occupying Saint Germain," said the leaflet. "That is why the population turns its back on you. You have been told you were defending civilization but you are backing up steel merchants, you are the instruments of their wealth."

The leaflets recalled that American liberation troops were welcomed in France, but said "Now you are the Army of Occupation."

Leaflets with identical texts have been found at Orleans and elsewhere, officers report.



ANTI-AMERICAN Red posters now seen in Paris.

Disabled Vets Need Jobs

The Veterans Administration is trying to find training opportunities for disabled veterans, H. H. Streimer, chief of the training facilities section of the Vocational Rehabilitation and Education Division, said yesterday.

Employers in the Cumberland area are urged to get in touch with the VA office here in the Post Office Building if they can train a veteran in one of ten listed occupations.

The jobs are: Stock record clerk; building maintenance man, electrical appliance repairman, instrument repairman, bench assembler, meat cutter, sheet metal worker, upholsterer, furniture finisher and automobile painter.

Veterans are available here for these positions and VA officials explained the 10 job categories were determined by means of tests designed to find the occupation for which the disabled men are best suited.

Fort Hill Girl Gets State Post

Miss Shirlee Twigg, a Fort Hill High School junior, was elected secretary of the Maryland Association of Student Councils at the annual convention of the group October 18 and 19 at Catonsville High School.

Others from Fort Hill attending the third annual convention which stressed the theme, youth leadership training through the student council, were Vernon Smith, Joan Schaidt, and James Reynolds. Miss Regina McCulley of the faculty, accompanied the group.

A student of Frederick High School was elected president of the state association.

On arrival at Catonsville High each member of the association was given a delegate's badge and programs of the session. Following registration, a business meeting was held in the auditorium.

Miss Twigg is secretary of the Fort Hill council. She is a member of the Beta-Tri-Hi-Y and is student manager of the girls basketball team.

Light Knocked Down On Baltimore Street

The traffic light at the corner of Baltimore and North Mechanic Streets was knocked from its base yesterday morning by a tractor-trailer truck. This is the second time in several months the light has been struck.

The light can be repaired, according to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn, and will be back in operation the next two days.

Lt. Raymond R. Johnston reported a truck knocked the device to the pavement about noon when the vehicle made a turn too sharply.

Offhand, police were unable to say how many times lights have been knocked down at the corner. Several weeks ago a new light arrived and was put into place at Market Street, and the signaling device there was transferred to the Main Stem intersection.

No charges were filed against the driver after he agreed to pay for damages.

Air Raid Alert Held In Area

Outpost 24-B, at Frostburg, the only ground aircraft observation post in Allegany County, participated in the surprise air raid alert staged Wednesday by the Air Force in a 19-state area.

The message of the alert was received by Mrs. William E. Toms, wife of the outpost supervisor at their Frostburg home Wednesday.

Adam Kalbaugh, chief observer at the outpost, had a group of men ready for duty at the outpost on short notice.

The object of the three-hour alert was to determine how rapidly some 6,000 ground observer posts in the northeastern area of the country could answer a call to action.

No planes were sent up, and key air raid warning centers were not involved in the exercise—and the public generally was not aware of the mythical approach of enemy aircraft.

Air Force officials explained that the surprise alert was intended only to test communications facilities.

Night Operations Planned To Find Black Snow Cause

Night observations are being taken by the Smoke Abatement Office to learn the source of the mysterious "black snow" which has been falling on South Cumberland for some time.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, said the office is determined to learn the source of the substance and that the checks will be made at night in an attempt to eliminate the nuisance.

The Smoke Abatement Office began its work on the problem early this week after a number of complaints were made.

None of the "black snow" was found yesterday morning, Hitchcock said.

Hitchcock said it will take about two days to complete analyzation of the "snow." He added that he gathered several good samples of it for analysis.

A considerable number of tests must be given the tissue-like substance, which had its heaviest concentration in the section between First and Fifth streets.

The substance has been falling in South End for over a two or three-month period, the smoke engineer reported, with much of it being deposited during the night.

As a result, Hitchcock added, the smoke abatement department will begin observations during the night on an irregular schedule.

Hitchcock believes that this system will eventually result in the department discovering the source of the flaky carbon-like substance.

Ticket-Taking Teacher Upheld On Pay Demand

MEDIA, Pa.—(AP)—A high school algebra teacher's demand that he be paid extra for taking tickets at a school football game has been upheld by the Delaware County Court.

The decision, handed down by President Judge Harold A. Ervin, was on a widely-publicized appeal by A. Todd Coronway, a teacher at Lansdowne, Pa., High School.

Judge Ervin ruled that the assignment of Coronway to take tickets at a game last October 28 "was a demotion of the said Coronway in type of position."

"The question involved extends far beyond the narrow confines of this particular teacher," Judge Ervin ruled. "It will affect the duties and compensation of all teachers in the state, because they all hold similar contracts.

"The duties of a teacher are professional and cannot be measured with a time clock."

Coronway, a social studies and algebra instructor, demanded that he be paid $2.50 an hour for the ticket-collecting assignment. He contended that teachers should received compensation for extra-curricular activities to which school authorities assign them.

Dr. E. Carlton Abbott, school superintendent, turned down Coronway's request. Coronway appealed to Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, who last June dismissed Coronway's appeal.

Dr. Haas said that Coronway's ticket-taking duties did not demote him in either type of position or salary.

Fire Ruins Medical Clinic In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP)—A six-alarm fire ruined a medical clinic near downtown Baltimore yesterday and damage was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Five firemen were overcome by smoke and another suffered a back injury when he fell through a skylight.

Some $165,000 worth of radium stored in a special vault behind the building was not harmed, one of the doctors at the clinic said.

The blaze started between 6 and 7 p. m. in the old brick building housing the Kelly Clinic in the 1400 Block Eutaw Place.

Princess Elizabeth, Duke To Visit Africa

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Globetrotting Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh are going to take a look at tropical Africa next year.

They plan to stop over in Kenya for a few days on their way to Australia and New Zealand next February, where they are due for an official tour. Buckingham Palace disclosed the projected African visit yesterday.

Dean Of Magicians Dies

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Al Baker, 77, a professional magician for 60 years, died yesterday.

He was known as the dean of the Society of American Magicians, and invented a number of tricks during years in vaudeville.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—Attention atheists! How do you explain away the atom? It's a pretty complicated gadget, this atom. Especially when liberties are taken with it, as is the case at the Nevada test site.

Take a spec of coal so small that it not only cannot be seen by the sharpest eye in the world but cannot be detected except by the finest optical microscope. Well, that spec contains 1,000,000,000 atoms. And each one of these atoms has a nucleus, or core, ten-thousand times smaller than the whole atom.

It is the cracking of that nucleus that causes radiation which could result in anything from the loss of hair and teeth to cancer and death. It is the chain reaction of trillions of splitting uranium or plutonium atoms which makes possible the A-bomb.

But it takes more than a nutcracker to puncture the rind of an atom and slice that sub-sub-sub-sub microscopic seed that is the nucleus. The nucleus of uranium or plutonium is put together so securely that if a chain could be made of them and each link secured as tightly as the composite parts of the nucleus is secured the chain (though invisible to the eye) could lift every ship in the U. S. Navy right out of the ocean like a mess of minnows.

If all the atoms in a kilogram of uranium or plutonium (2.2 pounds) could be made to split, not at once but under rigid control, they would produce as much electrical energy as every power plant in every U. S. city and all the great hydro-electric projects such as Niagara Falls, T.V.A., and Hoover Dam—combined—could produce for 30 days.

The nutcracker of the nucleus is a particle known as a neutron. Neutrons abound around us, flying through the air at speeds not far below the 186,000 miles per second speed of light. They are the missiles which break the heart of the nucleus of such "unstable" atoms as those of uranium and plutonium. The broken nucleus emits other neutrons which scattered through the assembled mass of fissionable material, breaking other nuclei which in turn give off more neutrons which break more nuclei which give off more neutrons, and sometimes wipe out places like Hiroshima.

As long as man has worked with radioactive material he has taken pains to protect himself from its rays. The safety record of A-bomb builders is remarkable. Though tens of thousands of workers have dabbled in the hot atom since 1943 only two have died of radiation. Both scientists in question were experimenting with masses of material not dangerous if kept inseparate little mounds, but highly dangerous if the mounds were brought together.

The latter emergency arose in each case, and each scientist instinctly reached into the pattern of the material and scattered the pieces. In the latter of the two tragedies eight other scientists standing in the same lab were hospitalized. One was gravely ill for a long period—Dr. Alvin Graves, now test director of the current atomic war games. The doctor's semi-bald head is about the only souvenir of his brush with death.

As a result of these deaths and injuries such laboratory experiments are now conducted with a fifth of a mile of shielding and air between the actual material and the man who is dallying with it.

This is done by means of incredible mechanical hands manipulated by remote control. A television camera is the extended eye of the remote scientist. A T-V screen in front of him tells him what his "hands" are doing, perhaps in some other building on the atomic reservation. This process is expected also to eliminate what for a time threatened to become an occupational disease of such works: cataracts of the eye.

Radiation cannot be seen or felt, yet it is such an important factor of all atomic work that protection against it represents, in some cases, 90 per cent of the cost of atomic installations. At New York's Brookhaven National Laboratory 16 futuristic sentinel stations scattered around the 6,750 acre layout are ready night and day to shut off the reactors if adverse weather conditions threaten to force radioactive particles over the neighboring countryside.

The plutonium plant at Hanford, Wash., has costly ventilating systems that reduce the poisonous plutonium gas which escapes from the plant's chimneys to one-million-billionth of a part.

And all this multi-multi-billion dollar program, which embraces everything from radioactive iodine for recalcitrant thyroid glands to A-bombs whose explosions not even Shakespeare could have described, comes from breaking the heart of a nucleus that no man has ever seen or ever will.

Irked Principal Sets Off School Fireworks In L. A.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Hell hath no fury like a scorned school principal—especially a woman.

Today the seven-member board entrusted with the education of 350,000 children and the spending of $110,000,000 a year has four of its members named in grand jury actions and a fifth resigned after being accused as a devotee of what medical experts branded as voodoo.

All because Mrs. Ione Swan, an elementary school principal, went to war against the board earlier this year.

Mrs. Swan, a principal for more than 25 years, went over the board's heads to the county grand jury. She called the administration of Los Angeles schools a "little Kremlin" and listed charges of insurance graft, unsafe playgrounds, bad food in cafeterias and unqualified teachers.

The board promptly fired her from her $7,125 a year job for professional misconduct. It said Mrs. Swan was disgruntled because she didnt' get a better job she was seeking.

Mrs. Swan retorted that the board's action "throws the real issue into sharp focus."

On May 1, the grand jury opened an investigation of the city schools.

On May 3, an insurance broker testified he arranged to apportion school bus liability insurance commissions with the then-president of the board, Roy J. Becker and L. S. Rounsavelle, husband of a school board member. The broker was Robert Landier, whose brother heads a transportation firm which operates most of the city school bus fleet. It took the grand just a week to vote accusations against Becker and Mrs. Gertrude Rounsavelle.

(The seldom-used accusation is a complaint against a public official which seeks his removal from office on grounds he failed in his public responsibility. Unlike an indictment, it is not a criminal charge).

Becker was ousted from office after a court hearing and Mrs. Rounsavelle was defeated for re-election. The accusation against her was then dropped.

On Aug. 30, the grand jury voted an accusation against J. Paul Elliott alleging he accepted legal fees from the Landier interests while voting on several million dollars worth of bus contracts with the firm. He is up for a jury trial Dec. 3.

On Oct. 11, Olin E. Darby, fourth board member under fire, was indicted on three counts charging violation of the state code which bars elected officials from having an interest in contracts on which they vote. He is alleged to have voted on a school contract for the purchase of ice cream from a firm to which he had rented business property, and on two contracts for printing from other tenants.

If convicted, Darby faces a maximum penalty of imprisonment for one to five years and a fine of $1,000.

Meanwhile, the district attorney's office is continuing its inquiry into the school setup and is reported to have seized registration cards, cancelled checks and receipted bills covering resort visits by school administration figures.

Superintendent of Schools Alexander J. Stoddard answered published reports that he was entertained by Felicien Landier, owner of the bus firm, at Yosemite.

"I have eaten or spent an evening with Mr. Landier perhaps a dozen times," Stoddard told a reported. "I think we are about square for picking up the check for each other. If they are going to start dragging the private social life of Mrs. Stoddard and myself into things like this, they can have my job any time they want it."

Bruce Findlay, associate superintendent for schools, said he and his wife stopped at Yosemite National Park with the Stoddards enroute home from an educators' conference. Findlay said Landier was stopping at the hotel and paid his bill but Findlay said he objected and reimbursed Landier.

"I have that check now, endorsed by Mr. Landier. As of this moment that $52.66 cancelled check is the most precious thing in my possession today."

Mrs. Eleanor Allen, the board president after Becker's ouster, resigned from the board Oct. 15 to "restore public confidence." She had not figured in any grand jury action but her resignation followed public disclosure of the most bizarre aspect of the case.

By her own testimony in federal court, she believes that a little black box with dials, tuned in on a drop of her blood in Hollywood can save her from an attack of pneumonia ever though she might be in Snow Shoe, Pa., or Singapore at the time.

She testified Sept. 19 in federal court in support of Dr. Ruth B. Drown, inventor of the black box. Mrs. Allen said she was convinced the box could cure anything from colds to cancer even though the patient was thousands of miles away.

Government prosecutors and medical experts branded the box as on a "par with the voodoo works of tribal medicine men and witch doctors." Electronics experts testified the box is nothing more than an inefficient battery tester. It looks like a 1925 radio with a headset.

Mrs. Allen testified the box cured her son's hands of skin eruptions in 1933. She said she felt a cold coming on in Atlantic City once and wired Dr. Drown and her husband, Dr. Walter W. Allen, a doctor of radio therapy. The doctors, she said, put a sample of her blood in the device which then diagnosed the ailment and treated her across country.

The federal jury, nevertheless, convicted Dr. Drown for criminal violation of the Food and Drug Act.

The Old Second Guesser

By JOHN N. WHEELER

If I Were President

The Dutch Treat Club opened its season about a week ago, and among the members present was Herbert Hoover, the only living ex-president of the United States. The old gentleman looked to be in good health, and he has mellowed through the years and developed a warmth he didn't have when his address was the White House. He has discarded the high choker collars for low ones attached to his shirt, he gives a warm handshake, and looks you in the eye with a twinkle in his, although he is not optimistic about the prospects for the U.S.A. and the world in general.

John Wheeler

It must have been 10 years ago, Deac Aylesworth called me one day and invited me to have lunch with the distinguished statesman. I didn't stop to inquire where he got the authority, but accepted before he changed his mind. Grant Rice, Mr. A and I met in the Waldorf bar and decided to patronize the place before going up to our host's apartment. Larry Richey, his former secretary, was the only other guest, and, before we sat down, he asked,

"Would you fellows like a drink?"

Grant started to clear his throat, when Mr. Hoover spoke up.

"It looks like an occasion," he said, which was flattering. "Let's have one."

The ayes won it. He took a single shot, and so did we. He told some wonderful stories of his experiences which cannot be reported here as it was a social gathering, and then he reminisced about sports with Rice. It was a warm and easy affair, and soon he was addressing me by my first name, and I was calling him "Chief." When we left, I felt I had made a real friend.

Then there was the time Bruce Barton, Grantland Rice, Frank Crowninshield and I had been playing golf and on the way home, as is often the case, it semed to be a good idea to nominate Mr. B. as the Republican candiadte for President. He is a big, good-looking guy, and had been a member of Congress. We stopped at the Rice apartment to continue the caucus, and a couple of old-fashioneds fanned our enthusiasm to the point where Grant promised him the Tennessee delegation, and we decided to put out an interview. I called the man in charge of the office at night, thinking he would realize we were kidding. We announced the Barton hat was in the ring, and he concluded by saying,

Much to our surprise the story appeared in a couple of papers, and someone must have told Mr. Hoover about it, because he mentioned it to our candidate, and, being the politician he is, as well as an advertising tycoon, he denied it. However, it gave him an idea, and he wrote an article for the Cosmopolitan magazine with some such title as "What I Would Do If President." It was reported he got $1,500 for this masterpiece, and Mr. Rice and I are still trying to collect our share, claiming we originated the idea.

If I were President now, I would be for the United States of America first. We have had too many tenants of the White House lately who look toward distant horizons. I recently heard a distinguished military man, who had devoted his life to the service, say we are wasting our resources overseas and the most important one of all—manpower. He added he would send no more American soldiers to Europe than we have there now.

We should never have gone into Korea with ground troops I believe. My friend says we should now turn the job over to the Asiatics who want freedom after training and equipping their armies. We would go back to the fundamentals which made this country great—integrity, thrift, and enterprise. I would try to clean out the crooks who have oozed into the government, and then fumigate the place. I would cut down on the number of federal employes. When I read of Heartbreak Ridge, I choke up. The general remarked this affair made little difference in the whole campaign. In wars, we lose the best of the breed—the slovens stay home and survive.

But I have not seen my name mentioned with those of Senator Taft, General Eisenhower, and Harry Truman, so I guess I may as well close up the typewriter.

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

(By Representative J. Glenn Beall, Sixth Maryland District)

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS . . . A 5½ billion dollar tax bill was finally passed with slight changes after being rejected by the House last week.

A compromise bill appropriating $597 million for flood control and rivers and harbors projects, handled by the Corps of Engineers, was passed. The bill calls for about $83 million more than the House originally ordered and about $41 million less than the amount called for in the original Senate bill.

The House completed action to extend veterans preference provisions to veterans of the Korean War, making them eligible for the same GI benefits in veterans' housing as World War II veterans.

The House also passed the Railroad Retirement bill increasing benefits by 15 per cent; survivors' annuities by 33⅓ per cent; lump-sum benefits by 25 per cent; $40 maximum spouse's annuity; credit for service after 65; increased survivor annuities where spouse has died; and increasing time limit for filing applications for annuities from 60 days to 6 months.

•—•—•

VETERANS . . . Helpless veterans who may be entitled to the increased pension rate of $120 a month when they need attendant services will have to apply to Veterans Administration by letter to receive it. There is no automatic review of cases to determine if veterans qualify.

•—•—•

RESERVISTS . . . The new Reservists plan divides reserves into Ready, Standby and Retired classifications. Ready reserves can be called to active duty for 24 months without their consent. These include National Guard and organized units as well as draftees who have served two years. Standby and Retired groups would be subject to call only in time of all-out war or when specifically ordered by Congress.

•—•—•

TAXES . . . In 1929 the annual tax for each adult in the U. S. was $151. In 1940 it was $184. At present, in 1951, it will amount to $860. In the last 11 years, the federal tax has grown from $6.7 billion to about $65 billion dollars.

•—•—•

SPENDING . . . In the first 101 days of the fiscal year which began July 1, the federal government spent money at the rate of $1,914 per second. Of this amount, $382.41 was borrowed. The total deficit for 101 days was more than $3⅓ billion dollars and going higher each day.

•—•—•

COMMUNIST MILLIONS . . . Disbursement of a million dollars to subversive and Communist organizations was revealed to Congress in a report by Rep. Velde (R) of Illinois, a member of the Un-American Activities Committee of the House, from tax-free trust funds supposedly for educational purposes. Cited was a $20,000 legal fee for defense of William Remington, charged and convicted of lying about being a Communist, paid for by the Robert Marshall Civil Liberties trust. Other trusts giving aid to leftist causes are the Carnegie group, Alger Hiss' former employer, and some Rockefeller trust funds.

•—•—•

UNDER THE DOME . . . The House passed my bill providing for the transfer of government owned land not in use to the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Inasmuch as the legislation has passed the Senate it has now gone to the President for signing.

The Post Office Department advised me that an extension of rural service has been approved which will take care of the residents of Jefferson Heights, Hagerstown.

Numerous requests have come to me for help in securing military units for coming Armistice Day parades in the District. I have requested such participation and am hopeful that each request will be approved.

All In The Viewpoint

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice Kam, 56, arrested with her son, Herbert, 33, in a dope raid was quoted by police today as telling them:

"Herbert is a good boy, a good son. He never brought me anything but the very purest stuff (dope)."

From World War II to 1951 the U. S. had developed 53 different types of jet planes.

Shipyard Worker Sentenced To Hang

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP)—Sylvester [illegible], 23-[illegible] old shipyard worker, has been sentenced to hang for the murder of a grocer during a holdup last April.

Sentence was imposed by Judges S. Ralph Warnken, Herman M. Moser and Joseph R. Byrnes, who presided as the Criminal Court jury trial several months ago.

The grocer, 50-year-old Zelig Gerstein, was shot to death by an armed bandit who tried to hold him up.

Taft Asks Arms Program Check

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25 (AP) — Calling for a recheck of military expenditures, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today "we've just about reached the limit on taxes."

"We have to be as selective with our military projects as anything else," Taft declared. "We can't run the entire world. There's an economic limitation on the United States."

Taft called for establishment of a joint civilian-military commission to reappraise military expenditures. This commission, he suggested, would:

"Determine exactly how large an expenditure is necessary to assure the peace and security of the United States and, at least eliminate the waste and extravagance which is likely to permeate a military establishment."

Taft spoke at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon. Earlier at a news conference he urged that we press for completion of the Korean cease fire negotiation, declaring:

"A stalemated peace is better than a stalemated war."

Remington Faces Perjury Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — The federal government placed a new perjury charge against Economist William Remington today, after flubbing a previous attempt to jail him.

Remington's lawyer at once raised a cry of "double jeopardy"—the forbidden practice of trying a man more than once for the same crime.

Said Attorney Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., in Washington:

"We cannot believe that this vicious device to avoid the time-honored rule against double jeopardy will be sanctioned by the American people or the American courts."

In the new indictment, a federal grand jury accused Remington of lying five times from the witness stand while being convicted of perjury. He upset the conviction on an appeal.

While perjury is the charge against the former $10,000 a year Commerce Department economist, the heart of the case all along has been the allegation that he was a Communist who stole government secrets for a Soviet spy ring.

Ex-Convict Charged With Liquor Deaths

ATLANTA, Oct. 25 (AP) — A 360-pound ex-convict was charged with murder today in the deaths of 31 Atlantans from a deadly batch of moonshine.

Solicitor General Paul Webb said the huge Atlanta man, John R. (Fat) Hardy, 44, had a criminal record three pages long.

The lethal liquor — a mixture of wood alcohol and water — began taking its toll late Sunday night.

Since then 29 negroes and two white persons have died. In addition, the city hospital has been swamped with 301 other victims whose symptoms ranged from nausea to blindness.

In nearby Winder, Ga., two white men died of methyl alcohol poisoning last night and a third was in critical condition, bringing the total fatalities in the Atlanta area to 33.

Calvert County Keeps Eye On Nelson Case

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 25 (AP)—State's Attorney Arthur W. Dowell of Calvert County said today he is watching closely the development of gambling and conspiracy charges against Charles E. Nelson in Washington and Prince Georges County.

Nelson, his wife and eight others were indicted in Prince Georges County yesterday in gambling charges.

Earlier this week the Nelsons and 14 others were indicted in Washington.

The Washington indictments charged that the Nelson syndicate used a house at North Beach, Calvert County, for some of the book-work and money counting in its numbers operation.

King's Wife Files Annulment Petition

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 25 (AP)—The first step was taken today to pave the way for Sheppard (Abdullah) King III to marry a royal Egyptian dancer.

Mrs. Sheppard King filed a petition for annulment of her second marriage to the wealthy red-headed Texan, claiming "fancy drinks" deprived her of her reason and will power when she remarried June 2, 1951. She said she didn't remember the marriage.

The petition was filed in district court. Action on it may come Monday.

King, a Moslem now with the name Abdullah, met, wooed and won the hand of Dancer Samia Gamel in just three hours time. He was on a European holiday. His wife and sister were in Paris, too.

Soviet, Egyptian Officials Confer

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 25 (AP)—A Soviet-Egyptian meeting in the midst of the British-Egyptian crisis over the Suez and the Sudan won the headlines in Cairo newspapers today.

A meeting between King Farouk and U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery was reported at the same time in the official gazette.

The newspapers splashed front pages with pictures and stories of the 90-minute talk yesterday at the foreign office between Russian Minister Semen Pavlovitch Kozyrev and Egypt's foreign minister, Mohamed Salah El Din.

A British military spokesman, meanwhile, said an Egyptian labor boycott, obstruction and starvation tactics in the canal zone are creating a critical situation for the British.

But British forces holding the Suez went on "iron rations" like a wartime field army and kept British ships moving through the canal. They turned to canned foods in place of fresh foodstuffs that are no longer flowing into the zone from Egyptian sources.

Stripper's Request Granted By Judge

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 25 (AP)—Strip Teaser Lili St. Cyr, fully clothed in $30,000 worth of mink, today asked for a blue-ribbon jury to hear charges that she put on an indecent show for a movieland crowd at Ciro's nightclub.

The tall, leggy Lili appeared in Justice Court with Lawyer Jerry Giesler. She pleaded innocent in the brief arraignment. Giesler asked a panel of experts in the fields of art, movies and television be picked to judge the case.

Justice Henry H. Draeger pondered the request a moment, set Dec. 4 for the trial and added the "panel will be representative."

Giesler told reporters he planned to present Lili in her famed bubble bath routine at the trial.

Probers Find Low Morale At Three U. S. Marine Posts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — A Senate investigating committee today criticized home-front training conditions at some U. S. Marine bases as contributing to low morale among the leathernecks and wasting the taxpayers' money.

Citing widespread complaints, the committee's report singled out a variety of cases ranging from poor food and flimsily protected open-air showers to overstaffing in "chair corps" positions.

The report recommended that women replace some of the able-bodied desk men.

At the Pentagon, a Marine spokesman told reporters:

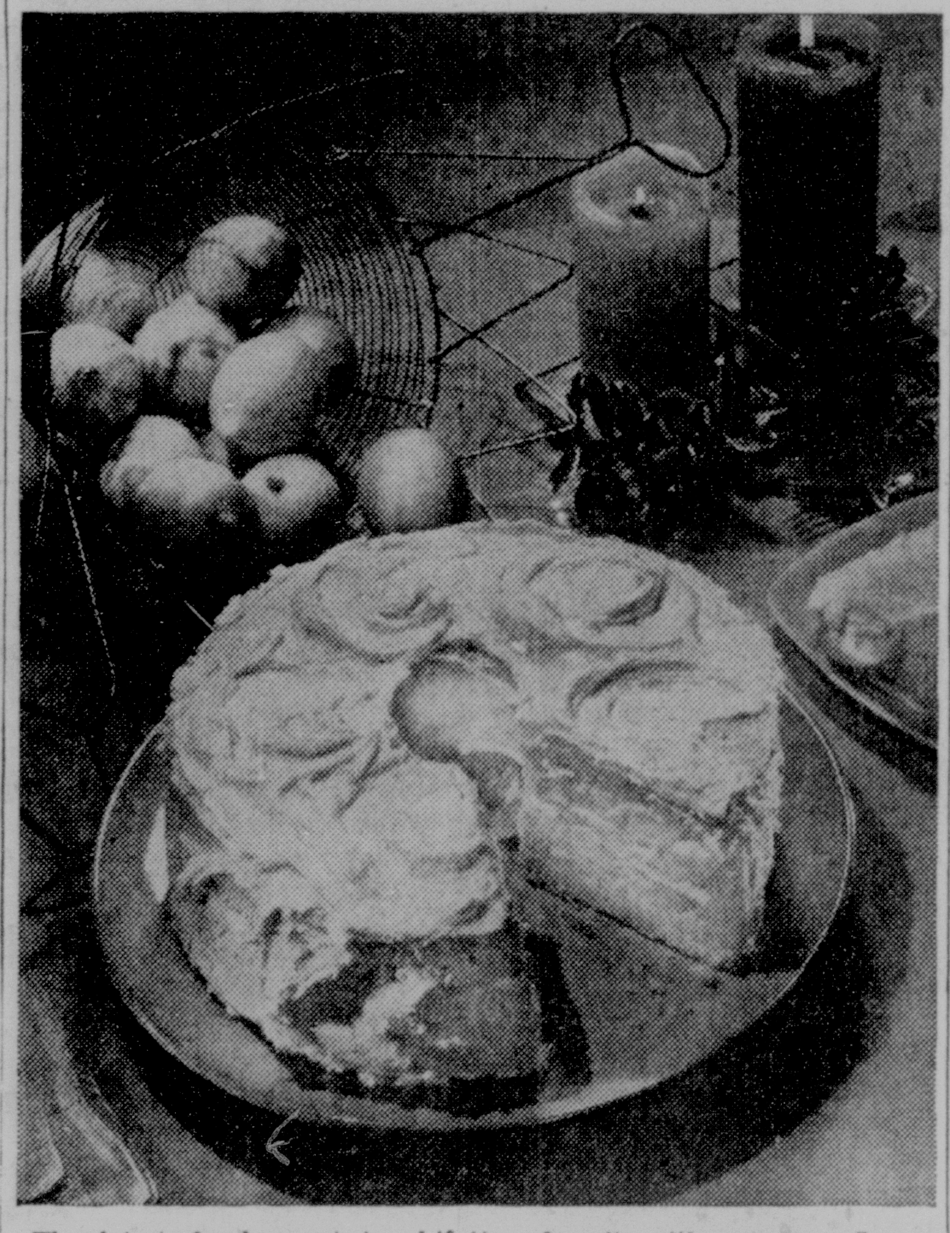
"The Marine Corps is studying the report with a view of taking corrective action where indicated."

Several camp commandants criticized in the report promised similar "corrective" steps.

The report was issued by Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) as chairman of a preparedness subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee. It was the 31st report of the subcommittee since it was set up as a "watchdog" over the nation's mobilization program.

The group said it found dissatisfaction and low morale — particularly among reservists recently called to duty — at three Marine bases: El Toro and Camp Pendleton in California and Camp LeJeune in North Carolina.

Lucious Lemon Gold Cake



The latest development in chiffon cakes is this luscious Lemon Gold beauty with a delightful fresh lemon flavor. It's a really new and different cake, using a newly introduced salad oil. Thanks to the juice and grated peel of tangy fresh lemons, the delicate flavor of this cake is a favorite with everyone. Lemon Gold Cake owes its light tender texture to the salad oil. You'll find that it is quick and easy to blend . . .one of the simplest cakes to make.

If you're counting your household pennies, you'll be happy to note that this recipe makes a large 10-inch cake with only six eggs. You'll marvel at the large volume, light texture of a chiffon cake with this number of eggs.

Crowned with Lemon Fluff Frosting, this newly developed cake is one you'll probably serve on special occasions as well as for family dinners. The fresh lemon juice and peel combine with other ingredients in the frosting to give a wonderful flavor that complements the Lemon Gold Cake. Best of all, the frosting requires no cooking or lengthy mixing process — whip it up in a jiffy, spread on cake and you'll have a much sought-after dessert.

LEMON GOLD CAKE

2¼ cups sifted cake flour
1½ cups sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup salad oil
6 eggs, separated
¾ cup cold water
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ teaspoon cream of tartar

Sift the flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together in a bowl. Make a well and add in order, the oil, egg yolks, water, lemon juice and peel. Beat with a spoon until smooth. Add the cream of tartar to the egg whites and beat until very, very stiff. Pour the egg yolk mixture gradually over the whipped egg whites, carefully folding with a rubber scraper just until blended. Do not stir. Pour immediately into an ungreased 10x4 inch tube pan. Bake in a moderate oven, 325°F. for 70 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched. After removing the cake from the oven, turn the pan upside down, placing the tube part over the neck of a small funnel. When cold, loosen the sides with a spatula, remove the cake and frost.

LEMON FLUFF FROSTING

½ cup margarine
dash salt
4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel

Cream the margarine; add salt and part of sugar. Cream well and add remaining sugar alternately with lemon juice, creaming until light and fluffy. Add lemon peel and mix thoroughly.

Gasoline Price War Reaches Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 25 (AP) —A gasoline price war spread from Chambersburg, Pa., to Hagerstown today with some operators selling straight gas at 24.4 cents a gallon.

The 3.1 cent drop was noted within hours after the first Hagerstown station operator joined the fight. Three others began matching price cuts.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Can you learn to "close your ears"?

Answer: Not entirely, of course, but your mental attitude has more to do than you may think with the extent to which sounds and noises disturb you—actual deafness may be caused by an unconscious refusal to hear. The extent to which you are aware of sounds depends largely on the "meaning" they have for you—above all on how far you interpret them as threats. The more you feel that the milkman or the garbage truck is deliberately trying to keep you awake, the more effectually they will do so, and conversely, the more clearly you can realize that a noise has nothing to do with you, the easier it will be to disregard it.

May mother-in-law be a scapegoat?

Answer: Yes, says Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 174: "How To Be a Good Mother-in-Law and Grandmother." Mothers-in-law xxx have had such a "bad press" for so long that you are likely to start with the odds against you. For one thing, your child's mate may prefer to blame you for his or her shortcomings rather than find fault directly with the loved one. Or again, "Perhaps your son-in-law or daughter-in-law has been angry at his or her own mother but has felt guilty about that anger" and unconsciously transferred it to you. For "annoyance at a mother-in-law stamps no one as a heartless, ungrateful creature."

CRIME WAVE UNCHECKED

Do we need a "return to reason"?

Answer: Yes. writes Otto Friedrich Bollnow in the German magazine, Sammlung. Admitting that "emotional behavior" does much to enrich life, he maintains that order and democracy can be achieved only by training our selves and our children to "live reasonably." While modern psychology has shown that reason cannot have the central place in life that once was assigned to it, emotion without reason can lead only to disaster. The function of psychoanalysis, for instance, is not to make you ignore what your reason tells you but to help you rid yourself of the emotional disturbances that keep you from following reason's dictates.

Governor Not Justified In Remitting Fine

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP) — A magistrate who accepts a bad check in payment of a fine can't expect the governor to bail him out.

The governor has the power to do so, says an opinion by Attorney General Hall Hammond, but wouldn't be justified in remitting the fine under the circumstances.

The opinion was in a letter to Handy B. Truitt, trial magistrate who had accepted a check in payment of a fine of $200.75 for a motor vehicle law violation. The writer of the check subsequently stopped payment on it.

The magistrate asked the governor to remit the fine, thus allowing the magistrate to make up the loss.

Meals Of French Creation Give Much Needed Pickup

It is said that to stay young we must not be averse to changing personal habits now and then; which is probably true. There is nothing like a new approach to things to give everyday living a much-needed pickup. For example, how long has it been since you have tried out a new recipe on the family? In case you're in the mood for something different, you can't go wrong if you decide on a recipe or two from one of the European countries, France for instance. French cooking is famous the world over, and justly so. It need not be difficult either, as you can see from the accompanying recipes. They will add excitement to any meal and are sure to make you want to go to see for your self the many interesting things to be found in France.

France, country of a thousand facets...no wonder, as the saying goes, "Every American longs to go there before he or she dies." There is Paris, the heart of France, with its historical treasures...the Eiffel tower, the Louvre, Notre-Dame, the Opera, not to mention the most famous streets in the world, the Rue de la paix, and the Champs-Elysees. Here are quantities of beautiful shops and interesting places to eat. Places, incidentally, where they serve the very foods we feature in the column today.

The creative and frugal French use imagination freely. When they have little meat (and who has a lot these days?) they make the most of it. You will too if you serve those delicious stuffed cucumbers or meat pancakes. (Recipe below). Another tempting dish of theirs well worth trying is onion pie. Now that onions are so plentiful, why not serve them in this unusual way? Any of these good dishes will make a meal to remember.

Combres Farcis

Stuffed cucumbers, French style

3 cucumbers; 1 cup cooked, chopped meat; ½ cup cooked rice; 1½ cups sauce; salt, pepper; grated nutmeg; chopped parsley and chives.

Cut three medium-sized cucumbers lengthwise, remove seeds and peel very thin, leaving a little of the skin. Place the halved cucumbers in a greased baking dish and fill with chopped, cooked meat and rice, mixed and seasoned. Cover with thick bechamel (cream) sauce, sprinkle with salt, pepper and grated nutmeg, chopped parsley and chives and bake in medium oven 1 hour.

Crepes De Bouuf

1 small onion, minced; 2 tablsp. fat; 1 cup finely chopped cooked beef. ½ tsp. salt; dash of pepper; 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour; 1 tsp. baking powder; 1 egg, beaten; 1½ cups milk; butter; chopped parsley.

Saute onion in 1 tablespoon fat until browned; add meat, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper, and cook 1 minute. Prepare griddle cake batter, using flour, baking powder, remaining ¼ teaspoon salt, egg and milk; beat in meat mixture. Cook as for large pancakes on greased hot griddle; spread with butter, sprinkle with parsley and roll tightly; serve piping hot. Yield: 10 crepes.

Tarte A L'oignon

Onion Pie

¼cup butter; 2 cups sliced onions; 2 tblsp. flour; 1 tsp. salt; ½ tsp. pepper; 1 cup top milk; 3 eggs, well beaten; pastry; parsley.

Melt butter, add onions and stir over medium heat until lightly browned. Sprinkle with flour and seasonings, and blend. Add milk gradually while stirring over low heat. Stir mixture gradually into beaten egg. Line 8-inch pie pan with pastry and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for three minutes. Remove from oven. Fill with onion mixture and bake about 20 minutes until set. Serve hot garnished with ring of parsley. 6 servings.

Bisque of Shrimp Bretonne

2 lbs. raw shrimp; 1 cup chopped mushrooms; 2 tblsp. chopped onion; 2 tblsp. chopped celery; 1 tblsp. chopped carrot; 2 tblsp. butter; salt and cayenne; 2 cups chicken or veal stock; 1 cup white wine(Rhine or Sauternes); 1 cup light cream.

Remove shells and veins of shrimp and chop fine; cook with vegetables in butter over low heat 2 minutes; add seasonings and stock and simmer about 10 minutes, or until tender and soft; force through sieve. Add wine and cream to puree and heat almost to boiling point; serve immediately. 8 servings.

French Brioche

¼cup scalded milk; 1 cup melted butter; ½ cup sugar; ½ tsp. salt; 1½ tsp. grated lemon rind; 2 cakes compressed yeast; ¼ cup lukewarm water; 6 beaten eggs; 4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Combine milk, butter, sugar, salt and lemon rind; cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water; stir and combine with cooled milk mixture. Add eggs. Add 3 cups of flour; beat 10 minutes by hand of four minutes using the electric mixer set for medium speed. Then add the remaining flour and beat until mixture is smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place (800 to 850°F.) about 1 hour, or until doubled in bulk. Stir down, cover tightly and chill overnight in refrigerator.

Take from refrigerator, form quickly into an equal number of large and small balls. make the large balls 1-3 to ½ the size of muffin pans, and the small balls about ½ this size. Place large balls in greased muffin pans; flatten down. Top each one with a small ball. Brush with diluted slightly beaten egg white. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 2½ dozen brioches.

French Soup Is Dramatic

Occasionally it's fun to create a bit of culinary excitement on your day's menu with an exotic dish to dramatize even the simplest meal. This cream soup with the French name, Creme Senegalaise, is unusual enough for special party occasions and so delicious the family will want it often. The distinctive flavor of curry is a reminder of its Moorish origin in Senegal, a colony on the coast of French West Africa bordered by the Senegal River.

One of the specialties of Chicago's famous Imperial House, Creme Senegalaise shares honors on their menu with such "potages" as Green Turtle, Russian Borscht, Vichyssoise, Petite Marmite and other foreign soups.

Made with a basic cream sauce, this soup is simple to prepare. Soups made with milk are an easy way to make sure your family gets plenty of milk's vital nutrients each day.

With steaming bowls of Senegalaise serve caraway or plain rye "chips." To make these, cut a long loaf of refrigerator rye bread in very thin slices. Brush each slice with melted butter and toast in a slow oven, 300° F., until lightly browned. Pass a basket of these hot, curled rye slices with the soup.

CREME SENEGALAISE

4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup minced onion
½ cup finely diced celery
5 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon curry
4½ cups milk
2 chicken bouillon cubes
Small red apple

Melt butter; add onion and celery and cook over low heat about 5 minutes. Blend in flour, salt, pepper, and curry. Gradually stir in 4 cups milk, and cook until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Dissolve bouillon cubes in ½ cup hot milk and stir into soup. Heat thoroughly and serve in hot bowls. Slice apple very thin and float wedges on top in cartwheel design. Minced parsley or chives may be used for garnish in place of apple slices.

Serves 6.

A Salad Tip For Family Or Company

Jellied black cherries with almonds has long been a favorite salad to serve for meals as well as for afternoon club meetings. Follow the directions on the envelope of unflavored gelatin. Use the syrup drained from a can of pitted black cherries for part of the liquid in making the gelatin. Cool the mixture until it thickens and is about to set. Then add the drained pitted black cherries and about a half cup of blanched almonds cut in strips. Pour into a mold and chill until firm. Serve with mayonnaise.

Kitchen duty on the Thanksgiving Day holiday can be reduced to a minimum with a stop at your baker's. He can supply you with a lucious cinnamon-spiced coffee cake to serve for breakfast with fruit juice and cereal. He'll have day-old bread for stuffing your Thanksgiving chicken or turkey, an assortment of crisp hard rolls for your bread basket, and plump pumpkin or mincemeat pies for the dessert course. You'll also want to pick up a loaf of fresh enriched white or wheat bread to make sandwiches for supper, and perhaps a few cookies for dessert.

Canned Spaghetti Sauce Has Many Uses

Canned spaghetti meat sauce need not always be served over spaghetti. The spicy sauce is good served over canned kidney beans, making a good stick-to-the-ribs meal.

Tomato Sauce Sparks The Flavor

For a quick and extra good meal, make salmon or tuna cakes by adding soft bread crumbs, egg and seasonings to the fish. Form into cakes and brown. Pour over them a can of condensed tomato soup, cover and simmer gently about 10 minutes. The tomato sparks the fish flavor of the cakes.

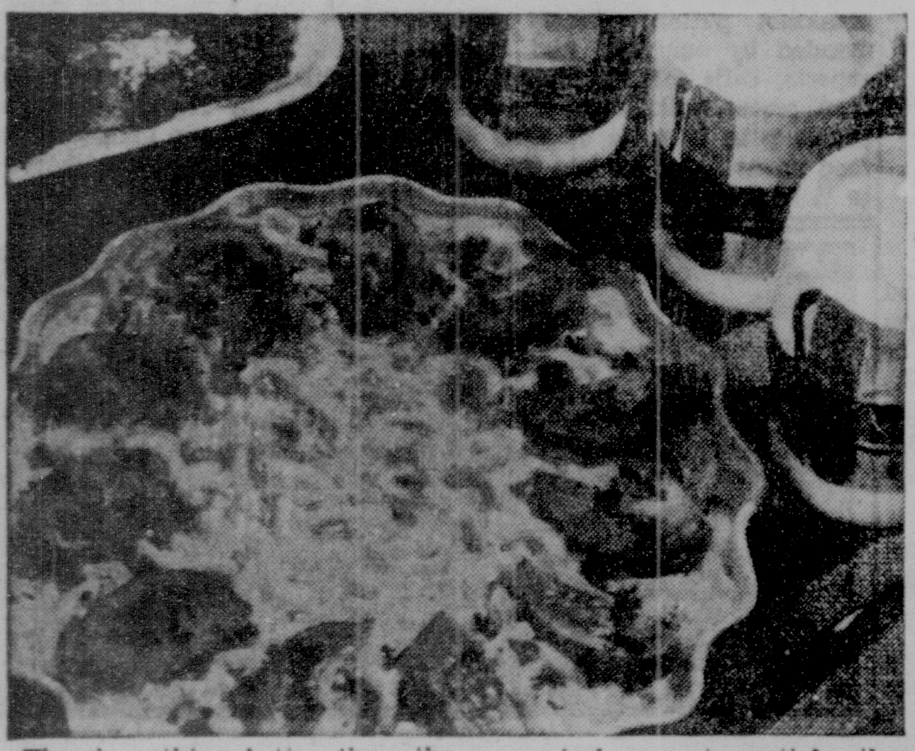
Macaroni Products Form Basis Of Economical Meals



There's nothing better than the wonderful old-fashioned goodness of creamy macaroni and cheese and there's no better time to try it than during National Macaroni Week, October 18-27. Just watch your family come running when the appetizing aroma of melted cheese wafts through the house as this pie comes from the oven. For contrast in flavor, top with bright tomato wedges and a sprinkling of chopped parsley. It's nutritious, yet an economical way to satisfy those hearty appetites sharpened by being out in the crisp fall air.

Macaroni And Cheese Pie

(Makes 4-6 servings)

1 tablespoon salt; 3 quarts boiling water; 8 ounces elbow macaroni; ½ pound American cheese, grated 1 14½-ounce can evaporated milk; 2 tablespoons chopped pimientos; 1½ teaspoons salt; freshly ground pepper; 2 tomatoes, cut in wedges; 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

In a large bowl, combine cooked macaroni with remaining ingredients; mix lightly, but thoroughly. Pour macaroni and cheese mixture into greased deep pie plate, 9 inches in diameter. Place tomato wedges in a ring, pressing partially into macaroni mixture. Bake in slow oven (325°) 25-30 minutes. Before serving, sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Formosa, now the headquarters of the Chinese Nationalists, was ceded to the Japanese in 1895 and not regained by the Chinese until the end of World War II.

Cranberries A Contrast To Use With Other Fruits

Cranberries, the scarlet pride of the marshes! With their tart, bright flavor and warm, bright color, there is much to celebrate about cranberries. Cooks of other times knew the cranberry almost entirely as a fruit to make jelly or sauce. But we moderns have perfected quite a variety of delicious cranberry dishes, as anyone knows who reads the uses today's cookbooks.

The novelty of topping a tropical fruit, the banana, with northern-grown cranberries makes this recipe for Baked Bananas with Cranberries an appealing addition to many meals. Cranberries combine delightfully well with other fruits, particularly with bananas. The delicious tartness of juicy cranberries adds pleasing contrast to the firm but tender texture of cooked bananas. Serve this treat hot as a vegetable or as a relish with ham, chicken or turkey. You will enjoy its different flavor.

When cooking bananas, select fruit that have all-yellow peel or slightly green-tipped peel. Because these bananas are partially ripe, they're just ready for baking, broiling or frying . . . and they stay firm during cooking.

Baked Bananas With Cranberries

4 firm bananas*
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
Salt
¾ cup whole cranberry sauce

*Use all-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas.

Peel bananas. Place into a well-greased baking dish. Brush well with butter or margarine and sprinkle lightly with salt. Spread cranberry sauce over bananas. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 18 minutes, or until bananas are tender . . . easily pierced with a fork. Serve hot with ham, chicken or turkey. Four servings.

IMPORTANT: In place of whole cranberry sauce, ¾ cup canned jellied cranberry sauce, mashed and beaten into spreading consistency with ¼ cup cold water, may be used.

Tasty Cheese Chases Mealtime Monotony

Are your meals in the doldrums because of the higher cost of living? Then let cheese chase mealtime monotony. It is the backlog of good meals and the best food buy of the month.

You'll find plenty of cheese and a wide assortment at moderate prices in food stores during October, the Cheese Festival Month.

Cheese has a food value out of proportion to its moderate price. When you eat an ounce (a 1-inch cube) of American Cheddar cheese, you get nearly the same food value as in a glass of milk. A two-ounce average serving of American Cheddar cheese supplies two-fifths of the calcium, one-fifth of the protein, one-sixth of the vitamin A, and one-eighth of the riboflavin needed daily by a physically active man.

Cheese tastes good, and there is a cheese for every taste. The flavors range from the mild, milk-like ones of cream and cottage cheese, favorites with the young fry, to the nippy, robust ones of Roquefort, Blue, and Camembert, the choice of gourmets. You'll find about forty different flavors in most food stores today. So learn to know the different cheeses and then serve often the kinds your family will enjoy.

Mince Meat Pineapple Dish With Gruyere Pastry

(Makes a 10" x 6" x 2" pie.)
1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
2 1-oz. wedges Gruyere Cheese, shredded
4 tablespoons water
1 9-oz. package Mince Meat
1½ cups canned pineapple juice
1½ cups canned crushed pineapple

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in shortening and grated cheese with two knives or a pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add water and mix lightly. Shape into a ball; wrap in waxed paper and chill about ½ hour. Roll out pastry on lightly floured board into a rectangle about 12" x 8" and ⅛-inch thick. With a fork prick a design in center of pastry. Meanwhile break mince meat into small pieces in saucepan; add pineapple juice. Place over low heat and stir until lumps are broken. Increase heat and boil briskly for 1 minute. Remove from heat and mix in crushed pineapple. Pour into a 10" x 6" x 2" baking dish. Place pastry over filling, fluting over edge of dish to seal. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) until crust is golden brown, about 30 minutes. Serve warm.

Cranberry Glazed Sour Cream Cheese Cake

(Makes one 8-inch cake.)
6 3-oz. packages Cream Cheese
1 cup finely crushed graham cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons butter, melted
½ cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup Light Sour Cream
1 cup canned, whole cranberry sauce

Allow cream cheese to soften at room temperature. Combine crumbs and the 3 tablespoons sugar; stir in melted butter. Line bottom and sides of a buttered 8-inch spring form pan with crumb mixture. Beat cream cheese until fluffy. Add ½ cup sugar, eggs and vanilla, beating well after each addition. Gently stir in sour cream. Pour mixture into crumb-lined pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until cake pulls away from sides of pan (center will be slightly soft), about 45 minutes. Remove from oven and cool on a rack away from drafts. Heat cranberry sauce to boiling point, stirring constantly. Cool slightly; spread on top of cooled cheese cake. Chill in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours. Remove side of pan and serve.

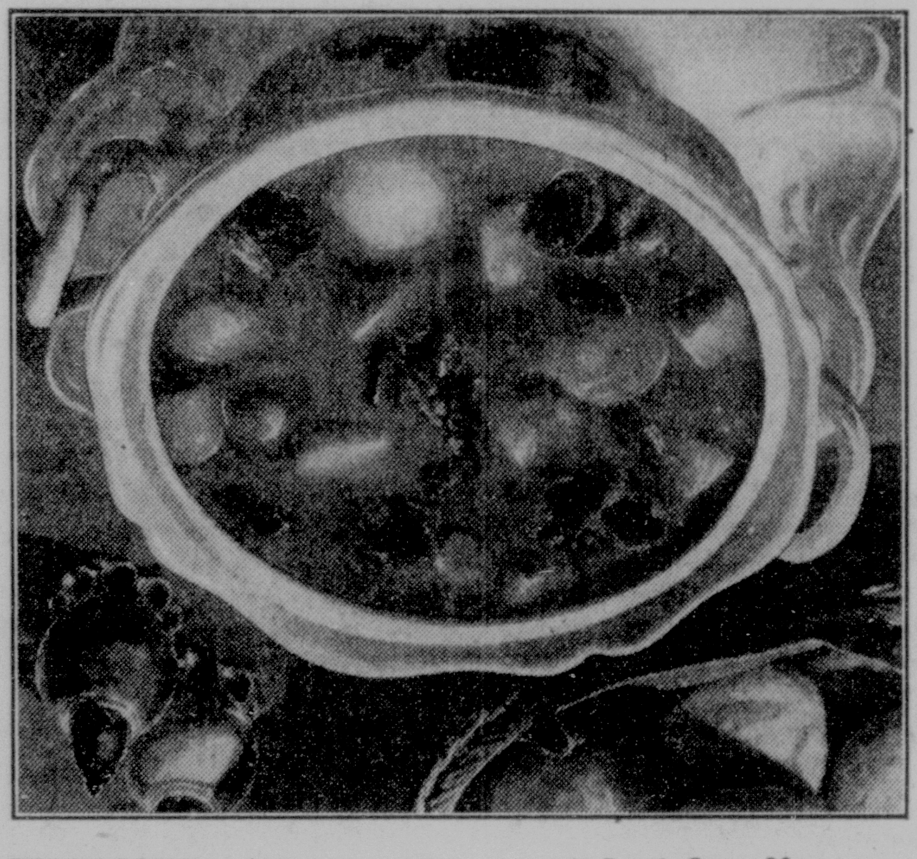
Lamb Stew Waldorf-Astoria



HANDSOME to look at, marvelous to eat is Lamb Stew. Meat, vegetables and condensed tomato soup (as the cooking sauce) blend into this warm savory dish. The stew is similar to that served at the famous Waldorf-Astoria.

Tantalizing aroma and savory goodness make lamb stew a best-loved dish. This version glows with rich flavor drawn from the tomato soup sauce, the meat and herbs.

For stews and many other main dishes, you'll do well to select condensed tomato soup as a cooking ingredient. It contributes the flavor of finest red-ripe tomatoes blended with table butter. And it has a creamy consistency, ideal for a cooking sauce. That's why homemakers call it the "handiest thing on the kitchen shelf."

This Lamb Stew is adapted from that served at the world-famous Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. Feature it at your table when you want a dish that suggests dining in the "grand manner."

Lamb Stew Waldorf-Astoria

1½ pounds lean lamb (breast, neck, or shoulder) cut into 1-inch cubes
½ cup flour, seasoned
¼ cup shortening
1 medium-size onions, chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
2½ cups water
2 sprigs of parsley
1 stalk celery, cut into 2-inch pieces
2 bay leaves
¼ teaspoon thyme
3 carrots, cut into 1-inch pieces
3 medium-size potatoes, cut into 2-inch pieces
1 cup green beans, cut into 2-inch pieces
8 small onions, cut in half

Roll lamb cubes in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Melt shortening in heavy kettle or saucepan; brown meat, onion, and garlic in it. Stir in soup and water. Tie parsley, celery, bay leaves and thyme into a small cloth bag; add to the soup-meat mixture. Cover; cook slowly for 1 hour. Then add the vegetables and continue cooking, covered, for 45 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Makes 8 servings.

Extra Special Griddle Cakes For Main Dish

A favorite brunch, luncheon or supper dish can be made by adding ¾ cup canned minced clams to griddle cake batter. When the batter is made with sour cream, the delicate clam griddle cakes are something extra special.

Blueberry Shortcake

Thicken the syrup from a pound can of blueberries with a tablespoon of cornstarch. The syrup should be only slightly thickened. Add the berries and serve over extra rich bakin powder biscuits, split in half. Top milk or light cream should be served with the shortcake.

CEREAL IS TIME SAVER

Americans demand efficiency and a good American breakfast is known for its time-saving value. A basic breakfast pattern, widely recommended by our food and medical experts, calls for just five foods—fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. people with ¼ to ⅓ of their day's food needs for a lot less than a ¼ to ⅓ of their day's cooking time.

Hearty Fritters

Add a can of Junior chopped meat to the batter of either corn oysters or corn fritters. Extra good when served with a mushroom sauce.

Hallowe’en Refreshment

Hallowe'en is a night for fun making, dear to every child and to the young in heart of all ages. Traditional games and tricks for Hallowe'en are as old as the night itself. Bright autumn shades of orange, green and yellow used in decorations make Hallowe'en parties especially attractive ones. A cute idea is to make tiny pumpkins of orange crepe paper stretched over cotton balls, with features painted or pasted on them. Hang them on straws served with drinks for cunning favors.

And those drinks must be cooling, refreshing and of good flavor, to serve after hard games. A favorite thrist-quencher is ginger ale. And here is a drink, sure to please the younger set, and sufficient to serve accompanied by gingerbread cup cakes.

GINGER DREAM

¼ lb. packaged marshmallows
¼ cup milk
1½ cups chocolate syrup
ginger ale

Combine marshmallows and milk in top of double boiler. Heat without stirring, until marshmallows are melted. Chill. Divide among 6 tall glasses. Add ¼ cup chocolate syrup to each glass. Fill glasses with chilled ginger ale. Do not stir, to keep marbelized effect.

GINGERBREAD CUP CAKES

¼ cup shortening
1 egg
½ cup dark molasses
½ cup boiling water
1¼ cups sifted flour
½ cup nonfat dry milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup chopped nutmeats

Cream shortening, beat in egg, molasses and boiling water. Sift together flour, nonfat dry milk, sugar, soda, salt, ginger and nutmeg. Stir into molasses mixture, stirring until smooth. Mix in nutmeats. Pour into greased cup cake pans. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) until center springs back when touched lightly with finger, about 10 to 15 minutes.

PUMPKIN ICING

3½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
½ cup nonfat dry milk
6 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
3 tablespoon orange juice

Sift together confectioners' sugar and nonfat dry milk. Cream butter until fluffy. Gradually blend in half the sugar mixture. Stir in vanilla, orange rind and a little of the orange juice. Beat in remaining sugar, alternating with orange juice. Beat to a good spreading consistency.

"The man cannot have a pure mind who refuses apple dumplings," said one of the acquaintances of author Charles Lamb. Fresh apples are coming into the markets now, so there's no time like the present to serve apple dumplings. Make them with pastry or biscuit base, serve them lusciously warm with cream, and you've a fall dessert that scores with Father for its goodness, economy, nutrition.

Special Times-News Cooking School Recipes

Prune-Apricot Upside Down Cake

¼ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon lemon rind
10 cooked apricot halves
10 cooked prune halves
⅓ cup lard
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
2 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Grease an 8-inch square cake pan. Blend butter and brown sugar. Add lemon rind. Spread in bottom of cake pan. Arrange apricot and prune halves to form a design on top of sugar mixture. Cream lard, add sugar gradually and continue to cream until thoroughly blended. Add egg. Beat well. Add milk alternately with flour, baking powder and salt sifted together. Mix thoroughly. Pour batter carefully over fruit in pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 minutes. Turn onto serving platter. 12 to 14 servings.

Veal Rolls

2 pounds veal steak or cutlets cut ½ inch thick
2½ cups bread cubes
¼ cup melted lard or drippings
⅛ teaspoon sage
½ teaspoon nutmeg
Salt
Pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
½ cup water

Remove bone from veal steaks. Cut in pieces 5 inches long and 3 inches wide. Combine bread cubes, onion, sage, nutmeg, melted lard or drippings. To make rolls, spread mixture thinly on center of each piece of veal. Roll individually and fasten with toothpicks. Season. Dredge with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Add water. Cover tightly. Cook on low heat for 45 minutes or until tender. 6 to 8 servings.

Heart Italienne

2 pounds beef or veal heart
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
½ cup onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped
1 small can tomato paste
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
1 8-ounce package spaghetti, cooked
½ cup grated cheddar cheese

Wash hearts thoroughly, remove veins and hard parts and cut meat in 1-inch cubes. Brown meat, onion and garlic in lard or drippings. Add salt, pepper, pimiento, tomatoes, tomato paste and simmer two hours, or until meat is tender and mixture thickened. Serve over spaghetti and top with grated cheese. 6 to 8 servings.

The lake trout is the largest member of the trout family.

Hearty Sandwich

Vienna sausage is a handy pantry shelf food. For a good hearty sandwich, put Vienna sausages on a slice of bread; cover with a slice of cheese and some pickle relish. Top with another slice of bread. Toast and serve hot.

Girl, 14, Mother Help Rob Bank

GREEN BAY, Wis.—(INS)—Fourteen-year-old Patsy Whiting, who could not go to school last Friday because she had to help her mother and brother rob a Wisconsin bank, has been bound over to federal court on an armed robbery charge.

Patsy appeared at the Green Bay, Wis., Junior High School Monday with a neatly written excuse from her mother, Mrs. Esther Amelia Whiting, 41, which read:

"Please excuse Patsy for being absent from school. She had a cold."

Mrs. Whiting, Patsy, Mrs. Whiting's son by a previous marriage, Charles French, Jr., 24, and two other men were arrested for the $11,534 holdup of the Laona, Wis., bank.

Patsy appeared before a U. S. commissioner on the armed robbery complaint. FBI agents said Patsy wore a mask, carried a pistol and was dressed in boy's clothing when she entered the bank.

Of the pistol she carried, Patsy told newsmen:

"The gun was passed to me after we entered the car."

Her mother said:

"Patsy didn't know anything about this (the holdup plans) until I got into the car and we got started."

Mrs. Whiting continued:

"I was worried about my son. He seemed to think he needed help in whatever he was going to do. I felt it was my duty as a mother to go along."

Three easy steps in choosing a finer-tasting whiskey:

1. Have ¼ oz. of Calvert put in one glass and the same amount of any other whiskey in another—without knowing which is which.
2. Sniff one brand for aroma. Taste it critically for smoothness. Swallow carefully to judge its freedom from bite, burn or sting.
3. Taste the other whiskey in the same analytical way—then pick the one that really tastes better to you.

It's smart to switch to Calvert

YOU CAN'T MISS THE DIFFERENCE IN TASTE, SO . . .

Be your own whiskey expert! Make your own taste test today—and discover the difference between whiskies in smoothness, mellowness and freedom from harshness.

We believe that, after careful comparison, you'll switch to smoother, mellower Calvert—because it is blended to a taste determined by a "Consumer Jury" of thousands of folks like you.

However, if you still prefer another brand, then stick with it. Fair enough?

Celanese Promotes Two Former Cumberlanders

Two former local Celanese plant workers have been promoted at the Narrows, Va., plant of the corporation.

R. Finley Thompson has been named assistant to the plant manager and Donald W. Chappell has been appointed superintendent of the Cellulose Acetate Department, it was made known by S. A. Mansfield, manager of the Narrows plant.

Thompson joined Celanese in 1927 at the Cumberland plant. He was transferred to the Celco plant at Narrows in 1942 as superintendent of the Cellulose Acetate Department.

Chappell started with the company at Cumberland in 1935. He was transferred to Celco in 1942 as a section superintendent in the Cellulose Acetate Department and was promoted to assistant superintendent of that department in 1948.

35-Day Supply Of Water Is On Hand At Luke Paper Mill

Despite reports that a shutdown because of lack of water was facing the Luke Plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, officials said yesterday enough water is available for 35 full running days.

The supply for the paper mill is received from an impounding dam in Stony River in Grant County, W. Va., above Maysville.

Officials said enough water is backed up in Stony River for another month's operation in the event there is no rainfall in that time.

While possible, they said a drought extending that long is improbable and therefore forestalled any reports of a shutdown.

The company's dam has come to the rescue of several communities and industries along the North Branch of the Potomac River during dry spells in the past.

The dam is used to keep a steady flow in the Potomac as is the Savage River Dam. Plant spokesmen said from 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 gallons of water is being released daily from the Savage River Dam.

This, he said, is slightly more than is emptying into the dam. However, he added, the water is at the 60-foot mark in the new dam.

Draft Boards Get Call For 49 Men

Cumberland's three draft boards received orders yesterday for 49 registrants to report November 5 in Martinsburg, W. Va., for pre-induction physical examinations.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk co-ordinator, said the contingent, including a number of married men, will leave Queen City Station at 6:10 a.m. and return home the same day.

Board No. 27 will send 11 men with 17 going from Board No. 28 and 21 from Board No. 21.

Tuesday, induction calls for 30 selectees were received here. The draftees will report November 19 in Martinsburg.

Little Muscular Dystrophy Victim Writes To United Nations For Aid

NEW YORK — (INS) — "Dear United Nations:

"Did you ever hear of muscular dystrophy?"

Thus opens a little boy's story of heartache, his wistful plea to invoke the magical powers of the world of adults in a polite little letter to the global organization.

"I am nine years old," wrote Richard Weinberger of Brooklyn.

"I can't walk or play or run with my collie dog, Mr. Chips.

"I read in the papers that your doctors from all over the world help children get well and strong.

"Can you ask them to help me get out of my wheel chair?

"I am tired of sitting.

"Thank you very much."

A copy of the letter was directed to the attention of U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross who was deeply moved by the child's appeal for aid against the disease from which thousands suffer and die.

The ambassador wrote Richard inviting him and his parents to meet with him at his office to tell the family of the work being done by the world health organization to find a cure for muscular dystrophy and other diseases.

Present also at the meeting in the ambassador's New York office was William Mazur, director of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

Richard replied that he was very happy to "receive your letter and hear that you have sent my note to the world health organization." He added:

"Maybe soon I will be able to run and play with my dog, Mr. Chips.

"I would be glad to visit you Ambassador Gross.

Thank you very much."

It was signed:

"Your pal, Richard."

Phone Company May Reduce Rate Request

State Long Distance Calls May Benefit

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. may reduce the amount of the rate increase it is asking—at least for long distance telephone calls between points within Maryland.

Counsel for the company told the Maryland Public Service Commission Wednesday that a new procedure in apportioning inter-state and intra-state costs has been approved and recommended to all state commissions by the National Association of Railroad Utilities Commissioners.

Reallocation Likely

Attorney William Gassaway said the new procedure would result in the reallocation of certain expenses from intra- to inter-state operations.

He said the reallocation will raise the rate of return now being earned by the company on its Maryland operations.

Gassaway said the company will submit revised figures in line with the new procedure.

$5,500,000 Sought

Early in September the company appeared before the Commission to ask for increases that would bring in an additional $5,500,000 in revenue.

The phone company indicated at the time that part of this money might come through boosting the pay phone rate for local calls from 5 cents to 10 cents.

W. Griffin Morrel, vice president and general manager, was among those testifying Wednesday. He said that despite the company's best efforts to catch up with increasing demands for service, there are still 15,000 orders for phones to be filled and 35,000 unfilled requests for better service.

People's Counsel Joseph Allen, in cross-examining Morrel, sought to show that increased business has meant greatly increased revenue to the company. Morrel contended higher operating costs and bigger payrolls have wiped out that advantage.

Two More Jury Trials Scheduled For Today

Two more jury trials are scheduled today as Allegany County Circuit Court continues to hear criminal charges.

Norman D. Beglin, proprietor of the Cumberland Dental Laboratory, 144 North Mechanic Street, will be tried on a charge of violating state dental laws, by practicing dentistry without a license.

Also scheduled for trial are Nachoma Bullett and Vernon Bullett, who face three charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods. They are accused of stealing a total of 1,300 pounds of copper wire from the Consolidated Fuel Company in three different thefts.

Area Club Plans Halloween Party

Town Creek Valley Club will hold its annual Halloween party at Slider's Hall, Pumpkin Center, Town Creek Road, Saturday night at 7:30 p. m.

Novelty acts, movies and prizes are scheduled. Refreshments will be available, J. Millard Hughes, president, announces. Hughes requests those coming masked to conceal their identity until after the judging. A comedy act, "Tillie Teets and her Mom" is planned.

Bake Sale Tomorrow

A bake sale for the benefit of St. Anthony's Church, will be held at 111 North Centre Street at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Hyndman Seeks

gerous crossing remains unchanged."

The situation has become more acute recently, he pointed out, with the merger of the borough and township school system. In addition to the busloads of school children who cross the main line of the railroad twice a day, all pupils attending the Hyndman School are transported to and from the township school to use its cafeteria during the noon hour.

Is Busy Crossing

Cook, who formerly worked on the railroad, said he estimated that between 50 and 60 trains pass through the town daily, with up to 100 at some times of the year. He pointed out that adults, familiar with the crossing, have been killed at the intersection and that children cannot be expected to avoid the danger.

May stated that not long ago an ambulance was unable to answer a call because of a train blocking the main road. The same situation would exist in the case of fire, he said.

The representatives reminded state officials that because of the angle of the approach and the buildings obstructing the view of a driver, it is necessary to draw out onto the track to get a clear view of oncoming trains, many of which exceed the speed limit in ascending and descending the hill beyond the crossing.

One spokesman for the group told officials of the danger of fire from the "20 to 25" gasoline trucks which cross the tracks each day. "If a train ever hits one of them—and it may, any time—we will have a worse fire than we had in 1950," May said.

Discuss Survey

"I have an oral agreement with the railroad," Leap said, "by which they will go along with us on any action we take to improve the condition. We will forward a copy of our complaint to the B and O when it is presented in Harrisburg."

The gigantic Columbus Memorial Lighthouse being built in the Dominican republic will have the shape of a huge cross.

Civil Air Patrol To Parade Here

Cadets of Fort Cumberland Flight of the Civil Air Patrol will march in the Halloween parade next Wednesday night as well as in the Armistice Day parade Monday, November 12.

Lt. Warren Mullenax, commander of the local flight, said last night a ruling has come through from Civil Air Patrol headquarters, announcing the adoption of Air Force blue uniforms. Senior members of Fort Cumberland Flight will make the change-over. No ruling has been received as yet regarding cadets regulation uniforms, Mullenax added.

Members of the senior group have been invited to attend meetings of the Maryland National Guard here. CAP members will attend a session of the guard in a body in the near future.

Deeds In Property Sales Filed

Oscar J. Swartley and Mary Ruth Swartley sold one parcel on Grand Avenue and purchased a second, according to deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

The Swartleys sold one tract to James M. Nicholson and Florence L. Nicholson for about $7,500. Elizabeth Hauger Wilson and Alvin H. Wilson in turn sold property to the Swartleys for about $6,500. Both parcels are situated on the east side of Grand Avenue.

Another recorded deed lists the sale by Frederick L. Hurt and Mamie A. Hurt to James H. Griffin and Eleanor C. Griffin on the northwest side of Lincoln Street for about $8,000.

Ridgeley PTA Names Home Room Mothers

Ridgeley High School PTA named home room mothers at a meeting last night at the school. Mrs. Samuel Margherta presided.

The PTA decided to hold its next meeting jointly with the Elementary PTA during American Education Week November 15 at 8 p. m. An open house will be held at 7 o'clock.

Vernon Griffin, program chairman, opened the meeting with a poem, "The Last Five Words." A moving picture, "Crossing the 38th Parallel," was shown and Carole Dersin, a senior, offered the closing prayer.

Workers Receive Celanese Awards

Mrs. Margaret Bradley Grove, 442 Pennsylvania Avenue, and Bennie Gerson, 39 Maple Street, Frostburg, were awarded gold wrist watches yesterday by L. L. Helmer, assistant plant manager, upon completion of 25 years of Celanese employment.

Mrs. Grove started to work in the Textile Department October 25, 1926, but transferred to the Jet Cleaning and Assembly Section October 14, 1935, where she now works as a jet assembler.

John Bestwick, superintendent of Spinning and Auxiliaries, awarded her a 25-year certificate of service and a 5-star "CELANESE" emblem, which denotes a quarter century of loyal service.

Gerson was originally employed in the Weaving Department, October 25, 1926, but transferred to the Stores Department on March 1, 1928, where he was soon made a clerk in Mechanical Stores, a position which he still holds.

Arthur F. Happe, plant accountant and office manager, presented Gerson a 25-year certificate and a 5-star lapel emblem.

Gerson is a graduate of Beall High School, Frostburg, and a member of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, Lodge 470, Frostburg.

Three Area Men Enlist In Navy

Three area men were sworn into the U. S. Navy this week at Baltimore, Chief Petty Officer E. R. Morgan, Local Recruiter, announces.

They are Victor Allen Alt, 21, Pursittville, W. Va.; Charles William Hawse, 17, 209 Potomac Street; and Bernard T. Iser, 20, Rawlings. All were sent to Bainbridge Naval Training Center for boot training.

Beall To Address Miners

J. Glenn Beall will be guest speaker at a banquet tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at Kitzmiller High School honoring the National Mine Rescue Team of that community.

Other speakers at the dinner, being given by the Lions Club, include John T. Jones, president of District 16, United Mine Workers, and George B. McLelan, general manager of Weirton Coal Company, Brownsville, Pa.

To Women With Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Guerrillas In Red China Are Menace To Communists

HONG KONG, Oct. 25 (AP)—How many anti-Communist guerrillas are there in Red China?

Chiang Kai-Shek in Formosa claims something like 2,000,000 of them constitute a major menace to the Peiping government.

Hong Kong reports indicate troublesome guerrilla activity in Manchuria and in South China.

But Yeh Chien-Ying, head of the Communist South-Central military and administrative district places the number of guerrillas in the big South China province of Kwangtung at a mere 809.

Yeh said in a report that from Oct. 10, 1950 to Aug. 10, 1951, 52,620 guerrillas were "inactivated." The Red Army, he said, seized 452 artillery pieces, 1,171 light and heavy machineguns, 127,324 rifles and short arms and large quantities of ammunition.

Yeh differentiated between guerrillas and "counter-revolutionists." The latter are political enemies usually civilians who are not armed.

Yeh said 89,701 counter-revolutionaries were arrested and claimed the seizure of 83 artillery and field pieces, 1,097 light and heavy machineguns, and 36,303 rifles and short arms.

Yeh also said that during the ten months, 28,332 were executed. This is viewed here as a suspiciously small figure since the purge in Kwangtung was severe throughout the period. Reports of as many as 300 being executed at one time were not uncommon.

A little later in the report, Yeh, in discussing agrarian reform during the ten months, said "23,317 local despots were dealt with. We also wiped out a large number of remnant bandits, special agents and underground enemy forces."

A day-by-day study of purge activities in Kwangtung province indicates that the number who fell before purge guns during the period was closer to 100,000 than to 28,332. There were times when purging appeared to get out of control and was handled entirely by regional and county commissars who may or may not have reported fully to Canton, provincial capital.

Early Baby Doctors Had Good Ideas, Erred In Weaning Infants On Beer

TORONTO, Ont.—(AP)—Some baby doctors of earlier centuries were ages ahead of the moderns in treating certain ailments but erred in sanctioning such practices as weaning infants on bread, sugar and beer.

So said Dr. T. G. H. Drake of Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children at a session of the 20th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

He staged an exhibit of surgical instruments and other equipment used in the delivery, care and feeding of infants from the time of the ancient Greeks and Romans up to 1840 A. D. His daughter, Nina Johnston, assisted him.

He and Dr. Alan Brown, physician in chief of the same hospital, told a reporter that even as recently as the early 1900's death rates among infants were "enormously" high, due to such things as faulty understanding of nutrition.

Nutritional defects, they said, often made children easier prey to many of the bacterial infections which are now largely controlled by modern drugs and vaccines.

Dr. Drake said that in the seventeenth, eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries—before the days of milk pasteurization—doctors frequently would condone copious mixtures of bread, sugar and beer or water as supposed nutrients for infants.

"The babies would appear to be fat and healthy," he said, "but actually, they would just be 'blown up babies' with sugar and liquid loosely held in their tissues, leaving them vulnerable to all sorts of infections."

"But," he added, "let's not think these earlier century doctors didn't know anything."

He and Dr. Brown said rare medical records show that as early as 1650, a French doctor recognized the symptoms of rickets and recommended "piteously stripping such children and placing them out in the sun."

Dr. Drake commented:

"It wasn't until the 1900's that modern medicine 'rediscovered' the value of vitamin D—a component of sunlight—in the prevention of rickets."

He also said that another European physician, in the 1680's, described the use of calcium as a treatment for convulsions—"and it wasn't until the early 1900's that modern medicine 'rediscovered' the value of calcium in that respect."

Dr. Drake also described a kind of "curb service" for nursing children in the 1750's in Europe—employing goats.

He said that at one foundlings' home in Paris, goats were trained to pull back the covers of the infant's crib at periodic intervals, "straddle" the crib and give out with free lunch.

Reeves Given Sentence On Perjury Count

Harry V. Reeves, 31, of Westernport, was sentenced in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge George Henderson to serve one year in the Maryland House of correction on his conviction of perjury.

After sentence was imposed, Edward J. Ryan, defense attorney, took an appeal and Judge George Henderson set bond at $5,000 pending a disposition of the hearing before the Court of Appeals.

When Reeves was brought into court yesterday Ryan told the court he realized the seriousness of the charge, but said Reeves had an excellent family background and two years service in the Army with nine months overseas during World War II.

Ryan then presented to the Court a petition signed by each of the 12 jurors who found Reeves guilty Wednesday afternoon. The petition recommended "clemency." Judge Henderson commented that the jurors "did not volunteer the recommendation and the word parole was stricken out and clemency written in."

Ryan admitted that he had obtained the petition.

Judge Henderson commented that the court takes into consideration an adequate punishment for offenders, and also the sentence to be imposed as a deterrent to others.

"It is high time that it be realized that if perjury is committed the offender will be punished," the court stated.

Judge Henderson told how he presided in the cases against a Westernport man and three youths last month on charges of arson, train wrecking and other depredations in the Westernport area. It was during the trial of the quartet that Reeves allegedly committed perjury. It related to a truck which was used by Leon Kerling, one of the defendants, in driving to the Harris Powder Company magazine which was set on fire December 27. Reeves testified the truck had been repossessed the day prior to the incident and had been held until the following February.

The court stated the testimony of Reeves, if it had been believed by the jury in the arson cases, could have broken down the whole case. Judge Henderson said the youths had repudiated confessions they made and that a "framed defense" was put forth in their behalf during the trial.

"I might state now, so the public might know, that the next case of perjury will result in a stiff prison sentence. In this I am joined by Judge (Morgan C.) Harris," it was stated by Judge Henderson.

After the sentence was announced the wife and two children of Reeves, who were seated in the court room, began to cry and the mother assisted one of the children from the court room.

Less Vulgarity Asked In Halloween Parade

A number of requests asking that vulgar and obscene costumes be eliminated from the Halloween mummers parade, were received this week by Thomas F. Conlon, in charge of the parade.

Conlon said yesterday a request is made to all individuals entering the parade sponsored by Cumberland Voiture 164, Forty and Eight, that costumes and floats be kept clean and on a high plane in order that the parade may be enjoyed by young and old.

In the past, Conlon said, a few individuals have enter the line of march dressed in immodest and vulgar costumes. In making the request, Conlon said participants in the parade should keep in mind that children and women will be watching the celebration.

Three Divorces Granted By Court

Three more divorces have been granted this week in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Laura V. Niland was granted a decree from William E. Niland and was given the right to resume her maiden name of Laura Virginia Hager.

Elizabeth Dentinger was divorced from Patrick Dentinger and was granted custody of a minor child. Martha S. Shinholt was given a decree from Hunter Jacob Shinholt and custody of an infant child.

Marine Company To Be Activated Here Monday

Captain Patsy Algieri, 602 Maryland Avenue has been named commanding officer of the new type special infantry company of the Marine Corps Reserve which will be activated Monday night at the local Navy and Marine Corps Training Center.

Captain Algieri recently returned from service in Korea. He was a member of Company D, Fifth Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve, which left here in July of 1950. Prior to his service with the Marine Corps, he served with Merrill's Marauders in the China-Burma-India theater during World War II.

Lieut. John E. Rich, also a veteran of the Korean war, is the inspector-instructor of the new unit. He said Col. J. S. Oldfield, director of the Fifth Marine Reserve District with headquarters at Arlington, Va., will be here Monday at 7:30 p. m. to preside at formal ceremonies activating the Cumberland unit.

A formal recruiting drive will open November 12 to enroll men in the outfit. Drill nights will be on Mondays and men interested in joining the new outfit may telephone Lieut. Rich at 2680.

The Marine officer explained the infantry company will be comprised of 156 men. In the contingent will also be four Navy Medical Corps men and one Navy doctor.

Men between the ages of 17 and 32 will be eligible, and previous servicemen over 32 years of age will be accepted if their service years subtracted from their ages comes to 32 or below.

Lieut. Rich said the new company will be a security type outfit, that a number are being formed throughout the nation to be used in case all regular Marines are needed elsewhere.

Rent Director Clarifies Eviction Rulings

Thomas E. Barrett, Jr., rent director-attorney, said today landlords should contact the office in the Post Office building, if contemplating evicting a tenant if they have any doubt as to the law.

Under the new rent law, the section on evictions is much stronger and provides for monetary damages in case of illegal eviction, he pointed out.

"Landlords," he said, "cannot evict a tenant for just any reason. Tenants cannot be evicted for failure or refusal to pay overceiling rent, or because a lease has expired, or to permit offering the property for sale, or to permit the landlord's friends to rent the dwelling."

Korea Vets Arrive

Two Allegany County servicemen are among 25 Marylanders arriving yesterday in San Francisco from Korea.

Port officials listed the veterans as Pfc. Claude H. DuVall, Route 2, Cumberland, and Pfc. Robert E. Lee, Detmold, Lonaconing.

Evicted Ducks Get New Home

Constitution Park acquired two ducks yesterday.

The mallards were turned over to Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke following a Police Court trial involving a West Side woman accused of maintaining a public nuisance.

Court action was taken after neighbors complained about the ducks, raised as pets by the defendant.

Magistrate William J. Gunter dismissed charges on condition she turn them over to Minke for use in the park.

Blaze Extinguished

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company extinguished a fire in a coupe parked at the home of Robert Herrell, Vocke Road, at 2:30 a. m. yesterday.

Nine firemen answered the call and confined the blaze to the upholstery of the car. Members of the family said the machine had been driven home at 12:30 a. m yesterday and parked.

The family reported the fire when the reflection of the flames were seen on the windows of the home.

Search Continues For Missing Woman

Authorities in three states continued last night to search for Mrs. Carrie Bell Kuykendall Dixon, 33-year-old Short Gap, W. Va. mother of seven children who disappeared from her home September 14.

Wednesday her 14-year-old son, Allan Raymond Dixon, hitchhiked to Cumberland to enlist newspaper aid in publicizing the children's anxiety to have their mother back.

Her husband, William Lee Dixon, a B&O trackmen, said Mrs. Dixon and an 18-year-old neighbor, Miss Nellie Barnes, were last seen getting into a car headed toward Romney, W. Va., on Route 28.

State Police at Romney said they have received several reports as to Mrs. Dixon's whereabouts, but have been unable to locate her.

McAvoy Pleads Guilty To Theft Of B & O Wire

15 Months Jail Sentence Imposed

KEYSER, W. Va.—Willam Carl McAvoy entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny before Judge Ernest A. See in Mineral County Court yesterday, when he was called before the court for a change of plea in the case in which he and Roy Franklin Baker were indicted for theft of a quantity of wire from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company several months ago.

Another case against McAvoy, on which he was convicted of theft of wool from Ike Whipp, was also hanging over the defendant, with sentence deferred until termination of the tire theft.

When the plea was entered yesterday, Judge See sentenced him to nine months in the Mineral County jail on the wool conviction and six months on the wire theft plea, giving him 15 months to serve in the jail.

Deferment of the sentence was made to November 10, when he will begin serving his sentences.

Charles Junior Spencer and Helen Marie Ferrebee, charged with the theft of chickens from a farm in the Horseshoe section of Frankfort District several months ago will appear at the January term of court for sentencing.

Charles Chester Cavanaugh, who was a party in the chicken case, was sent to the penitentiary for violation of a parole granted on a previous conviction. He was returned to the Mineral County Court to testify in the Spencer-Farrebee case.

Two cases are on the docket for Friday morning, one, the State vs Austin Judy, indicted for having punch boards in his place of business near Wiley Ford, and the other, State vs. Thomas E. Dorsey.

Frostburg Couple's Marriage Announced

FROSTBURG—The marriage of Miss Margaretta L. Davis, daughter of Mrs. Nida M. Porter, 21 Broadway, to Water E. Capel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Capel, 248 Centre Street, took place September 27, at the First Congregational Church, Bowery Street, with Rev. J. F. Zimmerman performing the single ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial selections were played by Mrs. Guy Mallow, who also accompanied Mrs. Cleo Henry, vocalist. Mrs. Cleo Henry was candle lighter.

Mrs. Edna LaRue, Midland, aunt of the bride, was her only attendant. Stanley LaRue of Midland, uncle of the bride, was best man.

Masquerade Party Set

MT. SAVAGE—The Officers Club of Rebecca Arnold Chapter No. 57, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a masquerade party in the basement of the home of Mrs. Dora Burch, Foundry Row, at 8 p. m. next Tuesday. All chapter members are urged to attend.

Tri-Towns Parade For Halloween Set For Oct. 31

Parade To Begin At 7 O'Clock

WESTERNPORT — The annual Tri-Towns Halloween parade will be held next Wednesday.

It is being sponsored by the Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Black Hawk Tribe No. 131, Improved Order of Red Men, of Westernport; the Knights of Columbus, Fraternal Order of Eagles No. 707 and Kelly-Mansfield Post, American Legion, of Piedmont.

The parade will form in front of the American Legion and will march at 7 p. m. It will be led by the Junior band and will march to Jake's place and back to the judges' stand. In case of rain the affair will be held on Thursday, November 1.

Prizes amounting to $100 will be awarded.

Included are best dressed adult couple, second best dressed adult couple, best dressed woman, second best dressed woman, best dressed man, second best dressed man, best dressed children's couple, second best dressed children's couple, best dressed girl, second best dressed girl, best dressed boy, second best dressed boy, and 45 other prizes.

Party Scheduled

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Piedmont Lodge No. 1120, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold a party on Saturday afternoon from October 2 until 4. The event will mark Youth Honor Day. Children from ages 3 to 12 may attend. A movie will be shown and a treat given.

West Virginia Queen Will Help Plug U. S. Apple Week

MISS MAXINE TWIGG

Miss Maxine Twigg of Romney, W. Va. has been named West Virginia's Apple Queen and will help in the current observance of National Apple Week by visiting Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The Appalachian Apple Service, a grower-sponsored promotional agency for apples produced in the Virginias, Pennsylvania and Maryland, will send Miss Twigg and queens from the other three states to the eastern cities.

Will Interview

In each city, Miss Twigg and the other girls will interview television, radio and newspaper personalities.

Besides the four queens there also will be a Miss Apple Pan Dowdy in the delegation. Her name will be announced following a state-wide contest in Pennsylvania by the Horticultural Society in conjunction with the Future Homemakers of America to determine the Pennsylvania girl who best prepares the traditional Dutch dish.

Good Story

The young ladies will be able to tell a good story about the current crop in this four-state apple region. The growers expect to harvest some 24-million bushels this season, representing one-fifth of the nation's apple crop. Present shipping prices indicate that apples will be one of the cheapest fruits displayed on the produce counters of the nation and will be a boon to the hard-pressed food bill of the public.

The Appalachian area has the unusual distinction of producing mountain-grown fruit, the soil, climate and naturalness of growth imparting a flavor unsurpassed in other apple growing areas.

Washington will hear the apple story on October 31. It will be heard in Baltimore on November 1 and in Philadelphia on November 2.

Miss Twigg was elected West Virginia Apple Queen over 15 other contestants. She is 21, a blue-eyed brunette with a winsome smile and loads of personality. A graduate of Romney High School, she has a genuine fondness for apples and is well known for her preparation of apple pie.

Although she spends summer vacations employed at Atlantic seaboard resorts, she is currently working as a secretary with the Cumberland Motor Express here.

Miss Twigg recently returned from a visit to Charleston, W. Va., where she was interviewed by various radio and newspaper personalities in addition to presenting various state officials with apples, including Governor Okey L. Patteson.

USO Goal Reached

MT. SAVAGE — The United Defense (USO) Drive went over the top here, James E. Crump, chairman, announces. The goal of $300 was reached with an additional sum of $62 realized. Chairman Crump thanks all of the residents for their contributions.

Bond Interest To Be Declared

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Governor Patteson has announced that interest rates on the state's $75,000,000 veterans bonus bond issue would be announced one week before they go on sale December 1.

At that time, the Governor said, the rates will be included in the advertisement of sale dates for the bonds.

"Conditions can fluctuate," the Governor explained, "to affect the rate we want to advertise."

Sale of $37,500,000 of the bonds was approved Monday by the Governor and his 11-member Advisory Committee of State Bankers. That first half will be sold December 1 to 15 and the remainder will be offered later, probably after the first of the year.

The delay is aimed at saving interest on the second instalment, estimated to be enough to pay for processing applications for the bonus.

Under the plan of sale, all 181 banks in the state will be asked to act as agents, selling the bonds without commission.

Monday's decision to proceed with that plan ended a stalemate since last May when the issue was termed inflationary by Federal officials.

Central High Dance Scheduled Tonight

LONACONING — A Halloween dance will be held on Friday from 8 until 11 p. m. in the Central High school gymnaisum, sponsored by the Art Club.

A jitterbug contest will feature the dancing program and there will be a crowning of the King and Queen of the dance.

"Musical Kings" will provide music for dancing. Sport clothes will be worn. Refreshments will be served.

Chekiang is the smallest province of China with an area of 40,169 square miles.

Hyndman Center Plans Amateur Programs

HYNDMAN, Pa. — N. B. Poorbaugh, chairman of the activities committee of the community center here, has announced that the center is planning to sponsor a weekly amateur program, beginning Wednesday, November 7.

On this opening night the amateurs will be accompanied by the Silver String Boys. A $10 first prize will be awarded to the winner of the weekly program. Winners also will be given an opportunity to appear on a radio program with the Rhythm Riders over an Altoona, Pa., station.

All interested in competing should contact Poorbaugh.

Smallest Wooden Leg Gives Joe A Big Thrill

AP Newsfeatures

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va.—Joe Cornell has what may be the smallest arfticial leg in the world.

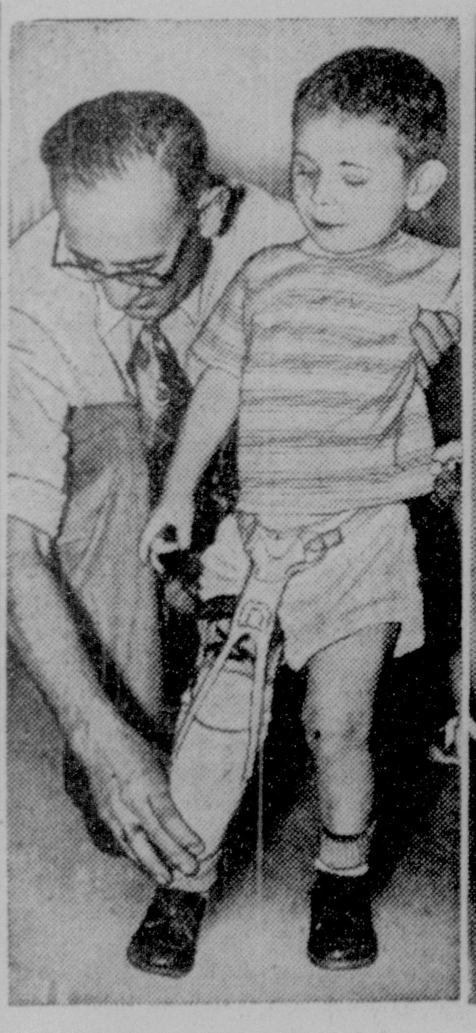
Joe, who is only two years old, is all smiles these days because he can play with the other kids. Last May his right leg was amputated three inches below the knee to get rid of a malignant tumor which had started on his ankle last November.

While Joe slowly recovered, his mother, Mrs. Joseph Cornell, wife of an Army private first class, fretted because her son would not have a normal childhood. She took her problem to Arlie Taylor, himself an amputee, who operates an artificial limp shop in nearby Wheeling. Taylor had never made an artificial leg for so little an amputee but he was willing to try.

In four days he carved out of a chunk of willow what he believes to be the smallest artificial leg in the world. Joe's mother brought the boy to Taylor for a fitting. The first thing Joe said when the leg was strapped on was:

"That's mine."

A grin slowly widened across the boy's face. He reached for Taylor's hand and bravely stepped out—walking again.



TRYING a leg for size.

JOE walks away happy.

The eucalyptus trees of Australia are the tallest in the world. Specimens taller than 480 feet have been found.

Blood Transfusions Under Pressure May Save Lives

MINNEAPOLIS—(INS)—A military surgeon this week described the dramatic successes of blood transfusions into an artery in cases where the usual method—into a vein—would have been too little and too late.

In the standard transfusion technique, blood drains slowly—usually by gravity—from a bottle into a vein. Since blood flows relatively slowly through the veins, long and precious minutes often elapse before it reaches the heart and then the arteries.

But a man suffering sudden, massive loss of blood—the kind of injury often suffered on a battlefield—or a man near death may be saved if blood is literally pumped into an artery under pressure.

Col. Douglas B. Kendrick of the U. S. Army Medical Corps told the American Association of Blood Banks in Minneapolis that the arterial transfusion technique, despite its dangers, is the best new method of combatting shock.

In one case, he said, a soldier lay near death on the operating table at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. His blood pressure was near zero and his pulse too feeble to be felt. A surgeon inserted a needle into an artery, turned on a specially designed hand pump, and started blood moving into the man's right leg.

In 90 seconds the soldier's blood pressure—as measured by the cuff on his left arm—was normal.

Col. Kendrick said the arterial technique has an important additional advantage over venous transfusions. In the latter, there is no way of determining how much blood is needed. Sometimes too much is transfused and the patient's heart is overloaded.

But in the arterial technique, a pump and pressure gauge unit can be arranged so that blood is pumped into the body at a fixed pressure equal to the normal arterial pressure.

As soon as the patient's arterial blood pressure climbs back from shock to a normal level it will balance the transfusion pressure and the inflow of blood will stop.

In emergencies, a surgeon can make his own fixed-pressure pump by pouring the transfusion blood into a plastic bag, sealing it, tying an ordinary blood pressure cuff around the bag and pumping to a proper pressure reading on the cuff gauge.

Russian Iron Curtain Gray On Other Side

By PHILIP G. REED

BERLIN — (INS) — The color of the other side of the iron curtain is gray.

The dreary drabness in the Soviet sector of Berlin is plain to feel as well as see. Its people, its buildings, even the streets at dusk have none of the bright, neon glitter of the shops just a block away.

It's easy to see through the iron curtain cutting Berlin and even easier to get behind it. There is nothing more to mark the line than a road sign saying "You are leaving the American sector." There is nothing more to stop you and thousands mill each way every day.

Private automobiles are checked just inside each sector for smuggled goods. Pedestrians roam at will. By an actual count on a warm Sunday afternoon there were more American and British uniforms rubbernecking at the big Soviet war memorial at Treptow than there were Russian.

With a German guide who lost an arm at St. Lo as a Werhmacht corporal, this correspondent took a visiting fireman's tour through the once mighty capital that today still has 3,300,000 inhabitants, about a million under its pre-war peak.

In the American sector just beyond the imposing buildings of the Tempelhof airdrome lies a park, one end of which is now a thirty-foot plateau covering many acres and built of rubble from destroyed buildings, on which scores of kids floated bat-shaped kites.

Over it is being strewn topsoil and a new park will be grown. There was, however, no waste of good bricks. During the airlift the unemployed were put to chipping and cleaning those salvageable and long walls of them line the sidewalk in every block.

Once beyond the road sign a visitor's first intimation of having passed into the Soviet orbit is a fence poster caricaturing Uncle Sam who is pictured showering gold from a watering can on Germany's industrial Ruhr district.

There seems to be no great difference in the people at first. At the huge park enclosing the Soviet war memorial, girls and their boy friends hugged and kissed on the benches, youngsters romped in the grass and old folks strolled along the cement walks just as in parks all over the world.

A small knot of Soviet GIs in their loose, bulky khaki uniforms jabbered among themselves and then stood warily, curiously watchful of a few visiting American officers.

The Red soldiers are husky, with closely cropped hair. They look neat, but their uniforms are ill-fitting compared to those of a U. S. soldier and show need of cleaning even from a 10-foot inspection.

Farther along, two Russian lieutenants in long gray overcoats with a bosomy, good-looking girl were better off. Cheerily they threw a casual salute to the American officers and grinned. The salute was returned.

Outside this showplace built by German labor, much of it with material from the dismantled reichschancellory of Adolf Hitler, there is less for the Soviets to be proud of.

For miles one of the main prewar shopping streets is dead. Even Stalin Strasse, down which 1,500,000 youth marched in the Soviet youth rally last summer, is something to make one shudder. The festival hangovers, such as now weather-dimmed signs, including American flags on the walls, the mid-street statues of pretty girls and handsome boys with heads upflung into the bright future of the Soviet world, cannot distract from the terrible surroundings.

Bombed-out, shot-out streets and sideways seems to stretch endlessly with only an occasional car and a few pedestrians to break the awful monotony of desolation.

Hogan Says Kentucky Trio Received $1,500 For Rigging Another Contest

Kept Score Down In Tennessee Tilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Three former basketball players of the University of Kentucky, under arrest for conspiracy and bribery in shaving points of the final score of one collegiate game, today admitted receiving $500 for keeping down the score of another game, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan reported.

The three players, Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable, now out on $1,000 bail each, testified freely for several hours before the New York County Grand Jury today, Hogan said.

The athletes are charged specifically with conspiring to "shave points" in the National Invitation Tournament game between Kentucky and Loyola of Chicago in Madison Square Garden March 14, 1949.

Today, Hogan said, Groza admitted receiving not $500 for that "fix" but $1,000 for himself and $500 for the other two players for the Loyola game.

The men also admitted receiving $500 each for winning the Kentucky-Tennessee game on February 8, 1949, in the alumni gymnasium at Lexington, Ky., by less than 18 points, the margin by which Kentucky was favored, Hogan said. Kentucky won the game, 71 to 56.

The district attorney quoted the three men as saying the "deal" was arranged by Nick and Tony Englisis, and Saul Feinberg, three men held here under indictment as fixers, and also by Nat (Lovey) Brown, currently held as a material witness in the basketball investigation.

All this information, Hogan said, will be presented to the grand jury, which will decide if any more indictments are to be handed down in the basketball scandal.

Cumberland KCs Tie Frostburg

Cumberland Knights of Columbus moved into a first place tie with the Frostburg K. of C. in the Men's County Shuffleboard League by sweeping three games from the Military Order of Purple Heart last night.

The deadlocked leaders now have 7-2 records.

Fisher and Robinette made the other clean sweep, defeating the Alhambra Club.

Winners via the 2 to 1 route were Cumberland V.F.W. over Viaduct Inn, Frostburg Legion over Cumberland Amvets, Stadium Inn, Frostburg, over Frostburg Century Club and Goodfellowship Club over Mt. Savage VFW.

High scorers were: Frame, Cumberland K. of C 23, Burkey, Purple Heart 21; Stewart, Frostburg Legion 24; Palmer, Amvets 18; Powers, Stadium Inn 22; H. Robeson, Century 15; Bujac, Cumberland VFW 36; Strosnider, Viaduct Inn 30; Ryan, Goodfellowship Club 19; Goldsworthy, Mt. Savage VFW 17.

The standings:

South Carolina Provides Upset, Spills Clemson

Gamecocks Cop 49th Annual Game, 20-0

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—South Carolina, doped to lose by one to two touchdowns, stunned Clemson today with a decisive 20-0 victory in their 49th annual State Fair football game.

Stout and alert defensive play, aided by numerous Clemson fumbles, was the victory key in the Southern Conference game.

The hard, fast-charging South Carolina forwards had the jump on Clemson from the start. Time and again they smothered Billy Hair, Clemson triple threat star, on his runs and many pass attempts. An alert secondary took the sting out of Clemson's passing attack.

It was the first time Clemson had been held scoreless since it lost to North Carolina State, 18-0, in 1947.

The flying feet of Billy Stephens, defensive halfback from Atlanta, gave South Carolina its first touchdown late in the fumble-filled opening period. Hair punted from Clemson's 29. Stephens caught the ball on his 27, got two fine blocks, and burst through a swarm of Clemson players at top speed. He dashed straight down the sidelines for a 73-yard touchdown run. Fullback Chuck Prezioso converted and South Carolina was the master of the situation from there on.

South Carolina racked up its second touchdown after two and one half minutes of play in the second quarter. Leon Cunningham, a freshman line backer from Atlanta, tackled halfback Frank Kennedy on the Clemson 26 and then recovered Kennedy's fumble.

Led by Steve Wadiak, the South Carolina backs drilled the Clemson line. Quarterback Dick Balka plunged the last two yards over right guard. Prezioso again converted.

The final Gamecock score, in the fourth period, was anti-climactic. With the ball on his 12, Hair threw a pass from about the goal line. South Carolina Center Harry Jabbusch, whose defensive play stood out, reached high and grabbed the ball inside the 15 yard line. He had a clear field to the goal. Prezioso's conversion attempt was wide.

South Carolina	7	7	0	6	—20

South Carolina scoring: Touchdowns—Stephens, Balaka, Jabbusch. Conversions—Prezioso 2.

To Undergo Operation

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Vic Raschi, ace righthander of the world champion New York Yankees, will undergo a cartilage operation in his right knee, it was announced today.

The operation will be performed by Dr. George Bennett at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Md., early next week.

In 1941-42 it took 414 engineering hours to build the engine of a fighter plane, at $1.69 an hour average.

One of the top football attractions in the tri-state area is set for Romney on Saturday, November 3. On that date the Farmington High Farmers battle Dick McElwee's Pioneers.

Coach Alonza Ray Kelly's eleven is undefeated, having won five games and tied two and now ranks 6th among Class "B" West Virginia schools.

The Farmers have beaten four Class "B" teams in the Mason-Dixon Conference, added another win over Mannington, a Class "A" school, and tied Fairmont West and Wellsburg—also "A" teams.

• — • — •

Undefeated Elkins, which plays Allegany here November 10, faces its biggest test of the season this weekend when it meets Washington Irving of Clarksburg. Parkersburg's "Big Reds," winners of 18 in a row, and West Virginia's No. 1 Class "A" football team, is the only one to whip WI thus far.

• — • — •

Rep. J. Glenn Beall called and said he has tickets for choice seats at the Navy-Notre Dame game which will be played in Baltimore on Saturday, November 3.

Those interested in purchasing same are requested to call Mr. Beall at Frostburg 349.

Johnny Brzuzy, the fellow who threw 40 passes and completed 14 of them as West Fairmont lost to Fort Hill, 26-14, connected 19 times in 39 tries for 280 yards last week as the Polar Bears lost to Stonewall Jackson, of Charleston, 19-14. SJ is ranked 5th in West Virginia.

The game was so rough that four players—two on each side—were ejected. Penalties imposed were 130 yards on SJ and 90 yards on "Biz" Dawson's team.

Dave Ritter and Bill Lee will co-captain Fort Hill's Sentinels tonight as they play host to Coach Mel Henry's Hagerstown Hubs in one of the top games of the season at Fort Hill stadium. Game time will be 8 p. m.

Both teams will be sporting four-game winning streaks and the Hub City eleven will be seeking revenge for last season's 20-7 defeat at the hands of the Sentinels.

Teams Evenly Matched

Fort Hill has rolled by West Fairmont, LaSalle, Martinsburg and Ridgeley since losing its only contest to Linsly Institute of Wheeling, W. Va. Coach Bill Hahn's Red Raiders have won five while losing one.

Henry's Washington Countians have pushed aside Westminster, Allegany, Frederick and Martinsburg after losing to Gettysburg in their opener and playing a 6-6 stalemate with the Chambersburg Trojans.

Comparative scores indicate the evenly-matched strength of the two clubs. Fort Hill downed Martinsburg 28-7 while Hagerstown whipped the Bulldogs 26-6.

Sentinels Hold Edge

Although weakened by the loss of Halfbacks Dick Beard and Harold Hull and Tackle Dick Hughes through injuries the Sentinels will be at full strength otherwise.

Fort Hill holds a 12-2 edge in the series between the two rivals with one game ending in a tie. The Hahnmen have captured the last four tilts from the Hub City crew. Probable starting lineups for tonight's tilt:

Sports Notes

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Rick Schramm told us the other day while spotting for Allegany that his failure to take care of a back injury forced him to quit football for the season . . . Rick injured the ligaments in his back, then repeatedly aggravated the hurt during the summer playing baseball and swimming until his doctor told him no football or else . . . Incidentally, Rick did a fine job spotting the Allegany-Montgomery Blair game for us . . . One of the best we've worked with . . . Rick is only a junior at Allegany and he hopes his back will get well enough to permit him to put a grid uniform on again next season.

Coach Bill Bowers has indicated he will call first basketball practice at Allegany November 1 . . . The dean of local cage mentors will have four regulars back from last season's squad, namely Dick Widdows, Ronnie Sisk, Ronnie Lease and Junior Eversole . . . The Campers' first opponent probably will be Somerset sometime in December . . . Although the Pennsylvania school no longer plays Allegany on the gridiron the two schools still meet on the basketball floor . . . Somerset last year swept the home-and-home series.

Our congratulations to Norman Geatz, Jr., on his appointment as head coach of LaSalle's football team . . . Norm, one of the area's better baseball pitchers, has his work cut out for him with a team that has lost four in a row . . . His first task will be an effort to lead the Irish to their first victory over Allegany since 1943 on Nov. 2.

Cage preparations at Fort Hill won't get underway until the middle of November, Coach Bobby Cavanaugh said this week, in an effort to keep from conflicting with the football squad . . . Opening game for the Sentinels slated in December against Hagerstown.

That must have been a terrific blow to Ralph Poling, Ridgeley High football coach, whose team has been having a dismal year, to learn five of his regulars could play no longer due to injuries and scholastic troubles.

City Rec Department To Sponsor All Sports Banquet November 14

The first annual all sports banquet of the City Recreation Department will be held at the Loyal Order of Moose Home on Wednesday, November 14 at 6:30 p. m.

Team members of the High School Recreation Basketball League, the National and American Divisions of the City Rec Basketball League, the Industrial Softball League, the City Recreation Softball League and the High School Recreation Softball League will make up the gathering.

All teams that were not represented at the banquet meeting may pick up tickets at the City Recreation Department office in City Hall. All Reservations must be made before November 7.

Fried chicken will be served.

Maxim, Charles Sign For Bout

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Promoter Jimmy Murray today announced the signing of light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim and former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles for a 12-round non-title bout in the San Francisco Cow Palace, Dec. 12.

The San Francisco promoter said he expected the fifth meeting of the two should attract some 16,000 fans and a gross gate of $150,000.

"We'll sell out or come close to it," said Murray after concluding arrangements with Jack Kearns, manager of Maxim, and Tom Tannas and Jake Mintz, co-managers of Charles.

Murray wouldn't disclose the terms but it was believed that each fighter would get 30 per cent.

Top WMI Teams Tangle Today

Beall At Flintstone, Central Tests Barton

The four top teams in the W.M.I. Soccer League are slated to swing into action today in contests at Fintstone and Barton.

Barton's Braves, leading the race by a narrow margin, test Central High School of Lonaconing in Barton.

Beall will tackle Flintstone, the surprise package of the league, on the latter's pitch.

There's the possibility of a triple tie today. This could happen if Central whips Barton and either Flintstone or Beall wins the other tilt.

Barton's record to date is 3-1-0. Central, Flintstone and Beall are tied for the runner-up position with 2-2-0 marks. Bruce High is idle today.

Barton holds a 2-1 decision over Central while Beall captured the opening game of the series from Flintstone, 2-0.

"Scotty" Orr will referee the game at Barton and Ed Thompson wil officiate at Flintstone.

The scoring race is tightening up with three players pushing "Sonny" Kyle of Barton for the leadership. Kyle has four points but right on his heels are Jim Wilkinson, Bruce; Tommy Miltenberger, Flintstone, and "Buck" Duncan of Beall with three goals each.

K. Of C. League Booster Game Set Saturday

Four teams will participate in the Knights of Columbus Youth Football League "Booster Game" Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Fort Hill stadium.

SS. Peter and Paul, St. Patrick's, St. Mary's and Allegany will play in the contest.

Officials will be John Blough, Gerard Feeney and Jim Gaffney.

Officials Named For Beall Clash With Chas. Town

Bobby Cavanaugh, Ed Milbrada and Bill Spangler have been named to officiate the Beall and Charles Town gridiron clash tomorrow at Frostburg, Coach Joe Hoopengardner of the Mountaineers announced last night. Game time will be 2 p.m.

It will be the fifth clash between the two schools with Beall still looking for its first win over the Panthers. Each school will be striving for its third win this season.

Charles Town holds a 26-6 decision over Keyser High which Beall defeated 37-14. The Panthers also tied Romney's Pioneers 12-12. Beall dropped a 14-13 verdict to Romney last week.

Coach Hoopengardner said Jimmy Stevens, regular halfback, will return to the lineup after missing several games through injuries. Beall's lineup will include Hawkins and Thompson at ends, Robeson and Lennox at tackles, Elliott and McAttee at guards, Buskirk at center, Davis at quarter, Stevens or Bender at lefthalf, Miller at right half and Beach at fullback.

Bulldogs To Host Revamped Allegany High Team Tonight

Locals Leave At 2:30, Pence Changes Lineup

Allegany's Campers have been working hard this week on a new offensive combination in an attempt to get some scoring power in the lineup for their tilt tonight at Martinsburg, W. Va. with Coach John Cobourne's Bulldogs.

Bob Hook, defensive halfback, is the only player who will not see action against Martinsburg, Coach Bob Pence indicated. Hook is suffering with a bruised shoulder. Ronnie Sisk also has a bruised shoulder but is expected to start. John Snyder, center, is also nursing hurts but will probably play, Pence stated.

AHS To Start New Lineup

The Campers' new lineup will find Joe Hager and Junior Eversole at ends, Dick Widdows and Bill Robeson at tackles, Bruce Price and Lance Statler at guards, George Long at center, Ronnie Sisk at quarter, Chuck Eirich at left half, Gene Horton at right half and Eddie Baldwin or Dave Walton at fullback. Robeson and Widdows will captain the visitors.

Dick Rank, junior varsity star, also has been seeing plenty of action this week with the varsity and probably will spell Sisk on defense to rest the injured quarterback's shoulder.

Both Martinsburg and Allegany sport 3-3 records and each will be striving to get back on the winning track after losing last weekend.

Martinsburg probably will start Hawkins and Everhart at ends, Thompson and Spickler at tackles, Power and Baker at guards, Ambrose at center, Hamilton at quarter, Netoskie and Payne at half and Butts at fullback.

Leave At 2:30 P. M.

The Campers will leave the school at 2:30 p. m. by bus today to journey to the West Virginia town, accompanied by the band and a large group of students. The team will stop off at Berkeley Springs to eat before the game, Pence indicated.

Cumberland's third high school eleven, LaSalle's Explorers, will be idle this weekend. The Irish will meet Allegany in their next test Nov. 2.

Bright To Respect Mother's Wishes

DES MOINES, Oct. 25 (AP) — Drake's Johnny Bright says he will respect the wishes of his mother and not play in Saturday's homecoming football game against Iowa State here.

Bright's mother, who lives in Fort Wayne, Ind., expressed her wishes in a telephone conversation with Coach Warren Gaer today.

She said that although doctors had said it would be all right for him to play, she desired that he not play this weekend. She said that she would let doctors decide about future weekends but that she specifically didn't want him to play so soon after the injury.

Jackets Seek 5th PVC Win

Play At Keyser High, Ridgeley At Romney

Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets can sew up the Potomac Valley Conference championship with a perfect record today— if they defeat Keyser High School at Keyser.

Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven has won four games in the P.V.C. at the expense of Petersburg, Romney, Ridgeley and Franklin and has amassed 84 points while yielding six.

Last year Moorefield beat KHS, 47-0.

Romney High's Pioneers are hosts to Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks in the other P.V.C. game on tap for today.

Moorefield, Keyser and Ridgeley will be concluding their PVC schedules today.

Romney and Moorefield shared the title last year.

In another game set for nearby West Virginia today, Parsons High's Panthers will play hosts to the West Virginia Industrial School at Pruntytown.

Princeton And Cornell Tied In Trophy Race

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Princeton and Cornell, undefeated and untied pace-setters of the Ivy League, were rated the week's co-leaders in eastern football by the Lambert trophy committee today.

The weekly rating had Cornell and Princeton tied with 990 points each. Villanova was third with 988, followed by Holy Cross, 987; Pennsylvania and Penn State, 985 each; Bucknell 982; Temple 981, Fordham 980 and Columbia 979.

The Lambert trophy annually goes to the mythical eastern champion.

Parilli Has Cold

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 25 (AP) — Kentucky may be without the services of Babe Parilli when its football squad meets Florida at Gainesville Saturday.

The ace Kentucky passer is in the university infirmary with a bad cold and fever.

College Grid Selections

Following are the selections of International News Service experts in this weekend's college football games. So far this season, INS forecasters — counting ties as losses — have called the turn correctly in 152 with 63 wrong for a percentage of 70.

EAST
By Pat Robinson

Princeton 28, Cornell 14 — Dick Kazamaier to make the difference.

Fordham 21, Syracuse 14—Fordham passes may take this one.

Columbia 28, Army 13—Army pass defense so far shaky.

Penn 28, Navy 14—Navy subject to fombleitis.

Holy Cross 35, Brown 13—H. C. should take this in stride.

Yale 21, Colgate 19—Edge to Eli at home.

Lehigh 28, N. Y. U. 7—NYU simply has nothing at all except great coach.

Carver Opens Season Today

Meets Martinsburg At Penn Field At 2

Carver High School's six-man football team will open its season today, meeting Ramer Memorial High School of Martinsburg, W. Va., at 2 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field.

The local gridders, coached by Walter Crawford and Earl Redmon, will play without the services of Charles Denmark, quarterback, who suffered a fractured ankle in practice.

Maurice Darr will start at quarter and will captain the team in the lid-lifter. Earl Green and James Taylor will be the ends, Philip or Ray Taylor and Ronald Keys are the halfbacks and James Cole of Spurgeon Washington will get the call at center.

Martinsburg has won two games and lost one.

Carver defeated the West Virginia team last season.

Terps Drill Under Lights

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 25 (AP) —Maryland's unbeaten and untied football squad worked out late under the lights tonight in preparation for its game Saturday night against Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

The Terrapins leave by chartered plane tomorrow at 1 a. m. from the Washington National Airport. Coach Jim Tatum said the squad would limber up tomorrow afternoon and Saturday morning.

Maryland has played once under the lights this year, when it defeated Georgia, 43-7.

Largest nugget of gold on record was the 2,250-troy ounce Welcome Stranger, found Feb. 5, 1869, in a rut in Australia.

Brooklyn Seeks Ewell Blackwell

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — A major player trade is brewing between Brooklyn and the Cincinnati Reds whereby Ewell (The Whip) Blackwell may go to the Dodgers in exchange for one of their top-flight outfielders.

Brooklyn Vice-President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi today admitted he had discussed possible trades with Gabe Paul, new general manager of the Reds.

Bavasi added that another get-together had been scheduled between the two officials during the draft meeting in Cincinnati, Nov. 20.

The Reds reportedly asked for either Duke Snider, Carl Furillo or Andy Pafko—in that order—in return for The Whip. They reputedly were agreeable to a man-for-man swap in the case of Snider of Furillo, but demanded a pitcher to go along with Pafko.

Scherer To Start

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Herb Scherer, six-foot-nine giant from Long Island University, apparently has clinched a job with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association.

Coach Joe Lapchick, plans to start the towering West Orange, N. J. youngster in Saturday night's exhibition with the Philadelphia Warriors in Madison Square Garden.

The Man who Cares says:
CARSTAIRS
A famous Name since 1788
CARSTAIRS White Seal BLENDED WHISKEY

Bob Clark is a Man who Cares...

It's clear that Bob is a man who cares—for the very best:

His topcoat is a smart, swagger raglan of rugged nubby tweed, tailored by Stein-Bloch.

His hat by Dobbs is the Gamebird, a dashing new style, in glove suede finish.

His whiskey is Carstairs, whose distinguished flavor is the choice of Men who Care for the best. He finds Carstairs is extra-smooth and extra-mellow, and that it costs less than other fine whiskies.

His suggestion to you is to try Carstairs. You'll find it a better drink at a better price—so ask for it at bars and package stores now!

Bob Clark is not the name of an actual person, but is rather a type—the Man who Cares.

Louis Down To Even Money For Fight With Marciano

Heavies Meet Tonight In 10 Round Contest

BY CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (INS) — Eager backers of undefeated Rocky Marciano bet Joe Louis down to the shortest odds of his lifetime tonight on the eve of what may be the old Brown Bomber's last fight.

Still hoping for one more crack at the heavyweight title he relinquished and hasn't been able to win back, the 37-year-old Louis was down to even money for his scheduled ten-rounder against the brash, cocky Marciano at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Joe Dimly Regarded

Never before—not against Schmeling after the German defeated him nor last year against Ezzard Charles, who briskly handed him the second defeat of his 18-year career that spans nearly 200 bouts—has Louis been so dimly regarded before a fight.

The reason for this, oddly, is not Louis, for old Joe, in excellent health and trimmed to a sharp 211 pounds, impressed everyone with his work in training.

The reason is Marciano, who, many observers feel, is the first postwar fighter who can hit as hard as Louis. That is plenty hard.

Marciano, son of a Brockton, Mass., shoemaker, has ripped unbeaten through 37 straight opponents. Of the 37, he has kayoed 32. Still fresh in New Yorkers' memories is his tremendous knockout of Rex Layne earlier this year. Layne is one of only two "name" opponents to have faced Marciano so far. The other was Roland La Starza, whom Marciano decisioned.

So it evolves that if Marciano wins decisively over Louis tomorrow night, the latter plans to call it quits, finally and for good and all. He said something the other day about "sticking around as long as Walcott" does, but this was in reference more to the unhappy heavyweight situation than it was to any special prowess on the part of Jersey Joe Walcott, the present champ.

Winner May Face Champ

It's possible, indeed, that the winner of tomorrow night's fight will go right against Walcott for the title. This would involve sidetracking Charles, who lost the crown to Jersey Joe last July and theoretically should get the first return whack, but stranger things have happened.

The International Boxing Club expects a crowd of 15,000—near-capacity for the Garden—despite the telecast of the bout which goes on at 10 p. m. EST.

DiMaggio Hasn't Changed His Mind About Quitting

TOKYO, Oct. 25 (AP)—"I haven't changed my mind about quitting."

With those words, Joe DiMaggio tonight reiterated his decision to end his career as a baseball player.

The famed Yankee Clipper made his statement in an interview over the armed forces radio network. Di Maggio is touring Japan with an all-star baseball team.

DiMaggio said:

"I feel the same way about that as I did when I talked to Dan Topping in New York right after the world series. I haven't changed my mind about quitting."

who used to fight under the name of Joey Modzele and lost an eight round decision to "Skeets" Starkey last year at Arnold, Pa.

It was the longest pro fight out of the 25 in which Starkey has engaged.

The Modzelewskis hail from Natrona, Pa.

They're telling a good one about Charles "Rip" Engle, the Salisbury (Pa.) native, who is now head football coach at Penn State College.

After the recent Villanova game which Penn State lost 20-14 a critic accosted "Rip" and said:

"Coach, we simply gotta find somebody who can pass that ball back to our kicker."

"The way Villanova was hitting our center, we were lucky they didn't pass him back to the kicker," Engle replied.

Bob Keller, Moorefield American Legion slugger, became a repeater when he won the Interstate Baseball League's batting championship this year with an average of .415.

In 1950 he topped the loop with a mark of .398.

Moorefield players have copped batting honors three years in a row. George Hott bagged it with a .475 in 1949.

Harold "Zip" Lorenz, whose Charles Town High School eleven plays Beall at Frostburg tomorrow, has been coaching at the Jefferson county school for 11 years.

George Ayersman had an undefeated and untied grid team at Rowlesburg High School this year. The Rivers Lions won seven games, taking Masontown into camp in the final, 13-0.

Paul Gallen has a copy of a Fort Wayne newspaper which contains a story about Paul Birch, who will coach the Zollner Pistons in the National Basketball Association this year.

Here's the paragraph that slays:

"Birch, introducing a new system isn't sure his players have adapted themselves to an almost complete changeover in basketball tactics."

Those who have seen Birch in action in All-American League games here presume the "new system" Paul is introducing at Fort Wayne consists of referee baiting, name-calling from the bench and making life miserable for all concerned.

If Birch uses the same kind of "tactics" that he was noted for in the A-A we don't think he'll stay long in the NBA.

Regardless of whether Notre Dame wins or loses on the gridiron there is more interest in the outcome of games played by the Irish than any other team in the nation.

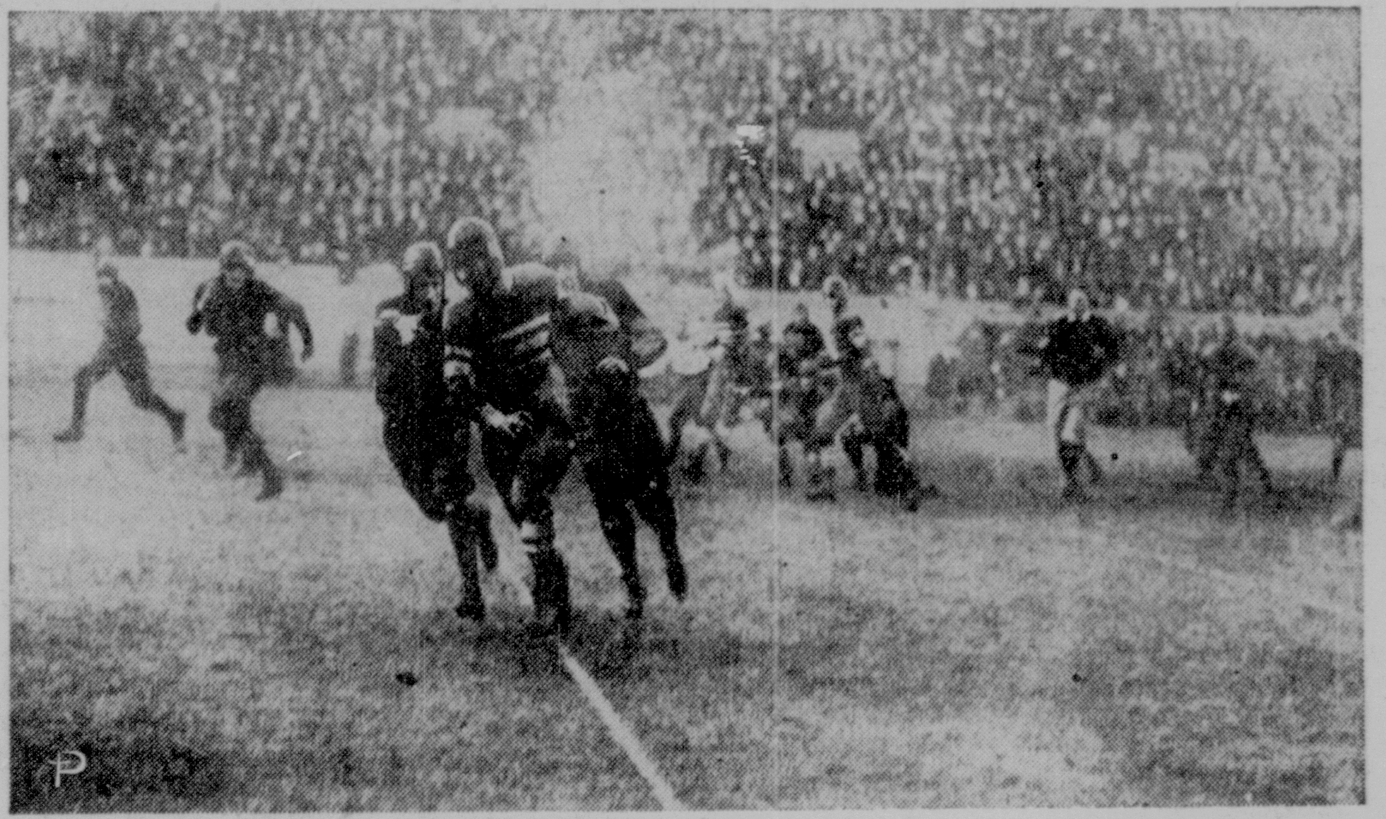
Here's the main reason.

The South Benders have captured seven national titles, have been undefeated 17 seasons and undefeated and untied 10 seasons.

Charley Strauss feels that his Accident High School soccer team, Garrett county champions for the fourth straight season, could hold its own with any team in Allegany county.

Strauss would like to line up a game or two with Allegany county teams before the season draws to a close.

FOOTBALL FLASHBACKS THAT was a game!



CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21, 1921—(Central Press)—Led by quarterback Alvin (Bo) McMillin, the Praying Colonels of little Centre college of Danville, Ky., edged mighty Harvard, 6 to 0, here today in one of the most astounding upsets in football history.

It was Harvard's first football defeat since 1916.

A crowd of 45,000 watched as Bo uncorked a 31-yard touchdown run on the fourth play of the third quarter (pictured) and then sat back stunned as the Colonels put up a tremendous defense that stopped the Crimson colder than a Back Bay dowager's snub.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

Irving Berlin

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25 (INS)—While Irving Berlin has been here sunning himself at Joseph Schenck's pool, he hasn't been exactly idle. He's been talking with Arthur Freed about "Miss Liberty," and I can tell you it's as good as settled for MGM to buy Berlin's musical.

The girl Arthur wants for the role is Leslie Caron, the French actress whose first picture, "An American In Paris," is one of the best musicals ever made at MGM. It's MGM's intent to build Leslie, who just married George Hormel, III, heir to the meat fortune, to stardom.

* * *

Joan Leslie, who is as pretty as she was when she was at Warners, is starting a comeback. She's happily married to an up and coming doctor, and the mother of twins.

Now Joan has just made a pilot film of "The Girl From Maiden Lane," in insurance story which is intended as a series of video. She has also just finished an independent picture.

Joan feels she was badly advised on the Warner Brothers trouble she had a few years ago, and I feel, and I am sure Jack Warner who is a very kind person, agrees it shouldn't be held against her. After all, Joan was very young, and now she's a married woman, and moreover, she has ability as an actress.

* * *

Ther's a dueling scene in "Scaramouche" between Mel Ferrer and Stewart Granger which calls for a whole backdrop to fall on them. George Sidney wanted to use doubles, but the brave boys said no, they'd do it themselves.

Just in case there was an accident, a stretcher was in readiness and a doctor on the set. Before they went into the scene, Mel shook hands with Stewart and said, "Be sure and let Louella have the news first."

The scene was taken without trouble, and then George Sidney was put on the stretcher and carted off!

* * *

This I call keeping up to the minute. Dick Powell has bought the rights to "Madam President," an original story by Esther Jayne Osser, and with presidential year coming up Dick plans to have it out during the heat of the political arguments.

The story, of course, has nothing to do with Truman, Eisenhower, Taft, or other prospective candidates. It concerns a woman who becomes president through a fluke and falls in love with a newspaperman, but like all newspaper men, (and women, too) he's stubborn and he won't marry her unless she steps out of office.

Dick wants Rosalind Russell for the president, and she's the girl who can do it.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Debbie Reynolds and Carleton Carpanter, two of the most attractive youngsters in our town, holding hands at the Tallyho. Debbie worked her head off all week for the Army Auxiliary Corps, selling tickets, and, believe me, everytime I saw her she was getting results.

Billy Rose is headed for Hollywood. Why, I don't know. No, he isn't running away from his divorce suit, but maybe he should.

Gary has flown the "coop" again. This time for Boise, Idaho, on a ten-day duck hunting trip. What's more, he's promised me a wild honker if he bags one.

Tay Garnett, who is directing "The Korean Story," has ben very sick with virus flu, the same type that got Claudette Colbert, its femme star, down, and made it necessary for her to leave the picture.

Now it's Irene Wrightsman that Freddie De Cordova is beauing about. Freddie certainly plays the field.

Joan Crawford has canceled her New York vacation in favor of Hollywood. Yes, she'll do her Christmas shopping here. Did I say Christmas? Certainly. It will be here in ten weeks.

Carol Lee Ladd, Alan and Sue's pretty teen-ager, earned $10 as an usherette at a preview in Westwood—she and several other students from UCLA. Said Sue, "And she'll spend it all at the beauty parlor." Well, why not?

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

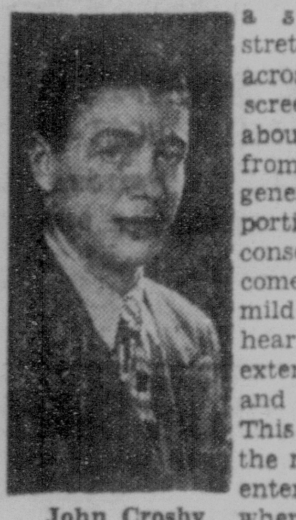
Mr. Murray Salutes The Esquire Girls

Ken Murray is a square-faced, large-mouthed, crew-cutted, square-rigged comedian who flourishes an enormous cigar and frequently wears a smile that stretches clear across a 14-inch screen. Everything about this refugee from California is generously proportioned and, consequently, it comes only as a mild surprise to hear he is to be extended to two and a half hours. This makes him the most extensive entertainer anywhere on evening television, over-reaching even Arthur Godfrey by a full hour.



John Crosby

There seems to be no question that he has the stamina to spread himself over this time allotment, having presided over a sort of continuous vaudeville show on the West Coast known as "Blackouts" for seven long years without visible wear and tear on his health. The whole thing then boils down to whether the rest of us have the stamina to endure Ken Murray for two and a half hours every week.

• — • — •

Well, he's an engaging low-pressure fellow who wears well. When he first started on CBS-TV, he was all over the place—trading badinage with other comedians, working strenuously in all the sketches and even drinking Budweiser with great zest during the commercial. Over the years he has become less obtrusive. That's the new or anti-Milton Berle trend. Stay out of the animal acts. You'll live longer.

The contemporary Ken Murray trades a few jokes, generally of a rather special wolfish nature, with his guests and leers at the pretty girls. There is quite a lot of leering going on in television, but Murray, with his vast countenance, has a leer that outreaches anyone else's and could in a pinch throw a shudder into a girl in the second balcony.

On last Saturday's effort, there were more girls to leer at than Mr. Murray has ever had around before. Virtually the whole show was given over to sounding the klaxon for "Esquire" magazine, especially "Esquire's calendar girls." I expect everyone now knows what the "Esquire" calendar is and that each month is adorned by a long-legged lass in various attitudes of abandon. Well, they had all 12 of them there—some of them the originals, others reproductions of the originals—and each one simpered her way through a little poesy to the effect that she adored men, especially men who bought her diamonds.

• — • — •

"This," said a young lady who happened to be watching the same exhibit at the time, "is going to set women back 400 years."

It sounded like one of the most elaborate magazine tie-ins of all time. The magazine-television tie-in: you give a comedian a full page spread in color; he responds with wild praise over the air for your magazine. But it wasn't. At least, "Esquire" claims that Mr. Murray's enthusiasm for the magazine, especially its calendar girls, was entirely spontaneous and that the magazine's retort to this hour-long tribute would be only a small plug for Mr. Murray on the editorial page: "Nobody reads the editorial page," said the managing editor of that magazine glumly, "except my mother."

Apart from all the pulchritude—and, believe me, unrelieved pulchritude can get awfully monotonous—the Murray show was and usually is a relaxed and expert operation which never pounds at your ears as do so many of the others. One unique feature is a weekly serious dramatic sketch plopped right in the middle of the buffoonery, an idea that has stood up well. In last week's, a young lady running away from life and men, takes refuge with Josephine Hull, who had locked the door against such intrusions 19 years earlier. After a session together full of psychiatric allusions to their childhoods, the two girls decided they were being silly and returned to the bearpit to face Life and Men. Well, there have been more sensible ones and starting next week the sketches will be written by three of radio's top writers—Arch Oboler, Norman Corwin and Jean Holloway.

• — • — •

While the "Esquire" salute was not a tie-in, Mr. Murray is not above tie-ins here and there. During the commercial, Sherman Billingsley dropped by to scratch the back of Mr. Murray's sponsor, Budweiser, while Mr. Murray scratched the back of Mr. Billingsley's sponsor, Fatima—both of them puffing, sipping and scratching as if they had three arms. As commercials go, it wasn't bad, but I still prefer the Budweiser horses — massive, august animals who are easily the most dignified and impressive things ever to appear on my television set.

To store a freshly laundered blanket, fold it lengthwise in thirds. Wrap in clean, heavy paper and seal edges to keep out moths. Place in a clean, dry place, and avoid piling anything heavy on top of package.

During World War I the phrase 'four-minute men' was applied to men who spoke in behalf of the Liberty Loan in four-minute speeches.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

"The Authority on Authorities"

GOOD IDEA OVERDONE

EVEN the best idea becomes bad if you overdo it. That is the case with the practice of many fine players, who like to respond with a new suit, despite a safe fit with the first one, when they have an amount of total assets which aggregates "to much for a single raise and not quite enough for a double raise that would compel an eventual game contract." But by overdoing this, they sometimes give to the defenders information which results in the defeat of a contract that would be made if the opposition had been kept in the dark through mere bidding of the one suit.

West said after this deal that he would have led a diamond if North had bid 3-Hearts as his first response and then South 4-Hearts. But, after the 2-Clubs caused South to show his diamonds, West chose the unbid suit, the spade A and thereby beat the contract. East gave him the encouraging 8, and a lead to the J was followed by the K to fell the Q. Good defense on the next play proved decisive. East led the thirteenth spade, which assured the defense a trump trick. South discarded his low diamond and West put in his 9—a play called "the uppercut"—forcing the 10 from dummy. That made it impossible to shut East out of a trump trick, no matter what South did, and that trick beat the game.

West told South then that the diamond lead he would have made against straight heart bidding would have enabled South to discard two spades on that suit and then, by finessing clubs and ruffing one, set up two club winners so that nothing would have been lost except one trick in spades. In other words, North's response of 2-Clubs, instead of either an underbid 2-Hearts or a slightly overbid 3-Hearts, cost his side three tricks.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of my Mother, Mrs. Ida B. Robinette, who passed away four years ago today, October 26, 1947.

What is home without a mother?
Of one so dearly loved by all,
But when we lost you, dearest mother,
We lost our truest friend.
We saw you fading like a flower,
But could not make you stay,
For us she always did her best,
Now, dear Lord, grant her Eternal Rest.

Sadly missed by her daughter,

Stock Prices Slip Lower In Slow Market Session

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) —Prices slipped lower today in the stock market in the slowest session in two weeks.

After the market closed, Bethlehem Steel declared a $1 dividend bringing 1951 payments to $4 as against $4.10 a year ago.

Earnings in the third quarter came to $1.76 a share as against $3.33 a year ago, and nine months profits for $6.50 a share as compared with $8.96 last year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 50 cents at $97.00 with industrials off 50 cents, railroads 70 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

Volume at 1,360,000 shares was the lowest since Oct. 10. Yesterday's total was 1,670,000 shares. There were 1,116 individual issues traded of which 270 advanced and 602 declined with nine new highs and 25 new lows reached during the day.

Robert Gair was the day's most active issue up ⅛ at 19⅛, one of three stocks advancing among the 15 most active. It was followed by American Airlines unchanged at 15⅛, Spiegel Inc. off 1⅜ at 10⅝, Radio Corp. off ⅛ at 22⅝, and Socony-Vacuum off ½ at 34 12.

Fairbanks Morse was up 2¾ at 55¼ after directors proposed a two for one split.

Belding Heminwy lost 1⅜ at 14⅞ after a dividend of 25 cents was declared as compared with 35 cents previously paid quarterly.

Corn Products declined 1¼ at 68¼ on a lower earnings report. Baltimore & Ohio, 12th most active issue, resisted the lower trend in the rail section with a gain of ¼ at 20. Western Maryland Railway liberalized its dividend action on its seven per cent cumulative preferred which is better than 94 per cent owned by B&O.

Lawyers Argue For New Trial For Beeman

Judge Henderson Requests Affidavits

Attorneys for Noah Earl Beeman, 24-year old Midland man who was convicted October 18 of first degree murder by a Circuit Court jury, yesterday were closeted with Associate Judge George Henderson in the latter's office for about 45 minutes arguing their motion for a new trial for the accused.

Judge Henderson said after the session that he has not yet taken any action on the motion.

Attorneys Present

Present in the judge's office with him during the argument were Beeman's attorneys, Earl E. Manges and Thomas N. Berry, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, his assistant, William H. Geppert, and Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis.

Manges and Berry were instructed to present affidavits to Judge Henderson to substantiate their argument.

It is understood that the defense attorneys, in their motion for a new trial, have taken issue with the testimony of Betty Lancaster, 18, Shaft, a niece of Mrs. Donna Airhart Beeman, the defendant's wife, whom he has been convicted of murdering August 12.

Talked At Fire Hall

The Lancaster girl had testified that she talked with Beeman outside the Barton Fire Hall about 10 p. m. August 11.

During the conversation, she said, Beeman showed her a penknife and told her he was going to use it for a "very special" purpose. She added that Beeman then placed the knife on a window sill at the Fire Hall as their conversation continued.

The state gave considerable emphasis to Miss Lancaster's testimony in an effort to show that the slaying was premeditated.

Manges and Berry contend that as late as last Sunday there was a screen over the window in question and Beeman could not possibly have placed the knife in the sill, which was blocked off by the screen.

Pa. Turnpike Extension To Open In Month

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said it is aiming at opening the remainder of its new western extension of the state's toll road before the end of November.

A spokesman said that although no opening date had been announced the Commission had hopes earlier of completing the final 57 miles to the Ohio border by November 1.

Weather conditions however, are hampering the paving job now under way, he said. A brief strike by cement workers and carpenters also held up the job a bit.

Labor troubles are handled entirely by contractors working the various stretches of the road assigned to them on bid.

The spokesman said the current rain in the western part of Pennsylvania can be expected to be followed by possible worse weather conditions at this time of the year.

The first ten miles of the western extension were opened during the summer. These stretch from Irwin, the old western terminus of the giant dual highway, to the new Pittsburgh interchange.

On completion of the remainder of the extension, traffic will be channeled into Ohio, near Petersburg, some 10 miles from Youngstown.

From the Ohio border to King of Prussia, the eastern terminus, near Philadelphia, the road will run 327 miles.

Legislation to extend the highway further to the Delaware River to join with the New Jersey Turnpike now nearing completion already has been approved and signed by Governor John S. Fine.

Optical Workers Vote For Union

Employes of the White-Haines Optical Company have voted 7 to 0 for representation by the Optical Workers Union.

The unanimous vote was cast in a National Labor Relations Board election here Tuesday.

They will be represented by Pittsburgh Local 18820 of the AFL union.

Seated, left to right, are Eldon Long, Oldtown, toastmaster; Albert O'Neal, chairman of the Allegany County Production and Marketing Administration Committee; Charles Nicodemus, Potomac Park, who spoke on "4-H Club Work and Citizenship," and William Hay, local magician, who entertained the 100 guests with his tricks. Jimmy and Norman Smith, Piney Grove, gave an electrical demonstration. Other participants in the program included County Agent R. F. McHenry and his assistant, Joseph M. Steger. Theodore Grabenstein was in charge of decorations for the affair and James Carder was song leader.

City To Present Plan For Closing Rail Crossing

Alternate Proposal Presented To Council

The City of Cumberland will open discussions soon with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on a proposed plan for the closing of the Williams Street crossing.

The Mayor and Council have asked W. Earle Cobey, city attorney, to confer with C. T. Williams, division superintendent, on the plans.

Cobey will present a proposal made by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission under which the city would grant permission to close the crossing upon payment of the capitalization of the cost of maintaining the crossing. The sum would be earmarked for the city's share for future traffic improvement.

Commissioner John J. Long suggested Monday that Cobey discuss with the railroad the possibilities of using the George Street freight station for city parking facilities.

Mayor Thomas S. Post has urged that an alternate plan for closing three railroad crossings and replacing them with an overhead bridge be considered.

He was informed by City Engineer William H. Marean that no plans for that project have been submitted.

J. T. Defibaugh, who advocated the plan, yesterday supplied the mayor with a plan for the ground layout and said he will furnish proposed plans for the bridge as soon as possible.

Defibaugh's layout plans were turned over to the City Engineer for study yesterday afternoon.

Seek Damages

At Monday's Council meeting Calvin and Dorothy Mardorff informed the council they had asked George and Lynch, flood control contractors, to arrange for settlement of damages to property they own at 319-321 Beall Street. The letter was referred to the liaison engineer, John Coleman.

The council was invited to participate in the Armistice Day parade here November 12 by Thomas F. Conlon, parade marshal.

Cumberland Aerie, No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, sent 20 tickets to the council for its Damon Runyon Cancer Fund dance on October 27 and its appeal was referred to Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

The Optimist Club asked the council to contribute any old furniture the city had to its clubroom for underprivileged on the third floor of the Legion Home. The Mayor said "this is a worthwhile idea" and referred the request to Mrs. Roeder.

The Game and Inland Fish Commission in a letter thanked the council for the use of City Hall auditorium during its recent hearing here and said it was one of the best and most immaculate places in which it has met.

This drew from Mayor Post a compliment for Mrs. Roeder whose efforts have made the renovation of the auditorium and council chambers reality.

Commissioner John J. Long asked that the council proclaim the week of October 28-November 3 as "Safety Week." The council agreed.

The Seventh Day Adventist Church asked permission to play sacred music on the streets from 7 to 9 three nights a week until Christmas. The request was referred to City Attorney W. Earle Cobey.

Geoffrey O'Hara To Present Unique Program On Music

Geoffrey O'Hara, nationally-known composer of operettas and songs, will present an unique program of words and music at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday in Allegany High School auditorium in the first of four programs planned this season by the Cumberland Choral Society.

Jack Platt, director of the Choral Society, said yesterday O'Hara will be augmented by Fort Hill and Allegany High School singers who are members of the Senior High School Chorus. For the finale there will be about 200 voices.

No admission will be charged for the unusual musical program. An offering will be taken.

Born in Chatham, Ontario in 1882, O'Hara has been a naturalized citizen in the United States since 1919.

His first success as a composer came in 1913 when Caruso sang his "Your Eyes Have Told Me" and Al Jolson featured his "Tennessee."

Through the years he has composed 150 songs. He now lives in Pawling, N. Y.

Hyndman Seeks Elimination Of Rail Crossing

Joint Action Is Planned Soon

Hyndman, Pa., may register a complaint with the Public Utilities Commission in a campaign to eliminate a dangerous railroad crossing in that Bedford County community.

A delegation is slated to meet in Hyndman on the proposal within a few days.

John S. May, president of the Borough Council, said residents hope to correct the situation with the construction of an undergrade or overpass by the Pennsylvania State Highway Department.

The action will be taken in the name of the Borough Council, the Joint School District and the Bedford County Automobile Association. Besides May, the group is composed of H. M. Carpenter, principal of Londonderry School, E. J. Leap and J. M. Cook, retired B. and O. engineer.

Ask Prompt Action

Tuesday, the delegation presented a request for immediate action on the crossing to C. R. Forbes, chief engineer for the five-county area which includes Bedford county, and A. C. Snyder, assistant district engineer and N. E. Bartholomew, superintendent of Bedford county highways. Fred S. Sammel and Ross C. Brown, president and vice-president of the Automobile Association, also attended the session, supporting the Hyndman group in their request for action.

The crossing, which has been a subject of distress to residents of the area for many years, is "guarded" by an automobile blinker system which goes on as a train approaches in either direction. Formerly, a watchman directed traffic at the crossing.

Leap, spokesman for the petitioners, outlined the problem briefly.

"As far back as 1926," he said, Hyndman was seventh on the State's list of projects, but the dan-

The Weather

Yesterday was a clear, cool day with a cheerful sun. Temperatures reached the mid-60s and a fresh breeze swept the city most of the day. The Weather Bureau predicts warmer and scattered showers likely for today. The high temperature reported by the weather station at Constitution Park was 65 degrees, the low was 48, and at 8 p. m. the mercury leveled at 49 degrees. Humidity was below normal yesterday with a reading of 43 per cent.

Action Finally Results From Grand Jury Report

It may take time, but recommendations contained in grand jury reports in Allegany County sometimes are fulfilled.

Yesterday, for instance, James Gorner, a carpenter for the George Construction Company, was busy at the Court House lowering the step leading into the men's room at the end of the second floor corridor.

The grand jury report returned October 9 contained one especially pointed paragraph. It said:

"We wish to call to the attention of the county commissioners that the step in the men's room adjoining the small court room on the second floor has not been lowered in accordance with the request of the previous grand jury."

Marie Jones, 45, Union Grove, has been reported missing from her home. Wearing a black dress, light jacket and black shoes when last seen October 15, she weighs 125 pounds and is five feet six inches tall.

Class Rooms Being Added To State Armory

Guardsmen Provide Volunteer Work

Headquarters and "C" companies, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, are building three class rooms and other additions to the State Armory.

Officers said work is being done at a minimum cost to the taxpayers.

Lt. Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., public information officer, said all work is being done by volunteer guardsmen and officers who are constructing the project in their spare time.

Major Robert Matlick, Armory custodian, arranged the project with the Maryland Military Department by acquiring materials amounting to $400 with the understanding that work was to be done by volunteers.

Lt. Hensell Made Plans

The general design layout for the work was planned by Lt. John D. Hensell, commanding officer of Headquarters Company.

The blueprints include three class rooms, 14 by 23 feet, to be built at the rear of the basement next to the rifle range, and a projection room 23 by 30 feet in size allowing 690 square feet of space for use of the new viewgraph training aid. Locker rooms also will be built.

Lt. Hensell said the project will include an area to be used for recreation by members of the two companies.

He pointed out that the Armory was built to accommodate only one company, and that all available space will be utilized for use by both companies.

Will Save Money

Lt. Hensell estimated that the cost of approximately 500 man hours will be saved on the project. Many of the guardsmen are qualified to do most of the skilled jobs such as electrical wiring, he said.

Work on the building is scheduled for completion in late November. In celebration, the two companies are planning to hold an open house and public demonstration.

Jury Acquits Dennis Koontz Of Burglary

South Cumberland Man Wins Freedom

Dennis Warnard Koontz, young South Cumberland man, was acquitted yesterday afternoon by an Allegany County Circuit Court jury on a charge of statutory burglary of Hiner's Market at 117 Virginia Avenue.

Verl Ash, mayor of Midland and foreman of the jury, announced the verdict after the jury had deliberated only about 30 minutes.

Circumstantial Evidence

The state presented a case against Koontz based largely on circumstantial evidence.

Police Officer E. P. Law testified that he saw Koontz coming out of an alley near Hiner's Market about 2 a. m. April 11, the day that the market was burglarized. Police Lt. James E. Van was called to the scene and they found that Koontz had a screwdriver and putty knife in his possession. However they did not place any charge against the man.

Window Removed

Frank J. Hiner, operator of the market, called police headquarters about 8 a. m. to report that a storage room at the rear of the store had been burglarized. A pane of glass had been removed from a rear window to enable the intruder to enter the place. The store itself was not entered and nothing was taken.

Detective Lt. Edwin R. Lilya said he questioned Koontz and took a red-handled screwdriver and putty knift from him. Lilya submitted a report at the trial which he had received from the FBI Laboratory in Washington, where he took the screwdriver, the pane of glass and the window with the pane of glass missing. This had been done on April 19.

"Several impressions in putty on the window frame, where the pane of glass was removed, were made by a screwdriver having a bit width identical with that of a red-handled screwdriver that had been taken from Koontz. It was concluded that these impressions were either made by a bit of the red-handled screwdriver or a similar tool having a bit the same size and shape and with the same amount of wear," the report read.

The only state witnesses were the three policemen and Hiner. Earl E. Manges, Koontz's attorney, called Mrs. Betty Lee, the defendant's sister; his wife and William E. Lawyer, his employer, as defense witnesses. Koontz did not take the witness stand.

A hearing on a charge of failing to comply with a Health Department order to abate a nuisance leveled against a Corriganville man Wednesday in Trial Magistrates Court was continued for one week by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Health Department officials said Homer Suder, Corriganville, was maintaining a health hazard by keeping some 180 turkeys, seven sows, 34 small pigs, two cows and 35 chickens on a 150 by 250 foot plot of ground in the rear of a Corriganville church.

Witnesses for the Health Department were J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian; Blaine Robinette, county sanitarian, Mrs. Harry Martz and Mrs. J. H. Thompson, Corriganville.

The hearing was delayed after Suder asked to be represented by counsel.

CROSS INSTALLATION COMPLETED—A 14-foot stainless steel cross has been installed atop the steeple of Centre Street Methodist Church. Of Latin design, the circle through the cross arms denotes the symbol of the Perfect Saviour, Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor, said last night. Workmen can be seen above pulling the cross toward the top of the church. The steeple is being reslated and work including other general repairs is scheduled to be completed next week. The work is being done by the Limbach Company of Pittsburgh, Pa. The tip of the cross rises about 175 feet above the ground.

Va. Miss Burke, a former Fort Hill High School student, is a senior at the West Virginia college. Miss Elinor May Banks of Norwalk, Conn., will reign as queen for the two-day festival.

Navy Will Not Recall Reserve Korea Veterans

Men May Transfer To Active Reserve

Naval Reservists separated from continuous active duty since June 25, 1950, and who became members of the Organized Reserve will not be ordered to active duty without their consent except in time of war or national emergency, Lt. Cdr. W. E. Woodson, Jr., local inspector-instructor, said yesterday.

Commander Woodson said that this announcement establishes the policy of the Navy Department not to order involuntarily to active duty for periods over 30 days any Naval Reservist who was separated from active duty as a regular or reservist in any of the armed services since 25, 1950.

He said Naval Reserve personnel in this category may transfer to the Organized Reserve if they meet the prescribed standards.

In their interest of obtaining balanced rating and pay grade enrollment to fill allowances in the Organized Reserve program, the Fifth Naval District has established a priority system for accepting would-be members.

The priority schedule includes (1) former members of the Organized Reserve who are released from active service, (2) volunteer reserve personnel desiring transfer to organized status, (3) personnel being discharged from the regular Navy who desire to enlist in the Organized Reserve, and (4) new recruits.

Telephone Rate Increase Would Benefit AT & T

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP)—A telephone rate increase in Maryland means more money for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Public Service Commission was told today.

R. M. Fowler, auditor for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, told the PSC that A. T. & T. gets 1 per cent of the gross revenue of the C. & P. under their license contract.

Fowler was under cross-examination at a PSC hearing on a request by the C. & P. for authority to charge higher rates.

Donald Schwab, assistant city solicitor for Baltimore, asked Fowler whether, in event the C. & P. got a rate increase, its payments to A. T. & T. also would increase.

"Yes," answered Fowler, "unless the rate of payments were reduced."

"If the rate increase were refused to the C. & P. Company," Schwab continued, "there would be no variation in the type of service rendered by A. T. & T.?"

Fowler said that there would be no difference if only the Maryland company were involved. But if the same thing happened to a number of other operating companies, "altogether it would be very serious, indeed."

TWUA Seeks Contract With Cleaning Firm

Negotiations are in progress between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), and Harry Footer and Company, Playford Aldridge, union president, announced yesterday.

He said the some 40 employes of the cleaning and pressing firm will become a sub-local of Local 1874.

Members of the negotiating committee are Ruth Bowman, Dorothy Lookenott, Shirley Keyser and Dolores Ebert, for the sub-local; Aldridge, Howard Bush, vice president, and Leslie J. Clark.

S. A. Advisory Board Will Meet Today

The Salvation Army Advisory Board will meet today at 12:15 p.m. in Central YMCA to plan the Army's winter program.

Business will include announcement of Christmas committees, naming of a nominating committee and plans for fall and winter activities. Major Elmer Wall, commander, urged all members to be present at the meeting.

Rieve, Baldanzi To Attend TWUA Anniversary Here

Dinner, Dance To Mark 15th Birthday

Top officers of the Textile Workers Union of America may get a chance to present their viewpoints on intra-union policies when Celanese Local 1874, TWUA-CIO, celebrates its 15th anniversary here next month.

Both Emil Rieve, general president, and George Baldanzi, executive vice president, have accepted invitations to attend the birthday party of the largest single unit in the TWUA here.

The dinner, to be held November 28 at 6:30 p.m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, will offer each of the top TWUA leaders a chance to report to the membership of a local union their exact views on the policies which have kept them at odds since May, 1950.

Well Known Here

Both are well known to most of the 4,600 members of the Celanese union and have visited here on one or more occasions.

Baldanzi has called for "democratization of the union," claiming that Rieve tried to "purge" him at last year's convention and declared in July he will insist upon a democratization "from top to bottom" of the 400,000 member union at its convention in Cleveland next April.

Rieve has steadfastly insisted that the Textile Workers Union is democratic.

The 15th anniversary celebration will conclude with a dance Thursday, November 29 at 9 p.m. at the Clary Club.

Top Officials Invited

Playford Aldridge, president, said the local has sent invitations to 31 national TWUA officers, Executive Board members and field representatives who are former members of Local 1874.

Plans for the celebration are in charge of the special activities committee, headed by John G. Kreitzburg.

The Celanese local was formed here in December 1936, as Local 1874, Industrial Union, United Textile Workers of America (AFL) and switched to the CIO fold under the Textile Workers Organizing Committee in 1937.

It became part of the TWUA on May 8, 1939, when that CIO union was organized.

Big Delegation To Attend State PTA Convention

Annual Meeting Is Planned Nov. 1-2

A large delegation from Allegany County will attend the 36th annual convention of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers which will be held in Hagerstown November 1 and 2.

Attending will be Mrs. John Lancaster, state treasurer; Mrs. Edward Wilson, state by-laws chairman; Mrs. Stanley Buckley, character and spiritual education chairman; Miss Margaret Jones, college coordinator, and Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, county council president, who is chairman of the state election committee.

All of the above are state PTA board members as well as members of the Allegany County Council executive board.

Mrs. R. C. Lord, a member of the county council executive board and vice president of Mt. Royal PTA, will be accompanist for George Campbell, who will lead group singing at the annual conclave.

To Represent Board

Other members of the county executive board who will attend are Mrs. Lester Reed, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Walter Bell, Columbia Street; Mrs. Ralph Isiminger and Mrs. Robert Babst, West Side; Mrs. Edgar Hounshell and Mrs. Lester McGill, Cresaptown. Mrs. McGill is also vice president of the State Local Presidents' Club.

Three representatives of the Board of Education office will attend the Friday afternoon and evening session and the fellowship dinner. They are Miss Winifred Green, Miss Mildred Willison and Miss Esther Carter.

A number of Allegany County school principals will attend the fellowship dinner November 2 in order to hear Salom Rizk speak on "Our Children's Heritage, A Secure World."

Will Send Delegates

A majority of the county PTA organizations are sending delegates to all the sessions and others are sending delegates for one day.

Mrs. Lester Haugh, of Oldtown School PTA, will attend as a delegate of the County Council to represent the county schools and Mrs. Julius Johnson, of John Humbird School PTA, will be the Cumberland school delegate.

Theme of the two-day meeting in the Alexander Hotel will be "Our Citadels of Security—Home, School and Church."

Enlist In Air Force

Three area men were sent to Martinsburg, W. Va. yesterday for enlistment in the U. S. Air Force, according to M/Sgt. Clarence Biehn, local recruiter.

They include Pete G. Dendrinos, 23, 607 Bedford Street; Charles J. Schramm, 20, and Roy L. Cutter, 20, both of Frostburg. They will be sent to Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y., for basic training.
